Another Organ Recital.

The platform of University Hall presents a more inspiring appearance since the background has been filled in with the beautiful instrument which will serve to perpetuate the name of Henry Simmons Frieze. The immense resources of this organ are not realized from its appearance, as fully one-third of the instrument is concealed. It was impossible to break away more of the arch so as to expose the full proportion of the organ which is, of course, to be deplored. However, it is all there, and in order that all may have an opportunity of listening to it, Prof. Stanley has arranged an extremely popular program which he will play on Thursday evening, January 17. The price of proceeds will go to the organ fund. It pear to be due from them.' is to b · hoped that large numbers will testify their appreciation of the efforts of the Musical Society in securing this organ by being present on that occa-

Fire was discovered at an early morning hour in the Sheehan house, Bradford, Pa., and before the occupants were awakened the whole building was in flames, and none saved more than their night clothes. Two women in jumping from upper windows were seriously injured. The fire spread on both sides and threatened the entire town. A furious blizzard was raging at the time the fire was first discovered, and the mercury stood at 8 degrees below zero. The firemen immediately responded to the general alarm and fought bravely for several hours. Mrs. J. F. Horrible Scenes in China.

London: A dispatch from Tien Tsin says that Manchurian princes have taken the defence of the country into their own hands in order to prevent the intrigues of the Chinese officials. The central government is bewildered and helpless. Chinese who have arrived from Manchuria bring ghastly reports of the desolation of the country between the Yalu river and the Liao-Ho, recalling the worst horrors of the Taiping rebellion. Not a house is standing. Everything has been burned and whole populations have perished. and whole populations have perished. WEEKLY REVIEW OF TRADE.

NEW YORK.—Dun's weekly trade review says:
Neither the beginning of the new year nor the failure of the currency bill has brought any material change to business. The idea that business would suddenly take a new start after the holidays had rather less foundation even than usual, but the hope of strong revival a little later is still cherished by many. There has not been much time for change in the industries, but differences observed since the new year began are not in the direction of higher prices or larger demand. There are more indications of late that stocks of different kinds of goods have been accumulating in consequence of past increase in production. The iron industry is doing vastly better than a year ago, but indications of excess of production over demand are found in further weakness of prices. Bessemer pig sells above the lowest on record. Low prices have checked business and are attributed by some to the idea of purchasers that the recent reductions in wages and cost of materials must be followed by still lower prices. But the main fact is that consumption is below expectations. The cotton manufacture reports decreased demand. Many quotations of cotton goods are the lowest on record, the week's trade being quite unsatisfactory. Trade in woolens hesitates because of the large distribution from warehouse under new duties, but little change appears in prices.
Speculation in products has been more active.
Failures the past week were 420 in the United States, against 47 last year, and 54 in Canada, against 57 last year.

NEW YORK—Bradstreet's trade review says: The new year brings few reports of an increasing volume of orders for seasonable goods. Chicago, St. Louis, Boston, New York and Philadelphia report relatively greatest improvement. At some centers it is too early to utige of the outlook for trade. Travelers in many instances have not all gone out. Confidence of, wholesale dealers in staple lines is that the near future in business promises increased activity, with an upward tendency in quotations pronounced in some cities. The best available data with respect to the size of domestic wheat crops in 1893 and 1894, together with supplies in sight at various dates, quantities planted and exported—and consumed by farm stocks in 1894—together with Bradstreet's reports of stocks out of farmers' hands, make it plain that the total wheat supplies in the United States on January 1, 1895, were 18,000, 500 smaller than one year hefore, and stocks of variable supplies were fully 31,029,300 smaller.

When the mercury takes a tumble of 25 to 40 degrees in six hours in what is termed in school geographies the "temperate zone" it leads one to suspect that old Mother Earth has slipped cog, and when the inhabitants of sunny south feel frosty zoro weather nipping their extremities they think "things is gettin" inter-estin". Its hard to tell just where the thing started, but judging from the atmosphere the whole Arctic ice fields must have broken from their moorings and come sliding down across the Canadian desert, carrying the north pole along, and not stopping until the whole of Uncle Sam's popu-lation had had a surfeit of ear-freezing, chilblain weather. At any rate we know that a blizzard of the most zzzed kind swept across the United States causing the thermometer to register below zero in almost every state. In many places the drop was 35 degress in five hours and in West Virginia the mercury went down 15 Charles Carried degrees in 15 minutes.

In Michigan.

Grand Rapids had a taste of 8 below zero wind, and had it not been for a heavy fall of snow wheat and fruit would have suffered severely. Benton Harbor had 15 below zero. Coldwater's experience was 14 below; Dowagiac 18, and so on over the southern part of the state. In the upper peninsula snow fell to a depth of three feet and mercury ran down almost out of sight. Of course its an ill wind that blows no-body good, and the ones who are laughing now are the coal men and the lumbermen—particularly the latter, for their prospects for getting the logs they had cut to mill were very slim before the blizzard, and now it will be ike rolling them down hill.

Farm Products Have Dropped.

The Michigan crop report for January says that a total of 6,235,103 bushels of wheat was marketed in the five months, August to December, or same months last year. The average condition of horses is 94 per cent, sheep and cattle 95, and swine 97 per cent. Compared with last year, there has been a decline on all farm products of the same ducts excepting corn, and oats. Corn averages 3 cents and oats 1 cent per bushel higher. The loss on wheat is 5 cents per bushel. The decline in fat cattle is 16 cents; fat hogs 73 cents, and dressed $1 10 per cwt. Horses delined on average of $9.25 per head. clined an average of $9 25 per head; milch cows, $1 82; sheep, 45 cents, and hogs $1.17.

Another Huge Lake Steamer.

Wheeler & Co., of Bay City, closed a contract with Eddy Bros., Capt. John Shaw and Capt. Howard Shaw, for the construction of another monster lake freighter for the Eddy-Shaw fleet. Dimensions, 352 feet keel, 372 feet over all, 44½ feet beam and 27 feet hold. The probable cost will be $225,000, and she is to be completed in July. By order of Committee

THE pavement around the court house square showed a woeful lack of attention during the past week. No attempt to speak of was made to keep it clear of snow drifts. The whole trouble is because the city and county authorities both claim that it is the other's duty to clean the walk.

The present legislature will undoubtedly tinker with the congressional and senatorial apportionment of the state-

They would scarcely be doing their duty if they did not undo a lot of the tinkering done in this matter by the last democratic legislature.

THE governor of Wisconsin, in his message to the legislature of that state takes the ground that students should have the right to vote where they are attending school. This principal was carried out in this state, in a measure, when the amendment to the state constitution was adopted permitting those at the soldier's home to vote at Grand

THE attitude taken by some of the parents of the young Americas who were suspended from the High School for maintaining a secret society organization is truly amazing. We wonder what the father or mother can be thinking who will uphold a son or daughter in disobeying a rule of the institution to which such a one is sent for an education, and especially when the breaking of the rule is done by uniting with an organization, some features of which are, to say the least, questionable.

THE action of the teachers in the High School in suspending a number of students for violating the rules of the School Board and becoming members of secret societies, is certainly a commendable one. The idea of boys and girls in their teens apeing their seniors in such things, and being carried away with their fad to such an extent that they are shamefully neglecting their studies, should be stopped at once. The attempt of one of the societies in the High School in trying to organize a branch order at Monroe was certainly carrying the matter beyond all limits. These boys' mothers would serve these kids right if they would take them home and give them a good spanking and than send them back to school.

THE REGISTER has been condemned on the one hand and praised on the other; abused by some and complimented by just as many other; has lost a few subscribers and gained as many new ones, all because it has admitted to smoking, drinking, and athletic sports in the High School and University. To the Editor of THE REGISTER:-

Some intimations I received from John's instructors led me to come to Ann Arbor again, the third time, to ascertain just how John was getting along with his school work, etc. I arrived in the evening as before, went directly to John's room, and as he was about retiring we had but little conversation that evening. I could not help noticing, however that John's breath smelled

I also ascertained from Johnnie, that borers out of work, while capital is so from a too free indulgence in beer, he redundant that the trust companies of had been quite ill. STATE LEGISLATURE.

SENATE.—Fourth day.—A petition was presented from Shiawassee county asking for a prohibitory liquor law. Gov. Rich transmitted documents in the matter of the removal of state officers. Bills noticed: To repeal act authorizing Catholic bishops in Michigan to hold property in trust for the use of the church exempt from taxation; for the incorporation of Royal Orange lodges in the state; to repeal the act permitting police justices of Detroit to commit children to the house of the Good Shepherd in Detroit; to amend building and loan association laws; to amend the constitution relative to the election of representatives to the legislature, so as to permit the division of large cities into representative districts; to place a statue of the late Austing Bair, Michigan's war governor, in Statuary hall in the capitol at Washington, at a cost not to exceed '10.00; for a constitutional amendment providing an educational qualification for voters, stipulating that electors must be able to read and write: a caucus reform bill which is very strict in all its provisions and applies to cities of over 20.000 inhabitants. Bills introduced: Requiring secretary of state and deputy to give bonds: providing for the taxation of palace, dining and sleeping car corporations doing business in the state: providing for hearing chancery causes in open court and settling cases on appeal; repealing Detroit & Saiine Plank road incorporation act to 'ax church property. House, —The apportionment of cierks to standing committees created some discussion. Gov. Rich Seut to the House the report of the municipal croporation commission. All municipalities have been divided into classes. Detroit having one class all to itself, as only those cities having a population of more than 150,000 are included. The report said the commission is still considering the bills for the cuarters of second-class cities, but bills were submitted for villages and etities of the supreme court on an annual salary of $2.500 and have his fees, which and refers shall be appoi SENATE.-Fourth day .- A petition was pre-

Sexate—Fifth day—Large numbers of bills continue to be noticed daily. The most important one on this day being an attack upon the contract system of employing convicts. It provides that all work done by the inmates of penal institutions in the state shall be on the state account plan. Resolutions were adopted instructing committees not to report any charter bills until the measures framed by the municipal charter commission are disposed of: providing for a select committee of three to investigate the printing and distribution of public documents. Bills introduced: Making an appropriation for the Michigan Pioneer and Historical society: authorizing appointment of a clerk to judge of probate, caucus law by requiring registration; providing for inspection of building and loan associations: striking out portion of law permitting building and loan associations: striking out portion of law permitting building and loan associations to levy fines on members without having such practice considered usury; repealing act exempting building and loan associations to not repeal act incorporating Michigan Central and bring the company under general law: to submit amendment to people to provide for indeterminate sentences: repealing law permitting justices of the peace to send children to the house of Good Shepherd in Detroit; providing of quantional qualifications for voters: doing away with cumulative system of electing representatives in Detroit and having them elected by districts: pure food bill; for a normal school at Mt. Pleasant: repealing law permitting horozory in trust for use of the church. House—Bills introduced: For incorporation of villages; for incorporation of contractions; amending general tax law: pure food bill; a normal school at Mt. Pleasant: repealing law permitting representatives to probate courts; for additional pudge for Third judicial circuit—Wayne county: for stenographer for Fourteenth judicial circuit; congressional apportionment; senatorial apportionment; SENATE-Fifth day-Large numbers of bills

Senate.—Sixth day.—A short session. Bills introduced and reterred: Amending railroad law relative to condemnation proceedings: amending building and loan association law; repealing tax exemption clause of building and loan association law; repealing tax exemption clause of building and loan associations by labor commissioner; for incorporation of Orange lodges; for constitutional amendment for indeterminate sentences: for incorporation of villages; for incorporation of etities of fourth class. House.—The first real debate over legislative matters was a warm one. It came on the concurrent resolution, previously adopted by the Senate, instructing committees having charge of city charter bills not to report any special charter bills until the general ones framed by the municipal corporation commission had been disposed of. While nearly all the members who spoke on the question discialmed any hostility to the general bills or any desire to ignore the work of the commission each had particular and urgent reasons why special bills from his own locality shoud have immediate hearing. It was finally decided to give a special hour next week to the consideration of the resolution. The first bill reported from a committee was Rep. Rediern's bill amending the law relating to the election of schhool commissioners. It increases the term of office from two to four years, makes a change in the law relating to the appointment of school examiners and provides for teachers' examinations on a basis of population—two each year in the smaller districts aca up to six in the larger. Among the most important bills noticed was one to provide that the term of office of anembers of the state legislature shall be four years instead of two, and that the terms of half of the members of each house shall expire every two years, thus insuring a large body of experienced men in each session. At the first election to be held under this plan half the members of each house shall expire every two years, thus insuring a large body of experienced men i

Paris: The cabinet of France has resigned having been defeated in the chamber of deputies on the question of priority to an order of the day. The question which lead to the resignation of the ministry is a wide one. It is really a question of whether the chamber of deputies is superior to the courts of France and whether the chamber is able to set aside the continuous at will stitution at will.

CONGRESSIONAL NEWS. SENATE.—Twenty-second day.—The morning cratine business having been quickly dispensed with Mr. Morgan (Dem. Ala.,) offered a resolution which was adopted cailing on the president for reports, documents and other papers relating to the enforcement of regulations respecting the fur-seal fisheries adopted by Great Britian and the United States to carry out the decision of the Paris tribunal of arbitration, etc. The conference report on the military academy appropriation blows applied in the season of the paris tribunal of arbitration, etc. The conference report on the relief of homested settlers in Wisconsin, Minnesota and Michigan. He asked for immediate consideration, but Mr. Teller (Rep., Col.) objected, and the bill went over. The Lodge resolution calling for information why United States ships of war had been withdrawn from Hawaiian waters was then considered, and Mr. Palmer (Dem., Ill.) addressed the Senate, uphoiding President Cleveland's attitude in the matter. He was repeatedly interrupted and had to meet some hard arguments which he did not wholly overcome. The morning hour closed before the debate ended and the resolution went over. Mr. Belitzhoover (Dem., La.), gave that the pleasure of the United States after five years, payable 25 years from date, with interest at 3 per cent. payable semi-annually in gold. Members flocked around Mr. Sibley (Dem., Pa.), when he began a characteristic address against the bill. He was applauded when he said: "If ever a rebuke was needed to one who has attempted to usurp this entire government to himself." The time has come when there should be something more than brains, belly and brass to this government." SBNATE.— Twenty-third day.— The urgent deficiency bill was reported as it came from the House. Mr. Quay thought an amendment should be made to the income tax law requiring a publication of the names and salaries of the employes of corporations. Mr. Pascoe (Dem. Fla.) spoke on the Nicaragua canal bill, and said that while he favored an inter-oceanic canal he is opposed to the pending bill. The House bill for the relief of homestead settlers in Michigan. Wisconsin and Minnesota was passed. HOUSE.—The Carlisle currency bill, which had been under debate for two weeks, was ignomminously ditched. The committee on rules, in obedience to the decree of the Democratic caucus, brought in an order to close the general debate and proceed under the five-minute rule for three days, when the final vote should be taken, but supporters of the bill were unable to order the previous question, the vote resulting 124 yea, 129 nay. The advocates of the bill were dumbfounded at their defeat in the first skirmish, and the order was withdrawn. The diplomatic and postofice appropriation bills were then passed. half the expense of the district government is paid by the district and half by the government. SENATE.—Twenty-fifth day.—Practically the whole session was occupied in the discussion of Mr. Hill's amendment to the urgency deficiency bill designed to afford an opportunity to test the constitutionality of the income tax law. Mr. Hill delivered a long and carefully prepared speech in support of his amendment. Mr. Dubois followed in support of the appropriation to make the law operative, but soon drifted into a discussion of the silver question in which he said that no currency bill could pass that was not liberal towards silver. Several others spoke on the amendment. House.—No business of general importance, but at the evening session the northern and southern Democratic members had a stormy discussion over pension bills.

SENATE.—Twenty-sixth day.—Senator Teller addressed the Senate in a speech marked by force and eloquence of earnestness. He-took the income tax as a text, but branched out into a comprehensive review of the present conditions of the treasury and the remedies demanded. He severely arraigned the administration for alarming the country by agitation over the currency bill, and urged that the restoration of silver was the only effective resolution, but said he did not expect this solution, at the present time from either or the great parties or from the Populists. Senator Lodge also addressed the Senate, urging that if the Democratic majority would present a measure to raise vevenue instead of a currency will that could not pass the minority would assist in enacting it. When the routine proceedings were out of the way Mr. Cockreli call up the urgent deficiency bill, which occupied the remainder of the day. House.—Mr. Hatch, chairman of the committee on agriculture, called up a bill to extend the provisions of the Wilson original package liquor law to eleomargarine in original packages. The bill precipitated a discussion regarding the merits of the oleomargarine act and its constitutionality until the morning hour expired and the bill went over. The House then passed the bill to codify the pension laws. Public business was suspended and eulogies were delivered on the late Representative George P. Shaw, of Wisconsin.

Flowers It is very necessary in order to keep the freshness of flowers that they should be carefully and frequently attended to. Of course they will not last so long in hot weather as in cool. All flowers with fleshy stalks should be stripped before being placed in water, and the vases should only be half filled, in order that the stalks may not decay as soon as they would otherwise do. Palms require very judicious treatment; a summer draught is even more harmful to them than hard winter weather. They should be watered in the evening.

FORCE OF CHARACTER.

Max O'Rell's Idea of How John Bell Built Up His Empire.

It is neither by his intelligence nor his talents, says Max O'Rell in the Revue de Paris, that John Bull has created the immense British empire; it is by force of character. To maintain an empire of more than 400,000,000 scattered over the earth, to widen it every day, without functionaries, with a handful of soldiers, and more often with volunteers, is wonderful, it must be acknowledged. And, at present, I can affirm that not a single colony causes John Bull the least apprehension. A magistrate and a dozen policemen administer and hold in respect districts larger than five or six French departments. Justice is meted out to the natives as impartially as to the colonists. All these young nationalities enjoy the most complete liberty, political and social.

If I have not succeeded in proving.in spite of their thousand and one whims, the Anglo-Saxons are the only people in the world who are perfectly free I have wasted my time and yours, dear readers. There are many people in Britain who imagine that the future reserves for the British empire a confederation having its center in London. If, during all my travels among the Anglo-Saxons of the whole world I have acquired a deep conviction it is that the colonies will never accept the realization of this dream. Each would want to preserve its individuality and nationality. Moreover, none of them have the least desire to be comprised in the quarrels Britain might have with any European na-tion. They will remain branch establishments of the firm of John Bull & Co., or they will be independent.

Of the Dutch settlers in Africa M. Blouet says: "The Boers are farmers and hunters, and nothing else. Ignorant, bigoted, backward, they do not change their ideas any more than they change their linen. They are hospitable, dirty, brave and lazy. They have much religion and very few scruples; they are satisfied to live like their ancestors and ready to die the day their independence is menaced. Johannesburg will absorb the Transvaal; the apathy of the Boers will have to give way before the ever-increasing activity of the British. The Transvaal is destined to become an Anglo-Saxon republic, which will one day form part of the free United States of South

PREVENTING FOREST FIRES. tion, Buffalo, N. Y.

Official Caretakers and Local Financial

Responsibility Necessary. People who live among our forests have seen them burn so often, while no effort was made to ascertain the cause or punish the carelessness or criminality of the incendiary, that they have naturally come to consider forest property in a class by itself, with no right to protection against fire, like a dwelling-house or other property. Not until these views are radically changed, says Garden and Forest, and it is appreciated that a forest fire, from its possible magnitude, is the worst possible fire, will legislation be of substantial value. What such legislation should be in its essence is well set forth in a circular to lumbermen prepared by B. E. Fernow and sent out by the department of agriculture. An efficient law will assume that organized machinery must be provided to make it effective, and since the damage done by forest fires extends beyond mere private and personal loss the state must be represented by some one empowered to organize a fire service. Responsibility for the execution of the law must rest upon this executive head, and facilities for prosecuting offenders must be at his command. Nothing like any voluntary service can be trusted. Officials must be paid and must be held responsible for care in performing their duties and obedience to regulations. This point cannot be insisted upon too strongly. Protection against fires will cost money, and this fact must be recognized at the outset. Again, the common interest in the protection of property must be recognized by creating financial lia-bility for its enforcement on the part of the community and its membersthat is, each county, for example, must be obliged to pay into the state treasury a certain sum for every acre burned over each year, as a fire indemnity fund, to be applied to the maintenance of the system and for the payment of damages to those whose property has been burned without neglect on their own part. A law based on such principles is now in force in Maine, and the people of that state are proving that it can be made effective.

CRAZED BY COFFEE.

A Peculiar Allment Which Affected a Whole Family.

Two table d'hoters fell to discussing the black coffee question a few nights ago, and several other habitues of the table d'hote where the discussion took place chipped in their little saysos. It turned out that, while a demitasse was as much as some could take without feeling its effects on their nerves, others could quaff a schooner and then retire and sleep as soundly as the servants when you happen to have forgotten your latchkey. One of the chippers-in was a medical man, and he said that coffee without milk, and with but little sugar, exercises the most beneficial influences in some cases of sick and nervous headaches, especially if a little lemon or lime juice be added to it.

"Sometime before the death of the late Professor Charcot," said the man of medicine, "he was called to see a family made up of father, mother and six children, all of whom had become the victims of an uncontrollable mental irritabillity upon the slightest provocation. They never sat down to a meal without there being an explosion of bad temper, and sometimes the whole family would give way to hysterical crying at the same time. This was naturally a very awkward state of affairs, especially when they had company, and what made it worse the servants soon joined in the general derangement.

"That capped the climax, and the father sent for the professor to try and find out what was the trouble. In the middle ages the verdict of the wise men would have been that the house was haunted, and some one would have been burned or hanged or cut into quarters for bewitching the premises, but as it was at the end of the nineteenth century, Professor Charcot looked into the hygiene of the neighborhood for the solving of the puzzle.

"On investigation he found that the man was a manufacturer and dealer in coffee and coffee essences, and that the roasting, grinding and making of his stock was carried on in the rooms beneath those where the family lived. The residental part of the building was permeated with the odor of coffee, and all the furniture, hangings and clothing were saturated with the smell. In short, the family were suffering with chronic coffeeism, and it was not until they had spent several weeks at the seashore that they recovered their normal mental health."

'Beware the pine tree's witherd branch Beware the awful avalanche!" was the peasant's warning to the aspiring Alpine youth. Dangers greater than these lurk in the pathway of the young man or young woman of the present as they journey up the rugged sidehill of Time. But they may all be met and overcome by a judicious and timely use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, the celebrated cure for colds, course, catarrh, and consumpcolds, coughs, catarrh, and consump-tion. A MYSTIFIED PREACHER. He Didn't Understand That Blamed

Some of the pioneer ministers who served the early Baptist church in this vicinity were quite illiterate, says the Cincinnati Enquirer, though possessed of much cleverness and sterling common sense. The following anecdote of one of them, whose name is reserved, was related by one of the early settlers who was cognizant of the affair when it occurred. The minister was in the habit of opening the scripture at random and taking for his text the first verse which caught his eye. Being called upon to conduct the funeral services of a child at the home of a prosperous settler, a fine old bible complete in every particular, was placed before him. When the time for the sermon arrived he, as usual, opened it at random and pouncing on verse in a chapter of Second Maccabees preached an interesting and instructive sermon. After the funeral he went home with an influential brother and sister to spend the night. During the evening the sister requested him to give the text from which he had preached, which he readily did, naming verse, chapter and book of Maccabees.

While general conversation went on the sister took her bible and searching through and through it, finally ex-

"Why, brother -, there is no Maccabees in the bible!"

"Why surely there is," he replied. I am positive that is the book from which I took my text.

Taking the volume he looked it through and through, as the sister had done, seeming more and more per-plexed at each turn, since his search proved no more successful than that of his hostess.

The matter so preyed upon his mind that early the next morning he saddled his horse and went back, saying he was going to see that bible. About noon he arrived once more at the home of his friends, where he had spent the night, and to the inquiring glance of the good sister he made zaswer, with a siy twinkle of the eye: "Now, sister, we won't say anything more about this. That blamed bible had something in it called a 'Pocraphy and I never saw that in a bible be-

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria. Painting Arctic Scenes.

Some of the difficulties of pursuing art under disadvantageous circumstances were explained recently by Frank W. Stokes, who undertook to make a thorough study of arctic effects in connection with the Peary expedition. One of his best pictures, he said, would be a moonlight scene on the everlasting snows. To paint this he had to keep up a perpetual dance before his easel, making a few dashes with his brush and then shaking himself vigorously to save himself from being frozen. He declared the moonlight was the most gorgeous he had ever seen, being so brilliant that he could easily distinguish his colors, even though they were on the conventional dark palette.

HE LIVED AS A GIRL.

Extraordinary Experience of a Youth in the Swiss Alps.

An extraordinary story of a young man passing as a girl all his life until a month or two ago is related from Treschatel, in the Alpine district of Switzerland. He was known by the name of Laura Besnar, and came of a good family. Why his friends should have registered the child as a female and subsequently kept up the deception is a matter of myster. The young man is said to have found the companionship of the weaker sex very pleasant, and would probably have continued to frequent the society of young women as one of their number had not he fallen in love, but in order to woo and win the lady of his choice he declared his proper sex.

The earlier years of his life were spent in a convent school, on leaving which he studied a cure for stammering and subsequently founded a school for that purpose. This was so successful that in a few years he amassed 40,000 francs and then decided to study medicine. With this object he was entered as a student at Grenople school of medicine as a woman, and to all outward appearances was one.

His features were distinctly feminine, and nothing in the shape of a mustache or whiskers were to be observed. In every way he comforted himself as a female and seemed quite at ease in the character he assumed. The only thing which might have betraved him, perhaps, was a slight susable in all diseases arising from a scrof-ulous or enfeebled condition of the sys-This, however, was scarcely sufficient to attract special notice

STOPPED THE BABY'S CRY. A Bachelor Brings His Knowledge of

Human Nature Into Play. A bachelor is not usually accredited with much knowledge about the proper treatment of children; but sometimes they step in where angels -that is, the mothers of the children -fail to tread. A well-known man about town, who is pretty well on in years, and not very fond of children, stopped in to see a married sister the other day and found her trying to amuse her little boy of about 5 years. Not long after he arrived she stepped out of the room to attend to some household matter or other, leaving him alone with the child. The latter eyed him dubiously for some minutes. He was a spoiled child if ever there was one, and he had no idea of making promiscuous acquaintances. The bachelor tried to make the little one laugh, but all he got for his antics was a sour look. Finally, without warning, the child burst out crying. Here was a quandary to be sure. He didn't dare to pick the boy up and soothe him. His attemptr in a verbal line were dismal failures. What should he do? Finally a thought struck him. He looked at the crying youngster and the crying youngster looked at him through his tears. He was evidently much pleased with the impression he was making. 'Cry louder," said he.

The child obeyed.

"Louder yet," urged the bachelor. A yell went up that would have done credit to an Indian. "Cry louder still," insisted the man, and the boy did his best to obey. "Louder!" fairly howled the uncle. "I won't snapped the infant, and he shut up his mouth with a click and

About Knives.

A cheap Pocket-knife can be bought, at every Store, but it is not the kind you want.

One dollar is the lowest price that :s really good knife can be sold for. This adoumn is placed in this paper to adver-ize the very best Pocket-knife ever sold. It is J. C. TIDMARSH'S Sheffield Steel Knife.

Never buy a knife only because it looks well. If blades are not the best Sheffield steel they will soon bend, no matter how they will look. Still, you want a fine-looking knife.

The United States law provides that only samples to agents and to the trade will be admitted free of duty. You can, therefore, see the advantage that I have in sending samples to agent over those who deal in Sheffield goodin America.

I am an advertising agent! I am entrusted with a certain amount to spend advertising these knives (the best value ever seen in America at One Dollar each). Now, the knife is its own best advertisement.

Imagine a Pocket-knife (3½ inches long) with the most beautifully-grained vory handle—genuine African ivory and with two blades of the very best Sheffield steel that will last a lifetime and cut like a razor. The tips of the handles are heavily plated with sterling silver. And then a very nice chamois leather case goes with each knife Now, would it not be easy work selling this knife at One Dollar each? I know it would, for it looks as if it were worth two dollars. were worth two dollars.

And so it is if you compare it with the value offered in the ordinary Store Is not this knife its own best advertisement.

You can make $4 per day selling these knives. This is a genuine and straigtforward statement. This is counting that you show it to only twelve buyers every day. And every one that sees it will say it is good value for $1. The knives are sold to you at $8 per dozen; you sell them at $1 each. each.

I determined to use large sum of advertising money entrusted to me in sending out free samples to those who promise to act as agents for the sale of hese knives

I will send you a tree sample, but you must sign the promise at the foot of this column, and make a deposit to show that in asking for the knife you are acting in good faith. The deposit that I ask of you is 44 cents about half the wholesale cost of the knife, and less than one-third what ou would have to pay for a knife like it, if you bought one.

Send the money by a Postal Order or one-cent stamps for 44cts., and put a five-cent stamp on the letter, which must not weigh more than one-half

The deposit of 44 cents will be placed to your credit, and will be deducted from your first order at the dozen rate.

I am an advertising agent, contractor and publisher with one of the largest Advertising businesses in the world, and absolutely guarantee to send, postage paid and duty free, the knife described above free to anyone who signs the promise below, and sends it with the promise below, and sends it with the deposit as stated.

Let me advise you not to part with your sample, even if you should lose a sale at $1 by refusing, as it will take time to replace it. I could not send you another even if you sent the full $1.

After the sample they can only be a sample they c After the sample they can only be supplied to you by the dozen as there is duty on them to be paid.

Any English Banker can give you and that I do exactly as I say.

I have taken this pace in this paper for three years! The first one answering this advertisement after this number of the paper has come out will, if he likes, have his name printed in this space as agent for these knives.

The Editor of the Springfield (Ohio) New Era writes, in his paper of June 29, 1894:—"I have received a sample knife from Mr. Sears, and am very much pleased with it. He is the owner of a very large advertising business in London, and is, I believe, perfectly responsible and straightforward.

Sign your name and address to the following, cut it out and send it with Postal Order or stamps for 44 cents, and you will receive by return of post the beautiful knife as described above.

F. W. SEARS,

HE WAS IN LUCK.

A Shot Which Was as Successful as it Was Accidental.

A Maine veteran of the Aroostook war tells a story of how good luck brought a poor marksman out of a bad scrape. Governor Fairfield visited Houlton and reviewed the troops stationed there as commander-in-chief, and, of course, it was the biggest kind of a military event. The Dexter rifle company had some crack shots in it, and as part of the exercises in honor of the governor's coming they were marched out for target practice. As they made some excellent hits, the figure of an Indian being a mark, the governor expressed his pleasure in their proficiency and said loud enough for the men to hear:

"Now, I would like to see your very best marksman try his skill."

In the company was a man noted for not being able to hit anything, and at once, in a spirit of deviltry, the cry ran along the line repeating his name in answer to the governor's call. Without flinching he stepped six paces to the front and saluted:

"Where do you want me to hit him, governor?" he asked with perfect composure.

ing at the mark. "All right, sir." The soldier raised his gun, shut his eyes and turned his head away as usual and fired. The men were all on a broad grin at the great joke of the thing, but when the bullet struck the mark whittling off a piece of the Indian's left ear, there was a shout of surprise that could be heard all over the township.

When Waris Declared

Against a man's happiness by his stomach, the enemy may be pacified and brought speedily and easily to terms. That potent regulator of digestion, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, discipline the rebellious organ thoroughly. Indigestion arises from weakness of the stomach, and the food in it, for want of the power to digest, decomposes and acidifies, given rise to heartburn, flatulence and pain, besides a multitude of symptoms both changeful and perplexing. But peace soon reigns when the great stomachic is resorted to and used with persistence. Dyspepsia gives rise to morbid discomposure of mind, and even sleeplessness hypochondria in chronic cases. To the complete dismis-sal of these the Bitters is fully adequate. Liver complaint, constipation, debility rheumatism and malaria are completely subdued by this genial medicine.

Will you be mine, Ada, dear?" 'This is so sudden, Edwin! You must give me a little time." "How much, dearest?" "Just until I can call mamma in to witness your proposal. She is waiting in the next room."-Puck.

The Trouble Over.

A prominent man in town exclaimed the o her day: "My wife has been wearing out her life from the effects of Dyspersia, Liver Complaint and indigestion. Her case baffled the skill of our best physicians. Some years ago a number of these mammoth birds were imported and it was expected that large fortunes would be made raising them for their feathers, but the hopes have not been realized, although it cannot be termed a complete failure. A large amount in the aggregate has been realized from the sale of feathers, but the birds do not increase as rapidly as was expected, and many of them are so vicious as to render the removal of the feathers without killing the birds an impossibility. They have to be caught by lariats and it requires an expert thrower to keep from injuring them seriously."

HISTORIC FAT WOMEN.

Celebrities Who Were More or Less Disposed to Embonpoint.

From ancient, mediaeval and modern history the following facts about fat women are gleaned. Agrippina, Nero's mother, was fat. Cleopatra, the serpent of the Nile, as Marc Anthony called her, was small and fat. Laura, Petrarch's muse, was fat, fair, with blond hair. The Marie Fiammetta, whom Boccaccio loved intensely, was a brunette and fat, with thick red hair. Marguerite of Navarre was fat. All Rubens' women, except his wif-, were fat. All Titian's women, except the madonna, were fat. Catherine of Russia was tall and Louisa Strozzi, for whom Alexandre di Medici died, was rather stout.

Josephine Beauharnais, the indolent Creole, afterward empress of the French, was fat and perfumed; Mme. Roland also. The unfortunate Marie Antoinette was tall of stature, majestic and fat. Mme. de Stael, small, dark and fat, with a small head. Georges Sand had a beautiful head, but was fat and small. Heine said of her: "The build of her body has the appearance of being a little too fat, or at least, a little too short; the head alone bears the cachet of the ideal." Queen Isabella of Spain is fat; Queen Victoria the same; Queen Margherita of Italy is certainly on the same way, and most of the great singers have been noted for their embonpoint 24x - 42 1. 2000 Jails in Hawaii.

The system of jail management in Hawaii is peculiar. It is the custom to reut out the prisoners to citizens as laborers at so much a day. Every one who pretends to social standing in Honolulu has a telephone in his house, and a conversation over it like this is said to be of frequent occurrence: "Is this the jail" "Yes." 'Well' won't you please send up a murderer to the house to-day? The burglar you sent up yesterlay was not satisfactory." The prisoners are required to return to the jail before 6 every night.

Married Jockeys.

Horsemen always hear with evident regret the announcement of the intended marriage of their jockeys. To be sure it has a tendency to steady them, but then turfmen claim marriage cowers a good boy. This seems to be the turning point in his career and no matter how courageous and daring he may have been before a great change is always noticed after his marriage. Reckless rides around turns and daring rushes through big fields are seldom attempted by married jockeys. They leave this dangerous work to the more experienced youngsters. An owner doesn't like to see his horse pocketed or cut off, and that's why he prefers to have up an unmarried jockey, who is not bothered with wifely warnings before going to the post to be careful, for her sake at least

Britain's Naval Commerce.

According to careful and elaborate calculations which have been made recently by the admiralty in London. as well as by the principal experts on naval matters, the gross value of British maritime interests amounts to slightly over $10,000,000,000. These figures comprise the total value of the sea-borne commerce of the British empire, as well as such foreign maritime commerce as is carried in British ships owned in England, the value of the securities and market-Curlett's Heave Remedy is a sure cure for Heaves in the earlier stages, and warranted to relieve in advanced stages.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria. FINEST TOMB IN AMERICA. The $25,000 Mausoleum in Which a

Baltimorean Is to Be Laid. A mausoleum to hold the body of Frederick De Courcey May is nearly finished in Bonnie Brae cemetery. It will cost $25,000, and is said by a correspondent of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat to be the finest tomb in the United States. The structure is modeled on pure classical lines. It is in the form of a Doric temple. Standing on the slope of a hill this modern temple of white Beaver Dam marble is an imposing feature in the landscape surrounding it. The columns, roof and walls of the mausoleum are of marble. The only other material distinctly visible in the structure is a heavy bronze doorway, paneled and ornamented with a cross, which cost $1,000. The walls are nearly two feet thick. They are built of blocks of marble, extending through from interior to exterior built up solidly from the ground, and only pierced by the doorway and several small grated windows under the eaves. The interior is rubbed smooth. The windows are five by three feet each, and are cut through solid stone. Four immense marble slabs, each weighing ten tons, form the ceiling. These stones are twelve feet long, four feet six inches wide, and three feet thick. Above the ceiling is a pitched roof, also of stone, and having six windows to correspond with the windows in the ceiling. Plate glass, one inch thick, is fitted in the inner and outer windows. The tomb or sarcophagus is chiseled out of a solid cream colored stone, imported from Cain, France. This piece of stone is nine feet long by four feet wide, and is nearly three feet high. It is carved on three sides in floral designs, and a cross is on top. The sarcophagus has been hollowed for the reception of the coffin. Just above the head of the sarcophagus is a niche in the wall extending to the ceiling. A piece of imported statuary will be put there. The carving on the arch of the niche is exquisite. Mr. May was 46 years old. He was a native of Baltimore, a son of Congressman Henry May of Maryland, and a brother of George May. He studied medicine, became a surgeon, went abroad when young and served during the Franco-Prussian war, being attached to the Anglo-American ambulance corps on the side of the French.

Prosecuted for High Treason. At Tarnopol in Galicia a secret society was recently discovered, composed of some seventy high school boys of which the object was the separation of Galicia from the Austrian empire and the establishment of an independent Polish kingdom. The boys met regularly an hour before school, to deliver speeches attacking the emperor and the pope. The government has actually prosecuted eighteen of them for high treason.

A Novel Mustard Pot. A new kind of mustard pot has been made that insures always having fresh mustard. It is the size of an ordinary mustard pot, and consists of two parts, in the lower half of which is placed the dry mustard, while in the neck of the upper part is a small container for the water necessary for mixing, together with a little screw, which, when turned by the consumer, allows the water to escape into the mustard below, the two being amalgamated by a turn or two of the screw. In this way a fresh supply for each meal can be obtained without waste or trouble, and as the pot can be taken in two in an instant, there is no difficulty about cleaning it.

"I am surprised, Bobby," said his father, reprovingly, "that you should strike your little brother. Don't you know that it is cowardly to hit one smaller than yourself?" "Then why do you hit me, pa?" inquired the boy with an air of having the better of it.

"Upon my place at home there is an apple-tree, the fruit of which is sweet on one side and sour on the other.' said C. E. Harrington, of Baltimore, Md., recently. "It has been known for many years that these apples existed, but no one has ever been able to explain the phenomenon."

ANECDOTE AND INCIDENT.

The other day M. Casimir-Perier, the president of France, went into a shop in Paris and opening a package which he carried produced an automatic doll, and asked the shop girl behind the counter whether it could be repaired. She replied that it could and asked who he was, that the doll might be sent home. He told her, when she stared at him a moment and fainted away. His dignity was too much for her.

Bishop William Boyd Carpenter of Ripon, England, is the court preacher. A story is told of him that when he was asked how he managed to address so exalted a personage as the sovereign and yet maintain his composure he replied that he never addressed her at all. He knew there would be present the queen, the princes, the household, the servants, down to the scullery maid. "And," said the bishop, "I preach to the scullery maid and the queen understands

A few days since a woman entered a certain hat store. She had in tow a boy of about 10 years of age. That is, his body was 10 years old, but his face looked like a man of 30. want a cheap hat for this boy. don't care what it is, so long as it is cheap." The hatter pulled over his stock, and finally presented to the woman a hat worth about fifty cents. "I guess this will satisfy you," he said. "It is fifty cents." "All right; I'll take it. I wanted something cheap for the boy to have fits in;" and then she went out.
