

CHARLES L. CARTER DEAD.

SHOT DOWN ON JANUARY SIXTH BY HAWAIIAN REBELS.

An Honored Alumnus of the U of M Dies for his Country—In Honor of Robert Burns' Birthday—Dr. H. L. Obezts Throws a Bombshell into the Regents' Meeting—Y. M. C. A. Celebrates its First Anniversary—Plain Talk About Action of the School Board.

Death of Chas. L. Carter.

Last Saturday report was received that on January 6th there was an uprising of the royalist party near Honolulu, in the Hawaiian Islands and that in the attempt to put down the insurrectionists, Mr. Chas. L. Carter, one of the government officials, was fatally shot, and that he died soon after. The deceased was well-known in Ann Arbor. He came here in 1883. After spending two years in the literary department, he entered the law school and graduated with the class of '87. He was a brilliant student, and was highly esteemed by all who knew him. While here he became acquainted with Miss Mary Scott, a sister of our well-known townsman, Mr. Everett H. Scott. Their acquaintance grew to be more than ordinary friendship, and in 1889 Mr. Carter returned to Ann Arbor and took Miss Scott away as his bride. They have resided in Honolulu ever since. Mr. Carter entered upon the practice of his profession in Honolulu and has met with more than usual success. When the revolution took place last year Mr. Carter was one of the commissioners sent by the provisional government to Washington to secure annexation to the United States. He had been active in the formation and maintenance of the new government and, as a result, had gained the ill will of the royalists, and especially of one, Wilcox, who had put himself in charge of the natives in their attempts to overthrow the new government. There seems to be no doubt that this man was the leader in the insurrection in the suppression of which Mr. Carter lost his life. The unfortunate man leaves, besides his wife, two little children, a boy and girl, to mourn his untimely death. It is not known whether Mrs. Carter will return to Ann Arbor to reside, but in all probability she will do so.

Burns' Anniversary.

At the Unitarian church next Monday evening the Caledonian Society of this city will give a most unique entertainment in honor of the anniversary of the poet, Burns. The opening address will be given by Hon. W. A. Gordon, speaker of the House, after which will follow a characteristic Scotch program. Miss Annie McNeill, of London, is the finest Scotch singer before the American public, and has received ovation in all parts of the country. She will sing a number of Scotch songs. Another artist of no less ability, though in an entirely different way, is Miss Susie McGill, the five-year-old Scotch dancer. She will dance to the music of the bag pipe which will be played by Mr. William Strachan, the highland piper. Mr. William Phillips, of Chicago, will sing Scotch songs. Mr. Andrew Campbell and Miss Jean Phillips, the latter of London, will give Scotch readings, and Misses Cole, Mills-paugh and Campbell will also appear in several Scotch songs. Besides these, Mr. Bilbie will play two Scotch fantasies for violin. Short addresses will be given by Hon. W. D. Harriman, Mrs. E. R. Sunderland, and Dr. D. A. Mac Lachlan. The evening will be one of the most interesting given in Ann Arbor this year.

Dr. Obezts' Plan.

Dr. H. L. Obezts, in his communication before the board of regents last Wednesday sets forth his ideas about the amalgamation of the two schools of medicine. Justice to all medical students and economy in expenses are what the doctor is contending for. He would have two chairs for each subject where there is a distinct difference in theory, that is, he would have two professors in Materia Medica and two in the Theory and Practice of Medicine. He would divide the operative chairs between representatives of the two schools. The others should be single, both theories being fairly represented by the professor in charge. In this way, the doctor claims that just as efficient work could be done and at the same time the salary list would amount to only $35,100 per year. This would be a very great saving over what the two departments, as now conducted, are now costing the state. The doctor claims that he is doing this purely in the interest of justice and economy and that the claim that he is trying to sell out the Homeopathic Department, or ruin the Rogulars, is without a particle of foundation. Dr. Obezts says that the people are ready for just such a change and that if put to a vote of the people it would carry by an overwhelming majority. Dr. Obezts states that he has made this fight notwithstanding he had been warned by so doing he would lose his position. He declared that the possibility of such a thing had had no influence upon him. In closing, the doctor says: "If a new faculty takes hold they will find rules which will close the door upon all but the very best of students, and these will not stay here four years and finally face a jury, the vote of any one of which is liable to put the stain of incompetency on them and cause the loss of their time and money. The school must always be a dismal financial failure under existing conditions. I do not believe the commonwealth should squander money in this way, when honest men are without work and helpless children are crying for bread."

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder

Their First Anniversary.

The Y. M. C. A. celebrated the close of their first year's work in Ann Arbor last Sunday night. Services were held in the First M. E. church. The house was filled to its utmost capacity. The following program was carried out: Festival March, Y. M. C. A. Orchestra; Hymn No. 4, "Praise Him! Praise Him!"; Reading of Scripture Lesson; Prayer; Selection by Choir and Orchestra; Anniversary Address, Rev. W. H. Davis, of Detroit; Hymn No. 5, "I know whom I have believed"; "Our Work," General Secretary W. C. Hull; "Our Needs," Mr. Fred H. Belsler; Song for Cornet, "It was not so to be," Y. M. C. A. Orchestra; Hymn No. 49, "There shall be showers of blessing; Benediction; Organ Voluntary, Mr. Harry Nichols. Mr. C. W. Wagner, the President of the Association presided at the meeting. The Y. M. C. A. Orchestra, under the direction of Mr. L. H. Clement provided some fine music. Rev. T. W. Young opened the meeting with prayer. The principal feature of the evening was the address by Rev. Mr. Davis, of Detroit. His subject was, "Some Motives of Christian Life." It would be impossible to do the sermon justice by giving a condensed report so we shall not attempt it. Following Mr. Davis' address, Mr. W. C. Hull, the general secretary of the Association spoke briefly of the work of the society during the past year and what was contemplated for the next year. Mr. F. H. Belsler spoke of the needs of the association. Besides $1200.00 to meet the current expenses, the society would never be contented until they had a nice home of their own. The people of this city are amply able to provide such a home and they will without doubt do so at no distant day.

Our School Board.

[To the Editor of THE REGISTER.]
Sir; as the agitation in regard to our city schools has grown somewhat warm it occurs to me that something cooler and less denunciatory might lead to better results. A few days of reflection before decisive action has in all important matters been found wise, and I cannot doubt that if the school board, instead of acting as it did last Wednesday night, had put off its decision for a week, this would have been different. The objectionable features of the whole affair are clearly these:

1. The board has severely censured an action of the principal of the high school admitted to have been in accordance with a law of the board which had existed for 18 years. Now the board may be deemed to have had a right to repeal its own law, but certainly none to place its executive officers on trial for executing an existing law.

2. The evil influence of permitting fathers and mothers and the children themselves to appear before the board as public prosecutors of teachers, even though these teachers had erred in their judgment, is one which cannot be measured; how much worse when the teacher is admitted to have but carried out an existing law. And yet the board not only admitted this voluntary, irresponsible and promiscuous testimony, but promptly acted upon its demands, and thus sent the pupils back in triumph over their instructors.

3. The remarks made at the meeting assume, and the action taken accords with the assumption, that the duty of teachers is simply to execute the will of the parents of their pupils. It was in substance claimed that if parents have no objection to the course pursued in school by their children, then teachers have no right to object. This doctrine, carried to its legitimate issue, would amount to this, that each parent has but to deliver his children into the hands of the teachers with instructions as to the manner in which they are to be dealt with, in which case neither board nor teachers would have to make any rules of conduct. Their rule of action is to be the will of parents, or, in the want of this, that of the children themselves.

Now there was one fair way of arriving at the result which the board supposes it has gained. It should first have been admitted that the principal of the High School, acting as he did in accordance with an existing law, did right. Then, if, on a fair consideration of the subject they were convinced that their own law was a bad one, they might have repealed it, as they have done. But the suspended boys would have still remained none the less violators of a law of the board. A repeal cannot work backward to acquit those who broke a law while it existed. The true course would have been to let some months, or better, a year, elapse before the repeal; then, if the pupils obeyed the restrictive law while it existed, it might have done to set it aside. The course taken was the same as to commission the eight suspended boys to assume the functions of legislators to revise the law and those of judges to pronounce themselves not guilty of breaking it. Those who will not obey an existing law will not obey a new one except so far as it suits them.

But I intended to write rather in sympathy with the boys, as also with the parents who have undertaken to fight their battles for them. Both will, on reflection, be sorry for their action; for I take it that they will all, when their excitement is over, be reasonable. The boys will not in maturer years boast of their triumph, but will feel in their hearts no little regret, if no shame, for their hasty action. No one not the complainants themselves, can read over a full report of the meeting of Wednesday evening last without feeling that the action was precipitate and wrong. It is clear that if those who volunteered their testimony against the action of the principal of the High School had been under the responsibilities of witnesses in a judicial inquiry, they would have been obliged to omit most of what they said and to say much which they omitted.

My chief purpose in writing this article is the good of the boys concerned and others in the school. Let the boys take care—and their parents should help them in the effort—that they are not dealt with for failure in the class room. Faithful teachers will be obliged to do this, if pupils are not up to the fixed standard of scholarship, and pupils might not be as successful in changing the standard to suit them as they have been in causing the repeal of the violated law. A. T. B.

Death of Miss Mary Pyper.

Miss Mary Pyper died this morning at her home, 36 S. Thayer-st., of paralysis, aged 73 years, 5 months and 26 days. The funeral services will be held at the house Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, Rev. J. M. Gelston officiating. The remains will be taken via T. & A. A. at 7:15 on Monday morning to Gregory, Livingston county, where several of Miss Pyper's relatives are buried. The deceased had been a resident of Ann Arbor for 26 years. —Friday's Times.

Mrs. Paul E. Freer entertained a number of college girls last Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. B. M. Thompson entertained a section of the Woman's League last Saturday afternoon.

R. B. Taylor, U. of M. '61, writes an interesting article for the January number of The Michigan Alumnus.

The senior laws held a meeting last Friday to hear reports in reference to the Cooley bust fund. The amount subscribed up to the present date is in the neighborhood of $300.

The Board of Regents might have done better towards the Summer School than to limit the amount to be expended for advertising of all kinds to $300. A much larger amount than that could be used to advantage.

The January Alumnus came out last Friday. It is not behind the former numbers of this new journal in its general character. Any former student of the U. of M. would certainly find it worth many times the cost of subscription.

Frank Briscoe has handed in his resignation as leader of the Glee Club, and A. G. Cummer will take his place. The club will appear in Detroit, Feb. 8, at which time they will give a concert before the Detroit High School alumni association.

An informal reception will be given Mr. Tracy McGregor next Saturday evening in the parlors of Newberry Hall from 7 to 10. Anyone who wishes to meet Mr. McGregor will be welcome. Mr. McGregor is the leading spirit in the McGregor mission, Detroit.

The Graduate Club held a meeting last night at the residence of Prof. H. C. Adams on Hill-st. The principal feature of the evening was a paper by Prof. G. H. Palmer, of Harvard University, on "The Odyssey." Mrs. Palmer was also present at the meeting.

The World's Fair Tests showed no baking powder so pure or so great in leavening power as the Royal.

CASE OF THE BEALES.

IT MAY NOT TERMINATE IN THE COURTS.

THEIR SEPARATION HAS CAUSED UGLY GOSSIP.

Their Marriage Said to Be the Fruit of an Ambitious Sister's Labors—Love Did Not Linger Long—The Broken Engagements.

THE LEADING subject of gossip in Washington for the past two or three months says Mrs. Truxton Beale, the youngest daughter of the late James G. Blaine, had left her husband and that sooner or later there would be a suit for divorce.

The facts in the case have been very carefully guarded from the public, however, and even now it is difficult to learn the truth. The report of an estrangement between the couple was started soon after their return to Washington from California about two months ago.

TRUXTON BEALE. The Washington house of Senator and Mrs. Eugene Hale of Maine.

Mrs. Blaine, widow of the late secretary, is now in her own house on De- point circle, where Mrs. Beale is seen much oftener than at the residence of Mrs. Beale's mother in Lafayette square, which is supposed to be her Washington home.

Hattie Blaine was married to Truxton Beale, son of the late Gen. Beale, in June last, in Washington, and the wedding, although a quiet one, owing to the fact that the Blaine were in mourning, was really a social function. The wedding was celebrated at noon, and was attended by a distinguished company of fashionable, political and official persons.

Mr. and Mrs. Beale went immediately to California, where the groom had an extensive ranch, left him by his father, and remained there until early in the fall, when they returned east to Bar Harbor and Washington.

During the winter the absence of Mr. and Mrs. Beale from all social events has been marked, and also the fact that Mr. Beale has spent much of his time at the club with his male companions. His sister, the wife of John R. McLean of the Cincinnati Enquirer, has been an extensive entertainer during the winter, but the young married couple had not been seen at her receptions and balls.

MRS. BEALE. The match between Miss Blaine and Mr. Beale was several times broken off during the past two or three years, and it is understood the opposition to the marriage came from her parents. Mrs. McLean had set her heart upon the union, however, and finally brought it about.

The widow of the late Gen. Beale lives alone in the big Decatur house in Lafayette square, when her son is absent from Washington, and, being an invalid, is seldom seen except when riding in a closed carriage. She is wealthy, and her son will inherit the most of her fortune.

A GHOST STORY.

Citizens of Richmond Startled by Town Talk.

A Richmond, Va., dispatch says: Last night at 12 o'clock William Taylor's ghost appeared on the scaffold where he was hung Friday. There was a crowd of people on the corner of First and Irving streets, near the court house square, and directly in front of the scaffold, and when the white object appeared it seemed that they all saw it at the same time. Most of the crowd were colored people. They were panic stricken and ran in all directions, taking the most direct route to their homes. The ghost went through the same gestures as Taylor did when he was hanged. It faced the north, with outstretched hand toward the east, then walked over to the trap door and disappeared. Andy Frazer, a farmer who comes to town and stays at least four or five days, had not been seen after seeing it, and has not been seen or heard from since. Stonewall Newell, who witnessed the hanging the day before from a barber shop window was going home from work at a late hour last night. He also saw it and made a hasty retreat. Clark Fisher, colored, was running at breakneck speed out Main street, and Officer Berry, who did not know what his actions meant, ordered him to stop, when he fell down on his knees and said he had seen Taylor's ghost on the gallows in the court house yard, and begged the officer to see him safely home. There is no doubt that the ghost was seen, as the statement is verified by some of the best citizens of Richmond.

A STRANGE REUNION.

Two Divorced Wives Guests at the New Year's Dinner.

William Cox, a citizen of Monticello, Ky., ate his last New Year's dinner at a table around which sat three of his living wives, and he is only 38 years of age. This at first glance appears to be an astounding condition of affairs, but it is easily explained. His first wife was Miss Minerva Smith, who bore him nine children and was then divorced. Mr. Cox then married Miss Julia Stephens. No children resulted from this union, and she also for some reason was divorced. He then wedded his present spouse, a Tennessee lady, and seven children blessed their home. His divorced wives have found other husbands, and there is now a feeling of perfect harmony and good will existing between the three households. On New Year's day Mr. Cox spread a banquet at his home, and invited his two former wives and their families to partake of his hospitality. They gladly responded, and the day passed without a ripple of unpleasantness to mar the joys of the occasion. This matrimonial hero was first married at the age of 14, and if he lives out his allotted three score and 10 and keeps up his past record he will stand without a rival. Three wives and sixteen children at 38 is not bad.

MARVELOUS EXPANSION.

Woman After Woman Left the Car, but the Space was Always Occupied.

When I entered a Madison avenue car yesterday I found the seats entirely occupied and had to content myself with the support of a strap and the hope that one of the other twenty-two passengers would soon alight, says a writer in the New York Herald. As I stood head and shoulders above the others and took a census of the passengers, I found that there were ten women on one side and ten women and two men on the other side.

One of the men I recognized, for we had been friends of long standing. I knew that his home was near and patiently waited for his departure. When Eightieth street was reached he rose from his seat, and I didn't sit down, for the ladies shook out their sleeves, separated a little and eleven persons filled the space that had been occupied by twelve.

I changed my clinging hand from the right to the left and settled into the conviction that I must stand until I reached my destination, at One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street. Then my sunken hopes were revived by the lady next to the man signaling the conductor to stop. She left the car, but no room for me, for the nine ladies again stirred, shook another reef from their sleeves and the seat was entirely filled. I clung to the strap with both hands.

When we reached One Hundred and Twentieth street the one other man rose, and, without looking behind, I followed him, to walk the remainder of the distance, for I did not want to be a witness to the result of the effort of the nine women to further expand.

MIDWINTER GOSSIP ABOUT THE STAR PLAYERS.

Sketch of Polhemus, the Hard Hitting Outfielder—His Most Notable Feats—News of Personal and Impersonal Import.

MARK L. POLHEMUS, the hard hitting and clever outfielder, was born Oct. 4, 1864, in Brooklyn, N. Y., the home of many noted ball players. Polhemus learned to play ball at Prospect park parade grounds, in the city of his nativity. In 1886 he was connected with the semi-professional team of Nyack, N. Y. His professional career, however, began in 1877, when he accepted an engagement with the Haverhill club, of the New England league, with whose team he began that season, but finished it with the Indianapolis club, of the National league. It was on account of his batting ability that the Indianapolis club purchased his release, he at that time leading the New England league batsmen with a percentage of .456. In 1888 Polhemus was engaged by the management of the Lowell club, of the New England league, and took part in seventy-five championship contests and ranked high in the official batting averages of that league. In 1889 he drifted south and joined the New Orleans club, of the Southern league, and when that league disbanded he finished the season with the Hamilton club, of the International league. He began the season of 1890 with the Galveston club, of the Texas league, but finished it with the Spokane team, of the Pacific Northwestern league, taking part in sixty-nine championship games with the latter, and ranked second in the official batting averages of that organization. His excellent work that year led to his re-engagement with the Spokane club for the season of 1891, he taking part that year in ninety-one championship contests and ranked first in the official batting averages of that league. He began the season of 1892 with the Spokane club, but finished it with the Seattle team of the same league. He went south again in 1893 and joined the New Orleans club of Southern league, and remained with it until that organization disbanded late in that summer, when he signed with the Wilkesbarre club of the Pennsylvania State league, where he finished out the season. The opening of the season of 1894 found him with the Charleston possibly will set up in business in Baltimore.

Latest additions to the Toronto team are pitcher Southard and pitcher Congatou, a Canadian pitcher.

Managers are beginning to rouse up activity and from now on there will be a general scramble for players and dates for exhibition games.

Tim Murane declares: "By continually talking about selling out, Frank Robinson is killing the game in Cleveland." And it is true to a certain extent.

TAGS FOR BALL PLAYERS.

Plan to Have Each Man on the Diamond Wear a Number.

President Hart is considering a scheme that has been suggested to him in reference to having players wear numbers during the game in order that spectators can identify them. The plan suggested to Mr. Hart is very simple. It is for every man on the team to have a separate number which he shall keep throughout the season.

PRESIDENT HART.

He shall wear the number conspicuously, as is done by participants in an athletic contest.

Naturally the regular men on the team should wear the small numerals, extra pitchers, catchers and other substitutes taking the numbers from ten upwards. On the score cards the names of the players with their number shall be printed, and in this way any spectator can readily identify any player on the field. It is possible, though hardly probable that the scheme may be suggested to the National league for general adoption.

PROGRESSIVE BASEBALL.

What It Consists of in a Manager's Opinion.

"Progressive baseball is just this," said Manager Ed Hanlon of Baltimore the other day. "Instead of making plays that have become stereotyped, I believe in making plays that are unexpected. That was the secret of Boston's success last year. With a man on third and one on first, one out, and the score a tie, naturally one would suppose that the catcher would try to nail the man on third off his base. But the unexpected play of quickly throwing to first and catching the base runner asleep is the proper caper nowadays. The man on third doesn't expect such a thing, and consequently doesn't stir. Then, we'll say, the next batsman puts up a fly, and the side is retired without what looked like a run or two. That's progressive baseball."

MIKE DOOLEY.

A Big Australian Pugilist with a Long Ring Record.

Mike Dooley has been before the public for many years, and is generally conceded to be one of the cleverest big men in the world. He is one of the most popular boxers Australia has ever produced, and is fairly idolized by all his pupils. Dooley was born at Yellow Rock, Albion Park, Illawarra, New South Wales, Dec. 14, 1864. He stands 6 feet in his stockings, weighs in condition 12st. 10 lbs. (175 pounds). He commenced his fighting career when he was 16 years old, and before he was 20 he had won thirty-seven battles according to the rules of the London prize ring. As an exponent of Queensberry rules, there is no man living in the present day who can outpoint him in a contest. He has defeated scores of men in his time with the gloves. Among his victims have been: Pat Riley, Webby

MIKE DOOLEY.

Booth, Paddy Ryan, Sandy Ross, Tim Nolan, Owen Sullivan and Prof. John Donaldson of America, who visited Australia a few years ago. He gave Joe Goddard the hardest fight of his life, and had really bested Joe Dooley knocked him out for sixteen seconds, but the timekeeper, a friend of Goddard's, ordered the fight to continue, and Mickey, seeing that he could not get fair play, "asked" the towel. Some few months ago he badly defeated one of the best men in Australia, Tut Ryan, and he has times out of number challenged Joe Goddard to try conclusions again. He has been beaten by Peter Jackson and by Paddy Slavin, the latter contest, however, being a fake, pure and simple, and not a victory for Slavin on the merits. Dooley will soon visit America in search of fresh laurels.

MARK L. POLHEMUS.

club of the Southern association. He remained with that club until the association disbanded, when he finished the season with the Lewiston club of the New England league. Polhemus has been credited with many fine batting performances. The most noteworthy of these happened in a game between the Spokane and Portland teams during the championship season of 1891, when he made a safe hit, including a double bagger, two triples and a home run, each of the five times he went to the bat. He is a hard and reliable batsman, a strong and accurate thrower and a fine fielder and base runner. Batting is his strong point. He will go with one of the National league teams this season.

So far as arranged, the New York team will train in New Orleans, the Baltimores at Macon, Ga.; the Chicagos at Galveston, Texas; the Philadelphias at Charlotte, Va.; the Brooklyns in South Carolina, and the St. Louis Browns at Hot Springs. Every league club except the Cleveleans has made some arrangements for a southern training trip.

Robert Lincoln Lowe has accepted terms of the Boston Baseball club for the coming season, which does away with all talk of his going elsewhere.

In releasing George Nichol, Manager McCloskey of Louisville probably made a mistake. Nichol isn't the best pitcher in the world, but is a good batsman, and has the making of a great outfielder in him.

The once great Yale pitcher, Alonzo Stagg, is now physical instructor of Chicago university.

Between the New financial differences between the New York club and certain of its players are being aired in the newspapers. They must think over there that this exposition of the financial side of baseball is a good thing for the game.

Slowly but surely another baseball season is advancing upon us. Three months seem a long time, but they will soon pass, and then the "fans" will be again in ecstasy—or despair.

Not What You Pay, But What It Pays You.

There are two values to every purchase. What it Costs you, and what it Pays you. Cork costs 8c. per pound, but its value to a drowning man is not a matter of dollars and cents.

Suppose you buy a piano. Dozens of dealers say, "buy our's," "we undersell all competitors," "our piano is the cheapest one," all of which is not worth one cent to you after you've paid your money.

When you have bought your piano the question, "how much did I pay," does not satisfy your desire for a good piano. It's what the Piano pays you in satisfaction, in tone, in durability, in musical quality that counts.

We sell

The Mehlin Piano

We do not claim it's the lowest priced nor to "undersell all competitors."

We claim though that in over two-hundred Mehlin Pianos sold by us—not one has ever proven unsatisfactory or given the purchaser a moment's uneasiness.

You can afford to pay a little more if you must do so to get what you want.

It is very evident that the present congress is going to do nothing to help the financial situation as it has but about thirty days of life. On the whole it has been the most troublesome and inefficient, the least able and patriotic, of any congress since the organization of the government.

RHEUMATISM!

The Sure Cure is Dr. Greene's Nervura. Weak Kidneys, Weak Nerves, and Poor Blood Always Accompany Rheumatism. They Can All Be Cured by Dr. Greene's Nervura Blood and Nerve Remedy.

With rheumatism, come weak kidneys, weak nerves, poor blood. Weak kidneys mean death, because they lead to serious kidney diseases, which always kill. The symptoms are weak back, pain in the back, bloating, muddy water, tired and languid feeling, gas in the stomach, loss of appetite, coated tongue, bad taste in the mouth, headache, dimness of vision, dryness of skin, and nervousness.

Just as surely as you have these symptoms your kidneys are out of order, and you need the one sure cure. Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. Try a bottle and see how quickly those symptoms will vanish.

It cures quickly and permanently, rheumatism, neuralgia, kidney and liver disease, and makes good blood and strong nerves. Everybody, both physicians and the people everywhere acknowledge Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy to be the greatest known cure for disease.

Why waste time in trying uncertain and untried remedies, when here is a physician's prescription, a discovery made by the greatest living specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases, Dr. Greene, of 95 West 14th St., New York City.

If all wives and mothers could fully realize how apt each one is at all times to be bereft of the protector and support of themselves and their children they would be more fully able to appreciate the real benefits of a life insurance policy. As an investment it is as safe and profitable as a savings bank while in case of accident or fatal illness the return is much larger. Persuade your husband to lay by something in a life insurance policy and be protected in case of misfortune which sickness or accident may bring. It is said to be an ingenious device. Most furnaces allow a considerable amount of coal to be lost in this way. It is claimed that the sieve will save all of it.
At the annual meeting of the Political Equality club held last Thursday in McMillan hall, the following officers were elected: Hon. pres., Mrs. Israel Hall; pres., Mrs. B. A. Hinsdale; vice-presidents, Mesdames W. D. Harriman, Walter Perry, E. Pardon, H. K. White; cor. sec., Mrs. Soule; rec. sec., Mrs. Ida C. Finney, Mrs. Charles Millen.
From the Detroit Evening News we learn that Clement R. Steckney, A. B. '89 who took electives in mechanical engineering the last two years of his course, and a year's post graduate work in the same line, and who was admitted to the Detroit bar on examination after only nine months study of law, was, on Jan. 17, admitted at Detroit to practice in the United States courts.
An anti-shaving club is the latest fad among the dental students. It is called the "Whiskers Club." If a man is found guilty of trimming his whiskers, one of his teeth is pulled. A branch association of twenty members exists in the law department. The penalty here is a quiz in forty chapters of Blackstone. The motto of this club is: "Whiskers sunt sacres, non caedere ipsas."
Deacon and Mrs. J. M. Sweet celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage, at their home in Pittsfield, on Tuesday last, and they were assisted in so doing by a considerable company of friends and relatives. Both Mr. and Mrs. Sweet are natives of New York. They came to Pittsfield in 1846, and have lived there ever since, respected and honored.—Ypsilanti Commercial.
The writer was told this morning that some of the students in the 1st ward school were forming a secret society. The name chosen was not disclosed, but its objects are said to be of a purely social nature. They expect to make their debut into society with a grand full dress party somewhere about Feb. 22d.—Courier.
Just as we predicted last week. The pupils in the Kindergarten will catch the fever next.
Some of the ladies of the city have decided to get out an entire edition of one of the dailies. It will probably be the daily Courier. We have been given to understand that the said edition will be something lively. The ladies have shown their good sense by asking the weekly papers to make mention of this proposed woman's edition so that people may know that such an issue is to be gotten out.
The following from the Evening News refers to a by no means small number of students here in the city:
Some of the boys have acquired local fame through the number of times they have moved since the college year opened, some having moved to eight different houses. One young man from Chicago openly boasts that he can enter the house where he is at present rooming, pack his trunk, give it to the drayman, go down stairs and face the music, pay his rent and then move and be unpacked at his new room inside of 25 minutes.

THE BUSINESS WORLD.

New Orleans once attempted to light its streets with cottonseed oil. It costs over $20,000 a year to scrape the barnacles off a big man-of-war and repaint it.

A belt in one of the big flouring mills at Minneapolis contains 200 cow-hides. It is 260 feet long and weighs over a ton.

The new Atlantic cable carries 650 pounds of highest purity copper and 500 pounds of gutta percha insulation to the mile.

Irish bog oak is probably the best known example of workable wood dug from the ground. It is perfectly black and has a good grain for carving.

Professor Decker of the university of Wisconsin awarded the first prize for cows to Johanna, whose record is five pounds of butter fat, or 6.25 pounds of butter in two days.

The prune industry is stated to be attracting attention in Idaho. It is reported that in the Payette valley, where the culture of prunes is one of the leading industries, there are ranchers who have made as high as $1,000 an acre.

A curious source of wealth is reported by the French consul at Mongtze, in Upper Tonkin. It lies in wood mines. The wood originally was a pine forest, which the earth swallowed in some cataclysm. Some of the trees are a yard in diameter.

Cast iron is extended the 5,500th part of its length for every ton of direct strain per square inch of its section; its elasticity is fully excited when extended the 1,000th part and the limit of its elasticity is estimated to be found at the time when it is extended the 1,300th part of its length. The tensile strength of the strongest piece of cast iron ever tested was 45,970 pounds to the square inch.

ODDS AND ENDS.

Of the 303,975 tons of copper mined in the entire world last year, 147,210 tons were the product of United States mines.

In the belfry of the old Parish church at Bury, England, the curfew that tolled the knell of parting day 300 years ago is still in place, and is still rung every night at sunset.

Maine is the only state to have for its motto a single Latin word, and Maryland is the only one having an Italian motto, the famous "Fatti maschii, parole femine" (Deeds are masculine, words are feminine.)

SO SAGES SAY.

Adversity borrows its sharpest sting from our impatience.

Each succeeding day is the scholar of that which went before it.

Every crown that comes from the hands of man has thorns in it.

There is no other thing that you can get so much of for nothing as advice.

A disinterested act of kindness is something the carnal mind cannot explain.

The young man who has no aim in life will sooner or later fall into a ditch.

Some people are always blaming God for the troubles they bring upon themselves.

People seldom improve when they have no other model than themselves to copy after.

What a delightful place this world would be, if it were full of people who would agree with us.

The man who has contentment has something that will do a great deal more for him than money.

Some very good people can never see any harm in sin while it can wear good clothes and ride in a coach.

LIGHT DIVERSION.

"Did Mr. Oatbin seem to enjoy the play?" "Yes, indeed; the orchestra played selections that he could pat the time to with both hands and feet."

Sympathetic Neighbor—And your poor, dear husband has just died? Grief Stricken Widow—Yes. Poor Jim! He was always doing something to make me happy!

"I understand," said Miss Fledgling, "that the baron de Faigue has lost his reputation." "Indeed!" replied Miss Ohlbud. "Well, for his sake I sincerely hope so."

Hoax—That man's a philanthropist. He's the founder of the S. P. U. P. P. S. W. Joax—What's that? Hoax—Society to Protect an Unsuspecting Public from Popular Song Writers.

Bob—What did the lecturer say when you threw those cabbages at him? Dick—Oh, he said he had hoped the audience would be pleased, but he really hadn't expected they would entirely lose their heads.

"We are going to have Mabel very highly educated," said a clever matron, recently. "I don't want to be highly educated," came in the unexpected voice of Mabel, a little tot of five, from another room. "I want to be just like you."

THE DOCTOR LOST.

A Bet of $1,000 That His Patient Would Die.

The gambling instinct is strong in most men, but it is seldom that one hears of a man with sufficient nerve to bet a sum of money on his own life. A wager of this kind had just leaked out in which two prominent members of a Philadelphia club are concerned.

These two men have been close friends for years. One is a doctor and the other a lawyer. A year ago the lawyer who had previously enjoyed the best of health, began to complain of feeling run down. He consulted his friend, the doctor, who, after a minute and thorough examination, told him frankly that his lungs were affected, the action of the heart was impaired, and that he wouldn't live a year. The lawyer, who was a man of indomitable pluck and will power, was naturally stunned for a moment. After the first shock had passed off his true nature asserted itself. "I'll bet you $1,000 you are wrong, and that I do live over a year!" he exclaimed. He was deadly in earnest. The doctor was positive that his diagnosis was correct, and was forced to accept the bet.

The money was placed in a safe-deposit vault and the lawyer went abroad. In six months he returned. The year was up a short time ago and he won his wager. And what is more he says he is open for more bets of a similar nature.

HINTS TO CIGAR SMOKERS.

Always Blow the Dust Out Before Lighting a Fresh Weed.

"There are two things which all cigar smokers might observe with profit," said T. C. Brownlee to a reporter. Mr. Brownlee travels for a large cigar manufactory and knows a thing or two about the ethics of smoking. "Before lighting a cigar bite off the end, and placing the end to be lighted between your lips, blow through it. In this way you get rid of a fine dust that accumulates in a cigar when it is dry, which is apt to inflame your vocal chords and injure your voice. It is a valuable hint for singers, and I know of quite a number of professional opera singers who never light a cigar until they have blown out the dust. To the failure to do this may be attributed in great part the throat diseases with which steady smokers are afflicted."

"Another valuable suggestion from an economic standpoint is to thrust your cigar into your vest pocket with the pointed end up. Many vest pockets are so shallow as to cause the end of a cigar to stick out over the edge. The constant rubbing of the coat against the large end, which is very much more sensitive than the other, causes it to fray and break, necessitating the wetting of the wrapper in order to make the cigar available at all. Any one who will act on these two hints will live longer and save money."

THE COREAN CURFEW.

Those Who Walk the Streets After the Bell Tolls Are Sounded Flogged.

The Korean code enforces a rigid observance of a very strict and arbitrary curfew law. Soon after dusk the curfew strikes. Then every human being has to go home, and stay there until dawn. There are but three classes exempt from an actual observance of this rule—the high official class, the blind and the doctors and messengers sent to summon them to the sick, or by them sent for medicine. Watchmen roam the deserted streets, and any one outside these three classes found upon the streets after curfew is promptly walked off to the nearest magistracy and thoroughly flogged.

The three exceptions made to the curfew law are rather interesting. The high official class are above suspicion. It is inconceivable that they should take advantage of the cloak of darkness to do wrong. To the Korean mind an official can do no wrong. The blind are allowed to go abroad at night because they are as safe in the dark as in the light. Day and night are the same to them. The most desperate criminal would not lay his finger in harm upon a blind man. The third dispensation is one of mercy, and the Koreans are a merciful people.

Chauncey Says So.

Hon. Chauncey Depew, president of the New York Central railroad, says that 90 per cent of the defalcations and thefts and ruin of youth among people who are employed in places of trust are due directly to gambling.

"I have seen in my vast employment so much misery from the head of the family neglecting its support and squandering his earnings in the lottery or the policy shop, and promising young men led astray in a small way and finally becoming fugitives or landing in the criminal dock, that I have come to believe that the community which licenses and tolerates gambling cannot have prosperity in business, religion in its churches or morality among its people."

He Couldn't Stand It.

A good story is told of Signor Foli, the famous basso. Once upon a time he was singing "The Raft," when a childish voice from somewhere in the stalls suddenly piped in and attempted to organize an impromptu duet. Unfortunately the next line of the song was, "Hark! What sound is that which breaks upon mine ear?" This so tickled the fancy of the great vocalist that he burst into a hearty fit of laughter and left the platform, followed by the pianist. Twice they came back and attempted the song and finally they had to give it up in despair, much to the amusement of the audience.
