Mr. Lennon claims that he did not put the button on his vest as the officers say, that the vest found at Sheehan's store is not his vest, that it does not fit him, and that he never saw it before, and further, that he believes the button upon the vest was put there by the officers simply for the purpose of making it appear that they had shown shrewd detective ability in capturing the guilty man. Mr. Lennon has always borne a good reputation in this community, where he has lived for a great many years. It certainly appears that the officers were a little hasty in making the arrest, as the evidence, to say the least, was decidedly circumstantial and not such as would likely convict. Mr. Lennon feels that he has been greatly abused and has suffered a great injustice from the arrest, and the stigma the charge has cast upon him, hence the suit for damages.

Sudden Disappearance.

Last Monday morning, Willard S. Holmes, the 14 year old son of A. H. Holmes, the livery man, left home for school as usual, as his parents supposed. Since that time the boy has not been seen or heard of. No clue whatever has been thus far found of his whereabouts, though every effort possible has been made. No reasonable excuse can be imagined for the boys disappearance. The parents are nearly crazed with grief over the matter. From some things connected with the case it will probably develop that public school secret society business will be found at the bottom of the boy's disappearance. Since the above was put in type the following telegram was received by Mr. Holmes:

the reading rooms and a bath room. The hay loft would be above the wash room and stables. This fixes the fire

For the city offices, the board of public works room would take up that space now occupied by the jail, extending about 10 feet farther back. Above this the city engineer would have his three rooms. The annex is 47x32 feet and the whole second floor would be used as goods. Now Mr. Lennon brings suit the great love drama. Anton Seidl's a council chamber. The ground floor is divided off into offices. The hallway would be in the center with the city clerk's office on the south side and the assessor and treasurer would have their office on the north side. In the rear of the latter would be the marshal's rooms, and adjoining the rear of the clerk's office would be the lockup, with a solid brick wall between them.

> The building committee prefer these plans to the former, providing the hose tower question can be settled. The city engineer claims it would be quite an expense to make it larger on account of the present wall which forms a jog in the building. If this were torn down it would be necessary to again fix up the roof. According to these plans no. room could be fixed up for the chemical engines which no doubt we will have soon.-Times.

While passing through such afflictions many become misanthropic, and suppose that the sorrowful experiences of human life predominate to-day.

over the joyful; that this world is but a vale of tears. This, however, is far from being the case. "Our light affliction, which is but for the moment" is more than compensated for in the long lived joys we have experienced in the oving companionship and affection of those for whom we grieve. Love is the occasion of our grief. We grieve for the departed because we loved them: and we grieve most for those we loved most. Surely, the loving associations of a lifetime more than compensate for the most agonizing grief; the extreme severity of which, at least, is but temporary.

2 As a prospective event in our own experiences, death is an almost unconquerable dread. This is undoubtedly instinctive, and not, to any considerable degree, subject to or influenced by reason. Experience shows that the most intelligent conception of a heavenly life, where and the most enlightened and satisfying assurance of its ultimate possession, are seldom sufficient to fully and permanently banish this dread. Although the great Death-Conquerer was made partaker of flesh and blood, that 'through death, he might deliver them who through fear of death were all their life-time subject to bondage," yet the number of those who realized their deliverance before they find themselves at the very bottom of the western slope of life's "Rocky" range, with their feet already bathed in the water's of the great "Pacific Ocean" of eternity are lew.

"Sickness and sorrow, pain and death Are felt and feared no more:'

3 As an inevitable event that must 3 As an inevitable event that must overtake all, death is a beneficent ar-rangement of Infinite Wisdom. If we will have progress, the old must give place to the new. This is the undoubted meaning and signifiance of old age. Worn out muscles, brittle bones, hardened arteries, nerves destitute of sensios that have lost their koon ness of perception, are all unmistakable voices, calling for release from the toil of the first of the two properties is south and handships through which they have $9,000,000 and the second $7,000,000. passed, and a new supply of youthful energy, a new generation, blessel with sounder constitutions, and better fitted in every way for the responsibilities that await them. Happy are they who, in their old age, can so clearly apprehend and so cheerfully comply with this wise arrangement of Providence that York and New England. they can rejoice with the retiring John the Baptist in the beautiful sentiment, "He must increase, but I must de-crease." 4 The most interesting and profita-ble standpoint, from which to contem-plate death, is as the passing through the vail that seperates and hides the future from the present. Death does future from the present. Death does not end all. The great end of our existence is not accomplished in this life. This is but the embryonic, or at most the normal school period of human existence: designed for our equipment and fitting for the work that awaits us in the world to come. From this point of observation, the meaning and object of this great event will differ as it is viewed by different characters. He to whom life has been a dismal failure, who has utterly mistaken life's meaning and mission, until but one thought is left him respecting it, namely to es. cape from it by the readiness and means within his reach, may send a bullet crashing through his own brain, or plunge a dagger to his heart, and thus bring to an untimely end his mortal life: but how little has he considered the fact that another life awaits him for which this has been, to him, the worst possible preparation, and from which there will be no escape. Another, more stupid, more indifferent to the meaning both of this life and of the life to come, is content to stultify his moral sensibilities with the delusion that he "must run his chances." Run his chances! Indeed! Is this a world of chances? Have men a right to leave moral character, moral responsibilities, and the great interests of eternity to chances? Sound minded men do not run chances in matters pertaining to this life. They usually suppose at least they have a reasonable degree of certainty as to the result of the secular enterprises in which they en-

AT a meeting of the Board of Educa tion last week a committee was appointed to revise the rules and regulations of the school. The board realizes that the rescinding of the rule relative to fraternities has given a great impetus to the fraternity developement in the High School to the detriment of scholarship. The school board will make no mistake if it rigidly prohibits secret societies in the school.

LAST Thursday, in the state legislature, representative Chamberlain, o Detroit, gave notice that he would, at some future day, introduce a bill "Te abolish smallpox in the county o Wayne." Better introduce a bill to abolish the horrible wrangle the whole city has gotten into over the small-po: ast as fined is sucked out, and making it business. If the wrangle can be gotter representation of the second second a little common sense exer pox would soon be taken care of.

THERE are very few men in this county of any political views, who are not hoping that Judge E. D. Kinne will be nominated at Detroit today for Supreme Justice.

IT is unfortunate that Detroit, and the state of Michigan, cannot have at but little was done except what was least one or two broad guage metropoli- transacted behind closed doors in extan daily newspapers. The prominence ecutive session. that all four of the Detroit dailies have given to the smallpox rumpus that has arisen over Dr. McLeod's manner of treating the epidemic in Detroit, has and was slightly injured. She might shown very plainly that the average Detroit newspaper man cannot see much beyond his own limited surroundings. makes its appearance on Friday and the Within the pastfew weeks almost every one of the Detroit dailies has given more space to mayor Pingree and Dr. McLeod and the general tangle the contributed articles from some of these two men have got the city into than they have given to news from all the news, city and university, shall all the balance of the State of Michigan be of the very best and freshest. and, in some issues, almost as much as they have given to all other news combined. In this respect, mayor Pingree, who seems to have an unlimited hankering for notoriety, has certainly gained his point. The wrangles of the city officials and the physicians of the city over the treatment of the smallpox question esting to the citizens of Detroit, but it certainly does not so deeply interest the people over the state. As a result of making the Detroit dailies mere local sheets a far larger number of Chicago than Detroit dailies are taken in Michigan.

THE resolution recently introduced in the state legislature calling for in formation relative to the income and various items of expenditure of the University probably will not surprise any body after all that has been published concerning the wrangle in the medical departments and the claims that have been made about the unnecessary expenditure of money in maintaining the two medical departments entirely seperate from each other. That nothing will come of this move is quite likely as it is impossible that the legislature or any committee that may be appointed could have time to go into the merits of whether or not the salaries paid the various professors was too large or too small, and it would be quite as unlikely that any committee would be at all competent to decide upon such matters. The Board of Regents is supposed to give all these matters careful attention and to be able to decide upon them intelligently. If the state cannot have faith in this board to do its duty and administer the affairs of the University to the best interests of the state, the electors should see to it that a different board is elected. If the state legislature thinks there is any jobbery, or that the board is managed by some click working for the interests of a certain class, then it might reasonably call for an investigation in order that the elecors of the state might be apprised of such a condition of things and could elect different men to administer the affairs of the institution. But nothing of this kind seems to be behind the introduction of the resolution mentioned

It requires therefore to be enriched with vitalizing and health giving qualities to give tone, vigor and health to the system.

For this needed and beneficial service nothing is so powerful as Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. Like Nature's own wondrous remedies in the physical world, which purify the mountains and streams as they leap from their confines to fill the valleys with new life, and cover orchard and field with flower and fruit, it brings new force and health to wasted tissues and enfeebled nerves.

Now is the time when your nature calls for help. Don't mistake: no other remedy equals Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy as a spring medicine. No other remedy will so quickly and certainly strengthen your nerves, invigorate your blood, and correct the action of all your organs. ### GRAND OPERA HOUSE,

Monday Feb, 25th.

The play at the Columbus Theatre is sure of a good run. It is full of incidents. This is the first time this play has been seen by a New York audience. The scenes along One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street and the fine view of old Harlem bridge, opening and closing as river craft pass by, were heartily ap-plauded by the audience. The story of the play centres around Ned Carrington, a postman who falls in love with oung lady named Howard, whose life he has saved. His suit is favored by the girl, but not by the father, a wealby and aristocratic banker. Jasper collier, a foster son of the girl's father. is also in love with her, and old Howard is also in love with her, and out howard looks favorably on him. Dick Colton, a good-for-nothing, and a former pal of Collier's in crimes committed in the far west, comes on the scene and puts the screws on his old companion. Collier in the heat of passion chokes the girl's father to death just as Ned Carrington enters with a fatal "Special Delivery" letter, which the girl has sent to herself that she might see her lover, the postman, again. The onus of the crime is shifted upon the shoulders of the crime is shifted upon the shoulders of the in-nocent postman by the villian. Car-rington is sent to prison, escapes, proves the villainy of Collier and his own innocence. He saves the life of Colton by driving from Harlem bridge. Colton in the end convicts Collier of every-thing, and like all good stories, the lovers are reunited and the guilty punished. "My nervousness was soon cured The neuralgia, headaches, palpitation of the heart, indigestion and all my complaints entirely left me. All this was accomplished by Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy.

"This wonderful medicine did for me what all the doctors and their medicines could not do. I wish to urge all sufferers to try it.'

No power of words can describe the wonderful good which this remedy is doing among the sick and suffering Those who take it are cured. Thous ands of people, at the advent of spring, while not exactly sick, are yet out of ordea or ailing in some way. They do not feel just right, are not well and strong, cannot eat or sleep well, are nervous, and have no strength or am- and St. Joseph. bition for work or pleasure. Their stomach, bowels, liver or kidneys are inactive and torpid. Some people need this best of all spring medicines, Dr. Greane's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, to restore the natural action of these organs, give strength and vigor to the nerves, and new life and vitality to the blood.

Why lose time in trying uncertain and untried remedies, when here is a physician's prescription, a discovery made by the greatest living specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases, Dr. Greene, of 35 West 14th St., New York City. If you take this medicine, you can consider yourself under Dr. Greene's direct professional care, and you can consult him or write to him about your case, freely and without charge. This is a guarantee that this medicine will cure, possessed by no other medicine in the world.

A Real Story of the Civil War. Ever since the war closed Gen. William Shakespeare, of Kalamazoo, has ham Shakespeare, of Ratamazoo, has been trying to find a lad who had taken care of him while he was wounded. At Jackson, Miss., in 1863, the general was wounded seriously, and while lying on the field was found by two durement here with each by two drummer boys, who took care of him for some time. One of them was ordered to take him to Cincinnati. and did so, while the other rejoined his regiment and was killed shortly afterward. Although the boy attended him for weeks, Gen. Shakespeare never ascertained his name, and has since tried in vain to get some trace of him. It has turned out now, however, that Wm. Gilbey, of Port Huron, was the boy, and learning through the newspapers that Gen. Shakespeare was hav-ing trouble about his pension, wrote to him and offered his services as a witness in case they were required.

Three Children Burned to Death.

Eli Seymour and his wife wanted to attend a Maccabee ball at Lewiston, so the three children, who were 9, 6 and 4 years old respectively, were un-dressed and put to bed and the house locked. Later the whole building was discovered in a mass of flames, and there was no opportunity to rescue the children. The flames spread to a store next door, the second story of which was occupied by two families, but they were aroused in time to make their escape. The flames were extin-guished as soon as possible, and when an entrance was effected the three children were found lying side by side in bed. There was no evidences that they had been awakened, and their death was undoubtedly caused by suffoeation.

on the Light at Pleasace.

Scientists have recently introduced on the lines of the President's last mes- a novelty in the finny world in the shape of the linophryne lucifer, but it is a deal easier to call it by its every day name-the torchfish. He is a deep sea fish, carrying on his nose an organ which he can illuminate with a phosphorescent light or his pathless course in the dark depths of ocean or enable him to look around him, but when meal time comes he lights up to attract smaller fishes, which, mistaking the lantern for a phosphorescent insect, dart straight for it, only to find their way into the capacious jaws of linophryne lucifer. The mode in which the lantern is lighted and extinguished is not yet clearly understood. Nikola Tesla, the eminent electrician, is of the opinion that if such a fish exists, and if it has the attributes credited to it, it is very strange that neither Lord Rayleight nor Professor S. P. Langley had made any mention of it in their researches. Mr. Tesia is z'so of the opinion that if the phosphorescent does exist it is not of an ejectrical origin.

One of the greatest natural curiosities in the world is the Texas oyster bed. This bed extends across the entire state from south to north, and has lain long enough to become stratified. The shells are soft when first taken out, but harden upon exposure to the atmosphere. At Henrietta, in the Panhandle, a number of beautiful buildings have been constructed of this material. At Weatherford and San Antonio shell roads have been made. The oysters embrace several species long since extinct, and while geologists agree that Texas must at one time have been at the bottom of the gulf of Mexico, they are at a loss to account for the presence of that oyster bank, there being none found east or west of the strata.

Knives.

A cheap Pocket-knife can be bought at every Store, but it is not the kine you want.

One dollar is the lowest price that [a really good knife can be sold for. This sloumn is placed in this paper to adver-ise the very best Pocket-knife ever sold. It is J. C. TIDMARSH'S Sheffield Steel Knife.

Never buy a knife only because is looks well. If blades are not the best Sheffield steel they will soon bend, no matter how they will look. Still, you want a fine-looking knife.

The United States law provides that only samples to agents and to the trade will be admitted free of daty. You can, therefore, see the advantage that I have in sending samples to agents over those who deal in Sheffield goods in America.

I am an advertising agent! I im entrusted with a certain amount to spend advertising these knives (the best value ever seen in America at One Dollar each). Now, the kalls is its own best advertisement.

Imagine a Pocket-knife (31 inches long) with the most beautifully-grained vory handle-genuine African ivory and with two blades of the very best Sheffield steel that will last a lifetime and cut like a razor. The tips of the bandles are beauty plated with steel and cut fike a razor. The tips of the handles are heavily plated with sterl-ing silver. And then a very nice chamois leather case goes with each knife Now, would it not be easy work selling this knife at One Dollar each? I know it would, for it looks as if it were worth two dollars were worth two dollars.

And so it is if you compare it with the value offered in the ordinary Store.

Is not this knife its own best advertisement.

You can make $4 per day selling these knives. This is a genuine and straigtforward statement. This is counting that you show it to only twelve buyers every day. And every one that sees it will say it is good value for $1. The knives are sold to you at $8 per decent would be at $2 you at $8 per dozen; you sell them at $1 each.

I determined to use large sum of advertising money entrusted to me in sending out free samples to those who promise to act as agents for the sale of these knives

I will send you a tree sample, but you must sign the promise at the foot of this column, and make a deposit to show that in asking for the knife you are acting in good faith.

The deposit that I ask of you is 44 cents about half the wholesale cost of the knife, and less than one-third what ou would have to pay for a knip like it, if you bought one.

Send the money by a Postal Orige or one-cent stamps for 44cts., and put a five-cent stamp on the letter, zaich nust not weigh more than one-half ounce.

The deposit of 44 cents will be placed to your credit, and will be deducted from your first order at the dozen rate.

A Remarkable Automaton.

A most wonderful automaton has recently been privately exhibited in Paris by a rich old gentleman, who has an inordinate taste for mechanical toys. The group represents a family of seven kittens, life-sized, and covered with real skin and with eyes of emerald set in pearly enamel. The group are each engaged in playing upon some sort of a musical instrument-a flute, a zither, a violin, a drum, a harp, a horn, a cornet and an accordion. All these instruments harmonize and upon them the mechanical kittens play all kinds of music, including difficult operas. The mechanism is said to be similar to that of a music box. The automaton cost $0,000 francs in Persia.

NATIONAL LEAD CO. Chicago Branch, State and Fifteentn Streets, Chicago.

Washington, Feb. 15.-There is much talk in the house over the proposed financial legislation, caused chiefly by the option on future bond issues granted to the foreign syndicate. Many of the embers of both house and senate are displeased that Secretary Carlisle should have bound himself to submit all bond issues up to Oct. 1 to the Morgan-Rothschild syndicate. The provi-sion caused considerable comment. The gold bond issue comes before the house this morning in the shape of a joint resolution authorizing the secretary of the treasury to issue bonds payable in gold coin at a premium netting 3 per cent interest, the gold received therefor being reserved from use for current expenss, as will as greenbacks redeemed by the gold. Chairman Wilson, in view of the urgency of the matter, will allow but one day for debate, and a rule calling for a vote this evening will be reported. The contract with the Morgan-Rothschild syndicate was dated Feb. so the ten days allowed to secure the gold bond will expire next Monday, and the joint resolution to be effective must get through the senate by that day. Of course this is out of the question, but Mr. Wilson hopes to get the measure through the house in ample time to alow the senate to act before Monday. The vote in the house seems very uncertain. Both parties are split up. Few republicans will indorse the proposed gold bonds, as being either necessary or justifiable, but at the same time, it is claime, many of them will vote for it regardless of their convictions

OUR FIRST ADMIRAL. A Proposed Monument to Ezek Hopkins

of Providence.

Patriotic Rhode Islanders propose to erect a monument at Providence to Commodore Ezek Hopkins. This worthy was born on his father's farm at Chapumiscook, now Chopmist, Scituate, R. L., April 26, 1718. When the seven years' war broke out in 1756 he went out in one of his vessels as a privateer captain and returned to Providence with a valuable Spanish vessel, which he renamed the Desire in honor of his wife.

The first official service he rendered Will buy and sell Real Estate in the revolution was as the compounders erected on Fox Hill, overlooking Providence harbor, in the summer of 1775.

Upon the organization of the "con-tinental navy" he was appointed by congress "commander-in-chief" Dec. 22, 1775. He was relieved of his military command in Rhode island and immediately proceeded to Phila-delphia in the sloop Katy with 100 men specially enlisted for naval service.

Feb. 17, 1776, he sailed from vessels, and conducted the sucei ul Nassau expedition. John ce Jones was a lieutenant under Pa Adams who, until his hitch with the marine committee of congress, was practically "admiral."

A NEW FRENCH TIRE.

Tire-Made With Compartments.

A new bicycle tire has just been devised by M. M. Gerard, city engineer of Bordeaux and Picon, which is intended to do away with the defects ol all other tires. It consists in substance of a thin rubber tube whose inner surface is intersected by rubber disks perpendicular to it and placed close to one another; disks and surface are all moulded in one piece. The disks are thicker at the circumference than at the center, to prevent the tube from sinking into the interstices between supports, and they are made eccentric so as to distribute the resisting power of the surface without increasing the weight of the tire. They divide the tire into a so that if one is pierced the others are not affected. These add to the elasticity of the tire, and do not need to be filled with compressed air. The motion is as easy as that of the best pneumatic tires, while the accidents are done away with.

STOPPED THE BABY'S CRY.

A Bachelor Brings His Enowledge of Human Nature Into Play.

A bachelor is not usually accredited with much knowledge about the proper treatment of children; but sometimes they step in where angels -that is, the mothers of the children -fail to tread. A well-known man about town, who is pretty well on in Mrs. Scanlan several years ago. years, and not very fond of children, stopped in to see a married sister the other day and found her trying to amuse her little boy of about 5 years. Not long after he arrival she stepped out of the room to attend to some household matter or other, leaving mander of a battery of six eighteen- him alone with the child. The latter eyed him dubiously for some minutes. He was a spoiled child if ever there was one, and he had no idea of making promiscuous acquaintances. The bachelor tried to make the little one laugh, but all he got for his antics was a sour look. Finally, without warning, the child burst out crying. Here was a quandary to be sure. He didn't dare to pick the boy up and soothe him. His attemptr in a verbal line were dismal failures. What should he do? Finally a thought De ware bay with a squadron of struck him. He looked at the crying youngster and the crying youngster looked at him through his tears. He was evidently much pleased with the impression he was making. "Cry louder," said he.

The child obeyed. "Louder yet," urged the bachelor. A yell went up that would have done credit to an Indian. "Cry louder still," insisted the man, and the boy did his best to obey.

"Louder!" fairly howled the uncle. "I won't snapped the infant, and he shut up his mouth with a click and

One of the most successful illustra tors for the humorous papers was once a bank clerk in Philadelphia. He used to amuse himself and his fellow clerks by caricaturing the customers of the bank. ### Singe Fright.

Nervous prostration among actors and actresses is commonly accompanied by stage fright. Men and omen long accustomed to face the public find themselves suddenly seized with nervous fear even at the thought of a rehearsal. Bicycling, as a pleasant and easy mode of exercise, has been recommended in such cases. and an actress who confessed that she rose one morning with a dread of the afternoon rehearsal declared that after two hours in the open air with her bicycle every trace of stage fright had disappeared.

HE LIVED AS A GIRL.

Extraordinary Experience of a Youth in the Swiss Alps.

An extraordinary story of a young man passing as a girl all his life until a month or two ago is related from Treschatel, in the Alpine district of Switzerland. He was known by the name of Laura Besnar, and came of a od family. Why his friends should have registered the child as a female and subsequently kept up the deception is a matter of myster. The young man is said to have found the companionship of the weaker sex very pleasant, and would probably have continued to frequent the society of young women as one of their number had not he fallen in love, but in order to woo and win the lady of his choice he declared his proper sex. The earlier years of his life were spent in a convent school, on leaving which he studied a cure for stammering and subsequently founded a school for that purpose. This was so successful that in a few years he amassed 40,000 francs and then decided to study medicine. With this object he was entered as a student at Grenople school of medicine as a woman, and to all outward appearances was one

Lightning Makes a Ban of iron.

A remarkable discovery was recently made while workmen were tearing down a building at Pesth, Hungary. When they removed the lightning rod, which had been erected some fifteen years previous, a large mass of pure iron was found firmly attached to the lower end. The lump was porous as a sponge, but pure and very heavy, the piece, which was not more than twice as large as the average man's head, weighing forty-six pounds. There is but one way of accounting for the peculiar position of this ball of iron-it had been brought together and shaped by the action of lightning on the iron particles in the clay.

LITERARY NOTES.

The current number of the Eclectic Foreign Liteature opens with Mme. Cailard's philosophic article on "The Knowledge of Good and Evil." A review of Robert Louis Stevenson's work follows. Prince Kropotkin's account of "Recent Science" discusses the new treatment of diphtheria, earthquakes, and the progress toward the invention of fling machines. A sketch of "Rubinstein," by Rev. H. R. Haweis, with a too optimistic view of the social status and legal privileges of "Women under Islam," and other excellent papers follow. Published by E. R. PELTON, 144 Eighth Street, New York.

"The Progress of the World," in the Review of Reviews for February, discusses recent events in Hawaii and Japan, the condition of Armenia, the troubles in Newfoundland, and many other topics of world-wide interest. On the American side, the editor presents a timely sumary of the present con condition of the national treasury and demands that some means to secure revenue be devised by congress before a plan of currency reform is permanently adopted. -Review of Reviews, New York, City, N. Y.

The most noteworthy feature in Harpers's Weekly for February 2d, and probably the most valuable and generally interesting feature to be found in the current number of any of the periodicals, is that which has for its subject the disturbances in Brooklyn. There are six pages filled with drawings of the participants in the strike, of the forces of law and order, and of the scenes amid which the difficult questions at issue were put to the test of argument-Harpers & Bros., New York, City, N. Y.

In the February number of Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly the momentous conditions and prospects confronting Nichols II., the young Czar of Russia, "On the Threshold of a Reign," are the subject of a peculiarly well informed article by Valerin Gribayedofi. This is richly illustrated with pen drawings by the author, and a large number of portraits. Theo. Tracy tells the fascinating. "Story of the Silkworm," charmingly illustrated with photographs specially taken for the purpose in the famous silk-raising districts of Friuli, in Northern Italy .- Frank Leslie's Pub lishing House (Department B) 42 and 44 Bond St., N. Y. City.

Never before has Scribner's Magazine had so many features running at the same time of the widest interest to every body who is thoroughly awake to contemporary affairs and wants to be posted in regard to American topics. In the February issue, Naoh. Brook's articles on "American Party Politics" will give any man, in a very short space, a clear idea of how American politics have developed from Washington's time of the war. Then all who are married, will be interested in Robert Grant's brilliant series of papers on "The Ar; of Living." In this second article it discusses the question of "The Dwelling," shall it be in city, or subnrb, or in the real country; the problem of the flat: also Irish and Swedes as servacts. In addittion to all these attractions the Magazine has begun what promises to be the greates serial of the year-George Meredith's "The Amazing Marriage," the latest of the man who stands to-day at the head of English writers of fiction .- Chas. DR. HOLMES' EXPERIMENT.

His Spirit Glimpses at the Secret of Creation.

Dr. Holmes once told a dinner party how he once undertook to solve the enigma of creation. Having observed that when unconsciousness is consciously approached-when the mind is on the confines of two worlds-there arise sublime and voluminous, but fugacious thoughts, and having satis fied himself that in these thoughts, if they could only be caught and transcribed, there lay enshrined the secre: the universe, he determine? that by a supreme effort of the will he would catch and transcribe them. So, placing himself in his armchair, with pen, ink and paper at hand, he inhaled the vapor of chloro. form. As drowsiness stole over him, and just as unconsciousness was impending, those sublime and marvelous thoughts arose, and by a vigorous effort he seized his pen and wrote, he knew not what, for before he had finished he fell back unconscious When he awoke, with trembling anxiety, he turned to the sheet of paper. on which he could read in scrawling characters, but quite legible, the secret of the universe, written in these words: "A strong smell of turpentine pervades the whole."

The public knew nothing further about the domestic life of the Goulds. Then George married an actress. She was good, beautiful, young, and old Jay Gould was very fond of her. That was all the public knew about it. Then Jay Gould died. Helen made her debut and George bought a yacht. Helen was philanthropic and entertained but little; she preferred poor boys and mission houses to society people and dances. She soon left the "world" for home and charitable works. George raced the Vigilant against the prince of Wales and got badly beaten.

Now Helen and Anna, two of the wealthiest young women in the country, are about to take up a law course. They are both said to have inherited their father's business instincts, and are devoting their time to spending in ways wise, judicious and charitable the fortunes which were left to them. Helen is interested in the building of houses for the poor, and has much property as well as countless philanthropic schemes which she attends to herself. Anna has been seriously thinking of becoming a princess, and wants to know how to keep her royal husband within bounds. They are going to take a full law course under the tuition of Professor Russell. Of course, in a very short time they will know the difference between American and Roman law, the rights of property holders and how to creep out as well as into a lawsuit, and these fair women will not force Howard to pay out $10,000, or wicked lawyers will not impose on the young millionairesses and foreign noblemen demand their putchase price down, or the young ladies will "know the reason why."
