A GREAT GIFT.

THE LEWIS COLLECTION—A MAGNIFICENT ONE TO THE U. OF M.

Now the U. of M. Has the Foundation for a Great Art School—An Effort Will be Made to Found One, At Least a Hundred-Thousand Dollars Needed to Start It—Can It Be Raised?

The Lewis collection of pictures which is now the property of the University is one of great importance, not only in its money value, but in the possibilities which its location at Ann Arbor offers to the establishment of an Art School that shall stand in the front rank of schools of its kind in the United States. The following from a recent issue of the Detroit Journal will be read with interest by all Ann Arbor people:

"The prophecy is being frequently made by the highest authorities that the gift of the magnificent art collection of the late Henry C. Lewis, now the unconditional property of the University, will lead to the establishment of an art school here that will make Ann Arbor the center of American art. As it was the great delight of President Frieze's life to establish the University School of Music, so it is stated that it is President Angell's ambition to found a University School of Art, on somewhat the same plan.

"Dr. Angell is a great admirer of art, and delighted over the gift of the Lewis collection. In talking of the future of art in the University, he said: 'It was the dream of Dr. Frieze's life that we should have an art department. The School of Music stands as an enduring monument of praise to the greatness of the man, but he looked further than that, and saw that the art school was almost as necessary as the School of Music. He had laid the plans for such a school, and we shall now endeavor to build on the broad lines he had intended.'

"The opportunity is a golden one, and I only hope our friends will be generous enough to give us the means to improve it. No other university has such an art collection, and Yale is the only one that has one at all. But it is in no sense equal to Mr. Lewis' magnificent gift. Cornell, Amherst, and other colleges, however, have very valuable collections of casts and statuary, but lack the completeness necessary to an art school, such as we hope to establish. For the last two months the regents have been working to secure an art building that we need so badly, and I think that the urgent necessity of having a proper place to exhibit our collection will hasten and perhaps make successful our plans. I am not yet at liberty to disclose them, for so often are our hopes not realized, but I can say something is brewing. Of course we must depend on our friends for the money necessary, and I am sure a splendid chance is afforded some wealthy friend of art and of the University to show his generosity and make his name immortal by giving us the money necessary for our art building, and an endowment fund for the school.

"It is our aim to erect a building that would be in itself a work of art, to cost $200,000 perhaps, a perfect sort of structure with studios and other necessary apartments for instruction. President Angell and Prof. D'Ooge are well acquainted with the Lewis' collection, which is worth about $300,000, and comprises nearly 700 pieces. Of these 430 are oil paintings, and the rest, statuary, vases, statuettes, etc. The paintings are divided into three groups: First, copies of old masterpieces; second, historical portraits and scenes; and third, some of the best work of modern artists, principally of the French school. It has samples, thought of nearly every school of art.

THE NORTH SIDE.

A HEALTHY GROWTH CONSTANTLY GOING ON.

The Fifth Ward Gaining Ground—New Stores Being Opened—Price of Property Advancing—A Desirable Residence Portion of the City—A Few Facts About Some of the Business Men in That Ward.

The Fifth Ward, more commonly called the North Side, is undergoing, in a quiet way, quite little boom all of its own. It is one of that sort of booms that is likely to last. For several years that part of our beautiful city has not received the attention it deserves from people seeking a desirable location for a home, or from business men. Notwithstanding this the North Side has held its own, and is constantly gaining in population, and the number of business men, as well as in the volume of business done by the latter. There are a large number of pretty building sites in that part of the city which afford a beautiful outlook over the bluffs around Cedar Bend and along the winding river. We predict that before many years many more of these places will be utilized by people who appreciate such a location for a home. Besides the scenery which is not surpassed in any other part of the town, there are a number of other features that are especially characteristic of this part of the city. Its main street, Broadway, is the widest avenue in the city. As a part of the route to our city's popular drive around the Boulevard, it is, without doubt, traversed by more visitors than any other of our streets. Although a beautiful street, the city should give more attention to keeping it in the very best of condition. There are a number of splendid springs in that part of the city that furnish a large amount of water. One of these has a flow sufficient to furnish water to the Michigan Central tank at the depot and for the drinking fountains in the passenger station. The school in that ward is as good as any in the city while the play ground is one of the largest and best shaded of any in Ann Arbor. One of the improvements that the people of that ward desire is the lowering of the bridge across the Michigan Central railroad and the raising of that across the Huron river. This would make communication with that part of the city easier, and make it possible, it is believed, to induce the Meeting in Detroit Saturday Raised $700.

The Detroit Alumnae Association held an enthusiastic meeting last Saturday in the interest of the Women's Annex to the Waterman Gymnasium. Pres. Angell was on the program as presiding officer, but was unable to be present. Hon. Don. M. Dickenson acted in his stead and made a neat speech in favor of the project. Mrs. Thompson, of Detroit, and Mrs. Sunderland, of Ann Arbor, also read papers and Miss Winifred Lane, of Detroit, spoke briefly upon the proposed plans. Mrs. Pres. Angell gave a brief talk on the advantages that the annex would be to the ladies students. It would, she said, be a ladies headquarters and just such a home as the girls needed. As a result of what had been said over $700 were pledged before the meeting adjourned. It is also believed that the enthusiasm aroused by the addressess will result in work that will bring many larger subscriptions. It will at least take ten thousand dollars more than is now promised to build such an annex as is contemplated.

To the Girls of Ann Arbor.

You will find a cosy room, pictures, books, a piano that you are welcome to use, and the chance to make the acquaintance of some very friendly girls, who would like to know you. Come up to the Y. W. C. A. rooms next Saturday at 7:30, or next Sunday at 3:30, and see if this isn't so. If you have a girl friend in the city, bring her with you, if you haven't, come and find one there.

Homes and Living for Thousands.

Read what western papers and fruit raisers say about a special number of the Great Northern Bulletin, devoted to the fruit business in the Pacific Northwest:

"Contains a multitude of interesting and valuable articles, notes and hints, presented by a close student and investigator."—Daily Spokesman-Review, Spokane, Wash.

"The best thing of the kind that has yet been published. The future of the fruit business is brought out strongly without exaggeration."—Rural Northwest, Portland, Ore.

"The Fruit Bulletin is a storehouse of facts interesting to our growers. It is also calculated to show eastern people that the Pacific Northwest is 'triple in it' as a producer of staple fruits."—J. B. Holt, Manager Snake River Fruit Association, Wawawai, Wash.

"Most artistically printed and contains more horticultural matter relating to the northwest than we have ever before seen in one publication."—Pacific Farmer, Portland, Ore.

"I am delighted with the Bulletin. I do not think I ever saw anything more comprehensive on the fruit business. My belief that the country out here is the best part of the Union for home-seekers is stronger than ever."—H. H. Spalding, Treasurer State Board of Horticulture, Almot, Wash.

"Should be in the hands of every fruit raiser in the Pacific Northwest. Shows in an interesting way just what our country offers to fruit growers and men who believe in small farms well tilled."—Northwest Horticulturist, Tacoma, Wash.

"There is not a topic likely to be of interest or value to the inquirer that is overlooked. A most complete and attractive compendium of the horticultural interests of the West."—Daily Oregonian, Portland, Ore.

Equal Suffrage Association.

The Michigan Equal Suffrage association annual convention was held at Saginaw with a good attendance. Officers elected: President, Mrs. St. Officers: Knaggs, Bay City; vice-president, Mrs. Lila E. Blissett, Saginaw; recording secretary, Mrs. Melvina Root, Bay City; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Helen P. Jenkins, Detroit; treasurer, Mrs. Emily B. Ketchum, Grand Rapids; auditors, Mrs. Helen A. Mearns, Vermontville, Mrs. Jane N. Dawson, Pontiac. Resolutions were adopted calling upon the political parties for a declaration in favor of equal participation by men and women in our government as well as in the exaction of taxes; advocating an educational qualification for the privilege of voting; urging the appointment of police magistrates in city jails; appealing for the appointment of a fair proportion of women as professors at the U. of M.; urging organization of suffrage societies in every town; tendering hearty thanks to the Michigan legislature for their aid in advancing the best interests of woman, and for legislation for the better protection of girlhood.

Husband and Wife Burned to Death.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hale were burned to death at 3 a. m. at Midland. There are mysterious circumstances surrounding the tragedy. Mr. Hale came from Clio early in the week, and stayed with his father until he made arrangements for the house in which his death occurred. When looking over the house Mr. Hale found a pile of papers in one corner of a rear room and a ball of wicking saturated with oil and lying on the window, as if some one had made preparations to set the building on fire. This made him hesitate about moving, but his wife was anxious to get settled, and he finally moved his goods late at night.

During this fire the residence of Thomas Haley, in another part of the city, was burning and was entirely consumed. This is the fifth suspicious fire in five days. It is not believed that the burning of Mr. and Mrs. Hale was intentional, but that the same persons who are responsible for the other fires, had determined to burn this building, which had been empty for several days, and were unaware that it had since been occupied.

May Crop Report.

Wheat and grass are making little growth. April was a month of high temperature and light rainfall. Since May 1, there have been light showers in the state, but the average rainfall in the southern and central counties does not exceed one-seventh of normal.

The average condition of wheat as estimated by correspondents is as follows, comparison being with vitality and growth of average years: Southern counties, 77 per cent; central counties, 87 per cent; northern counties, 80 per cent, and state, 80 per cent. Very little wheat will be plowed this year because winter-killed or otherwise destroyed, and very few correspondents mention damage to the crop by insects. Grass is also backward because of the drouth, the meadows are not yet ruined, but the abundance of rain must come soon or they will be greatly damaged. One year ago they were in prime condition. Apples and peaches promise fairly good crops.

Orangemen's Convention.

The grand lodge L. O. L. convened at Standish with the largest attendance of delegates in the history of the Michigan Grand. The report of Worthy Grand Master Reagan, of Port Huron, was enthusiastically received, especially that portion relating to the non-interference in politics. Grand Secretary Wilson, of Hayes, reports splendid financial condition and a prosperous growth for the order.

The election of officers was spirited and resulted as follows: Grand master, Chas. Cochran, of Detroit; deputy grand master, Jos. McLean, Port Huron; secretary, J. W. Wilson, Bay City; treasurer, Jerome B. Davis, Standish; chaplain, C. H. Terhune, Tawas; lecturer, John A. Coombs, Saginaw; director of ceremonies, C. H. Lloyd, Manistee; inside tyler, John W. Hall, Alpena; outside tyler, F. G. Cuykendall, Port Huron; grand trustee R. B. Ailes, Muskegon. The next meeting is to be held at Jackson.

Swamp Land Cases Favor the Settlers.

In the cases of the Michigan Land and Lumber company against Rust, Pack, Woods, and Bamar, the U. S. court of appeals at Cincinnati decided in favor of the settlers. The cases involved 17,000 acres of land in Michigan valued at $300,000. The state sold swamp land to a number of settlers and the Michigan Land and Lumber company—composed mostly of English capitalists—obtained the lands through false surveys and brought suits in the U. S. court to oust the homesteaders.

Costly Fire at Port Huron.

McMorran & Co.'s large grain elevator at Port Huron burned. It was filled with about 300,000 bushels of grain, and the loss is estimated at between $175,000 and $225,000. The Davidson & McMorran flouring mills, which were run in connection with the elevator, are also destroyed. The fire started in the blower, which connects with the elevator and the engine house, and spread rapidly to the grain bins, where it was almost impossible for the firemen to work.

Three million feet of lumber, valued at $10,000, belonging to Partridge Bros., of Flint, burned at Greenwood.

The residence and barn of George Waldo, at Douglass, were struck by lightning and totally destroyed. Loss $1,000.

The Millie & Trader mines, at Iron Mountain, which have been idle for some time, will resume operations shortly.

The factories of Buchanan have a monthly payroll amounting to over $9,000, and there is but one saloon in the village.

STATE LEGISLATURE.

SENATE—80th day.—Bills passed: For the preservation of furniture in the state capitol; for the further geological survey of Michigan; creating a commission of nine persons to regulate the practice of medicine and surgery in Michigan; appropriating $10,000 for current expenses at the Michigan state normal school and $25,000 for a training school for boys; for the state industrial home for boys; appropriating $10,000 for the state school for the deaf and dumb; relative to the collection of delinquent taxes, appropriating $4,375 for improvements at the Michigan asylum for dangerous and criminal insane; Biely bill reorganizing the state health department. Mr. Jamison's bill was agreed to in committee of the whole providing for a jury to determine the mental competency of persons against whom the charge of insanity may be brought, also providing that the estate of an insane person committed shall pay such proportion of the cost as it may be found able to pay. The bill providing that the value of municipal franchises shall be assessed and that taxes shall be paid thereon, the same as on other property was also agreed to. The committee on legislative reapportionment made a favorable report on a bill classifying down the number of Representatives in the state legislature from 10 to 64. The state affairs committee reported the Smalley hearing bill as providing for the inflicting of the death penalty when recommended by the jury. House.—Bills passed: Relative to the appointment of boards of county assessors; resolutions relative to the normal school at Alpena; $125,000 for the industrial school for boys; $10,000 for the school for the deaf and dumb. In committee of the whole a measure was agreed to which will put a stop to the formation of drinking clubs by availing of liquor license. The measure is an amendment to the bill providing that liquor bonds may be obtained in the township where a village may be located and is as follows: "All cities, villages or other associations or organizations, whether incorporated or unincorporated, that shall sell, dispense, or in any manner furnish any spirituous, malt brewed, fermented or vinous liquors to its members or any other person or persons, shall for the purpose of this act be deemed to be engaged in the business of selling or offering for sale such liquors, and shall be subject to all the provisions, requirements, restrictions or penalties of this act, and the possession by such club, society, association or organization of U. S. license shall be prima facie evidence that such persons or organizations are engaged in the business of selling or offering for sale such liquors." SENATE—81st day.—Bills passed: Authorizing the unclaimed bodies of pauper dead to be sent direct to Detroit medical colleges instead of being first sent to the University; appropriating $100,000 for continuing the work of construction at the asylum at Newberry; providing that members of the Detroit school board may by two-thirds vote of the body be expelled for improper conduct; authorizing corporations to change their names; requiring instruction to be given in the public schools on the best method of preventing the spread of communicable diseases; establishing courses of reading and lectures on agricultural practices under the direction of the state board of agriculture; relative to fraudulent conveyances; amending the law relative to the regulation of asylums for insane so as to require a certificate of insanity to be determined by a jury in certain cases; providing for service of notice on prosecuting attorneys in certain cases; relative to delinquent taxes; authorizing the auditor-general to procure certain land plats; amending the law relative to the acquisition by condemnation the rights of toll road companies in highways. There was a session when in committee of the whole on a bill to amend the law relative to the regulation of townships. Senator Brundage stated that an attempt had been made to bribe Senator Smalley to vote for the bill. Senator McLaughlin denied that an investigation had been made. Mr. Smalley said that the effort would be fruitless as the attempt was so indistinctly made that he could not remember it. The bill was defeated. Gov. Rich objected to the $100,000 appropriation for the Michigan mining school and Senator M. Sheldon introduced a resolution to reduce the bill passed: Making the bounty on English Sparrows payable all the year round instead of for the winter months; relative to the regulation in which town plats may be vacated; amending the law relative to authenticated copies of probate court records. A full attempt was made to pass the bill prescribing that publishers shall be entitled to no compensation for periodicals sent for a longer period than the subscriber specifies; several amendments were favorably reported on a bill levying a tax of one-eighth of a cent for the support of the Michigan normal school. Repeal of Person, Bennett and Latimer were arrested and down-town by the sergeant-at-arms for leaving the House without a quorum on the bill prescribing that the entire amount of liquor taxes collected shall be turned into the municipal treasury instead of being divided equally between the city or village and the county. The duty tax was reduced and released. No action was taken on the bill.

Eighty-second day.—No session of the Senate. HOUSE.—This was the first attempt to put in six legislative days in a week and it was not much of a success. The bill prescribing that the entire receipts from the sale of real estate to the township, village or city instead of being divided with the county, which had been left in the air on the adjournment the previous day was referred to the judiciary committee. The factory inspection bill was again agreed to in committee of the whole. After a sharp fight, the appropriation for inspectors was increased from $6,000 to $8,000 and the clause relative to the employment of persons under 14 years of age, which had been stricken out was restored.

SENATE—83d day.—Bills passed: For fish statutes in Flint and Cass rivers; for incorporation of children's aid societies; for the court to determine injuries done railway companies by repeal of charters; for the parole of convicts; for a board to examine applicants for real estate licenses; amending the act for the formation of skating rink associations. The bill amending the act for the formation of corporations for the leasing or selling of real estate was defeated, reconsidered and tabled. The mining school appropriation bill was fixed up upon its return from the House and the Senate now receive the signature of Gov. Rich. The vote was reconsidered by which the bill passed and was amended by a cut from $30,000, doing away with $10,000 worth of new buildings. The Senate concurred in the House amendments to the bill for the election of boards of county canvassers in the substitution of the county treasurer for the presiding judge of the third circuit as a member of the Wayne county board. HOUSE—Bills passed: Appropriating $200 for support of needy soldiers heretofore cared for at Harper's hospital, Detroit; amending law for the incorporation of trust companies; amending the law relative to the collection of tax on all property that is collected from real and personal property and each assessing year, the intention being that it should apply to lots, ore and such property; providing that counties should own the abstract books and for the appointment of county abstractors by the board of supervisors; to tax druggists who sell liquors the same as saloonkeepers. The committee on state affairs reported that they had discovered that the Senate had come against the constitutionality of the bill providing for the sale of certain state lands that a home note be provided for the governor. The land can only be used for educational purposes. The bill was therefore tabled.

What is an Emulsion?

Milk is a true Emulsion, and as milk or cream is easier to digest and assimilate than butter, so is the milk or cream of Cod-liver Oil easier to digest and assimilate than raw Oil. This is why Scott's Emulsion is much more useful and effective than the natural Oil; why it accomplishes so much in arresting waste and building up the body.

But it is much more than ordinary fat food. It has other constituents that have wonderful healing and strengthening power, and in addition we add the Hypophosphites (or Phosphorus), another most important element in overcoming decreased vitality or loss of flesh. These are the reasons why Scott's Emulsion is benefiting to-day hundreds of thousands of consumptives and anæmic persons, as well as being a food and remedy for sickly, wasting children that is surprising both to physicians and parents.

MAY AND DECEMBER

Blended into One to the Hardest Storm of the year—8 to 12 inches of Snow. A storm with many of the characteristics of a wild western blizzard blew across Michigan after it had done all the damage it could in the west and in Wisconsin. The extremely warm weather of the first week in May was followed by rains which grew colder and colder until they finally became heavy snow storms, as heavy in fact as any of the past winter. From the most northern point on the Lake Michigan shore as far north as communication could be had was a continuous storm swept territory, which includes the entire fruit belt of the state. The snow fell to a depth of a foot in the upper peninsula and in the upper part of the lower peninsula it lay on the ground a foot and a half deep. In upper Michigan the thermometer registered a degree or two below freezing point, but in the lower part it hovered just above. In many sections the snow was so heavy that the trees which had foliage on, had their limbs broken by the weight. Fruit trees suffered from this cause. In western Michigan, in the fruit belt, a rain fell all day, which apparently was a benefit to crops, but as night approached, the temperature fell and a melting snow came down. The only thing which saved any portion of the fruit crops was the fact that the snow was not followed by a heavy freeze.

"Jack" Pine as a Valuable Wood.

A problem which has confronted the residents of Michigan lumbering districts for years was how to dispose of the great amount of "jack" pine which is found throughout the entire pine regions of the northern part of the lower and a greater part of the upper peninsula, the timber and lands upon which it has grown having up to date not been worth the recording of the deeds after the white and Norway pine had been taken off. The solution of the question has been found by W. M. Featherly, publisher of the Lake-side Monitor, An Sable, who believed that the "jack" had the necessary qualities to make a first-class paper pulp. With the courage of the conviction, Mr. Featherly secured the services of A. F. Neumann, a mechanical and chemical engineer and paper maker expert, who a few days since made a thorough test of the timber at Georgetown, Ont., and now has the satisfaction of knowing that he was right. A large pulp and paper mill will be erected at Au Sable to grind out pulp and paper at the rate of 40 tons per day. A stock company of $250,000 capital is being formed and operations of construction will soon be commenced. The pulp from "jack" pine is more valuable and more easily made than is that from any other timber. Previous efforts to make paper pulp from "jack" pine by different paper makers, were failures until the services of Mr. Neumann were secured by Mr. Featherly.

Desperate Green Goods Gang Caught.

Seven green goods men were captured by United States officers at Hillsdale, the result of several weeks of work on the part of Postoffice Inspectors Larmour, Mercer and Wilkins, and Assistant U. S. Attorney Frazer. The hunt for this gang was begun at the end of last year when Mr. Larmour received a number of letters from various persons, who had received propositions from green goods men, operating under many different names. The gang as arrested consisted of Dan O'Meara and Charles Ellis, Hillsdale, sharpers and gamblers; Charles Dobson, day clerk in Keefe's hotel, the place where the raid was made; John Treadwell, J. C. White and W. W. Marsh. The detectives laid a clever trap and caught the gang with $100 in marked bills, which they had secured from Frazer, as the supposed victim.

Michigan Fruit Not Injured.

The sudden and severe cold snap which followed the hot weather of the first 10 days of May caused fruit raisers and farmers to tremble lest their crops would be injured by frost, but a number of telegrams from various sections say that while the weather was very cold high winds prevented serious frosts and the various crops were not harmed. Reports from Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin, Minnesota, and Missouri and farther west are not so reassuring, heavy frost having caused serious damage.

Shot a Convict.

James Hall, a convict from Tuscola county, with his partner, Frank Walton, made a break for liberty at midnight as they were taken from the train at the prison gate at Jackson. A bullet from Sheriff Lenox's revolver brought Hall to the ground. He was shot in the hip, and is now in the city hospital. The wound is serious.

Lightning struck the hardware store of B. H. Rose at Sherman and set fire to the building. The flames spread, causing a loss of several thousand dollars. The Rose store, the American express office, the insurance office of Gilbert & Sturtevant were destroyed, together with valuable stocks of goods.

It is learned that the Baltimore & Ohio railroad has purchased the St. Joseph Valley railroad, running between Buchanan and Berrien Springs, and the Elkart & Western road, and that it is the intention soon to build a branch from Millford, Ind., to Benton Harbor. The B. & O. has been wanting a branch to Lake Michigan for a long time.

Mrs. Addie A. Randall, of Bay City, confined in the Pontiac insane asylum for 15 months, and declared by many people to be of sound mind, was released by Dr. Christian, the medical superintendent. She left the institution with her brother, Charles Reagan, of Petoskey, Ont., and when she realized that at last she was liberated her joy was unbounded.

Michigan's fruit belt will yield one of the largest crops ever known, says a Pennville correspondent. The warm weather has pushed everything, and this section looks like a beautiful flower garden. The apple crop will be light. Thousands of acres of small fruits have been set this spring, to take the place of peach orchards destroyed by the yellows.

M. J. Fanning, of Jackson, chairman of the Prohibition state central committee, asked for the resignation of Hon. A. M. Todd, of Kalamazoo, as a member of that committee, on charges of immorality. Mr. Todd demanded an investigation and the committee, after a day's hot work, cleared Todd's name of all odium, and informed Mr. Fanning that he had merely made an error of judgment.

The first collision of the season occurred off Skelligalee light, when in a dense fog the steamer Cayuga, of the Lehigh Valley line, laden with merchandise, and the Joseph L. Hurd, of Chicago, carrying a cargo of lumber, crashed into each other. The Cayuga sank in 25 minutes and the Hurd was abandoned in a sinking condition. One life was lost in the collision, that of George Johnson, cook of the Hurd.

The printers of the state are making a vigorous kick against the proposal to establish a state printing house at Jackson prison. They quote the state constitution as opposed to it, as follows: "No mechanical trade shall hereafter be taught to convicts in the state prison of this state, except the manufacture of those articles of which the import supply for home consumption is imported from other states or countries."

THE REGISTER. PUBLISHED WEEKLY BY SELBY A. MORAN, ANN ARBOR, MICH. TERMS: One Dollar per Year in Advance. 1.50 if not paid until after one year.

THURSDAY, MAY 16, 1895. THIS ISSUE OF THE REGISTER devotes several columns to a write up of the North Side. People interested in that portion of the city should give it a careful reading.

THE chief distinction of the Brice-Gorman-Wilson bill is its reduction of duties upon articles of luxuries consumed by the rich, and which furnish two-thirds of the whole tariff revenue of the Government. It would make both Government and people poor.—Wm. McKinley.

BRITISH foreign trade increasing? Of course it is. And American foreign trade shrinking? Of course, also. What was the Gorman-Wilson Tariff for, anyway? In this connection it may be remarked that the under "odious" McKinley act the relative drift of things in the two countries was exactly opposite.—Boston Journal.

WE are in receipt of a copy of a pamphlet entitled "Coins Financial Fool" by Horace White, and published by the Sound Currency Committee of N. Y. City. It should be read by every person who has read the book "Coin's Financial School." THE REGISTER has ordered a hundred copies of this pamphlet which it will furnish at 5c per copy.

THE examination, by the common council, of Mr. A. M. Clark upon the charges preferred by ex-alderman Manly, was completed just after the last issue of THE REGISTER was printed. As is generally known the council did not sustain any of the charges. On the first the vote was a tie. This would have been more favorable to Mr. Clark had there not been some difference of opinion as to just what the charge embodied. On the second charge, that which directly accused Mr. Clark of receiving a bribe, the vote not to sustain the charge was unanimous. On the other two, the council stood practically the same. The examination was in many respects an unusual one. On the part of the council, as is evidenced by the votes of the members on the many difficult questions upon which they were called to decide, the proceeding was an eminently fair one. They evinced a spirit of fairness that plainly showed that no favors were to be shown or any undue advantage taken. The same spirit of fairness was not shown by the city attorney. In the first place he was either extremely prejudiced or had decidedly poor judgment in allowing himself to be so firmly convinced of the guilt of the accused. As the city's legal representative he should have known what the evidence against Mr. Clark was. Had he known this he would have known that the city had no case against him. In the second place, if he had had even a strong case against the accused, the position he took in regard to the completion of the trial on last Wednesday night was, to say the least, amazing. Here was a man holding an honorable position, who is accused of an offense the statutory penalty for which is a term in the

A Startling Admission.

In New York City, for five consecutive years, the proportion of Deaths from Consumption has been three in every Twenty Persons.

Epidemics of Cholera, Yellow Fever and other diseases of similar character, so terrible in their results, occasion wide spread alarm and receive the most careful consideration for their prevention and cure, while consumption receives scarcely a thought, yet the number of their victims sinks into insignificance when compared with those of consumption. Comparatively few people know what to do for their loved ones when they see them gradually lose strength, lose color, manifest feeble vitality and emaciation, or develop a cough, with difficult breathing, or hemorrhage. Cod liver oil was for a long time given in all such cases, but the poor success attending its use coupled with its nauseating taste has led many practitioners, as well as the public at large, to place their main reliance in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It deserves early attention and will prove effectual not in every case but in a large percentage of cases, and we believe that fully 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption can, if taken in the early stages of the disease, be cured with the "Discovery." Dr. Pierce does not ask people to believe until they have investigated for themselves. A pamphlet has been published having the names, addresses and photographs of a large number of those cured of consumption, bronchitis, lingering coughs, asthma, chronic nasal catarrh and kindred maladies which will be mailed free to those sending for it with their name and address upon a postal card, or you can have a medical treatise, in book form of 160 pages, mailed to you, on receipt of address and six cents in stamps. You can then write those cured and learn their experiences.

Address for Book, WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, Buffalo, N. Y.

penitentiary. The prosecution had labored assiduously all day and until ten o'clock at night and then rested his case. Members of the council, the majority of whom are business men who were neglecting their business to attend to this matter, were certainly justified in urging that, if possible, at least a few witnesses for the defense might be examined that night that the end might be reached without any unnecessary delay. But for the city attorney to urge and insist, when the council had been in almost continuous session for nearly fourteen hours and many of the members were nearly worn out, and in no condition to give the best of their attention to the testimony for the defense a thing the defendant was clearly entitled to, that the defense present their whole case that night before adjourning, was a most unreasonable and unjust demand. We can characterize it as nothing less than an attempt to gain an unjust verdict by a pettifogger's trick. The council promptly sat down upon any such nonsense by adjourning until the next morning.

Not a few of our citizens are beginning to wonder why the charges were ever brought. To many who have looked into the matter thoroughly it looks very much as if it were all a political job to throw the control of the board of public works into the hands of the opposite political party. If such is not the case, will some one please explain why it was that these charges did not see the light for so many months after the so called facts were known, and then bobbed up so suddenly immediately after a democratic mayor was elected? With a democratic mayor, the removal of Clark would throw the control of the board of public works into the hands of the democrats and the board would then appoint a new street commissioner, who, being a politician, would be expected to wield a large influence with the labor vote. Will this explain anything? Most people in the city are firmly convinced that it will explain the real motive underlying the whole proceeding.

DECIDEDLY SUGGESTIVE.

Mayor Walker has solicited several reputable and well qualified men to accept the appointment to serve on the board of public works in place of Capt. J. F. Schuh whose term expires, but so far as can be learned he has been unsuccessful. Those, whom he has approached, claim that they find it impossible to serve under the present make-up of the board. The mayor is thus forced into a predicament the outcome of which is an enigma.

Under the charter the mayor has a right to remove any person appointed to office with the consent of the majority of the members-elect of the council, and as near as can be learned the intentions of the mayor are in accordance with that section of the charter. Such existing conditions are detrimental to the city's interests and some steps should immediately be taken to set the machinery of our civic legislation in proper working order.—Tuesday's Times.

Miss Ida Johnston, of the North Side, and Miss Frazer, of Albion, were walking along North University-ave. last Saturday. The April crop report, which by the way was sent out before the recent blizzard, announces fair prospects for peaches and apples. The next report will probably show a less favorable outlook. The rainfall during April was only about one-seventh of the normal. The rains since May first have done some but not a great deal of good. Heavy rains are needed soon to save pastures and make the hay crop a normal one.

NORTH SIDE.

street car company to build a line out Broadway. Another improvement that would please the residents of the North Side, and one which is likely to be made, is the opening up of North State street across the railroad tracks, to the river bridge. This would make the fifth ward much more accessible to the eastern part of the city, and is a much needed improvement. When these two changes are made they will add to the impetus which the enterprising residents have already made towards a revival of business in their part of the city. Already the price of lots and rents are beginning to feel the influence and have an upward tendency. We believe that the North Side is destined to grow more rapidly from this on, and that people who have money to invest and who can wait a little while before realizing upon it could not find a better and safer place in which to invest it. Although across the river, and seemingly a considerable distance from the main portion of the city, it is, really, much nearer than a large part of the Sixth and Seventh wards. Notwithstanding the fact that is nearer Main street, residents of the North Side have a number of business houses which, in their lines, carry a first class stock of goods.

MR. W. M. F. LODHOLZ, carries a very large and complete stock of groceries and general merchandise. He has done business on the North Side for many years and knows just what lines of goods are most in demand, and always keep in stock a large supply of the very best of such goods. Especially in the line of groceries, vegetables, dried and canned fruits, butter and eggs, and baker's supplies, there is not a better stock in the city. Mr. Lodholz is one of the most popular young men in Ann Arbor. He deals squarely with his customers, and always gives satisfaction. Those who once begin trading with him are sure to continue doing so. As a result of strict honesty and attention to business Mr. Lodholz has secured a large number of patrons from this side of the river whom he supplies daily.

MR. GEORGE SPATHELF, JR. The residents of the North Side also have one of the best meat markets in the city, carried on by Mr. Geo. Spathef, Jr., proprietor of the North Side Meat Market, corner of Broadway and Wall streets. Mr. Spathef makes speciality of fine meats, fresh fish and game in its season. If you want a fine steak, George can deliver it to you at a moderate price. He says that, for the present at least, rents are cheaper and taxes lower, and that therefore he can sell the same grade of meats at a lower rate than can be done by any other dealer in the city, and at the same time make just as large a margin. Besides supplying almost the entire demand in the fifth ward, Mr. Spathef has a good trade in other parts of the city. He may be called by telephone and all orders will receive prompt attention. The writer knows that his meats are first-class and can assure all who read this article that they will receive nothing but the best, if they order from the North Side Market.

O'HARA, BOYLE & CO. Another enterprising firm on the North Side is that of Messrs. O'Hara, Boyle and Company who occupy the first store building on the left just as you cross the bridge. These gentlemen carry a full line of fine groceries, and keep nothing but the very freshest of goods, which they sell upon a narrow margin. They believe that large sales upon a narrow margin will be more profitable and more satisfactory to their customers than to ask a higher price and sell less goods. They have been established in the business for the past six years, and have by fair dealing and courteous treatment gained a large patronage, no inconsiderable part of which comes from this side of the river. Both of the members of the firm are hard workers and by strict attention to business are making a success. The people of the North Side appreciate the efforts of these young men to build up a first-class grocery business and, as a result, are giving them a liberal share of their patronage.

Tired Women

Should stop and consider the dangers which threaten them because of their weakness, languor and lack of ambition. Thousands of women find their strength unequal to the demands of duty. And yet there is no escape from the incessant round of care and toil. They must have strength. How shall it be given? By building up their systems through purified, enriched and vitalized blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla will give them strength because it will make their blood pure and enable it to feed the nerves upon proper nourishment. It will create an appetite, tone the stomach and invigorate every organ. It is what tired women need.

MR. HENRY G. LODHOLZ.

The last man to open up in business on the North Side is Mr. Henry G. Lodholz. He evidently has faith in that part of the city, and he is amply justified in doing so. An Ice Cream Parlor, Fruit and Candy Store and a place where residents could secure stationery is just what that part of the city has long needed. Mr. Lodholz has fitted up a cozy little place on Broadway, next door to Wm. F. Lodholz's store and is prepared to furnish all kinds of fresh fruits, candies, tobacco, and smoker's materials as good and as cheap as any other in the city. His ice cream business will prove especially convenient to the public of the North Side as it is the only place in that part of the city where ice cream will be kept for sale either by the dish or in quantity. Mr. Lodholz says that he will have the finest ice cream that the market affords and will treat his customers liberally. He has also arranged to keep on sale a large stock of soft drinks in all the popular flavors, such as wild cherry phosphate, claret phosphate, orange phosphate, raspberry phosphate, lemon sour and ginger ale. Such a store as Mr. Lodholz has opened is sure to become very popular. We predict that he will not be disappointed with the results of his new undertaking, but that he will find it a veritable little gold mine. It is indeed a wonder that no one has ever before thought of starting a business of this kind in that part of the city.

MR. WILLIAM LANSKY.

Another man who has started in business in the Fifth Ward recently, is Mr. William Lansky. He keeps a general store, dealing more particularly in groceries, tinware, and general household articles. He has built up a nice little business in his line and is rapidly increasing the volume of his trade. Mr. Lansky believes in handling goods upon a very narrow margin, which fact commends his prices to all people who realize that a penny saved is as good as a penny earned.

In addition to his store trade, Mr. Lansky buys and ships away a large amount of old rubber goods, scrap-iron, brass and copper. If you have any of these goods about your premises, and wish to have them removed, drop a postal to Mr. Lansky and he will call and take them, and pay you a fair price for them.

GEORGE W. WEEKS.

Just as you leave Broadway in going around the Boulevard you pass the fruit and vegetable gardens of Mr. Weeks. Mr. Weeks started here a few years ago in a small way, but by strict attention to business, and hard work, he has added to his property until today he has one of the finest vegetable gardens in this community. Mr. Weeks has also devoted considerable attention to grapes and other small fruit, and is making a success of this branch of the business. He has land especially adapted to such crops and knows how to utilize his ground to the best advantage. To give a fair idea of the extent of some of his crops we shall only need to state that he raises and sells several tons of grapes each year. In addition to his gardening and fruit raising business, but without neglecting it in the least, Mr. Weeks has for the past few years built up a considerable trade in the wood business. He orders his wood from the north, and gets it in such quantities that he can sell it at a moderate rate. He handles all sorts of hard and soft wood, and is very careful to buy nothing but the best quality. Although he keeps a large supply on hand the year round and will fill your order at any time, the most of this business comes in the winter time when his fruit and vegetable business is not rushing. Mr. Weeks will place a telephone at his residence 96 Broadway soon, in order to accommodate his customers, not a few of whom live entirely across the city from this place of business.

SPENCER D. LENNON

is the largest producer of small fruit on the North Side, if not in the whole community. Mr. Lennon was born and has always lived in the city. He owns some fifty acres of splendid land, the larger portion of which is in a fine state of cultivation while some of it, lying between the Boulevard and the river is one of the finest piecing grounds near the city. Mr. Lennon's land lies in the main just north and west of the Boulevard. He has made a speciality of vegetables and small fruits. He keeps from ten to fifteen hands constantly employed. It is not an usual thing, during berry time, for Mr. Lennon's berry patch to produce daily anywhere from 40 to 50 bushels of berries. Although he sells mainly to the trade he also supplies a number of families each summer with quantities for canning. He raises nothing but the very best and gives honest measure. In addition to small fruits Mr. Lennon has of late gone extensively into the raising of early vegetables for our home market. To do this he has built a very large hot house which he heats with gasoline by a novel device of his own construction. By its use he is enabled to heat some ten or fifteen thousand cubic feet of space at an expense of only about 50 cents per day. This enables Mr. Lennon to furnish fine fresh vegetables during the entire winter at a very moderate expense. It is by the carrying out of such progressive ideas that we are unable to enjoy all the year round, in a measure, the luxuries of perpetual spring.

THE ANN ARBOR MILLING CO.

This is one of the largest manufacturing establishments in the city. The present owners of the Milling property known as the Argo Mills, assumed control in the spring of 1892 and organized by electing Henry S. Dean, President; Sedgwick Dean, Vice-President; W. C. Stevens, Secretary and G. F. Allmendinger, Treasurer and Manager. The above named gentlemen and Mr. G. Schneider constituting a Board of Directors which remains in charge down to date. In the time which has since elapsed, the water power has received many improvements. Head-gates and waste-gates, lacking before, have been supplied, and a flume built in 1894 under the supervision of the vice-president of the company is regarded as one of the best pieces of work of its kind in the state. The interior of the mill has been thoroughly overhauled, a considerable amount of new machinery being added, and today the mill is making seven brands of flour for varying uses, which are unexcelled in quality. The work at the mill is in charge of Mr. F. L. Sherk, head-miller, and the cooper shop, operated by the company, of Mr. H. B. Doddsley. Because of the great difficulty in securing grain, the company is establishing a line of elevators of its own and has in operation, plants at Chilson, Cohoctah and at Owosso where a feed mill is operated largely for trade in the pines.

The company is contemplating further improvements among which is the erection the coming summer of a model feed-mill immediately north of the Argo Mills and adjacent to the railroad track, that the handling of coarse grain from cars can be facilitated.

THE AGRICULTURAL CO.

This company which is one of the most extensive establishments in the city is located on the North Side. It is the oldest manufacturing concern in the city, having been started away back in 1866 by Lewis Moore and Son. In 1872 Messrs. Finnigan and Howard became interested, and in 1888, a stock company was organized in which a number of our substantial business men became interested. The business of the company has grown steadily. During the busy season the company frequently employs a hundred or more workmen. This is an important factor for the residents of the North Side, as the company annually pays out many thousands of dollars for labor, the greater portion of which goes to laboring men who live in that part of the city, and who leave the larger part of it with the merchants of the North Side. The company manufactures all kinds of farm implements many of which have a national reputation, and some of which find a ready market in foreign countries. In the list of articles manufactured we find plows, mowers, hay tedders, feed cutters, hay presses, cultivators, hay rakes, horse-powers, power saws, etc. The machines of all kinds made by this firm have a splendid reputation for being well constructed and made of first-class material. Farmers in need of any of the above named articles will find it to their advantage to use the implements made by this company as it is always easy to get repairs quickly and at a moderate rate. It would be a great thing for Ann Arbor could a few more such establishments be started in this city. The people of the North Side would be only too glad to welcome another manufacturing establishment that would do even only half as much business as that of the Agricultural company.

WONDERFUL FEATURES

On Carpet and Sawdust at the Japanese Circus.
On Friday and Saturday next the Curtis & Ogawa combined shows and Imperial Japanese circus will exhibit on the grounds at the corner of S. Ingalls and E. Washington-sts., giving two performances each day. The circus showed all last week in Jackson and the Evening Patriot of that city speaks in the following terms of the performance:

"The Curtis & Ogawa Japanese circus is a very meritorious addition to the circus world. They do not advertise a three-ring show with elephants, etc., but they do advertise a single ring circus with marvelous Japanese performers, wonderful feats in trapeze bar and sawdust work, and they have it. Never was a finer company of Japanese performers brought together. In their feats of balancing, fencing, tumbling, juggling and top spinning they are unsurpassable. There is besides the Japanese performers, a large company of American athletes. The show is new, clean, fascinating from first to last and is the only Japanese circus of the kind in America."

For God, and Home and Native Land.

Edited by Mrs. A. E. Van Valkenburg, Press Superintendent.

Pledge:—I hereby solemnly promise, God helping me, to abstain from all distilled, fermented and malt liquors, including wine and cider, and to employ all proper means to discourage the use of and traffic in the same.

The next meeting of the local W. C. T. U. will be held May 24th, at three o'clock, at McMillan Hall.

The following pertinent questions have been discussed by W. C. T. Unions recently, and are recommended to the careful consideration of others, especially those who have the privilege and responsibility of casting the ballot:

Is it right to build churches to save men, and license shops to destroy them?

Is it right to license a man to sell that which will make a man drunk, and then punish a man for being drunk?

Is it right to license a man to make paupers, and then tax sober men to take care of them?

Is it right to license a drink shop to teach vice, and then tax people for schools to teach virtue?

Is it right to derive a revenue out of a traffic which no decent man defends?

Is it right to teach a boy not to drink, and then vote to license a place where he may be taught to drink?

Is it right to teach your boy to be honest, and then vote to license a place where he may be taught to gamble?

Is it right to teach a boy to restrain his passions, and then vote to license a place where his worst passions will be inflamed?

Is it right to take care of your own boy, and vote to license a place which will ruin your neighbor's boy?

Is it right to preach justice and charity, and then vote to license a thing which robs the widow and orphans of their bread?

Is it right to go to the polls to vote without having studied this question seriously and carefully?

When Lady Henry Somerset first came to America, she gave her white ribbon to the head waiter in a fashionable hotel. He was a fine looking colored man of high character, but not a teetotaler. Three years later he told a prominent literary lady that at first he carefully put away her ladyship's piece of ribbon, thinking he could never wear it. He said there were so many temptations in a place such as he occupied, that he often got very tired, and a little stimulant would "set him up," but he added, for nearly three years now I have worn the ribbon and tried to live up to its principles. How much good may come of a little action soon forgotten if it has in it the seeds of a higher life.

SOMEBODY ELSE.

A lady was walking quietly along the city street not long ago, when the door of a house flew open and a boy shot out with a whoop like a wild Indian. Once on the pavement he danced a sort of double shuffle all around the curb stone, and raced down the street in great haste, for it was evident, by the books under his arm, that he was going to school. The lady was thinking what thoughtless, noisy creatures healthy boys always are, when just a few yards before her she saw something yellow lying on the stones. Coming nearer she fancied it was a fine shaving, and looked after the boy again. She saw him suddenly stop short in a crowd of people at a crossing, and come back as fast as he had gone, so that just before she reached the shaving he did, and picked up, not a shaving at all, but a long shiny banana skin. Flinging it into a refuse barrel, he only waited long enough to say, "somebody might have slipped on it," and was off again. It was a little thing to do, but that one glance of the boy's clear, grey eyes, and the simple, earnest sentence, made the lady's heart very warm towards the noisy fellow. He had not slipped himself; he was far past the danger and when one is in a hurry, it is a great bother to go twice over the same ground, but then "somebody else" might slip; and so for the sake of this unknown somebody, the hurrying boy came back, and it may be saved the life or limbs of a feeble, old person, or a tender little child.

He might have said, "I can't wait to go back," it is none of my doings, but he made it his business, and in this showed a trait of character which promised well for the future. There is nothing nobler on earth than this taking care that "somebody else" shall not suffer needlessly. The child who grows up with such a spirit in him may make his home like a heaven upon earth, and he will never know what it is to be unloved or friendless.

In Memoriam of Mrs. Deborah Wallington.

Another of the old settlers has passed away. Mrs. Deborah Wallington, wife of the late Edward Wallington died April 30, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. R. L. Speechly after having lived in Washtenaw county since 1847. She was born at Ludgershall, England, February 8, 1813. She was married to Edward Wallington at the same place in 1834 and there lived until 1847, when they came to Michigan, settling on a farm in Lodi, when in 1852, they moved to a larger farm which they bought in Saline where they lived until 1867, when Mr. Edward Wallington passed away. The next year the widow came to live with her daughter, Mrs. R. Speechly of Ann Arbor Town.

She leaves three children to mourn her loss, Mrs. Thomas Blake, Mrs. R. Speechly, of Ann Arbor Town, and Leonard C. Wallington, of Detroit, and two grand children, Miss Minerva and Miss Edith Blake, Mr. Edward Blake, Mrs. Albert Elliott, Miss Susie, Miss Cary Speechly, of Ann Arbor Town, Miss Maude Wallington, of Detroit, Dr. F. W. Blake, and L. A. Blake, of this city, and Mr. John Blake, of Big Rapids.

The funeral was held from her late home last Thursday afternoon at half past two. Revs. Burton and Dr. Coburn officiating. She was a kind, gentle, loving Christian woman.

A FEAST OF ART.

Great Art Loan and Exhibition to be Given at Detroit.

A great Art exhibition will be given by the Art Club of Detroit, at the Light Infantry Armory beginning May 18 and continuing for at least two weeks. The officers of the club, which has but recently been organized, promise that the affair will be one of the largest and most excellent of the kind ever given west of N. Y. All of the foremost American artists will be represented and a committee from the club which was sent to N. Y. a short time ago, secured most of the best works which have been shown at the National Academy of Design and Society of American Artists this spring, for exhibition in Detroit. Students at the U. of M. as well as the citizens of Ann Arbor will doubtless be quick to avail themselves of this opportunity to feed their desire for art culture which they would ordinarily find themselves compelled to go east or per-haps to Europe, in order to satisfy.

The exhibition will far exceed in excellence, the Art Loan, which was given in Detroit some ten years ago great as that affair was. Excursion rates will be given on all railroads, from Michigan points, one day each week, while the exhibition is in progress. The admission fee from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. has been fixed at 50 cents. The admission for the evening will be only 25 cents.

Half of the profits will be given to a meritorious charitable institution and the balance will be devoted to making a permanent institution of the Art Club. The exhibition is sure to be an artistic success. If it is a financial success, it is the intention that Michigan shall have the benefit of a similar exhibition each year. None of the citizens of Detroit who have generously devoted their energies to preparing for the event will derive any pecuniary benefit from it.

ST. LOUIS TRAGEDY.

MISSOURI STATE SENATOR KILLED BY A WOMAN.

Peter R. Morrissey Shot by Maud Lewis—Victim Was Asleep—Crime Committed Early Yesterday Morning in a Lodging House.

St. Louis, Mo., May 14.—State Senator Peter R. Morrissey was shot and instantly killed at 3:30 o'clock this morning by Maud Lewis. The tragedy was enacted in the woman's room on the second floor at 2719 Wash street. Morrissey went to the house at a very late hour and had retired when the crime was committed.

The woman has for some time been mentally unbalanced, according to the statements of her neighbors, and is supposed to have been insane at the time. The first information the neighbors had of the tragedy was from the woman's screams. They ran in and found her in a frenzy of grief and terror, bowing over the body and calling on "Pete" to "come back." The first persons on the scene could gain no information from her as to the precise manner in which the murder was accomplished, but everything indicated that Morrissey was asleep when he met his death. The weapon used by Maud Lewis was an American bulldog revolver of 33 caliber. Two shots were fired, one ball entering the mouth and the other penetrating the brain through the left eye. Death was instantaneous.

As soon as the neighbors ascertained that Maud Lewis was the principal in the tragedy they sent word to the authorities, and Detectives Jim Smith and John Howard were dispatched to the place. They were unable to get a coherent statement from the woman, whose ravings became more violent and desperate every minute. They had her sent to the city hospital and permitted an undertaker to take charge of the body.

The deceased was born in St. Louis, August 14, 1859, and was educated at the St. Louis university. In 1885 he was elected to the municipal assembly and at the time of his death he was a democratic member of the Missouri state senate. His business was that of saloon and lodging-house keeper. Morrissey lived with his father, mother and sister in rooms over his saloon, southeast corner of Eleventh street and Clark avenue. He was a single man, about 35 years of age.

At the city hospital soon after Maud Lewis was received there it was stated that she was violently crazy, though whether her condition was due to remorse for her act or antedated the crime could not then be ascertained. Maud Lewis is 25 years old and was born and reared in St. Louis. She is said to have come of a good family. She was in the city hospital from August 28 to Sept. 10 of last year, suffering from hysteria.

Morrissey ten years ago was indicted for ballot-box stuffing, but was acquitted.

Don M. Roasts England.

The Loyal Legion banquet at the Russell house, Detroit, was one of the best meetings of that organization. The feature was the response of Hon. Don M. Dickinson to the toast "Our Veterans, Can They Hear a Bugle Call?" It was a hot philippic against Great Britain, with impassioned voice and impetuous eloquence he pointed to what he considered the menacing attitude of England toward this country. He made strong appeals for increased military and naval forces. A number of other splendid toasts included a pretty tribute to the women. Two masked road agents caught a stage load of San Franciscans near Calistoga, Cal., on their way to the summer resorts of Lake county and stripped them of their valuables. The robbers secured about $1,300 from the passengers and looted the Wells-Fargo treasury box as well, but how much they got from it is not known.

REVIEW OF TRADE.

Dun's says: The event of the past week was the demoralization of foreign exchange caused by enormous sales of bonds abroad. Besides a sale of $10,000,000 Manhattan and other railroad bonds through the syndicate, large purchases on foreign account have been recorded for some weeks, so that the aggregate probably exceeds $20,000,000 since the sale of government securities. Safety for the summer means much for all business and the syndicate deems it so fully assured that it distributes 40 per cent of the money advanced by the associates, which relieves a large amount to stimulate operations in securities and products. Crop prospects also have greatly improved and this is of still higher importance, as it will do much to determine the character and volume of all business after summer uncertainties are over. In addition, business is reviving, though the gain a great industry is retarded by many strikes. The industries were distinctly gaining when strikes began, which have spread quite widely. The failures the past week were 27 in the United States, against 205 last year.

Gen. Pleasanton, Rear Admiral Almy, Rep. Pitt and Gen. Coggswell, all of whom are ill at Washington, are reported better.

U. S. treasury officials are contemplating action to recover $28,000,000 deposited with 26 states in 1837. In 1836, congress had refused to extend the charter of the Bank of the United States, found the government in possession of about $50,000,000, for which it had no present need nor suitable place for safe-keeping. It therefore passed an act to distribute part of it among the states. An act of congress will be necessary to secure its return.

ONE MAN'S SUFFERING.

The Trials and Tribulations of a Battle Creek Citizen—How He Comes to Tell This Story. (From the Battle Creek Moon.)

Among the moulders at the works of the Michigan foundry company can be found Mr. Amos Maynard; he has lived in Battle Creek for over ten years, is honored and respected by all who know him; such is the man who makes this statement, he says: "I have had kidney trouble for years, and it has made my life miserable. The heavy lifting, necessary in my business, made me worse. I have been compelled to lie in bed in a helpless condition for as long as nine days at a time; the greatest pain was from my back, which sometimes felt as though a bayonet was being run through me in the region of my kidneys; many citizens of Battle Creek knew how bad I was. I could not move without the greatest caution, for as soon as I attempted to stoop over, bend to one side, or even turn in bed, the pain was simply unbearable. I wore porous plasters constantly for the little temporary relief they brought me. Whenever I caught the slightest cold it went straight to my kidneys and made me worse. I was advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills, and got some. I have taken in all four boxes of them, and I now feel as active as ever. A few months ago I would have ridiculed the idea of being cured so quickly, and being able to work as I can now. All the long-standing pains are gone, and the former traces of kidney disorders found in my urine have disappeared. I have recommended Doan's Kidney Pills to many friends who were troubled as I was, and in every case I have learned they proved as beneficial as with me. Doan's Kidney Pills will be cheap to me at almost any price."

RIGHT UP TO DATE.

What May Be Expected as a Result of the Trance Fad. Now that hypnotism is in the air, Punch says, our conversation books will have to be remodeled, as thus: Good morning. Have you hibernated well? Yes, I have had a most successful trance this winter. Have you laid up at all? Only a few days at Christmas, just to escape the bills. Well, you take my advice, old man, and rent a private catacomb on the three years' system. It comes much cheaper in the end, and you save all your coal and gas, to say nothing of clothes.

We've started a Nirvana club in our neighborhood on the tontine principle. The last person who wakes gets the prize, unless the first who comes to makes off with it. It is capital anyway when you are making a tour. Saves all the trouble of sight-seeing. You are just packed up and forwarded from place to place with an automatic kodak, which records everything you visited. Try it! Will, some day. By Jove, I must be off! I've got to attend an anesthetic concert, absolutely painless.

And I've got a mesmeric dinner party on to-night. All the bores will be put in glass cases and fed mechanically. Good bye, then. Sleep well!

A Terrible Visitant.

Pain is always a terrible visitant, and often domiciles itself with one for life. This infection is preventable, in cases of rheumatism, by a timely resort to Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which checks the encroachments of this obstinate and dangerous malady at the outset. The term "dangerous" is used advisedly, for rheumatism is always liable to attack the vital organs and terminate life. No testimony is more conclusive and concurrent than that of physicians who testify to the excellent effect of the Bitters in this disease. Persons incur a wetting in rainy or snowy weather, and who are exposed to draughts, should use the Bitters as a preventive of ill effects. Malaria, dyspepsia, liver and kidney trouble, nervousness and debility are also among the ailments to which this popular medicine is adopted. For the infirmities, soreness and stiffness of the age it is highly beneficial.

Many Shades of Brown.

In the early days of Montana, says an exchange, the name of Brown was so frequent occurrence that the old-timers distinguished them as follows: "Diamond R." Brown, "Hog" Brown, "Diamond R." Brown, "Log" Brown, "Snaggle Tooth" "Rocky Gap" Brown, "Whisky" Brown, "Dead" Brown. The appliance of names to individuals for some act performed was peculiar. In Choteau county there resided "Spring Heel" Jack, "Sweet Oil" Bob, "Summer House" Charley, "Four-Jack" Bob, "Slippery" Jim, "Bloody Knife," "Roley Poley" Bob, "Slick" Jim. The latter gentleman was an expert in appropriating horses not his own, for which offense he served a term at the stone fort above Winnipeg. A good story could be told of each of the others. Every man sported some kind of title—colonels, majors, captains, judges and doctors being plentiful.

A TRICK OF MEMORY

THE NAME THE DOCTOR COULD NOT RECALL.

For Forty Long Years He Vainly Searched His Brain for It—The Story That So Suddenly Lost Its Point—Principles of Psychology.

Rev. Cyrus Hamlin, who as a missionary resided for more than forty years in Turkey, and was the founder and first president of Robert College, in Constantinople, has collected a number of incidents connected with his residence in that country. Among them is one which has an interesting bearing on the question of memory, says the Washington Star.

It is a familiar contention among psychologists that an incident once thoroughly presented to the human mind cannot be effaced from memory. But for many years Dr. Hamlin thought he had proof of an exception to this law. After he graduated from the theological seminary and had decided to devote his life to missionary work he visited Philadelphia on business connected with his work, and while there was introduced to a gentleman, who being much interested in missions, generously rendered Mr. Hamlin financial assistance, which enabled him to carry on his work to better advantage than he could otherwise have done.

It was 30 years before he again visited America, during which time he had married and a family of children had grown up around him. None of these having ever visited the father's native land, they were naturally curious to learn all he could tell them of this country, and were, of course, especially interested in incidents connected with his own life. Among other stories he often related the one concerning his patron, but curiously enough he found it impossible to recall the gentleman's name. Every incident connected with their interviews, even to the street and number of the house in which he had lived, was as plain to him as if it had been but yesterday that the events occurred, but to save his life he could not think of the gentleman's name. As time went on this lapse of memory became so persistent as to cause him considerable annoyance, and he adopted all sorts of expedients to bring back the name. He would take the letters of the alphabet one at a time, and think over all the surnames he had ever heard, but to no avail. Then, in his imagination, he would start down the street where his friend had lived, enter his house, go through with the ceremony of introduction, and repeat word for word, as nearly as he could remember, the conversation which had taken place between them, but still he could not recall the name.

When after thirty years he returned to his native land on a visit, he took the trouble to go to Philadelphia, in order to settle the question which had been puzzling him for so long. He visited the house, but found only strangers, who could tell him nothing of the people who lived there so many years before. So, finally, Dr. Hamlin abandoned the search, thinking that here at last was a case where something had been thoroughly presented to the human mind and as thoroughly effaced.

One night, when he had returned permanently to this country, he attended a large dinner, where were present several distinguished psychologists. During the evening the conversation turned upon the subject of memory, and the well known scientific principle was discussed. This was too good an opportunity to be lost, and Dr. Hamlin proceeded to relate his experience at length as an example of the opposite view, namely, that incidents could be thoroughly effaced from memory. He was, of course, listened to with great interest, and as he approached the end of his story, he said with great impressiveness: "Gentlemen, there is an incident presented to my mind more than forty years ago, and I have not been able to think of the name of Capt. Robinson from that day to this."

When the climax was greeted by a hearty burst of laughter, the worthy doctor looked around in great astonishment, for he thought he had told a pretty good story, and could see nothing to provoke mirth. It was some time before he saw that it had been "condemned out of his own mouth."

Rev. Wm. Stout, Wlarton, Ont., was completely cured of scrofula after seventeen physicians had failed to give him relief. Burdock Blood Bitters did it.

What the Chicken Picked Up. Colonel W. D. Bettis, of Orange, Tex., has a valuable opal about the size of a grain of peaberry coffee, that he wears in a scarf-pin. Yesterday he called up a pet chicken and took it in one hand while he allowed it to pick some grains of corn from his other hand. The chicken soon swallowed the half dozen grains that were held out to it, and looking about for more spied the opal and struck it, but did not quite dislodge it from the setting. As quick as a flash the bird made another and more successful grab at the stone, tearing it out and swallowing it. The chicken was a great pet in the family, but opals cost more than chickens. A council of war was called, and it was decided that the opal must be found even at the cost of a life, so about two hours later the chicken was executed, and the opal discovered lodged in its gizzard.

A Cold Winter. In 1433 the Thames and all other rivers of England and Scotland froze over. The Seine, Rhine, and Danube were closed to navigation early in December. The Dardanelles and Hellespont froze, as did many bays and inlets of the Mediterranean. Ice formed in Algiers and the strait of Gibraltar was almost impassable from drift ice.

A Slight Offense.

An English tourist arrived in an Irish town, where a man was about to be hanged for shooting his landlord. Ignorant of the cause of the gathering he questioned one of the peasants. Englishman—What is going on today, my man? Peasant—They're goin' t' hang a man, sor. Englishman—What is he to be hanged for? Peasant—Just for a bit uv a joke, sor.

Englishman—Hang a man for a joke? Absurd. What did he do? Peasant—He just made game uv his landlord, sor.—Life.

Usually a hunter hangs to kill something. Jinks is a great hunter, but he never kills anything. Recently while out hunting, a rabbit sprang up near the corner of a fence. Instead of firing he merely raised his hat. "What do you mean by taking off your hat instead of shooting at him?" asked his companion. "You see, I've shot at that rabbit so often and missed him that we are old acquaintances," replied Jinks.

PAUL JONES' CAREER.

HE WAS THE FIRST TO HOIST THE AMERICAN FLAG.

He Had a Peculiarly Fascinating Way with Sailors—A Tireless Letter-Writer and an Inditer of Verses to Women—A Noble Commander.

Miss Molly Elliot Seawell has a sketch of John Paul Jones in the Century in which she brings out many new facts concerning the great American naval commander. Concerning his early career, before the capture of the Serapis, Miss Seawell writes: On December 28, 1775, was made the beginning of the American navy; and from this point the true history of Paul Jones begins. He was 28 years old, of the middle height, his figure slight, but graceful, and of "a dashing and officer-like appearance." His complexion was dark and weather-beaten; his black eyes were expressive, but melancholy. His manners were easy and dignified with the great, but he was without doubt fascinating to women. He often fancied himself in love, and, like Washington, sometimes even wrote bad verses to ladies; but it is unlikely that any woman ever had the real mastery of his heart. He was deterred by the greatness of "the Fair," as he called them when they pleased him, and made love to very great ladies quite as boldly as when with the wretched Bon Homme Richard he laid aboard the stout Serapis. He had a peculiarly persuasive way with sailors as with women; and if he wished to enlist a sailor would walk up and down the pier with him by the hour, and he never failed to get his man. He was a tireless letter writer, and when Paul Jones wrote as Paul Jones nothing could exceed the force and simplicity of his style. But he was subject to attacks of the literary devil, and his productions then were intolerably fine. He wrote and spoke French respectably, and his handwriting, grammar and spelling are all much above the average of his day. His first duty was as first lieutenant of the Alfred, Commodore Hopkin's flagship. On this vessel he hoisted for the first time the original flag of the revolution—the rattlesnake flag. In a letter to Robert Morris in 1783 Paul Jones says: "It was my fortune, as the senior of the first lieutenants, to hoist, myself, the Flag of America (I choose to do it with my own hands) the first time it was displayed. Though this was but a light circumstance, yet, I feel for it's honor more than I think I could have felt had it not so happened." The services he was rendered in under Commodore Hopkin were far from brilliant. The commodore had a strong disinclination to go "in harm's way"—to use a favorite expression of Paul Jones—and within a year was dismissed the navy. Paul Jones' first command was little sloop of war, the Providence; and from a memorandum among his papers, in the handwriting of the secretary of the congress, we learn that his uniform was: "blue cloth with red lapels, slash cuffs, stand up collar, flat yellow buttons; blue breeches, red waistcoat with narrow lace." The uniform for the junior officers was also prescribed, and all were commanded to wear "blue breeches." The marine officers, however, were to wear "breeches edged with green, black gaiters and garters." Paul Jones' conduct during the cruise he made in the Providence, and afterward in command of a small squadron in 1776, won him great credit, especially with Washington. His employment with the conveying of men and stores from Rhode Island to Washington at New York. Long Island sound swarmed with the cruisers of Lord Howe's fleet, and Paul Jones' address in eluding them, especially the Cerberus frigate, which tracked him for weeks like a bloodhound, marked him as a man of great enterprise. His next cruise with a little squadron maintained his reputation, and from that on the requests of officers who wished to serve under him were frequent. Paul Jones' replies to these are quaint reading. He always protests a disinclination to "entice" officers away from other commanders, but never fails to note the good points of his own ship, and to give a forecast of his daring schemes very captivating to an ambitious young officer. There was great confusion in the tables of rank first adopted in the navy, and these proceeded in grievance that Paul Jones never ceased to protest against bitterly, until in 1781, many years afterward, he became, by the unanimous election of congress, the ranking officer of the American navy. By the personal carelessness of President Hancock, Paul Jones' original commission as captain—the first commission granted under "the United States"—was lost. When a new one was given him, he found, to his natural indignation, that thirteen of his juniors were ahead of him on the list of captains. How infuriating this was to a man as greedy of distinction as Paul Jones, may be imagined. He always spelled rank with a capital, and wrote it as "Rank, which opens the door to glory." He swore he would never serve under any of the men thus unjustly given precedence of him. Congress, while negligent in doing him justice, was wise enough, nevertheless, to give him always a separate command. It was determined to send him to Europe in the Ranger to lead him to Europe in the Ranger to lead him to Europe to give him the finest command then at the disposal of the congress. This was a splendid frigate—the Indian—building at Amsterdam.

WHAT A MOTHER SAYS

Of Dr. Hartman's Famous Family Remedy—A Spring Tonic.

Mrs. Hannah Lind, 1132 East Long street, Columbus, Ohio, is one of the many enthusiastic advocates of Pe-ru-na. She says: "For many years I was subject to nervousness, despondency, and neuralgia, for which doctors and remedies seemed of no use. At last I was persuaded to try Pe-ru-na. I found it to be exactly the remedy I had long been in search of. It relieves the tired, depressed feeling felt in spring-time at once. It never fails to restore to the natural appetite and the best of sleep. It has cured permanently my old despondency and neuralgia, and I wonder why so many people continue to suffer through spring and early summer, when Pe-ru-na is such a prompt and perfect relief. As a family medicine I believe pe-ru-na to have no equal." It relieves at once cramps, colic, prostration from heat, the ill effects of sudden checking of perspiration, and all other bad effects of hot weather. As a remedy for nervous prostration it has no equal, and the thousands of men and women of this generation who "have nerves" find it a priceless remedy.

MAKING CANDY.

A Formula Which Will Greatly Aid Feminine Amateurs.

Feminine amateurs, who find it difficult in boiling sugar for making candy to fix the exact amount of its fitness for the purpose, will be aided by the following formula, condensed from a French source: Sugar in the process of boiling is susceptible of eleven changes, according to the degree of heat to which it is subjected. The first is "snake thread," when, by dropping the finger and thumb into cold water and then into the boiling sugar, a fine thread forms between the two, and may be drawn out a little, when it breaks. This comes at a temperature of 215 deg. Fahrenheit. Large thread is when the thread reaches further without breaking—217 deg. "The pearl," when the fingers may be stretched still further without breaking the thread, 220 deg.; "Great pearl," when the thread may be stretched to the utmost limit of the two fingers without breaking, 225 deg. "The blow," when taking up some of the boiling sugar in a skimmer, and blowing it through the holes it forms small bubbles, 230 deg. "Large blow," when the bubbles increase widely in size and number, 234 deg. "Small ball," when in dipping the fingers into cold water, and then into boiling sugar, and back again into the water, the sugar can be rolled between the fingers until it forms a ball, 237 deg. "Large ball," when the sugar has boiled longer and the ball becomes harder and larger, 247 deg. "Small crack," when the sugar is taken up between the fingers and bitten apart with a light crack or when flies stick to the teeth, 290 deg. "Great crack," when it breaks between the fingers with a sharp crack and bites clean and crisp, 310 deg. Caramel, the eleventh and last product, comes of a temperature of 350 deg. The lower degrees of heat are employed in the making of soft candies; the higher in the making of the crisp sorts.

THE CZAR'S SWEETHEART.

The Mystery of a Beautiful and Devoted Woman.

The Polish dancer who was brought into world-wide prominence through the devotion to her of the Czar Nicholas II. of Russia has not long survived her dethronement, her death being now reported. She is described as very beautiful and captivating, having the admiration of all Poland, besides holding the affection of her imperial lover. She entered the corps de ballet at Warsaw when only 17, and two years later met the czarewitsch. The interest was prompt and mutual, and quickly became most ardent affection. The liaison was hidden for several years, but at last came to the knowledge of the late czar, who was frightened when he tested the depth of his son's devotion to the danseuse. To weaken it, he kept Nicholas traveling in distant lands as much as possible, with, however, little effect. Only those who were actors in the imperial crisis will ever know how very near this queen of the ballet came to winning against England, Germany and Russia combined. The czar's wedding and coronation were her death warrant, figuratively and literally, as she has dropped from that time, and now the grave has closed over her, while another states that she is cutting a wide swath in Paris.

OBST. NATE SENECA LAKE.

Frozen Over in Warm Weather and No Ice When It Is Cold.

Seneca differs from nearly all of its many sister lakes in this section of the state in the matter of its seldom freezing over, says the Rochester Democrat and Chronicle. This is due to the great depth of the lake and the fact that it is fed largely by springs along its shores, and, as many believe, at its bottom. During the summer season the lake absorbs a vast amount of heat, but, owing to the non-conducting properties of water it is slow in throwing it off in the winter. For this reason, on many cold winter mornings the lake's surface is covered with vapor, which indicates that the water is warmer than the atmosphere. This vapor is always densest over the deepest portions of the lake, showing that the water along the shores in the shallower parts has, to some extent, become colder. As the surface of the lake cools the water gradually commingles with that below, and finally a whole body of the lake becomes cooled. In addition, a heavy body of snow melting in the spring and flowing into the lake, especially in case of a freshet, tends to cool the water and render the lake liable to freezing if the surface is not too much disturbed by wind. For these reasons the lake sometimes freezes over very late in the spring, even when the temperature is from 15 degrees to 25 degrees above zero; as, for instance, a thin film of ice covered the lake's surface on the mornings of May 5, 1861, May 15, 1872, May 5, 1873, and April 26, 1884. On many mornings during the last month and a half the mercury has been down to zero or below, and at Monterey one day last week the thermometer registered 30 degrees below zero, yet the lake has not sufficiently cooled to freeze over, for no snow water has run into it this season. In a description of Seneca lake Appleton's cyclopedia states that it was never known to be frozen over until March 22, 1856, but, according to a published statement of the late Hon. William C. Coon Burdett, he and a party of about twenty skated across the lake from Glen Eldridge to Watkins and back on the morning of Feb. 28, 1855. The ice was then five inches thick in the middle of the lake and was clear and solid. On March 3, 1868, the lake again froze over, and in 1875 for a period of four weeks and two days prior to March 14 it was frozen over so that persons could cross it many miles from the head. On Feb. 21, 1885, it froze over from shore to shore out as far as the eye could reach and four days later a grand carnival was held on the ice in the evening. About 1,000 persons assembled, coming from Elmira and other places by train and from all the surrounding country in sleighs. The moon, nearly full, rode high in a cloudless sky and the scene was one of a most inspiring nature. Chinese lanterns and torchlights lent their charm to the surroundings, while the glare of rockets and bombs lighted up the sky. Harding's Cornet band of Havana was present and dancing and skating were among the sports enjoyed. Jan. 15, 1893, an unusually early date, the head of the lake froze over from shore to shore, out a distance of about twenty rods, but the ice lasted only a few days. By observation many people have come to expect the lake to freeze over once in every ten years, and, according to such a series, it should freeze this winter, for by reference to the dates mentioned above it will be seen that it froze over in 1855, in 1868, in 1875 and in 1885.

The fact that Hood's Sarsaparilla, once fairly tried, becomes the favorite medicine, speaks volumes for its excellence and merit.

Would Do His Best.

The father gazed thoughtfully into the glowing grate.

"I doubt," he sneered, "if you are able to keep my daughter in clothes."

But the lover was full of courage.

"Of course," he rejoined, "I realize it is hard to keep any woman in clothes if she has handsome shoulders, but I am ready to try, sir."

Besides, there was reason to suspect that fashion would ultimately react from the extremely low neck.—Detroit Tribune.

Pitcher's Castoria.
Children Cry for

A Tree Growing in a Sewer.

A curious evergreen tree was found growing in a Detroit sewer near where a manhole lets in a little light. The body around the roots is two feet in diameter, and the length of the tree above the roots is five feet. The roots were in a connection to the public sewer, and had forced themselves through a joint into the surrounding earth. The young tree had grown from the connection into the main sewer, and had clogged the smaller sewer up. A rich soil had formed around the roots which, with the warmth of the sewer, had forced the growth of the young tree.

MARQUIS OF QUEENSBERRY.

Author of Pugnistic Rules and Prosecutor of Oscar Wilde.

The prominence given the Marquis of Queensberry in the Oscar Wilde case will be interesting in the sporting world. He is one of the characters of Great Britain. Known among pugilists as the author of the Marquis of Queensberry rules, his name is familiar to all ring followers. These rules were in vogue in the days when Tom Allen, Joe Goss and Jim Mace were the great English fighters. John L. Sullivan was the first to make them popular in America. Few people know that, among other titles to fame possessed by the pugnacious Marquis of Queensberry, is that of being a poet, and one, too, of no mean order. He published a volume of really good poems in 1880 and perhaps the best one of all is that entitled "The Spirit of the Matterhorn," the beginning and conclusion of which contain lines of singular merit, delicacy and spirit. Lord Queensberry was likewise formerly on the turf and his racing colors were green, with salmon sleeves. Perhaps the best-known episode of his career was his interruption of Tennyson's successful play, "The Promise of May," at the Globe theater. The villain of the piece is an agnostic and throughout the drama is held up to ridicule and obloquy. Lord Queensberry, who was at the time an enthusiastic, resented this insult to what he considered to be his creed and accordingly on the fourth night of the performance rose from his seat in the orchestra stalls and exclaimed in a loud tone:

"I am an agnostic and I strongly protest against Mr. Tennyson's gross caricature of our creed."

Great excitement ensued among the audience which continued until the marquis had left the house, escorted by a policeman.

A "HOODOOED" TRAIN.

New York Central Men Railroad Shy of It—Sure to Meet with Some Bad Luck.

There is not a railway man on the New York Central who runs on freight trains that does not believe that the through freight known as A. S. No. 1, is a "hoodooed" train. The train runs from Albany to Suspension Bridge, and in the past few years has met with many accidents. Saturday morning the "hoodooed" train left Syracuse on time. Charles Detsel, a brakeman, who has been running on the road for the past five years, was assigned to make the run as forward brakeman. Detsel did not wish to take the run, saying to his companions that the train was "hoodooed," and that he believed he would meet with some bad luck. Everything went right until the train reached Coles' bridge, between Lock Berlin and Lyons. A brakeman on a westbound local that followed saw Detsel lying in the ditch at one side of the track, and the train was stopped and the injured man taken to Lyons. The entire scalp was torn off his head and he is in a dying condition. It was this train upon which Conductor Gowan was killed at Adams Basin Wednesday of last week. His death was caused in a similar manner. Conductor Orr met his death last summer on this train, and it is a fact that the "hoodooed" train met with five accidents on five consecutive days about a year ago.

The Record of a Frenchman Who Just Died in His Seventy-Third Year.

The Paris newspapers tell of a peculiar old man who died at Vienna early in March in his 73d year. They call him the most exact man of whom there is record. From his 27th year he kept accurate account of all he bought and what he paid for it. A few days before his death he made up his books to show just what eating, drinking and wearing clothes had cost him during his last fifty-six years. The total shows that in this period he wore out eighty-five pairs of trousers and seventy-four coats and vests, for which he paid $8,000. He had bought 208 shirts and 306 collars, valued at $300. His omnibus fare was $208. In the twenty-seven years of his convivial life he consumed 28,788 glasses of beer. He gave up drinking in his 54th year, but he continued to smoke constantly even during his last sickness, raising the number of his cigars to 628,713 or an average of 11,217 a year. Of the whole number some 43,500 were given him; he bought the rest for $12,500, or 2 cents each. The exact old man took most pride in his socks, which were of the best silk and most expensive make, costing usually $4.50 a pair. He wore out but sixty-two pairs between his twenty-seventh and seventy-third years, or hardly more than a pair a year.

Political Conditions of American Women.

The women of Wyoming have full suffrage and municipal suffrage is granted women in Kansas. In twenty-eight more states they have a right to vote upon school matters, and there are at least twenty-nine out of a total of forty-eight states where women enjoy some form of suffrage. The political conditions of American woman today may be briefly summed up thus: While she is not yet admitted to the full exercise of political rights except in Wyoming, she possesses very generally some right to vote on local matters and to hold many executive offices; she in all walks of life is considered nearly, if not entirely, the equal of man, and in many cases his superior. She is on a par with him in respect to freedom to labor and earn money; she may vote, hold office, do business, enter upon any profession as the social equal of man, enjoying respectful consideration and is a good wife and housekeeper, and a most devoted mother, in spite of all her outside avocations.
