WHOLE NO. 1065

AN ATTEMPT

TO REMOVE CLARK FROM THE BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS.

The Mayor Thinks That Clark Should Go.—No He Writes A Message Removing Him.—He Asks the Council to Concur.—Will It Do So?—A Communication From A Number of Prominent Citizens.—They Believe the Present Board Alright.—The Council Lays the Mayor's Message on the Table.—The Mayor Proposes a New Plan For a Board.

There was a full council present last Monday night. There was nothing in the general atmosphere to indicate that anything unusual was likely to occur. It did occur, however, when the clerk read a communication from his honor, the mayor, as follows:

Gentlemen:—Believing it my duty as mayor, is to do that which in my judgment is for the best interest of our city, and believing as I do, that, although the charges against A. M. Clark, Pres. of the board of public works for "Misconduct in Office" were on investigation before this council not sustained by a majority vote, but being lost on a tie, it is not such vindication as your honorable body and citizens of Ann Arbor have a right to demand, and will certainly not give confidence in the accused. I do therefore, by virtue of the power vested in me by section 84 of the charter of the city of Ann Arbor, with the consent of the common council, remove A. M. Clark from the board of public works.

W. E. WALKER, Mayor.

Unusual as such a proceeding was, no great surprise was shown. The President asked what should be done with the Mayor's message. There was a silence for a few moments, each seeming to wonder who was to be the mayor's spokesman on the council to take the lead in placing that body in line with the mayor's views. No one said a word until finally Ald. Brown moved that the communication be laid on the table. This was seconded and the motion carried with only four dissenting votes. Just how long this communication will lie on the table is a question, and information as to what will be the tactics of enemies of Mr. Clark to swing the council into line is awaited with interest. That the claim which it is said the mayor had made that he could find no suitable person who would accept a position on the board of public works as at present constituted is absurd is shown by the following communication from a number of our very best citizens representing both parties. It rather knocks the claim of the mayor into a "cocked hat." It is as follows:

ANN ARBOR, MAY 16, 1895.
Hon. Warren E. Walker, Mayor of Ann Arbor:

Dear Sir:—The statement having been made in one of the newspapers of the city that for certain reasons you are unable to find anyone that will accept the appointment as a member of the board of public works. We, the undersigned citizens of the city of Ann Arbor, beg to inform you that any one of our number will accept the aforementioned appointment and to the best of our ability discharge the duties of the office.

Yours very respectfully,
Moses Seabolt, George Wahr, W.D. Harriman, W. D. Adams, G. F. Allmendinger, Ambrose Kearney, Henry S. Dean, Ottmar Eberbach, Edward Duffy, J. Laubengayer.

The mayor also sent in the following message to the council. Having removed Mr. Clark—because his appointments would not vote for him in the recent investigation, he now wants to get rid of Mr. Bullis against whom no charges were preferred. This is his scheme to accomplish his ends. Here is what he says:

Gentlemen:—I will also suggest to your honorable body to immediately investigate the feasibility and advisability of reorganizing the board of public works. The board to consist of one taxpayer elector from each ward, whose duty shall be to look after the interest of his ward. There shall also be one appointed from the city at large who shall be the chairman of the board and shall exercise the same functions in the board as does the president of the common council—but he shall have no vote only in case of a tie. All members of said board shall be appointed by the mayor with the approval of the common council and may be removed by the same authority. All members representing wards of even number as 2nd, 4th, 6th, and also the member at large will be appointed on years of even date and all representing wards of odd number on years of odd date, all to hold office until their successors shall have been duly appointed and qualified.

It seems to be the general opinion of both democrats and republicans that the scheme to reorganize the board is a mere pretense to induce the council to agree to the removal of Mr. Clark. The proposed plan is one so full of objections that we have, so far, not found a single man who favors it.

Later.—The Mayor called a meeting of the council last evening to have it take action on the proposed reorganization of the board of public works. A vote showed two-thirds of the council opposed to any change. Thus ends another fiasco.

NOW WE WILL HAVE THEM.

A Road Roller and a Stone Crusher to be Bought.

The council surprised itself last Monday night, after listening to the talks of representatives of different manufacturers of road rollers and stone crushers, by deciding to order the street committee to secure bids and purchase a steam road roller and stone crusher. It is estimated that these two machines will cost in the neighborhood of $4,500. This will all have to be paid out of the street, crosswalk and culvert fund as the council has no power to contract for more than it can pay for out of the funds for the year for which it is elected. This will necessitate a curtailing of the expenses out of these funds. It is claimed that by the use of a stone crusher and roller the saving will be sufficient in two years to pay for these machines. The council voted unanimously in favor of the resolution so that it is not at all likely that any change of front will be made. We may now hope to soon see some street work in the city that is not in danger of being ruined by every little shower of rain that occurs.

A GREAT EVENT.

THE MAY FESTIVAL A BRILLIANT SUCCESS.

Immense Audience at all Four of the Concerts.—All the Musicians at their Best.—More Visitors From Out of the City than Ever Before.—The Festival A Financial as Well as a Musical Success.

Great preparations were made by the promoters of the May Festival to make it one of the great musical events of the year. That they surpassed even their own most sanguine expectations so far as the attendance and enthusiasm is concerned is evident. The very first of the concerts drew out an immense audience, and each succeeding one was attended by a still larger number. Saturday night when the "Damnation of Faust" was given, hundreds, many of whom had come from distant parts of the state and from adjoining states, were unable even to gain admission to the hall, every square foot of standing room being crowded to its utmost capacity. It is estimated that there were at least eight hundred who were unable to gain admission to the hall. The hall will seat about three thousand people. On Saturday night there must have been at the least fully four thousand people crowded into it. We shall not attempt to make any critical comments upon the music rendered. It is enough to say that so far as we have been able to learn, not one among the thousands who attended, hundreds of whom were fine musical critics, has anything but the highest praise for the entire program, excepting the singing of Madame Nordica which was decidedly disappointing. Some criticism has been expressed upon the management for selling more tickets than it was possible to accommodate in the hall. If such was actually done it was a mistake, and, if possible to get at the matter justly, those who bought tickets and then could not get into the hall should have their money returned to them. It should be borne in mind, however, that in handling crowds so much larger than was expected it could not be otherwise, in the rush than that a miscalculation might easily have been made as to the number who could find standing room. Those who have never had anything to do in handling affairs on such occasions can have no idea of the difficulties that must be contended with. Upon the whole, the arrangements were well carried out and the Festival was a success long to be remembered by all who were able to attend.

EXPELLED.

NORMAN M. CAMERON GIVEN HIS WALKING PAPERS.

He Was a Senior Law—Also the Correspondent of The Evening News—He Told Stories Out of School—Medical Professors Object to the Sausage Sensation—They Ask His Expulsion The Law Faculty at Once Fire Him on General Principles

Quite a sensation has been stirred up by the expulsion from the law department last Thursday night of Young Cameron, a senior in that department. Cameron is the local correspondent for the News and has frequently sent in articles to his paper that were colored in a highly sensational way. It seems he had been warned by the dean of the law school. A few weeks ago the famous story about the medical student being fooled into eating a human sausage was sent to the News by Cameron. This greatly incensed a number of the medical faculty. A week ago last Monday night the University Senate passed a rule that student reporters sending in false reports or ones injurious to the institution should be liable to expulsion by the faculty of their department. The medical men who were so indignant at the sausage story, at once urged the law faculty to expell Cameron, and they proceeded to do so last Thursday night—on general principles, so we have been told. The affair has caused a great deal of feeling, some taking Cameron's side and declaring the action of the law faculty unjust and others defending the expulsion declaring that the action should have been taken long ago.

Liberal Christian Convention.

The convention of Unitarian, Universalist and Independent Societies which is to be held in Ann Arbor next week, will convene in the Unitarian church on Tuesday the 28th, at 2 p. m., and last through Tuesday and Wednesday, night and evening. TUESDAY.
2 p. m.—Paper, "A Religion to Bridge the Chasm Between the Rich and the Poor," Rev. A. G. Jennings, Toledo.
3 p. m.—"Woman's Work in Churches." Addresses by Rev. Olivia Carpenter, of Saginaw, and Mrs. Eliza R. Sunderland.
4 p. m.—"Young People's Organization and Work." Addresses by Rev. Florence Buck, of Cleveland, Ohio, and others.
7:30 p. m.—"A Religion for To-day." Addresses by Rev. T. B. Forbush, of Chicago, Rev. Geo. W. Buckley, of Sturgis, and Mr. G. B. Stebbins, of Detroit.

WEDNESDAY.

9:15 a. m.—Devotional meeting.
10 a. m.—"What is the Best Religious Literature?" A Symposium lead by Rev. W. A. Taylor, of Jackson.
11 a. m.—"The Future of the Liberal Churches." Rev. Charles Legal, of Lansing.
2 p. m.—Paper by Rev. Reed Stuart, Detroit.
3 p. m.—Address, "Sanitation and Public Health." Dr. V. C. Vaughan.
4 p. m.—Paper, "Assyriology and the Bible." Prof. James A. Craig.
7:30 p. m.—"The Salvation of the Individual and of Society." Addresses by Rev. Geo. A. Sohlin, Benton Harbor, Rev. T. W. Illman, Grand Rapids, Rev. C. E. Tucker, Bay City, and Rev. Lee S. McColister, Detroit. The public is invited.

The bank's bid for the city money made to the council Monday night were as follows: Ann Arbor Savings Bank, daily balances, 4.35 per cent.; Overdrafts, 4.35 per cent.; State Savings Bank, daily balances, 4.95 per cent.; overdrafts, 5 per cent.; Farmers and Mechanics Bank, daily balances, 4.65 per cent.; overdrafts, 4.35 per cent.

Regent Barbour is reported to have said that he had a friend who is willing to give $1,000, provided the corner stone of the co-eds' gymnasium is laid on commencement day.

LAW CAN NOT STAND.

SUPREME COURT'S OPINION ON INCOME TAX.

The Measure Declared to Be Unconstitutional—Justices Jackson, Harlan,
Brown and White Favor the Act—
Justice Fuller Is Against It.

Washington, D. C., May 21.—The supreme court of the United States declared the income tax law to be unconstitutional.

The vote on the income tax resulted:
Five against the constitutionality of the law to four for the law. Those against the law were Chief Justice Fuller and Justices Field, Gray, Brewer and Shir-
as; for the law, Justices Harlan, White, Brown and Jackson.

Chief Justice Fuller read the opinion
and the conclusions of the court are as follows:

"1. We adhere to the opinion already announced that taxes on real estate be-

JUSTICE FULLER.

ing indisputably direct taxes, taxes on the rents or income of real estate are equally direct taxes.

"2. We are of the opinion that taxes on personal property or on the income of personal property are likewise direct taxes.

"3. The tax imposed by sections 27 to 37 inclusive, of the act of 1894, so far as it falls on the income of real estate and on personal property, being a direct tax within the meaning of the constitution, is therefore unconstitutional and void, because not apportioned according to representation, all those sections constituting one entire scheme of taxation are necessarily invalid.

"The decrees hereinbefore entered in this court will be vacated. The decrees below will be reversed and the cases remanded with instructions to grant the relief prayed for."

Sections 27 to 37 of the tariff act of 1894 referred to in the conclusions of the court in the opinions are all the sections of the act relating to the income tax, so that the entire income tax law is declared void specifically.

There was the usual throng of people about the United States supreme court room in anticipation of a final decision of the income tax cases, the chamber being crowded for quite a time before the court convened at noon. While there were other cases under consideration in the conference, the income tax cases received the principal share of the attention of the members of the court. The presence of Justice Jackson caused a great deal of speculation and was the basis for some sort of surprise for the public. The chief justice immediately began the delivery of the main opinion in the case.

Chief Justice Fuller delivered the opinion, which is in part as follows:

"Whenever this court is required to pass upon the validity of an act of con-

MR. JUSTICE JACKSON.

gress as tested by the fundamental law enacted by the people the duty imposed demands in its discharge the utmost deliberation and care and invokes the deepest sense of responsibility. And this is especially so when the question involves the exercise of a great governmental power and brings into consideration, as vitally affected by the decision, that complex system of government, so sagaciously framed to secure and perpetuate an indestructible union, composed of indestructible states."

"As heretofore stated, the constitution divided federal taxation into two great classes, the class of direct taxes and the class of duties, imposts and excises, and prescribed two rules which qualified the grant of power as to each class. The power to lay direct taxes, apportioned to their representation in the popular branch of congress, a representation based on population as ascertained by the census, was plenary and absolute, but to lay direct taxes without apportionment was forbidden.
The power to lay duties, imposts and excises was subject to the qualification that the imposition must be uniform throughout the United States.

"Our previous decision was confined to the consideration of the validity of the tax on the income from real estate and on the income from municipal bonds. The question thus limited was whether such taxation was direct or not, in the meaning of the constitution, and the court went no farther as to the tax on the incomes from real estate
than to hold that it fell within the same class as the source whence the income was derived—that is, that a tax upon the reality and a tax upon the receipts therefrom were alike direct; while as to the income from municipal bonds, that could not be taxed, because of
want of power to tax the source and no reference was made to the nature of the tax as being direct or indirect.

"We are now permitted to broaden the field of inquiry and determine to which of the two great classes, a tax upon a person's entire income, whether derived from rents or products or otherwise of real estate, or from bonds, stocks or other forms of personal property, belongs, and we are unable to conclude that the enforced subtraction

from the yield of all the owners' real or personal property, in the manner prescribed, is so different from a tax upon the property itself, that it is not a direct but an indirect tax in the meaning of the constitution.

"We know of no reason for holding otherwise than that the words 'direct taxes' on the one hand, and 'duties, imposts and excises' on the other were used in the constitution in their natural and obvious senses, nor in arriving at what those terms embrace do we perceive any ground for enlarging them beyond or narrowing them within their natural and obvious import, and the time the constitution was framed and ratified. Passing from the text, we regard the conclusion reached as inevitable, when the circumstances which surrounded the convention and controlled its action and the views of those who framed and those who adopted the constitution are considered."

The chief justice next discussed the reasons for the constitutional provisions regarding direct taxation. The states had plenary powers of taxation,
he said, but gave up the great sources of revenue derived from commerce and retained the power of levying taxes and duties covering anything other than ex-cises, but in respect to them the range of taxation was narrowed by the power granted to the federal government over interstate commerce. While they granted the power of apportioning direct taxation they secured to the states the opportunity to pay the amount apportioned and to recoup from their own citizens in the most feasible way. The founders anticipated that the expenses of the federal government would chiefly be met by indirect taxation. They knew that the power to tax involved the power to destroy.

The opinion continued. "It is said that a tax on the whole income of property is not a direct tax, but a duty. We do not think so. Direct taxation was not restricted in one breath and the restriction blown to the winds in another." The Federalist was then quoted from to show that Hamilton considered all internal taxes, except duties and excises on articles of consumption, to be direct taxes. The opinion next took up the argument that a tax on property is not a direct tax within the meaning of the constitution, and on this point it says:
"The constitution prohibits any direct

JUSTICE BROWN.

tax unless in proportion in numbers as ascertained by the census; and in the light of the circumstances to which we have referred, is it not an evasion of that prohibition to hold that a general unapportioned tax imposed upon all property-owners as a body for or in respect of their property is not direct in the meaning of the constitution, because confined to the income therefrom? Nor can we conceive any ground why the same reasoning does not apply to capital in personality for the purpose of income or ordinarily yielding income, and to the income therefrom. All the real estate of the country and all its invested personal property are open to the direct operation of the taxing power if an apportionment be made according to the constitution. The constitution does not say that no direct tax shall be laid by apportionment on any property than land. On the contrary, it forbids all unapportioned direct taxes; and we know of no warrant for excepting personal property from the exercise of the power, or any reason why an apportioned direct tax cannot be laid and assessed, as Mr. Gallatin said in his report when secretary of the treasury in 1812,
"upon the same objects of taxation on which the direct taxes levied under the authority of the state are laid and assessed."

The stress of argument is thrown,
however, on the assertion that an income tax is not a property tax at all;
that it is not a real estate tax nor a crop tax nor a bond tax; that it is an assessment upon the taxpayer on account of his money-spending power, as shown by his revenue for the year preceding the assessment; that rents received, crops harvested, interest collected, although once not taxable, have become transmuted in their near form into taxable matter; in other words, that income is taxable irrespective of the source from whence it is derived."

For the Eradication of Weeds.

Washington, May 21.—The direct loss in crops, the damage to machinery and stock and the decrease in the value of land due to weeds in this country amounts to tens of millions of dollars a year, according to the estimate of Botanist F. V. Colville of the agricultural department. The statement is made in a bulletin of the department, which says the loss is sustained almost wholly by the farmers. The bulletin embodies a number of important directions for weed eradication and urges that these methods be incorporated in the system of practical farming.

To Unify Indian Work.

Washington, May 21.—The Indian bureau is preparing programs for three institutes for Indian school employes to be held in the west during the summer. The first will be at Sioux City, Iowa, from July 1 to 6; the second at Tacoma, Wash., from July 21 to 27;
and the last at El Reno, O. T., from Aug. 5 to 10. The object of the institutes is to unify Indian work and evolve a definite policy for use over the entire country.

Smallpox Is Epidemic.

Staunton, Va., May 21.—The latest report from the infected smallpox district shows an increase of four new cases, raising the total of afflicted persons to fifty-eight. No services were held in any of the churches Sunday night.

20 YEARS AGO

a discovery of the greatest possible benefit to mankind was made in medicine. Physicians universally recognized its beneficent results and welcomed it as one of the most valuable remedial agents that has been developed in medicine, because it covered such a wide range of usefulness and brought into requisition the most remarkable food-medicine in existence. This discovery was

Scott's Emulsion

and this wonderful nutrient was Cod-liver Oil, but until it was made available in Scott's Emulsion it was almost useless, but by their process of emulsifying it and making it palatable and easy of assimilation, and adding to it the Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda, they have given the world a remarkable curative agent in all wasting diseases, both in children and adults.

THE HAMMOCK INVALID FOLDING BED.

The hammock feature is one of the most valuable of the many good points of this bed, facilitating the change and airing of bedding, giving the patient the relief of being lifted from a heated mattress to a cool and comfortable hammock, securing perfect ventilation of the body and preventing bed-sores. The circular opening in the hammock enables the use of a chamber without inconvenience. In fact this bed is a revelation to the weary invalid, being invaluable in the treatment of all acute and chronic diseases, Paralysis, Rheumatism, Consumption, Continued Fevers, Heart Disease, Fractures and other severe injuries and surgical operations.

MICHIGAN PEOPLE AND WHAT THEY ARE DOING.

Michigan Still Heads the List of Iron Producers.—Third Fatal Explosion at Hancock Chemical Works.—Riley, the Mason Murderer, Sentenced for Life.

Michigan Leads in Iron.

John Herkenbine, the iron ore expert of Philadelphia, has prepared for the division of mineral resources of the United States geological survey an exhaustive report of the iron ore resources of the world in which the production of the world of ore or iron in 1893 is estimated at about 52,500,000 long tons. The portion of this report relative to the United States shows that the total production of iron ore in this country in 1894 was 11,879,679 long tons, as compared with 11,587,629 long tons in 1893. Twenty-four states produced iron ore in 1894, ranging in amount from 4,419,074 tons in Michigan to 7,915 tons from Maryland. Most of the increase noted above was in the Lake Superior region. Michigan continues to be the largest producer, holding this rank for six years. In spite of the increase in production noted, the total value of the product was but $13,777,325, or $1.14 a ton, as compared with $19,365,973, or $1.66 a ton, in 1893. Michigan also leads the country in value of her iron ores.

Hancock Chemical Works Blown Up.
For the third time in two years the Hancock Chemical works, at Dollar Bay blew up. Fred Shopper, a laborer, was killed. The roar of the explosion was heard for miles around the building was wrecked. On March 15 an explosion occurred in which Dominick Christianson was killed. Carl Ulrich was arrested for the offense and tried, but was released on account of lack of evidence. The proprietors still think it was the work of some one with anarchistic beliefs.

A Balloonist's Fatal Drop.
Prof. G. J. Burk, the aeronaut, made a balloon ascension at Blissfield. When 3,000 feet from the earth, he jumped with his parachute. All went well until he neared the ground again. He then saw that he was in danger of alighting among the branches of a huge elm. He jumped to save himself, but fell on a stump. His arm and back were broken. He cannot recover.

Riley Goes up for Life.
William D. Riley, the Negro arrested at Lansing on March 24 for shooting Fred Williams and robbing Lights' meat market in Mason the night of March 23, had his trial in the circuit court. After being out 10 minutes the jury found Riley guilty as charged, and he was immediately sentenced by Judge Person to state prison at Jackson at hard labor for life.

Chicora Wreckage Found.
Thousands of freshly broken timbers and pieces of cabin furniture was cast ashore four miles north of Benton Harbor giving the Graham & Morton company reason to believe that the Chicora lies in shallow water within sight of St. Joseph harbor. Searching crews will commence work in this vicinity at once.

The Musical Festival at Ann Arbor.
The second annual musical festival under the auspices of the University of Michigan Choral union was a brilliant success. Music lovers from all parts of Michigan were in attendance. The managers cleared a very generous amount from their efforts.

MICHIGAN HAPPENINGS.

Au Train is a county seat but has no church.

Forest fires are raging in northern Schoolcraft county.

R. H. Sherwood, of Watervliet, set out 13,000 trees on 90 acres this spring.

John Baird, of Grand Haven, was killed by a D. G. H. & M. train near Berlin.

The Old Settlers' association of Grand Traverse county will meet at Traverse City, June 5.

Millions of little black worms are stripping the foliage from the maple trees at Flint.

Chas. Palmgren broke his neck by falling 60 feet in the Chapin mine at Iron Mountain.

It is said that at least 150,000 peach trees have been planted in Oceana county this spring.

Joseph Bell, of Alpena, was killed at Lake May, near Alpena, while logging on the A. & N. road.

Claus Fagerman, a Cadillac Swede, stepped on a rusty nail. A few days later he died from lockjaw.

The authorities of Coldwater have reduced the price for arresting tramps to 15 cents and the business is dead.

Schoolcraft city fathers are thinking of better fire protection and will probably put down a series of test wells.

Edward Robbins, of Ypsilanti, was found guilty of torturing, tormenting and cruelly whipping a horse to death.

The G. A. R. and Oddfellows of Ingham and Jackson counties will hold a celebration at Pleasant Lake, June 12.

It cost six Dexter young men $90 because Deputy Game Warden Bell caught them spearing fish in Huron river.

The annual general synod of the Reformed church of America will be held in Grand Rapids during the week of June 5.

The rumor that a big furniture trust would shortly be formed at Grand Rapids is denied by the leading manufacturers.

Dell Slantze, aged 17, near Kalamazoo, was killed while dragging in a field. He was found dead under one of the horses.

Rudolph Abram shipped the first lot of strawberries of the season from St. Joseph on the steamer Puritan to a Chicago merchant.

Charles Dolph, 35 years of age, criminally assaulted his 12-year-old stepdaughter at Owosso and was arrested and jailed at Corunna.

Henry Tronse, of Benton, has a cow which has given birth to five calves inside of 10 months. The first time they were twins and the next triplets.

Saginaw authorities have discovered that the late Henry Kiddle, whom the county supported for several years, left an estate of several thousand dollars.

About 50,000 bushels of wheat were fed to stock in Lapeer county this winter. It is now impossible to buy wheat in Lapeer and mills and elevators are closing.

Lieut. Gov. Milnes sent his resignation to Gov. Rich to take effect May 31. That is the day when the legislative session closes and when Milnes' duties as president of the senate cease.

George McDonald, a Detroit merchant, is the latest victim of the deadly folding bed, and he lies at Harper hospital threatened with permanent paralysis.

At Summit City a gang of rowdies attacked Charles Wood, and one of them struck him in the face with a heavy stone inflicting injuries which may prove fatal.

A well flowing 770,000 gallons of water every 24 hours has been struck on the farm of Wm. Fox, near Rochester. The roar of the water can be heard several rods.

Gerrit Van Lenta, an employee of the Walsh Deroo mill at Holland, had his entire arm and side from the shoulder down to his ribs ground into pieces between two cog wheels.

A huge meteor fell near Niles and exploded. The sound was heard a long distance and frightened many farmers. The meteor was accompanied by brilliantly colored lights.

Mrs. J. G. Ross left her home at Rochester to place flowers on her daughter's grave, as was her custom twice a week. A few hours afterward a boy found her lying at the cemetery gate, dead.

An amendment to Jackson's charter this year changed the time for paying city taxes from May to July, consequently the treasury is empty and no prospect of replenishing it for nearly two months.

William H. Smith, aged 35, an alleged leader in the famous strike on the Grand Trunk railway last year, was arrested on his father's farm, near Holly, charged with causing the fatal wreck at Battle Creek last July.

The lumber outlook at Muskegon is improving. The Thayer lumber company will stock their mill with timber cut near Hangerford, Newaygo county. Their tract of pine in that section is estimated to contain 40,000,000 feet.

The new city administration is reforming Bessemer. Not only are houses of ill-fame, saloons and gambling houses kept closed on Sunday, but restaurants, billiard halls, club rooms, stores, livery barns and barber shops as well.

D. D. Vannocker moved his elevator from Ridgeway to Britton on a 60-foot flat car over the C. J. & M. road, over two miles, in two hours and 30 minutes. The building is 22x50 and 40 feet high, with a capacity for 8,000 bushels.

Henry Wegel shot himself in the right lung at the rooms of Nora Arsenault, his former sweetheart at East Jordan. They had been in each other's company a great deal, although both were married, but the woman had refused to receive Wegel lately.

Danaher & Melindy, of Ludington, will begin work next month on a sawmill on the Tahquamenon river, eight miles east of Seney. The firm have over 100,000,000 feet of pine to cut, enough to keep a mill of average capacity busy for eight or ten years.

Fire destroyed over half of the lumber and all of the buildings of the Dwight Lumber company, at Detroit. The plant of the lumber company is situated at the corner of Scotten avenue and the M. C. railroad and extends over two blocks. The loss is fully $80,000.

Beadle, Detroit; captain, Murray Tilton, Matteson; historian, S. F. Dwight, Hillsdale; poet, John T. Jack, Detroit; orator, J. W. Streeter, Chicago. The reunion closed with a banquet. The next session will be held in Coldwater, May, 1896.

The Prohibition state central committee held a heated session at Grand Rapids on the Todd-Fanning controversy. The resolutions adopted at the "snap" meeting at Lansing, exonerating A. M. Todd, of Kalamazoo, of the charges made by Chairman Fanning, were unanimously adopted. Chairman Fanning was asked to resign, but refused. Mr. Todd, A. C. Wisner and John Barlow resigned. E. A. Richards, of Saranac, was elected treasurer vice Todd.

T. C. Sherwood, state bank commissioner says: "The business outlook is certainly encouraging. From the reports of the condition of the banks May 7, I see there is a very substantial increase in deposits over their last report. The banks register the business condition of the country as quickly and as correctly as does the thermometer the temperature of the air. I prophesy that the next year's will be better business than this generation has witnessed, and base my prediction on the effects of the former panics, especially that of 1873."

A state spelling contest at Lansing is projected by the pedagogues.

THE LEGISLATURE AND THE UNIVERSITY.

The attitude of the present legislature and of the executive part of the administration at Lansing toward the University, and the fact that, for years, it has in every instance taken a hard struggle to secure an appropriation for the University, naturally arouses a great deal of comment. It is safe to say that no other of our state institutions is treated so shabbily by successive legislatures as is the University, the most important state institution within our borders. There certainly is one or more University graduates in each voting precinct in every city and village and in a large number of the rural precincts of the state. Why is it that they do not make every effort possible to elect men to the state legislature who are friendly to the University. Usually, in fact, almost without exception, alumni are men of considerable public influence and could control these matters in a large number of cases if they chose to do so. That the alumni as a rule do nothing of the kind is too true. What is worse, in many cases they are found actually working against their alma mater. Opposition from alumni is cutting far more of a figure in the state legislature today than most people suspect and will no doubt account for a sufficient number of opposition votes to hold the balance of power. This is a deplorable condition of things but nevertheless it is unquestionably true that such a state of affairs actually exists. There are numerous causes existing in the University which cannot help but result in bringing about such a feeling on the part of a great many University graduates. The recent action of certain medical professors in demanding that a newspaper correspondent be expelled from the institution because he reported an occurrence in the anatomical laboratory the truth of which he was able to verify, was most extraordinary. The zeal and determination of the professors to punish the newspaper correspondent because what he wrote reflected upon their supervision of the students in the anatomical laboratory, instead of making an effort to find out the perpetrators of such a ghastly joke and mete out just punishment to them, and to guard against its recurrence in the future, very justly subjects them to very severe criticism. The University by upholding these professors in such a course will alienate the kindly feelings of scores of students who but for such acts would ever have been firm friends of the University. The conduct of students in the anatomical laboratory is notorious, and has been a discredit to medical students for years. As an example, a prominent citizen, an ex-mayor of the city, said to THE REGISTER within the past week that when he visited the anatomical laboratory at one time he was forced to leave almost immediately because of the pieces of human viscera and handfulls of human brains that were thrown at him by the students. Such conduct is brutalizing and should never be allowed for an instant among young men who are to go out into life and hold the most intimate and responsible positions in society of any class of people in the world. These young men themselves will, in after years, feel that the department did them a great injustice by allowing such acts to be indulged in. To demand the expulsion of a student for reporting by no means the worst things which have taken place, instead of exerting every influence possible to put a stop to all such proceedings for all time to come was a serious mistake totally unworthy of men holding the position of professors in the University. This is but one incident in one department which goes to confirm what we have said above. While speaking of the medical department we will mention another occurrence that took place within a few years in that department. A student had reached the middle of his last year with but a single condition which he had promptly worked off. He continued with his work until he had taken his final examination just a week before commencement without a word or hint or suggestion of any kind being made to him by any professor in the department that his work was in any way unsatisfactory, although it had always been the rule and was so understood by all the students that if one's work was not up to the standard he would be warned some time in advance that he must do better or he could not be allowed to graduate. Yet this young man was conditioned by two of the professors and not allowed to graduate. Thinking this a very strange state of affairs, a friend of his put the question squarely at one of the professors why the student had not been notified in advance that his work was not satisfactory so that he might withdraw from his class earlier in the year and not appear to have made a failure of his course. The friend was astonished on being told that the reason the young man had been conditioned was because he had a condition during the previous semester to which he had not paid the least attention. This was a clincher. The friend, however, concluded to ask to see the records and was more astounded than ever to have the professor acknowledge upon looking up the records carefully that he was mistaken in the man—and even then he would not revoke his decision! The explanation made by the other professor was fully as lame and inexcusable; but the decree had gone forth and there was no changing it! Is it any wonder that the large majority of the members of that young man's class as well as many students in other departments, who knew of these facts, denounced the action of these professors as outrageous, and became unfriendly to the institution where such treatment of a student was possible! It is with regret that we feel obliged to mention these things. Our excuse for doing so is that we are convinced that such abuses can be removed only by making them public and giving public opinion a chance to compel a change. We long to see the day when it may be possible to say that grounds for such criticisms no longer exist, when every student who goes out from this great University will depart with a feeling that it is worthy of his lasting friendship and sympathy and that he, or she, may be found at all times ready to sound its praises and spread its fame. When such a time arrives the state will give appropriations without the asking and gifts surpassing any ever given heretofore will be poured into her coffers.

Death of Joel D. Stimson, Sr.

An old and highly respected citizen was lost to Ann Arbor this morning when Joel D. Stimson, of the firm of J. D. Stimson & Son, grocers, passed away at his home on W. Huron st., where he has resided most of the time since he came to the city. Mr. Stimson had been ailing for a long time from a heart trouble which finally turned into dropsy, from which he died this morning at 6 o'clock aged 73 years.

Mr. Stimson was born in Tolland, Conn., in 1822. He came to Ann Arbor 32 years ago, and engaged in farming until 16 years ago when he went into the grocery business with his son Wm. F. Stimson, on E. Ann st. Seven years ago he sold out his share in that business and went into the same line of trade on S. State st., in partnership with his son George. He was married to Miss Mary Sutton, of Cobourg, Ont., March 31, 1847, and she with 10 of the 12 children that were born to them survive him. Five of his sons reside in this city, viz.: Wm. F., Philip M., Fred T., George G., and Joel D. jr. John lives in Toledo, and Milton R. in Brinkley, Ark. Mrs. Fannie Hawkes lives in Hudson. Mrs. Minnie Matthews in Lansing, and Mrs. Mabel Bailey in Howell.—Thursday's Times.

to introduce a Little Pill to the American people. Many have imitated them, but none have approached his "Pleasant Pellets" in true worth, or value, for all laxative and cathartic purposes.

Once Used, they are Always in Favor.

Assist Nature a little now and then, with a gentle, cleansing laxative, thereby removing offending matter from the stomach and bowels, toning up and invigorating the liver and quickening its tardy action, and you thereby remove the cause of a multitude of distressing diseases, such as headaches, indigestion, or dyspepsia, biliousness, pimples, blotches, eruptions, boils, constipation, piles, fistula and maladies too numerous to mention.

If people would pay more attention to properly regulating the action of their bowels, they would have less frequent occasion to call for their doctor's services to subdue attacks of dangerous diseases.

That, of all known agents to accomplish this purpose, Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are unequalled, is proven by the fact that once used, they are always in favor. Their secondary effect is to keep the bowels open and regular, not to further constipate, as is the case with other pills. Hence, their great popularity, with sufferers from habitual constipation, piles and indigestion.

They absolutely cure sick headache, biliousness, constipation, coated tongue, poor appetite, dyspepsia and kindred derangements of the stomach, liver and bowels. A free sample of the "Pellets," (4 to 7 doses) on trial, is mailed to any address, post-paid, on receipt of name and address on postal card.

BEEF AND RECIPROCITY.

The recent worry and fret over the beef situation could have been settled in the twinkling of an eye if the Reciprocity feature of the McKinley law had been incorporated in our present non-descript Tariff act.

It was the design of the friends of Reciprocity to apply this principle so as to admit free, with compensating benefits from other countries, such articles or things as were not produced by ourselves in sufficient quantities for the domestic consumption.

Under the McKinley Reciprocity clause in the act of 1890 the President could at any time remove the duty upon any article, and at the same time, by treaty, enlarge our exportation of such commodity as the country with whom the reciprocal relation was established should want.

In case of the possible inability of our own cattle raisers to supply the domestic demand the exercise of such powers by the Executive, did they exist, would be most effective. Supplies could be drawn from Argentina, Mexico and Canada, and for the privilege extended to these countries privileges would have been obtained in return.

IRON ore is fighting its way here from abroad. In March we imported over 30,000 tons as against 5,700 tons in March, 1894. Of pig iron also we bought $31,000 worth from foreign countries last March as against $9,322 worth in March, 1894.

ROSE OUT OF PACIFIC

NEW TERRITORY ADDED TO OUR DOMAIN.

Cliffs Pashed Up Out of the Sea in a Night at One of the Santa Barbara Islands—Building Twisted About in Odd Fashion.

NOTE SAM ACQUIRED some new territory in the Pacific a few weeks ago in a novel manner. It was not acquired by conquest, annexation or purchase, but was a gift from nature herself, who pushed it up from the depths of the Pacific ocean and gave it unasked. Geologists say that nature is constantly giving and taking land after this fashion; that some portions of the earth are steadily subsiding and others rising; some coast lines are advancing and others receding. New Jersey is gradually losing territory along the coast, while in other regions new land is being added to the area of the United States. But the usual progress is slow. Once in a while a new island is lifted suddenly out of the sea by volcanic action, and this practically, is what occurred off the coast of California several weeks ago when about 35,000 square yards of rock was added to one of the Santa Barbara islands with a suddenness that surprised the people living on the island. Not only was new land added to the island, but that already existing was moved around in an embarrassing manner. Buildings erected in the shelter of the cliffs, with a seaward exposure, were lifted up forty or fifty feet to the level of the plateau and twisted around so as to face directly inland.

The Santa Barbara group of islands lies about sixty miles off the coast of California, in about the latitude of Los Angeles. The island of San Miguel, to which the new land has been added, is one of the smaller islands, and is owned by Capt. W. G. Waters, who has a big sheep ranch on it. The only living people on the island are Capt. Waters and his sheep herders and laborers. Some of the islands of the group are noted for their scenic beauties, but San Miguel is bleak and comparatively uninteresting. It is plainly of volcanic origin, and it is said that at various times within the last half century stretches of the cliffs along the southern shore of the island have fallen away and been swallowed up in the sea. But no one knows of any land having been given back by the ocean before the event of the second week in March. Capt. Waters says that the island when the earthquake eruption, or whatever it was, occurred. He took the information to the mainland, and the San Francisco Examiner sent a correspondent to San Miguel to get all the facts and some pictures of the new territory of the United States. The picture and information here given are from the Examiner articles.

Capt. Waters lives in his ranch house on the southwest side of the island, a considerable distance from the point where the new land was added. On the night when the disturbance occurred he was sitting in his house reading. He felt the earth shiver, but as earthquakes are not uncommon thereabouts he took little notice of the occurrence. The next morning he started out around the beach toward his boathouse to look for his sloop, which was due from the mainland. When he neared the harbor and the place where his boathouse had been he had to rub his eyes because of the remarkable appearance of the surroundings. The beach had disappeared, and where a bay of placid water had been rose a huge mass of broken cliffs. He climbed up on the high ground overlooking the bay, and there on the plateau, forty feet or more above the water line and three hundred feet inland, were the boathouse and sheep corral which the previous evening had been right on the water's edge. On reaching the boathouse he found another surprise. The building stood as firm as ever, but whereas it had recently faced seaward it was now turned almost completely around and faced almost directly away from the bay. The tracks of the sheep were still plainly visible on the ground, but instead of being on the left side of the boathouse, where the path had always been, they were now on the right.

He walked out on the top of the newly formed cliffs toward the water, and found the great mass of rock still trembling and swaying. There was a sound of grinding and churning, and every now and then a chunk of rock would settle a little. The mass was evidently still adjusting itself in its new position. The boy to which his sloop was moored when in harbor was formerly 400 feet from the sandy beach. Now it was about 100 feet from the abrupt face of the new cliffs. He set up some posts to serve as marks by which to observe any further changes and withdrew to more solid ground. The next morning he found that in its readjustment the land had moved seaward twelve or fifteen feet, and the mass of new land seemed quiet and permanently settled. Then Capt. Waters went to the mainland and told of the happenings on San Miguel, and a day or two later some scientific men with surveyors' instruments and cameras, went over and verified his story.

A Venerable Georgia Mule. Old Gin, a mule with a history, died on the farm of Thomas Rodgers, near Lily Pond, Ga., the other day. The mule was raised by Mr. Rogers' father and on the 12th day of this month would have been 42 years old. This mule went into service in the army early in the war and was in front of Sherman's forces from Chattanooga to Atlanta and afterward was returned by devious routes to the Rogers' home in Gordon county. During her long life of active service she was never sick, never balked, was never wounded in battle and never surrendered.

PEACH TREE DISEASES.

A Simple Expedient Which Is Claimed to Be Effective.

Some years ago a gentleman residing near Cincinnati created a sensation by what he regarded a new method of keeping peach trees healthy. All that he did was to pile up earth about the trees, the mound reaching up to the branches. It took several cart loads of earth to make these mounds and the little orchard had the appearance of bushes growing out of the top of the cone of earth. Every one used to look on and laugh at the thought of burying up the trunk of a tree to keep it healthy; but there were the trees, and undoubtedly models of health. Those who saw simply stated their belief that it was only a coincidence, and that the trees would probably have been as healthy without the mound of earth as with it. Since it has come to be well recognized that many of the diseases of plants, not merely of the peach trees, but of other trees, are caused by the mycelium of a minute fungus attacking the roots, it is not at all unlikely that the mound of earth acted beneficially, by preventing the growth of the fungus which preys on the roots of trees. It is now well understood that all plants of a lower order of vegetation, which we know as fungi, will only grow under a peculiar combination of circumstances. Among other things they must be very near the surface of the earth, and if buried to the depth they would be under a mound it is unlikely the fungi would find a satisfactory home.

Some will say right here that they thought burying up the trunks of trees and covering the surface roots with earth was destructive to health; but the burying by itself is not the reason trees die when earth is piled over them to a considerable depth, but from the fact that the young growing roots do not get air. These young growing roots are almost all at the surface, and the mound of earth around the roots would not in the slightest degree injure these outer roots. Whenever a valued tree is somewhat buried it is customary to leave a space around the trunk, perhaps building a dry wall, in order to keep the earth from getting near the trunk; but this is not that the earth is injurious, but to give a chance for water to flow freely down into the soil and the flow of water always leads to a flow of air following the water. These remarks are suggested by an article in an agricultural paper, stating that the apple borer and the peach borer have been kept out of the trunks of trees by making a mound of earth around the trunks.

TO MARRY A GIRL QUEEN.

Heir to Saxe-Coburg Likely to Wed Holland's Young Monarch.

The young Queen Wilhelmina of Holland is likely to be betrothed to Prince Alfred of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha, eldest son and heir of the Duke of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha (more generally known as the Duke of Edinburgh), according to the world. The little monarch of the Dutch is not yet 15 years old, and a very bright, intelligent girl, merry-hearted and full of mischief. She is the last scion of the famous house of Orange, founded by the great William III. and her mother, Queen Emma, is regent during her daughter's minority. Prince Alfred, the reported bridegroom-elect, is 20 years old and a handsome, intelligent youth. He is Queen Victoria's grandson, his father, the Duke of Edinburgh, being the second son of the English monarch. In May and June the young queen of Holland is to be given an outing in England in order to introduce her to her "aunt" queen, as Victoria is called by the younger crowned heads of Europe, instead of the more familiar "sister." Queen Wilhelmina will also see all the budding royalties at her own age and have a good time, such as a 14-year-old girl ought to have, but rarely does, when she is born to the purple and not allowed to mutter or peep except by rule. She is a delicate, neurotic child, and those who know say she will not make old bones. The more reason, then, why the little queen should have her fling early and often.—Exchange.

Girls of Cuba.

It is not to be accepted as true that Cuban women are all beautiful. It can be stated as a rule, however, that the Cuban woman has beautiful eyes. Faces that would otherwise be plain and unattractive are glorified by ravishing dark eyes, with arched brows and long lashes that cast shadows on their cheeks. When the face, as is sometimes the case, is a perfect oval, the features prettily formed, with a touch of voluptuousness about the mouth, the hair raven black, such eyes complete a beauty that is well worth a journey to Cuba to see. One will often catch a glimpse of a face like that, framed in by a mantilla, at the opera or on the street. One often finds himself coming to a sudden stop in the street at the sight of such a face peering out from the shadows of a carriage, perhaps with a fan provocatively held up so as to hide half the beauty. He will see such beauties, too, now and then at the windows of houses, and this is likely to encourage him in a habit of looking into the wide open windows as he slides by them on the narrow footwalks. He will rarely see one walking on the street in the daytime, and when he does she will be accompanied by an elderly woman or a negro servant.

HERE'S A NEAT HOME.

ONE THAT CAN BE BUILT FOR ONLY $1,900.

A Three-Story Dwelling With Every Modern Convenience—Warm and Substantial and Where It Does Not Suffer by Comparison Looks Well.

(Copyrighted 1895.) BEYOND THE "fire limits" and in the outskirts of many large cities, a large number of new houses are built of wood. Equal accommodations are thus secured for an expenditure of 20 per cent less than if built of stone.

With the walls "back plastered" or filled with some substance like mineral wool, a frame house is warm and substantial, and where it does not suffer by comparison with too many neighbors of brick and stone, it presents an excellent appearance.

Below will be found a somewhat detailed description of the design illustrated in this article. Size of structure: Width, 20 feet; depth, 35 feet, not including veranda and porch. Materials for exterior walls: Foundation, brick walls; first story, clapboards; second story, also clapboards; roof, tin. Height of stories: Basement, 8 feet; first story, 11 feet; second story, 9 feet 6 inches. Sizes of rooms shown by the floor plans.

Special features: A neat and attractive exterior, with compact, well-arranged plans. No fireplaces or other expensive features. The plumbing of the bathroom costs but $30, is supplied with cold water only. This is preferred by some to no bathroom at all but among the recently invented appliances their is a small metal water

The plumbing for a regular hot water supply would cost some $75 additional. Fixtures and plumbing for a water closet for which there is space in the bathroom, would cost in the neighborhood of $100 additional. A small family may use the living room as a bed room and let the whole or part of the upper floor

At Home on a Yacht.

The Princess Marie of Greece, who would possibly have been the czarine of Russia had it not been for the strict rules of the Greek church against the marriage of first cousins, is passionately fond of yachting, and can handle her own boat with all the skill of an old salt. This taste she doubtless inherits from her mother, who actually passed the examinations for a sailing master's certificate, and was rewarded for her success by the late czar with the dignity of admiral of the Russian fleet. She is the only petticoated admiral in the world.

STOP IT NOW!

Stop It Quickly, Just the Same as Did Mr. Charles H. Hoffman, of 132 Ten Eyck Street, Jackson.

If you have a pain in your back, stop it! A lame back, stop it! An aching back, stop it! Do you want to know how? Let us tell you! In the first place, never try to rid yourself of pain without knowing the cause. If pain or ache exist there is reason for it. Find out this reason and get after it. Strike cause a stiff blow with the right weapon, and all aches, pain and ache, will flee like chaff before the wind. To get right down to it, backache is indicative of kidney disorders, a spy placed there by nature; listen to his warnings and take up the weapon, strike before disease is reinforced with allies that can not be routed by hand of man, such as Bright's disease. Let us introduce to you this weapon! Let us prove its superiority to all others! Here is a blow it struck:

Mr. Charles H. Hoffman is a fireman on the M. C. R. R., and resides at 132 Ten Eyck Street, Jackson, Mich. He says: "I have suffered for a long time from a kidney and bladder disorder which has at times rendered me incapable of work; have been at the hospital for my complaint and discharged from there as cured, but the old complaint has invariably come back again. Some time ago I heard of Doan's Kidney Pills, and I began taking them, with most gratifying results. Urinary complaints which bothered me greatly are very much improved, and the pain I suffered in my back has entirely left me, my general condition is much improved. I would not like to be without Doan's Kidney Pills, I think others should know what a valuable remedy it is."

For sale by all dealers, price 50 cents. Mailed by Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S. Remember the name, Doan's, and take no other.

LEADERS OF LOW PRICES.

E. F. MILLS & CO.

20 S. Main Street.

The cold, chilly days of the past week made us think far less of Summer garments and Summer wear than we would have thought possible ten days ago.

It also reminded us that cool days and cool evenings are of frequent occurrence even in Summer time. Of course you, in common with many others, had given up the idea of buying a Spring Wrap, but the arctic weather changed your mind. Very opportune for you, then, is our Closing Sale of Spring Capes and Jackets at less than cost of materials, in fact at about one-half the original low and attractive prices.

Shirt Waists have had a slight lull for a few days as a result of the weather and this has enabled us to again secure a full supply of those perfect fitting and especially stylish Waists for which we have an enviable reputation. When the next hot wave comes they will go with a rush again. So better secure yours now while the assortment is complete.

By the way, you may not have purchased a Buckle, a Belt Pin or a Set of Studs, Collar Button and Link Cuff Buttons to go with your Waists. You'll be glad you have not if you look over our special offering of these goods. Two-Thirds the regular prices and finest styles to be had tells the whole story. All qualities from a Cheap Buckle—cheap in price but not in style, at 19c, up to fine Sterling Silver Buckles at $2.00 each.

AMONG OUR NEIGHBORS.

YPSILANTI SENTINEL.

George Moorman is enjoying a fortnight's outing at Long Branch. He may take an ocean trip before he concludes to return home.

A marriage license has been granted Wm. C. Holliday, of Columbus, O., and Louisa Charington, of Ypsilanti. The groom is 37 and the bride 32 years of age.

Rev. J. Nelson Lewis, who stumped this district for Barlow's last fall, and later wrote financial editorials for the Detroit Free Press is preaching at Cadillac.

The Michigan Music Teachers' Association has chosen Ypsilanti for its annual meeting. The sessions begin June 26 and continue three days. The sole object is to foster a love for music and to inspire a fuller appreciation of the benefits to be derived from its cultivation.

Fred Pease, Miss VanDolsen, Miss Ruth Pease, Miss VanDolsen, of Detroit, left Monday for New York, and will sail on the steamer Augusta Victoria for Europe on Thursday. Fred will remain about three months, while the others of the party will make a more extended trip.

The store of M. J. Lewis & Co., on Huron-st., was entered by burglars Friday night. They gained entrance by breaking the glass in a window in the rear of the store. So quietly was the work done that it was not known until the opening of the store in the morning by Mr. Armerman. He found the money drawer on the floor and an old knife and hammer near by. There was about $2.00 in small money taken, but as far as can be learned that is all. While they have reason to believe who did the deed they have very little evidence.

DEXTER LEADER.

T. Birkett is putting in a hydraulic pump at the Dexter Mills, as a precaution against fire.

A stranger was heard to remark the other day that Dexter in her dress of green was the prettiest town he had seen in the state.

Forty-five Dexter Oddfellows drove over to Hamburg last evening and conferred the initiatory degree. It is needless to say that their Hamburg brethren entertained them in a royal manner.

CHELSEA HERALD.

Frank Brodick graduated from the Detroit College of Medicine week before last and now has M. D. tacked to his name.

Fred Vogel, is here this week packing up and shipping his household goods to Pittsburgh, Pa., where he has decided to remain.

The marriage of Mr. G. W. Mills, pauper, of Milan, and Miss Myra M. Conner, of Chelsea, took place at the home of the bride's parents Wednesday, May 15, 1895.

Few villages in the country present the attractive appearance that Chelsea does at this season of the year. Particularly the resident portion. What can be more beautiful than the stately maple, elm, and sloping lawns dotted with shrubs and fruit trees, all clothed in green?

CHELSEA STANDARD.

A new library is the latest acquisition of the Congregational Sunday School.

A hen on the farm of Robert Foster has been trying to get up a reputation and recently laid an egg that measured 8.3 x 7 inches.

W. W. Wedemeyer, county school commissioner elect, will deliver the address to the graduates from the Chelsea High School this year.

Mill Lake drain was last week and went very low. The average was about 80 cents per rod and aggregate $1,120. Some of the contractors have already begun work. The whole tax is to be levied this year.

SALINE OBSERVER.

Ernest Rhodes left Monday to accept a position as postal clerk. His run will be east from Cleveland.

Henry Frank and family moved to Ann Arbor Monday, where the family will remain while he expects to go on the road.

Emma A., wife of Thomas Hood, after a long and painful illness, died at her home west of town, last Friday afternoon. The funeral was held Monday and the remains interred in Union district cemetery. Deceased was 57 years old. She leaves a bereaved husband, one son, one daughter and two brothers.

Catarrah Cannot Be Cured
with LOCAL APPLICATIONS, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrah is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrah Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrah Cure is not a quack medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years, and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing catarrah. Send for testimonials, free.

Wonderful Babylon.

Ancient Babylon may perhaps be called the most wonderful city of the world. No less remarkable were the hanging gardens referred to in the Old Testament and described by some of the early profane writers. The city itself was fifty miles in circumference, its walls being 350 feet high and 87 feet thick. The city was built in the center of a vast plain. The wife of the king came from a mountainous region, and did not like its barrenness. Hence the famous hanging gardens. They were suspended over 400 feet in the air and planted with trees, fruits and flowers. No less than 200,000 slaves were employed in their construction. All this to please his wife.

John Van Tyle, of Edwardsburg, Mich., doctored for 30 years for fits, but got no help till he used Adirondack, Wheeler's Heart and Nerve Cure, which completely cured him. Sold by druggists.

FREE HOME TREATMENT.

Dr. Hartman's Cure for Female Disease—A Generous Offer to Women.

In view of the great multitude of women suffering from some form of female disease and yet unable to find any cure, Dr. Hartman, the renowned gynecologist, has announced his willingness to direct the treatment of as many cases as make application to him during the summer months, without charge. The treatment will be conducted by correspondence. The doctor will prescribe all medicines, applications, hygienic and dietary regulations necessary to complete a cure. The medicines prescribed can be obtained at all drug-stores. This offer will hold good only during the summer months. Any woman can become a regular patient by sending a written statement of her age, condition of life, history and symptoms of her derangements. All cases of female diseases, including menstrual irregularities, displacements, ulcerations, inflammations, discharges, irritation of the ovaries, tumors and dropsy of the abdomen, should apply at once and become registered as regular patients. All correspondence will be held strictly confidential. No testimonials of cures will be given to the public except by the express wish of the patient.

As is well known, Dr. Hartman is the President of the Surgical Hotel, an institution which has a department devoted exclusively to the treatment of female diseases. He is thus brought to see thousands of such cases every year, the most of whom return to their homes to be treated by correspondence. The principal remedy he relies upon in such cases is Pe-ru-na, which every woman should have, who has an affection of this kind. Those wishing to become patients should address Dr. S. B. Hartman, Columbus, Ohio.

WOMAN'S HAND BOOK.

The Pe-ru-na Drug Manufacturing Company of Columbus, Ohio, are sending free to any person writing for it, a neat little pamphlet devoted exclusively to the treatment of female diseases written by Dr. Hartman.

For free book on cancer address Dr. Hartman, Columbus, Ohio.

Happiness.

How much the possession of happiness depends upon the point of view we choose to take in seeing things! She who determines to look upon the bright side of affairs will generally find that some brightness is visible; she who wants to point out to herself and others that discouragements abound, can, as a rule, succeed, to her own satisfaction in the gloomy pursuit. There is such a thing as curbing one's natural tendency to depression and in wholesome fashion casting lamentable melancholy out of doors. And one means to this end is mentally and spiritually to outgrow the necessity of being happy. The less one thinks of the deprivations and lack of those conditions which are commonly supposed to be requisites of happiness, and the less one cultivates a spirit of restless pursuit of happiness—a spirit which by its very lightness and delicacy eludes a harsh grasp—the more likely is happiness to come all unthought, particularly if one is more anxious about securing conditions of happiness for others than for oneself.

If the Baby is Cutting Teeth.

Be sure and use that old and well-tried remedy, MRS. WINDSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic and is the best remedy for diarrhoea. Twenty five cents a bottle.

BRET HARTE'S DAUGHTER.

She is One of the Most Promising Young Lady Artists of New York.

A rising artist in this city is Miss Jessamy Harte, the eldest daughter of Bret Harte, says a New York paper. She is 22 years of age, and very pretty. Her mother was a Miss Griswold of California, a clever and gifted girl, with great linguistic and musical accomplishments. Bret Harte's two eldest children, both of them boys, were born in San Francisco. The Hartes then moved to New York and it was there Jessamy and her sister Ethel were born. The family at present is living in Plainfield, N. J., where for a number of years the married sister of Bret Harte has had a lovely old-fashioned residence. Miss Harte, when a very little girl, used to draw funny images and pictures of queer children on the margin of the leaves of all her books. She was a dreamer. She would sit for hours perfectly quiet when a little child, absorbed in thoughts all her own. Of a sudden, she would ask for a pencil and paper. The "thoughts" would then appear thereon, in the shape of roses, jessamine and English violets, or else pictures of pretty children, always made with wings.

Terry's Silveren.

Among the many discoveries of the present age, none rank higher than the new metal silveren, which owing to its great durability and cheapness is bound to take the place of silver in the manufacture of fine tableware.

Silveren is a beautiful white metal, will not tarnish or rust, and all goods made from it are warranted. We want everyone to have a chance to compare silveren with silver, so for the next sixty days we are going to give away one half dozen Silveren Tea Spoons Free, to every person who will send for one of our Silveren sets, containing six Tea Spoons, one Sugar Shell, one Butter Knife. If at any time the Silveren goods do not prove satisfactory, return them and your money will be refunded. Remember we give you the Silver Spoons. Send at once as this offer is for 60 days only. Price Silveren set $2.00.

CHEAP SOUPS.

How High Prices Now Asked for Meat May Be Met.

The large increase in the price of meats will, of course, affect more seriously people with moderate incomes. This need not be the case did such know how to avail themselves of the inferior cuts. There are half a dozen nutritious white soups which may be made solely of vegetables and in which the yolks of eggs beaten up in water and added at the last moment, take the place of meat. Dishes in which inferior cuts may be used are most numerous. In the marmite, for example, the cheapest portions of beef and mutton may be employed. To concoct this, fry in an upright earthen pot some salt pork. When the fat has all been extracted, put it off and remove all sediments which may have been precipitated. Return the fat to the pot, then add in alternate layers meat, onions, carrots, turnips, and potatoes cut in slices. Almost cover this with salt, seal the lid of the pot with pasted paper, so that no steam may escape, then place in a hot oven and allow to cook for six hours at least. The meat and vegetables are then removed, and the gravy which remains put in a sauce pan with a can of evaporated cream. Season with salt and pepper and a pinch of sugar. When it comes to a boil thicken with a little corn starch mixed in cold water. In the meantime beat up the yolks of three or four eggs in cold water, a teaspoonful to each yolk. Stir in these while the sauce is hot, but not boiling, pour over the meat and vegetables and serve. The cheapest portions of veal may be made into a most palatable dish with even less trouble. Fry pieces of veal in a little butter until brown on both sides, turning frequently. Then add water, so as not to quite cover the meat. Cover and allow to simmer for two hours. To the gravy which will result add precisely the same ingredients as in the sauce for the marmite. In these, as in all recipes, a dexterous hand and discriminating palate account for the difference between success and failure.

"There is Danger in Delay."

Since 1861 I have been a great sufferer from catarrh. I tried Ely's Cream Balm and to all appearance am cured. Terrible headaches from which I had long suffered are gone.—W. J. Hitchcock, Late Major U. S. Vol. and A. A. Gen., Buffalo, N. Y.

Ely's Cream Balm has completely cured me of catarrh when everything else failed. Many acquaintances have used it with excellent results.—Alfred W. Stevens, Cadwell, Ohio.

Price of Cream Balm is fifty cents.

HORSE GIVEN A RECEPTION.

Harry Goodin's Colt Meets His Friends in a Philadelphia Hotel.

Harry Goodin, the well-known turfman of Philadelphia, recently purchased a thoroughbred colt in Pittsburgh. The colt arrived a few days later in fine condition. Mr. Goodin was so pleased with his purchase that he proceeded to give the animal a reception and banquet in the dining-room of the Bingham house. Several of the resident guests of the hotel were admitted to the treat. The colt was safely carried to the dining-room by means of the elevator, and Mr. Goodin took great delight in pointing out the qualities of his beautiful pony. The entertainment ended and the trouble began. Mr. Goodin, with the aid of the hotel employees, a number of friends, and other advisors, tried in vain to urge the colt to walk off the Eleventh street steps leading from the hotel. This the colt absolutely refused to do, whereupon they tried to carry him by all fours, but were equally unsuccessful. Embarrassed by the shouts of laughter which greeted their efforts, the colt was led through the corridor and a platform built leading to the baggage-room. It was finally persuaded to come down to the level of the ordinary horse by way of an inclined plane, making the descent with all the dignity befitting a pony that had been banqueted and royally entertained in a hotel.

Diets About Gas.

A cubic foot of good gas, from a jet one thirty-third of an inch in diameter and a flame of four inches, will burn 65 minutes. Internal lights require four cubic feet, and external lights about five cubic feet, per hour. Large or Argand burners will require from six to ten feet. In distilling 50 pounds of coal, the volume of gas produced is cubic feet when the distillation was effected in three hours, was 41.3; in seven hours, 37.5; in twenty hours, 33.5; in twenty-five hours, 31.7. A retort produces about 600 cubic feet of gas in five hours, with a charge of about one and a half cwt. of coal, or 2,800 cubic feet in twenty-four hours.

Do you scratch and scratch, and wonder what's the matter? Doan's Ointment will instantly relieve and permanently cure an itchy disease of the skin no matter how long standing.

stream Which Runs Up Hill.

In White county, Georgia, there is a mountain stream which runs up hill, at a steep incline, for almost half a mile. It is supposed to be the continuation of a siphon which has its source in a spring at a higher elevation, at the opposite side of the mountain.

A Benefactor.

"I owe more comfort," said Mr. Johnson, "to my shoemaker than I do to any other man."

"Why, how is that," said Mr. Billings, "when you are always complaining about tight shoes?"
"Well, every evening when I take off my shoes and put on my slippers, the comfort I feel is simply intense!"—Youth's Companion.

FOR THE QUEEN.

A House Where Marie Antoinette's Wardrobe Was Taken.

On the upper or northern end of the Island of Westport, anciently called Squam, and situated in the Sheepscot Bay on the Maine coast, stood a large, square, old fashioned house, built of heavy timbers, having one massive brick chimney in the center. It was owned and inhabited by a sea-faring man by the name of Clough, who sailed on foreign voyages.

It was in the time of the French revolution, when this captain was on a voyage to France, that he was engaged by the agents of the king and Marie Antoinette to bring them securely to America. Their wardrobe and some of their furniture was already placed on the ship, and the king and queen were driven quietly down to the quay, where the ship's small boat was in waiting to take them off to the vessel. At the same moment secret agents of the revolution arrived just in time to arrest their king and queen just as they had alighted from their carriage. Their majesties were then removed to prison. There they were soon after guillotined.

As soon as he found what had happened Captain Clough put to sea with all haste, having the wardrobe and the furniture of the king and queen on board his ship. After a long voyage he arrived at Westport, Me., safely and stored the queen's wardrobe and furniture in his own house on Squam Island. Tradition says that visitors to the house used sometimes to see these things, and pieces of the queen's dresses are still kept by the Clough descendants, who live in Edgecomb just opposite Westport.

On account of what I have narrated above the house came to be called the "Marie Antoinette House." Quite a long while after the events I have mentioned the old house was ferried across on scows to the opposite shore of Edgecomb, and placed high on the bank, back from the river's brink, where it now stands, and is still inhabited. Many photographs have been taken of it by summer tourists, and many have written its history. But what I have written was told me by the "oldest inhabitant," who received it as I tell it from their fathers and mothers.

After the house was moved to the Edgecomb shore it was inhabited by a man named Gardiner Gore, who kept a large store and was quite wealthy. One night an old lady of the same town, called "Old Aunt Hood," who was given to dreaming dreams, dreamed that the bungs had all been pulled out of his molasses hogsheads and that she saw the molasses run out all over the floor, and thereupon she told her dream and declared that "Gard" would soon be poor, and, in fact, he died soon after a poor man.

An Old English Custom.

An ancient custom of "tossing the pancake" was observed at Westminster (London) school on Shrove Tuesday. A procession of pupils was formed, headed by one of the abbey vergers carrying a frying-pan containing a newly-made pancake. Admission having been gained to the hall, the cook, whirling the frying-pan three times round his head, hurled the pancake amid the crowd of boys, and the one who secured the largest piece received the usual award of one guinea.

About Knives.

A cheap Pocket-knife can be bought at every Store, but it is not the kind you want.

One dollar is the lowest price that a really good knife can be sold for. This column is placed in this paper to advertise the very best Pocket-knife ever sold. It is J. C. TIDMARSH'S Sheffield Steel Knife.

Never buy a knife only because it looks well. If blades are not the best Sheffield steel they will soon bend, no matter how they will look. Still, you want a fine-looking knife.

The United States law provides that only samples to agents and to the trade will be admitted free of duty. You can, therefore, see the advantage that I have in sending samples to agents over those who deal in Sheffield goods in America.

I am an advertising agent! I am trusted with a certain amount to advertise these knives (the value ever seen in America at $1.00 each). Now, the knife is own best advertisement.

Imagine a Pocket-knife (3 1/2 inches long) with the most beautifully-grained ivory handle—genuine African ivory mand with two blades of the very best Sheffield steel that will last a lifetime and cut like a razor. The tips of the handles are heavily plated with sterling silver. And then a very nice chamois leather case goes with each knife. Now, would it not be easy work selling this knife at One Dollar each? I know it would, for it looks as if it were worth two dollars.

And so it is if you compare it with the value offered in the ordinary Store.

Is not this knife its own best advertisement?

You can make $4 per day selling these knives. This is a genuine and straightforward statement. This is counting that you show it to only twelve buyers every day. And every one that sees it will say it is good value for $1. The knives are sold to you at $8 per dozen; you sell them at $1 each.

I determined to use large sum of advertising money entrusted to me in sending out free samples to those who promise to act as agents for the sale of these knives.

I will send you a free sample, but you must sign the promise at the foot of this column, and make a deposit to show that in asking for the knife you are acting in good faith.

The deposit that I ask of you is 44 cents about half the wholesale cost of the knife, and less than one-third what you would have to pay for a knife like it, if you bought one.

Send the money by a Postal Order or one-cent stamps for 44c., and put a five-cent stamp on the letter, which must not weigh more than one-half ounce.

The deposit of 44 cents will be placed to your credit, and will be deducted from your first order at the dozen rate.

I am an advertising agent, contractor and publisher with one of the largest Advertising businesses in the world, and I absolutely guarantee to send, postage paid and duty free, the knife described above free to anyone who signs the promise below, and sends it with the deposit as stated.

Let me advise you not to part with your sample, even if you should lose sale at $1 by refusing, as it will take time to replace it. I could not send you another even if you sent the full $1. After the sample they can only be supplied to you by the dozen as there is duty on them to be paid.

Any English Banker can give you information about my high standing, or write to the publisher of this paper, who knows that I do a large and straightforward advertising business, and that I do exactly as I say.

I have taken this place in this paper for three years! The first one answering this advertisement after this number of the paper has come out will, if he likes, have his name printed in this space as agent for these knives.

The Editor of the Springfield (Ohio) New Era writes, in his paper of June 23, 1894:—"I have received a sample knife from Mr. Sears, and am very much pleased with it. He is the owner of a very large advertising business in London, and is, I believe, perfectly responsible and straightforward."

Sign your name and address to the following, cut it out and send it with Postal Order or stamps for 44 cents, and you will receive by return of post the beautiful knife as described above.

DEAR SIR,—I faithfully promise on my and honour to show the Sample Knife you have promised to send me to one or more of my friends, thereby constituting myself an agent. This will make me "in the trade" as far as Pocket-cutlery is concerned. By this promise I am entitled to a sample of your beautiful Dollar Pocket-knife with chamois leather case, to be sent me post-paid and duty free. I also enclose 44 cents Postal Order or stamp which please hold for me until I see you an order at the dozen rate.

TO SHINE IN DARK.

Illuminated Bodies Can Be Made in a Simple Way.

Some additional experiments have been made in France, it appears, to determine the specific action of a considerable lowering of temperature upon the brilliancy of certain bodies which shine in the dark after having been exposed to sunlight. Tubes of glass filled with the powdered sulphides of calcium, barium, strontium, etc., all substances possessing the property of phosphorescence in a high degree, were exposed to the solar rays and afterward proved to be luminous in the dark, this being done in such a way as to fix upon the memory the mean value of the progressive diminution of the emitted light, and the time also was noted during which the light was strong, less strong and weak, respectively. The tubes were next placed in bright sunlight for one minute and then suddenly introduced into a double-walled glass cylinder, the interspace of which was filled with nitrous oxide at 140 degrees C. In about five or six minutes the temperature of the tubes was some 100 degrees. They were then withdrawn, and, when observed in a perfectly dark chamber, no luminosity whatever was perceptible. As the tubes recovered their normal temperature, however, the phosphorescence returned, without the exciting agency of the sun's rays or of diffused light. These results were proved to be general for all phosphorescent substances employed. The experiments showed, too, that the production of the phosphorescent light requires a certain movement of the constituent molecules of bodies.

A Terrible Visitation.

Pain is always a terrible visitant, and often domiciles itself with one for life. This affliction is preventable, in cases of rheumatism, by a timely resort to Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which checks the encroachments of this obstinate and dangerous malady at its outset. The term "dangerous" is used advisedly, for rheumatism is always liable to attack the vital organs and terminate life. No testimony is more conclusive and concurrent than that of physicians who testify to the excellent effect of the Bitters in this disease. Persons incur a wetting in rainy or snowy weather, and who are exposed to draughts, should use the Bitters as a preventive of ill effects. Malaria, dyspepsia, liver and kidney trouble, nervousness and debility are also among the ailments to which this popular medicine is adopted. For the infirmities, soreness and stiffness of the age it is highly beneficial.

CABBAGE A LA MODE.

One of the Newest Dishes by a French Chef.

Mr. Jean Couet, the director of the culinary department of the Gil Blas of Paris, adapts his recipes to all classes. Among those given lately are two particularly available in families whose members possess robust appetites. The first is cabbage a la mode Belle. Put in a stock pot 3 1/2 quarts of water. When it boils place in it 2 1/2 pounds of beef and about 1 pound of smoked beef tongue. Add two cabbages of medium size, previously blanched. Cook for three hours. Withdraw the cabbages, drain them, season with butter, pepper, and salt, cut in slices the meat and tongue, and place on the cabbage and serve. To blanch vegetables scald them in strongly salted water. The liquid in which the cabbage and meat are boiled is immediately available for soup, with the addition of a little butter and fried bread, or croutons. The second recipe is for leeks a la Choufleur. Blanch some leeks, dry them, boil in water or beef stock. Serve like asparagus, with drawn butter or any white sauce.

TIPS TO SERVANTS.

They Absorb an Enormous Amount Annually in England.

A Paris Journal, discoursing of tips to servants in private houses both in England and on the continent, says that it is difficult for one to form an idea of the enormous sums in the way of gratuities absorbed by domestics employed in the homes of the English aristocracy. It gives the amount realized annually by the butler of a rich resident of Grosvenor square, London. This individual receives in tips from visitors the sum of £1,000, or $5,000 in addition to his regular pay. The Prince of Wales, who is naturally a heavy sufferer from exactions of this kind, has undertaken, so far as Sandringham house is concerned, to abolish the custom. He has given orders, according to the French Journal, that any servant who accepts a gratuity from a visitor shall be promptly dismissed. The Duchesses of Rutland and Portland have decided to pursue a similar course. This habit of tipping servants employed in private houses has, of course, been largely imitated and abused in this country. In the matter of a visit to a private house or a stay at a hotel, in the way of the figuratively extended palms, there is little to choose. Labouchere, who has written on this subject in Truth, is of the opinion that it is more economical to stop at the most expensive hotel than to accept hospitality at an English country or town house. He refers not only to the gratuities expected by the servants, but to other exactions which are extremely irksome and costly. It would save trouble and annoyance if a hotel should in addition to its regular charges, insert in the bill a stated amount for tips to be distributed pro rata by the proprietor.

ANOTHER BIG CANAL.

Bristol Likely to follow the Lead of Manchester Enterprise.

According to the English journals the completion of the Manchester ship canal is likely to spur Bristol to a similar engineering enterprise, complete authorities having already been entrusted with the planning of the best means of providing dock accommodations on the Avon for the largest vessels, with an estimate of the probable cost. The river Avon, from Bristol to Avonmouth, is said to resemble a deep trench some seven miles long, and at part more than 900 feet wide, so that when the tide is in, this trench is more or less filled with muddy water of a depth varying according to the height of the flood, and when the tide is out, the steep black sides are exposed to a considerable depth, and down in the central hollow a narrow stream hastens away rapidly to the mouth; the channel is available for navigation by large ships only at high tide, and the idea is to transform the entire estuary of the river into a huge dock seven miles or so in length, with dock gates and a lock entrance run out in the frame of an immense dam 900 feet long, stretching right across the mouth of the river, pierced by a lock entrance at the north end of the passage of ships, and by sluices at the south end for the emission of the overflow of the river water, outside jetties to facilitate the warping of vessels into the lock and outside breakwaters to protect the entrance channel, inside quays with a sufficient depth of water to permit the biggest liner to lie alongside of them, a graving dock adapted to the largest craft, and a pier for passengers.

Students on a Lark.

At a recent "students' evening" at the Comedie Parisienne, Paris, the pupils of the Ecole des Beaux Arts flocked in full force to the dainty little theater where Lole Fuller now dances, leaving hardly a spare stall in the house for the occupation of the ordinary playgoer. Their enthusiastic admiration of the serpentine dance showed itself in many wonderful ways, with choruses followed by a cha-hut, a kind of Red Indian war dance, with hats and sticks for scalp and tomahawks, and the burden of the "last students' song" as a war whoop, being one of the most startling as well as the most amusing. "Serpentines" were in great request, but the most tasteful demonstration on the part of the students was their spontaneous ovation to Lole Fuller when she appeared, and was greeted with a shower of bouquets and violets, which fell so thick and fast that the stage was carpeted with them in an instant. A delegation of the students presented Lole Fuller with a handsome and unique gift—an album, to which each student had contributed a sketch in pen and ink, pencil, or water colors, and some with a literary turn of mind also verses in her honor.—Queen.

MARRIAGE IN FRANCE.

Formalities Lovers Have to Observe Before They May Wed.

Lovers cannot enter lightly into wedlock in France. A hasty marriage is a legal impossibility. The formalities that must be complied with before the mayor may tie the knot sometimes extend over several months. Only the civil marriage is recognized in law. Our own form of marriage by priest or minister is regarded by French law as practically a civil ceremony, as it involves filing a certificate with the board of health. Under the French law a girl may not marry until she is after 15 years old and a man until he is more than 18. If the girl has been betrayed this section of the law is not operative. Men under 25 and women under 21 must have the consent of their fathers and mothers. After that age the consent of the father alone is necessary. The father may withhold his consent for three months. The son or the daughter must ask him three times. If he refuses the third time and both are of legal age they may be married without the paternal blessing. When the woman is 25 and the man is 30 they are required to ask the father only twice. The asking must be through a notary, who makes an official record of the fact. After the man has passed 30 and the woman 25 years the law supposes that they have acquired enough wisdom not to need the sanction of their parents. After having waited for the approval of the head of the home and received it the patient French lovers must post at the mairie of their arrondissement (each ward in Paris has its mayor) on two successive Sundays the announcement that Armand is going to marry Suzette and that if anybody has any objection he or she shall file it with the mayor or his assistant. If nobody has the objection the lovers may be united three days after the posting of the second notice. If there should be objection the mayor looks into it. This investigation is systematic and may take another week—maybe more. If the objection turns out not to be legal Armand and Suzette may stand up before the mayor, sign their names in a big book, and get out a certificate. If they are good Catholics (Suzette usually is, although Armand like as not may be a freethinker) they will go to the priest and get married again. As a rule the priest who performs the religious ceremony is a witness at the civil service. A priest is not allowed to give a certificate of marriage or marry a couple who have not previously been married by the mayor. If the mayor does not comply with the letter of the law in regard to all ante-nuptial requirements he is liable to imprisonment for six months. A citizen of France who returns to his country with the intention of living there, after marrying in a foreign land, must within three months after his return have his certificate registered at the office of the mayor nearest the place where he resides. The Count de Castellane will, therefore, have his marriage certificate—the civil one, although the other would be accepted—registered when he gets to France.

Good News.

No other medicine in the world was ever given such a test of its curative qualities, as Otto's Cure. BICYCLES IN NEW YORK.

Seems Probable that the Number of Wheels Will Grow This Year.

Gotham has been on wheels the past winter. That is not to say that it has now retrograded from that most fascinating position, or is thinking or doing so for the bicycle has developed all sorts of delightful possibilities, says a New York paper. A bicycle suit has been found to be wonderfully chic and becoming, and withal riding is really such great sport. So that all roads that can be ridden on a wheel this coming spring and summer will lead to happiness, and the bicycle bids fair to be the favorite vehicle at the different resorts where New York people have their beautiful country homes. The Michaux club, for the present, is the center of all bicycle festivities, and whether the Michaux club made the bicyclists or the bicyclists made the Michaux club it would be difficult to tell. At any rate, they are developing together so rapidly that there are beginning to be rumors of a permanent club house, with all the conveniences of such a place.

Short Breath, Palpitation.

Mr. G. W. McKinsey, postmaster of Kokomo, Ind., and a brave ex-soldier, says: "I had been severely troubled with heart disease ever since leaving the army at the close of the late war. I was troubled with palpitation and shortness of breath. I could not sleep on my left side and had pain around my heart. I became so ill that I was much alarmed, and fortunately my attention was called to

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure

I decided to try it. The first bottle made a decided improvement in my condition, and five bottles have completely cured me."

G. W. McKinsey, P. M., Kokomo, Ind.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure is sold on a positive guarantee that the first bottle will benefit. All druggists sell it at $1.00 per bottle, or $5.00 per six bottles, prepaid, on receipt of price by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind.

FOR YOUR OUTING GO TO PICTURESQUE MACKINAC ISLAND.

ONE THOUSAND MILES OF LAKE RIDE AT SMALL EXPENSE.

Visit this Historical Island, which is the grandest summer resort on the Great Lakes. It only costs about $13 from Detroit; $15 from Toledo; $18 from Cleveland, for the round trip, including meals and berths. Avoid the heat and dust by traveling on the D. & C. floating palaces. The attractions of a trip to the Mackinac region are unsurpassed. The island itself is a grand romantic spot, its climate most invigorating. Two new steel passenger steamers have just been built for the upper lake route, costing $300,000 each. They are equipped with every modern convenience, annunciators, bath rooms, etc., illuminated throughout by electricity, and are guaranteed to be the grandest, largest and safest steamers on fresh water. These steamers favorably compare with the great ocean liners in construction and speed. Four trips per week between Toledo, Detroit, Alpena, Mackinac, St. Ignace, Potoskey, Chicago, "Soo," Marquette and Duluth. Daily between Cleveland and Detroit, and Cleveland and Put-in-Bay. The palatial equipment makes traveling on these steamers thoroughly enjoyable. Send for illustrated descriptive pamphlet. Address A. A. SCHANTZ, G. P. A., D. & C., Detroit, Mich.

LITERARY NOTES.

The 5,000 best books. "When a woman sends her subscription to The Ladies' Home Journal special privileges seem to go with it, besides getting her full money's worth in the magazine. She can take the fullest advantage of a perfect educational plan by which she can educate her daughters or sons at the best colleges in the country free of charge, and now the Journal has arranged it so that she can buy her books—even a single book at a time—at prices heretofore obtained only by large buyers. There comes to us from this magazine a very artistically-gotten-up illustrated booklet of over 250 pages, called "5000 Books," which serves as an easy guide to the best books in any department of reading. The best literary experts of New York, Boston and Philadelphia, were engaged by the Journal to select the five-thousand books which it presents as the most desirable for a home library. "5000 Books" is unquestionably the best and easiest guide to a wise selection of books that has been issued for a long time.—The Ladies' Home Journal, Philadelphia, Pa.

The Personal Recollections of Joan of Arc, of which two installments have already been published, has, in addition to its intrinsic merit, the charm of timeliness; for, as the New York Tribune for April 21st says: "The Harper serial dealing with Joan of Arc... synchronizes with the swelling of the Napoleonic tide. The latter represents one current, the maid its antithesis. Napoleon speaks for the purely sophisticated side of the French genius. Joan is the type of her nation's saving grace, and the mystical envelope in which she survives is identified with the healthier impulses of the French spirit. . . . Joan of Arc will become something more than the heroine of a cult, for she was inspired by a spiritual fervor, and it is a spiritual inspiration which lives in her name."

Harper's Bazar will, during the month of May, publish very elegant fashion designs appropriate to the season. The Worth toilettes are both elaborate and simple, and include beautiful calling and reception gowns, house dresses, and dainty effects in costume for the early summer. Among literary features will be stories by Maria Louise Pool and Duffell Osborne; a practical series, by a practical house-keeper, on Laundry Work; a paper on Breathing, by Lillie Hamilton French, who is again at home, and, having concluded her Mediterranean notes, will give us Mrs. Van Twiller's agreeable afternoons in New York once more; and spectator, always popular and suggestive, will write of The Domestic Problem, of Visiting, and of How to Entertain Visitors.—Harper & Brothers, New York.

The editor of the Review of Reviews gives his testimony, based on personal observation, to the success of the South Carolina liquor system. "Drunkness and disorder," he says, "have decreased to a remarkable extent; and where, as the negro laborer was formerly accustomed to spend his week's earnings in carousing on Saturday night and Sunday, he is now spending more upon his family, or else saving his money to buy land."

Sportsmen will welcome Outing for May. The frontispiece shows the angler on the stream, and many other good things follow. Notable features of an excellent number are: "A Kangaroo Hunt," "After Trout in Ireland," "A May-Day's Canoeing," "A Fishing Tramp in North Carolina," "The Phantom Trout of Sullivan County," "Whitmore's Brook," "Fitting Out for a Cruise," and "On Summer Seas."—Outing Publishing Co., N. Y.

The Sources of the Social Evil. Mr. B. O. Flower, the Editor of Area, contributes a very forcible paper to the May issue of that review outlining the sources of the social evil in modern social and industrial conditions. He gives examples of the conditions under which hundreds and thousands of girls working for the sweaters in large American cities are compelled to live, and shows how they are reduced to the desperation of starvation and forced to make a choice between suicide and dishonor. If cheap clothes mean cheap souls, which are we going to choose?—Arena Pub. Co., Boston, Mass.

Many Shades of Brown. In the early days of Montana, says an exchange, the name of Brown was of such frequent occurrence that the old-timers distinguished them as follows: "Poker" Brown, "Hog" Brown, "Diamond R." Brown, "Log" Brown, "Snaggle Tooth" "Rocky Gap" Brown, "Whisky" Brown, "Deaf" Brown. The appliance of names to individuals for some act performed was peculiar. In Choteau county there resided "Spring Heel" Jack, "Sweet Oil" Bob, "Summer House" Charley, "Four-Jack" Bob, "Slippery" Jim, "Blondy Knife," "Roley Potey" Bob, "Slick" Jim. The latter gentleman was an expert in appropriating horses not his own, for which offense he served a term at the stone fort above Winnipeg. A good story could be told of each of the others. Every man sported some kind of title—colonels, majors, captains, judges and doctors being plentiful.

WINDING THROUGH THE HILLS. Charming Scenery Along the Life of a Great Railway System.

Love of the beautiful in nature is the wondrous link which brings humanity in touch with the great plan of creation, and makes the whole world kin. The hills and valleys, clad in their brightest verdure, present to the eye, to the mind and to the heart, a picture so pure, refining and elevating that men and women of the busy world turn to these softening influences, instinctively, and find relief. Thoughts of a better life, a more ennobling purpose in the world come to the traveler seated amid luxuriant surroundings and gliding smoothly, dreamily over the rails of such a line as the Fitchburg company has conducted with marked success between Troy and Boston, and other New England states, for so many years.

Leaving Troy by way of the Fitchburg railroad, the traveler is speedily, instantly, almost, whirled into another existence—into another realm. The transformation from the dusty, seamy city streets and dingy structures, to verdant hills, fields and wooded landscape, is no less sudden than it is delightful. The vision is greeted with an ever changing panorama of magnificence. Sameness and monotonous outline and effect do not enter into this experience. New scenery and views are given the beholder, because whether winding about the parapets of the Hudson valley, skirting the hills of the romantic Hoosick, or threading in and out among the Berkshires, the result is the same—all is new and the veteran traveler finds contentment and peace at last.

Concededly one of the grandest scenic routes in the United States, the Fitchburg impresses its patrons with the worth of its smooth roadbed, its coaches of luxurious equipment, and its swiftly-moving trains, before many miles of the great Troy and Boston journey have been covered. The conviction that the system is grandly perfect grows upon one as the minutes lengthen into hours, and by the time the Hoosick tunnel, with its thousand and ten score lights, have been encountered, the interest in the trip has become absorbing, and the traveler forgets that the train is carrying him on and on to its destination beside the sea.

The tunnel and who shall attempt a description of this awe-inspiring work and gloriously-achieved success—the tunnel passed, the mountain pierced for five miles, the train hurles itself into the light of day once more, and springs forward as if renewed by the bath it has received from the eternal rocks, as they drop by drop give forth their crystal waters. The Deerfield valley and beyond! It can never be forgotten, once looked upon either under the sun's rays or while sleeping beneath the beams of the silvery moon, shining as only the moon can shine amid those echo-laden forests and glens.

The glory of scene and change ceases only when the end of the Fitchburg road has been reached, and our readers will find no more enjoyable incident in their summer touring, than a ride over this splendidly equipped route. It communicates with Vermont and the other New England states, and is patronized by seekers after health, recreation and, better still, the beauties of nature. Troy takes pride in the Fitchburg railroad and its able management. As an institution of substantial worth to the city, and a railroad given to the public at large both convenience, speed, facility and beauty, it stands high in the estimation of every traveler who has enjoyed its service.—[Troy Sunday Observer.]

EASILY SCARED.

Medical Scientists Having a Jolly Time with English Aristocracy.

The English public appears at this moment to be under the spell of a bacillic spectre which disturbs severely the peace of mind of the well-to-do. With the advent of the epidemic of grip the doctors relied upon oysters and champagne as a mitigating remedy. Just at that time it was reported that typhoid fever was a possible sequence to indulgence in the first. In consequence the bivalve was avoided, with a corresponding increase in the dose of champagne. Following close on the heels of this theory came the discovery that death lurked in watercress. Dr. Verdon, the medical officer of the health board of Lambeth, stated officially, after an inspection of the various watercress farms about London, that the plant was contaminated with sewage water and consequently dangerous to the health of the people of London, who consumed all the Lambeth crop. On top of this it was announced that bread was positively dangerous unless baked at a temperature of 100 deg. centigrade. As no one could be positive that this particular degree of heat was employed in the brand which he consumed, all bread was looked upon with suspicion. To add to this burden of uncertainty, bacteriologists uttered a note of warning against the contaminating possibilities of the common house fly. It was clearly demonstrated by these investigators, that, in default of any other explanation, the fly must be held responsible for the spread of disease. There is at least one advantage in the acute interest of people in the bacillic theory, and that is the closer attention which is now given to care in the preparation of food. This is very much in evidence in the kitchens of hotels. There are many of these in New York, where every person who has anything to do with the cooking, preparing, or serving of aliments is required before he enters the kitchen to wash his hands thoroughly with antiseptic soap and to dry them on a separate towel. Care is taken that this process shall be repeated at intervals during the day, clean towels being provided for each abluition.

The Oldest Republic.

San Marino, in Italy, on the coast of the Adriatic Sea, is the oldest republic in the world. It is next to Monaco, the smallest state in Europe. The exact date of the establishment of this republic is not known, but according to tradition, it was in the fourth century, by Marinus, a Dalmatian hermit, and has ever since remained independent. It is mountainous, and contains four or five villages. The word "Liberty" is inscribed on its capitol.

The Ramphorhynchus.

The Ramphorhynchus, the remains of which have been found in the quarries of Solenhofen, was a curious intermediate link between birds and reptiles. Its tail, a singular appendage, was long, reptile-like, and dragged upon the ground, while its footprints were bird-like.

Mortgage Sale.

Default having been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage heretofore executed and given by Sarah E. Calvert to Jessie P. Hunt, dated the 18th day of July 1887, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for Washtenaw County, Michigan, July 23, 1887, in Liber 72 of mortgages on page 209, which said mortgage was, on the 18th day of July 1889, duly assigned by said Jessie P. Hunt to Leonard Gruner, which said assignment was recorded, in said Register Office on the 10th day of April 1895 in Liber 12th of assignments of mortgages on page 156 upon which said mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice, for principal interest and attorney's fee as provided for in said mortgage the sum of six hundred and ninety and sixty-one and one-hundredths dollars. That by said default, the power of sale contained in said mortgage has become operative, and no proceedings at law having been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage.

Notice is hereby given that said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the mortgaged premises at public vendue, to the highest bidder, at the southerly front door of the Court House, in the City of Ann Arbor, in said County and State, on Saturday the 12th day of July, A. D. 1895, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, to satisfy the amount claimed to be due on said mortgage and all legal costs, said mortgaged premises are described as follows:

All that certain piece or parcel of land situate and being in the City of Ann Arbor in the County of Washtenaw and State of Michigan and described as follows, to-wit: Commencing at a point in the west line of Mann street eight rods north of the north-west corner of Mann and Huron streets, running thence north on said west line of Mann street forty-three and one-third rods, thence west at right angles with said line and parallel with Huron street about eighteen 18-25 rods to a line which is six rods east of the west line of section twenty-nine, thence south parallel with Mann street forty-three and one-third rods, thence east to the place of beginning, excepting a piece of land three rods wide off the north end and running west of Mann street for a road. According to the recorded plat of said City of Ann Arbor, County and State aforesaid.

Dated, Ann Arbor, the 12th day of April, 1895.

LEONARD GRUNER, Assignee of said mortgage. F. PISTORIUS, Attorney for said Assignee. 72

Chancery Sale.

In pursuance and by virtue of a decree of the Circuit Court for the County of Washtenaw, State of Michigan, in Chancery made and entered on the fourth day of December, 1893, in a certain cause therein pending, wherein Stoddard W. Twitchell is complainant and Elias W. Hobbs and Harriet Hobbs are defendants, notice is hereby given that I shall sell at public auction to the highest bidder at the South or Huron street entrance of the Court House in the City of Ann Arbor, State of Michigan, (that being the building in which the Circuit Court for the County of Washtenaw is held), on Wednesday, the 5th day of June, 1895, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day the following described property, viz:

All those certain pieces or parcels of land situated in the township of York in the County of Washtenaw and State of Michigan and described as follows to-wit: The west half of the west half of the north-west quarter of section thirty-two (32) also the north half of the north-west quarter of the south-west quarter of said section thirty-two (32). Also another parcel of land bounded and described as follows: Commencing at the south-east corner of the west half of the south-west quarter of said section thirty-two (32) running from thence west along the south line of said section thirty-two (32) to the east line of the west half of the south-west quarter of said section thirty-two (32) to a point about twenty-six (26) rods north from the south line of said section, and at the north line of the above piece above described running thence north on said east line about ninety-four (94) rods to the south-east corner of the above described twenty-acre tract, thence west along the south line of that tract fourteen rods or far enough so that to extend a line south to the five-acre piece above described shall include a strip of land containing eight acres; all in said section thirty-two (32) in said township of York with the hereditaments there unto belonging or in anywise appertaining. Dated, Ann Arbor, April 10, 1895.

JOSEPH F. WEBB, Circuit Court Commissioner, Washtenaw County, Michigan. CRAMER & CRAMER, Solicitors for Complainants. (66)

Default having been made in the condition of a mortgage executed by William Coulson to Marinda L. White, bearing date July 14th, A. D. 1883, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for Washtenaw County, Michigan, July 16th, A. D. 1883 in Liber 57 of mortgages on page 463, by which default the power of sale contained in said mortgage became operative, and no suit or proceeding in law or equity having been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof, and the sum of seven hundred and eleven dollars ($711) being now claimed to be due on said mortgage, notice is, therefore, hereby given that said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the mortgaged premises therein described, or some part thereof, to-wit:

All of the following described land situated in the township of Lyndon, in Washtenaw county and state of Michigan, viz: The Northwest quarter (N. W. 1-4) of the Southeast quarter (S. E. 1-4) and the Northeast quarter (N. E. 1-4) of the Southeast quarter (S. E. 1-4) and sixty-three (63) acres off of the South part of the Northeast fractional quarter (N. E. 1-4) all on section No. fifteen (15) in township No. one (1) South in range No. three (3) East and containing one hundred and forty-three acres of land more or less, excepting and reserving therefrom the South sixty-three acres of the Northeast quarter (N. E. 1-4) of section No. fifteen (15) in township No. one (1) South in range No. three (3) East, it being said township of Lyndon, excepting the South six acres of said last mentioned land, intending hereby to except from said first described lands fifty-seven acres of land more or less heretofore conveyed to Daniel Scriptor, at public vendue on Friday, the 12th day of July next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at the east front door of the Court House in the City of Ann Arbor, in said County of Washtenaw, that being the place of holding the circuit Court in said County.

Dated, April 17th, A. D. 1895. MARINDA L. WHITE, Mortgagor. N. W. CHEEVER, Attorney. (72)

Chancery Sale.

In pursuance and by virtue of a decree of the Circuit Court for the County of Washtenaw, in Chancery, made and entered on the eighth day of October 1894, in a certain cause therein pending, wherein Caroline Gall was complainant and Anson J. Gall, Mary Austin, Rosa Martin, Lena Hudson, Augustus F. Gall, Ellen Gall and Emma Gall were defendants, notice is hereby given that I shall sell at public auction to the highest bidder at the South or Huron street entrance of the Court House, in the City of Ann Arbor, State of Michigan, (that being the building in which the Circuit Court for the County of Washtenaw is held), on Wednesday, the 12th day of June 1895, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day the following described property, viz:

All those certain pieces or parcels of land situate and being in the township of Manchester, County of Washtenaw and State of Michigan, bounded and described as follows, viz: The south-west corner of the south-west quarter of section twenty-one in township four south of range three east, supposed to contain two and thirty-one hundredths acres of land and bounded as follows: commencing seven chains eighty-three links west of the south-east corner of the west half of the south-west quarter of section twenty-one, thence north one chain eighty-four links to a stake, thence south seventy-seven and one-fourth degrees west, five chains and seventy-four links to a stake, standing in the highway; thence north fifty-eight degrees west, seven chains ninety-five links to a stake in the center of the highway being also a section boundary line; thence south four chains fifty links to the corner between sections twenty, twenty-one, twenty-eight and twenty-nine; thence east twelve chains and seventeen links to the place of beginning.

Also that other parcel of land described as being a part of the west half of the north-west quarter of section twenty-eight and bounded as follows: Beginning at the north-west corner of said section twenty-eight, thence south twelve chains; thence north eighty-five degrees and twenty-seven minutes east sixteen chains and twenty-one links; thence east parallel with section line three chains and six links; thence north eighty-two degrees east four chains and seventy; thence north eight chains and eighty-five links; thence north eighty-two degrees east, four chains and seventy-five links; thence north one chain; thence west on the section line to the place of beginning containing twenty three acres be the same more or less.

Also, so much of the north-east quarter and of the east half of the north-west quarter of section twenty-nine as has not been heretofore conveyed to Charles Clark and wife, Charles Wolcott, James Nowlen and Albert Barns by Samuel Estabrook and his grantors or one of them, together with all the right to raise the lake upon said premises to its full and highest level and to enjoy the outlets therefrom and the water power of said lake, which is reserved by the grantors of the said Samuel M. Estabrook in the several conveyances of adjacent land.

Dated, April 18th, 1895. O. ELMER BUTTERFIELD, Circuit Court Commissioner, Washtenaw County, Michigan. A. J. WATERS, Solicitor for Complainant. (67)

Mortgage Sale.

Default having been made in the condition of a mortgage executed by William Coulson to Marinda L. White, bearing date July 14th, A. D. 1883, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for Washtenaw County, Michigan, July 16th, A. D. 1883 in Liber 57 of mortgages on page 463, by which default the power of sale contained in said mortgage became operative, and no suit or proceeding in law or equity having been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof, and the sum of seven hundred and eleven dollars ($711) being now claimed to be due on said mortgage, notice is, therefore, hereby given that said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the mortgaged premises therein described, or some part thereof, to-wit:

All of the following described land situated in the township of Lyndon, in Washtenaw county and state of Michigan, viz: The Northwest quarter (N. W. 1-4) of the Southeast quarter (S. E. 1-4) and the Northeast quarter (N. E. 1-4) of the Southeast quarter (S. E. 1-4) and sixty-three (63) acres off of the South part of the Northeast fractional quarter (N. E. 1-4) all on section No. fifteen (15) in township No. one (1) South in range No. three (3) East and containing one hundred and forty-three acres of land more or less, excepting and reserving therefrom the South sixty-three acres of the Northeast quarter (N. E. 1-4) of section No. fifteen (15) in township No. one (1) South in range No. three (3) East, it being said township of Lyndon, excepting the South six acres of said last mentioned land, intending hereby to except from said first described lands fifty-seven acres of land more or less heretofore conveyed to Daniel Scriptor, at public vendue on Friday, the 12th day of July next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at the east front door of the Court House in the City of Ann Arbor, in said County of Washtenaw, that being the place of holding the circuit Court in said County.

Dated, April 17th, A. D. 1895. MARINDA L. WHITE, Mortgagor. N. W. CHEEVER, Attorney. (72)

HYDRAULIC FORGING.

Fully Developed in Germany and Utilized
by England.

Announcement is made that the Brenner-Schumacher process of hydraulic forging, so fully developed in Germany, has been introduced in England by a Leeds concern, who have made a press that exerts a pressure of 700 tons, and can make long and slow strokes or short and quick ones, as desired; a large steam cylinder is used instead of a pumping engine, the piston of which is prolonged and acts as a ram for exerting hydraulic pressure on the forging tools through the medium of a second hydraulic cylinder. Briefly, there are two steam cylinders placed over the press to lift the forging crosshead, by which the upper forging tool is carried,
and, when it is desired to work in the ordinary way with heavy pressure, the admission and exhaust of steam in these lifting cylinders is controlled by the same lever which regulates the admission and the exhausting of the steam in the large driving cylinder; but for quick working, direct and uninterrupted communication is established by means of a separate cock between these lifting cylinders and the boiler. In this way there is then always the full boiler pressure beneath the cylinder, tending to keep the crosshead and upper tool at the top of the stroke, but the main steam cylinder, which puts on the forging pressure—through the hydraulic mechanism—is of so much greater area than the combined area of the two small cylinders that the crosshead is pressed down with considerable force, although, of course, with less force than if the two lifting cylinders were exhausting in the usual way.

That tired feeling, loss of appetite and nervous prostration are driven away by Hood's Sarsaparilla, which makes pure blood.

HE LONGS FOR PIE.

Away With Foreign Cooks Who Won't

Serve Mince and Pumpkin.

I must protest with great vehemence against the prejudice—a consequence of ignorance—sustained here by the chefs of first-class restaurants against the pie of pumpkin and the pie of mince.
It is only on rare occasions that you may order and get a section of either pumpkin or mince pie at Delmonico's, the St. James, the Waldorf or the Brunswick. Every sort of fruit or cream pie makes its appearance from time to time on the cartes du jour of these restaurants, but that beautiful sunflower of pastry, the "pumpkin," and that bewildering apotheosis of American independence, the mince pie, seldom form a part of the Gallo collections. I trust that I shall always be able to eat and value the splendors of French cookery without peptic accompaniment or subsequent regrets, but, as an American citizen, I demand that the national dishes of delight, the mince and pumpkin pies, be retained upon their pedestals and flashed under our eager eyes whenever our souls send forth a cry for them. I should make it a misdemeanor on the part of a restaurant keeper not to include these pies in his daily menu, punishable with a fine and imprisonment. I have lately called for "pumpkin" pie at Delmonico's and the St. James, and at both places
I was told they had only plum and cur-tard. What a deadly insult to offer an American! We can dispense with all the trifling intricacies known to the French culinary art before we can part with the props and buttresses of our constitution, the pie of beautiful pumpkin and its cousin of magnificent mince

An Amusing Oversight.

An amusing incident occurred at a fashionable wedding in London. One friend, who determined to save her money and credit at the same time, took a broken earring to a famous jeweler of Bond street and ordered the little stone to be set as a scarf-pin for the groom. As she sagely remarked: "It does me no good, and,
coming from such a famous establishment, they are sure to prize it and think I paid a lot of money." When the package was returned from the shop the wedding guest failed to examine her proposed present, and merely dispatched it with her card and compliments. Imagine her disgust when strolling through the rooms
where the bridal gifts were displayed, to find a dozen people about her offering, and each one smiling. For a moment she hesitated then pressed forward, and lo! there was the precious white satin covered box, bearing the prize name, it is true, but, alas!
below: "From the repairing department." And, even worse than all.
Resting on the blue cotton beside the pin, was an old broken bit of earring returned by the conscientious firm.

Mary Queen of Scots Had the Grip.

Mary queen of Scots once suffered from influenza. The incident is recorded in Strickland's life of Mary, which says: "Immediately upon the queen's arrival in Edinburgh she fell acquainted with a new disease that is common in this town, called 'The New Acquaintance,' which passed also through her whole household." The symptoms, as described, fully identify the disease with what we call influenza. The queen, it is added, kept her bed for six days.

Jesse Pomeroy's Peculiarities as a Solitary Life Prisoner.

I have been within ten feet of Jesse Pomeroy, inmate of the vast gray walls of Charlestown penitentiary, the strange, warped human being who once bore that name is hidden away from the sight of man forever in a living death, unknown by the coming generation and forgotten by the passing one.
He has a double cell, much larger than the ordinary cell, into which the sunlight streams, says a Boston writer. His room is neat, and he himself is the personification of neatness. Upon this he prides himself. He wears a beard, which is kept neatly trimmed. He changes the style of it occasionally to suit himself, and displays as much taste and is as well aware of what is becoming as the most exquisite man of fashion.

"But is he well?" I asked of the one who gave me this information, and one who knows.

"As well as you are," was the reply,
"and he looks well."

"People say a man cannot live without exercise. The only exercise he gets is in his cell, walking up and down, yet no one could possibly be healthier than he is. So far as I know, he has never known a sick day and he has been a prisoner in absolutely solitary confinement for sixteen years. He is a great reader and student. He speaks three different languages. He does not want to work, but prefers his books."

"Does he seem to have any curiosity about the outside world?" I asked.

"Yes, I presume so, although he never asks. He does not ask privileges; no doubt he realizes it would be in vain.
The only favor he has asked of Gen.
Bridges since he has been warden was permission to keep the box his holiday things came in. This favor had been granted to him once before, and he used the cover to hide a hole he had dug in the wall.

"If he gets a penknife or a spoon, the probabilities are he will commence and
dig. The walls are so thick it is impossible for him to escape, and no doubt he does it to make the prison officials uneasy, more than anything else."

He is a remarkably good-looking man, a fine-looking man, in fact. If you should pass his cell, ignorant of his name, you would comment upon his appearance and select him as a man much above the ordinary."

It is said that either his hearing is supernaturally acute or else he is possessed of some strange sixth sense, enabling him to know things that have transpired before the guards themselves. One instance of this is related.
A couple of years ago the prisoners were all assembled in the chapel awaiting the annual announcement of the governor's pardons. Before the convicts' cheers which greeted the lucky ones had died out, Prison Physician Mc-Laughlin had occasion to attend a prisoner located in the same tier as Pomeroy. As the doctor passed Jesse's cell he called to the doctor, saying, "So the governor has pardoned two men," and giving their names. The doctor has never been able to understand how Pomeroy knew of these names. Not half a dozen people have seen him since he was a boy, and he has seen no woman's face but his mother's since his incarceration.

It Is the Same Now that It Was a Century Ago.

A peculiar fact was lately pointed out by the president of the Manchester, England, Geological society, namely,
that although much has been done to improve the operation of coal cutting, the collier's pick remains exactly what it has been for the past century, and as to coal-cutting mechanisms, not a single machine of the kind is at work in the Manchester district today. As to the motive power and the three methods of driving, viz., steam, compressed air and electricity, the president considered steam to be impracticable, but much was to be said in favor of compressed air as to being safe as well as helping to cool and ventilate the workings, but the loss in transmission is very great; on the other hand electrical transmission involves a loss of not more than five per cent., and now that the difficulty from sparking has been overcome, it must be regarded as the motivative power of the future. A novel machine combining these two forces has been introduced; it has, in a word, the advantages of compressed air, while the actual motive power is electricity—
the mechanism is, briefly stated, a cutter-bar drill and an electric motor connected by suitable gearing, and in doing its work only the minimum of dust is produced.

FOR THOSE BURIED ALIVE.

Device to Supply Them With Air—Can Signal the Sexton.

There are a great many people in this city who have a constant dread of being buried alive. Whenever their thoughts turn on death they consider this possibility. It is not strange, therefore, that the genius of the American inventor has come to the front in this field and has patented a number of articles designed to guarantee that when you are in your grave, in case you should come to life, you can tell the cemetery authorities and be resurrected. I saw such a machine yesterday.

It consisted of a long tube running down through the coffin to the nose of the supposed corpse. Down this tube fresh air was constantly forced by means of a pinwheel attachment over the grave. On the forehead of the supposed corpse is placed a large button of wood, adjusted in such a way that in case the supposed corpse should move in the grave a sort of foghorn signal will be blown up above the ground and the grave digger summoned.

Bullets in Flight.

In a lecture on the effects of rifles Prof. Horsley of London, having showed some photographs of bullets in flight, demonstrated that in front of every bullet is a parabolic curve of compressed air, while behind it there are a series of little eddies of air rushing into the vacuum created by the flight of the missile.
