ANN ARBOR, MICHIGAN, THURSDAY, AUGUST 1, 1895.

WHOLE NO. 1075.

NO INJUNCTION.

THE COUNCIL ACCEPTED THE ROAD ROLLER.

Only Three Dissenting Votes—The Injunction Hinted at Did Not Materialize—It Was Done at the Special Session—The Mayor Called a Meeting Only a Few Hours Before It Convened.

The mayor at noon Tuesday called a special meeting of the council for that evening. The purpose of the meeting was to hear the report of the board of public works as to whether the new road roller and stone crusher, which had been tested, had fulfilled the conditions of the contract. The official proceedings given below show what the tests developed. The much talked of threat of certain parties that before the matter was finally settled, an injunction would be sworn out restraining the city from the purchase of a road roller, seems to have ended with a threat. The statement that was made to THE REGISTER that the meeting of the council to finally settle the matter was called suddenly and with only a few hours notice was for the purpose of avoiding the danger of an injunction, seems to be entirely without foundation. Following is the official report of the session:

COUNCIL CHAMBER,
ANN ARBOR, July 30, 1895. }
Special session.

Called to order by President Hiseock.
Roll called. Quorum present.

COMMUNICATIONS FROM THE MAYOR.
Mayor's Office, July 30, 1895.

Glen V. Mills, City Clerk.

You will please call a special meeting of the Common Council to meet this evening at 8 o'clock for the purpose of hearing the reports of the Board of Public Works on the tests given the road roller and stone crusher and also to purchase or reject the same.

W. E. WALKER,
Mayor.

COMMUNICATIONS FROM THE BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS.
To the Common Council:

Gentlemen: The Board of Public Works would respectfully report to the Common Council that they have had Inspector Ward test the Austin stone crusher and attach his report of the test and his examination of said machine hereto to which they would respectfully invite the attention of the Council. The Board also report that they believe the crusher to come up to the guarantee made by the F. C. Austin Manufacturing Co.

GLEN V. MILLS, Clerk.
To the Honorable Board of Public Works,
City of Ann Arbor.

Gentlemen: I hereby report that I have subjected the No. 3 Austin rock breaker, now on trial by the City of Ann Arbor, to the hereinafter described tests, and I find that it fills the requirement of the guarantee which is a part of the contract under which the said machine was furnished by the F. C. Austin Manufacturing Co.

With a medium jaw opening the machine crushed 105 tons of quartzite and granite boulders in eight and one-half hours an average of twelve tons seven hundred pound per hour. With a maximum jaw opening the above capacity was increased about twenty per cent, with a minimum jaw opening the capacity was about eight tons per hour. The crusher ran smoothly in all its parts and the measurements of parts correspond to those of the guarantee.

Respectfully submitted,
CHAS. A. WARD.

To the Common Council:

The Board of Public Works would respectfully report to the Common Council that they have had Inspector Ward test as far as was practicable the Steam Road Roller tendered to the City by the Pitts Agricultural Works and attach his report of his examination and test made hereto for your consideration.

The Board would respectfully say that they are not personally experienced in either the quality required in such a machine or the works it should do therefore cannot express a personal opinion as to the merits of the roller.

GLEN V. MILLS, Clerk.
To the Honorable Board of Public Works
of the City of Ann Arbor.

Gentlemen: I hereby report that I have examined the Pitts Agricultural Works steam road roller now on trial in the city of Ann Arbor and find that it is built according to the specifications contained in the proposals of said company.

The extras consisting of a plow, harrow, and detachable pulley for running rock breaker have been furnished by said "Pitts Agricultural Works."

The roller has performed the road working test to which it was put in a satisfactory manner.

The engine has worked perfectly under the continuous strain required to run the rock breaker.

The power of the engine is much

SECRETARY GARDNER'S REPORT On Poultry, Eggs and Hay.

The following are some figures taken from a recent report on chicken raising and sale of eggs in this state for the year ending June 1, 1894. Also on the product of meadows and capacity of silos at the same time:

The number of chickens in the State June 1, 1894, was 7,102,007; turkeys, 273,578; geese, 75,146; ducks, 125,510. The number of dozens of eggs sold during the year ending June 1, 1894, was 24,181,138, the value of which was $3,040,977, or 12.6 cents per dozen.

By the United States census of 1890 the number of chickens in the State June 1, 1890, was 5,852,690, and of "all other fowl," 357,534. The chickens reported in 1890 were 1,249,317 less, and "all other fowl," 116,700 less, than reported in the present census. The United States census return of eggs is 34,309,633 dozens. This is 10,127,495 dozens more than sold in the year ending June 1, 1894, as shown by the present census.

The number of acres of clover mown was 911,699, and of meadows other than clover 1,351,477, making a total of 2,263,176 acres of meadows harvested in 1893. The yield of clover hay was 1,238,185 tons, an average of 1.36 tons per acre, and of meadows other than clover 1,717,672 tons, an average of 1.27 tons per acre. The total hay crop was 2,955,857 tons. The number of bushels of clover seed harvested was 178,074, and of grass seed, 14,781.

Compared with the totals in the State census of 1884, the area of clover meadows mown was 123,334 acres less, and the product was 184,743 tons less than in 1883, while the area of meadows other than clover harvested was 676,652 acres more, and the product 852,453 tons more than in 1883.

The number of acres of hay mown in the State in 1889, as shown by the United States census of 1890, was 2,024,736, and the tons harvested 2,385,155, an average of 1.18 tons per acre. The area harvested was 238,440 acres less, and the product 570,702 tons less than the area and product in 1893, as shown by the present census.

There were 668,593 tons of hay sold during the year ending June 1, 1894, which is valued at $5,247,555, an average of $7.85 per ton, and there were 53,738 tons of straw sold, valued at $141,935, an average of $2.64 per ton. The entire hay crop of the State, 2,955,857 tons, at the same value per ton as that sold, $7.85, was worth $23,203,477. The hay sold was 22.62 per cent of the entire crop. The hay left on farms was 2,287,264 tons, worth $17,955,922.

The number of silos in the State June 1, 1894, was 501 with a capacity of 52,846 tons. The number of acres of corn raised for silage in 1893 was 7,259. An average yield of 7.28 tons per acre from this acreage would be sufficient to fill the silos reported.

The number and capacity of the silos returned from each of four sections of the State are as follows: Southern counties, number 327, capacity 34,412 tons; central counties, number 98, capacity 11,717 tons; northern counties, number 69, capacity 5937; upper peninsula, number 7, capacity 780.

Students Take Notice.

Examinations of candidates for admission to the Michigan Agricultural College will be held at the time of the regular teachers' examinations, and will be conducted in the same manner as these examinations. The work of each and every candidate, together with the name and address, will be forwarded by the commissioner, within five days from the date of the examination, to the president of the college, who will examine and grade the answers and report to the candidate within five days receipt of the paper, the result of the examination. A standard of 80 per cent in each branch will admit to the freshman class of the college without further examination.

WM. W. WEDEMAYER,
Commissioner of Schools.

The Students' Directory.

The Students' Directory will be published this fall in more complete form than ever. It will be issued promptly on Nov. 1. It will contain the name, department, class, city address, and home address of every student enrolled in the University on the above date. An edition of 2000 copies will be published. This handy reference book is one constantly used by all students in the University and is therefore the best advertising medium in which to keep an advertisement constantly before the student body. There is probably not a student in the University who does not make use of this directory several times every week during the school year. Orders for space in this book may be left at THE REGISTER Office, or given to the undersigned, or to Mr. O. E. Wagner. Those who call first will have choice of location.

Garfield's Favorite Hymn.

In his address at the Hiram Reunion, June 21, Professor B. A. Hinsdale, of Michigan University, formerly president of Hiram College, and close personal friend of President Garfield, told the story of how Garfield's favorite hymn came to be known to the world as such.

As our readers doubtless know "Ho, Reapers of Life's Harvest" was dear to all the students of the Eclectic Institute, where "Mr." Garfield—as he was called in those days—was wont to call for it day after day, and to enjoy the song with a simple-hearted enthusiasm peculiarly his own. The words seemed to breathe his own sense of the richness of life's opportunities and the joyful abandon with which he entered into his duties.

When the shock of his death had come, and the arrangements for the funeral were being made in the city of Cleveland, some of his old friends and former students expressed a desire to have "Ho, Reapers of Life's Harvest" sung upon that occasion. President Hinsdale and J. H. Rhodes, Esq., called upon the chairman of the Committee on Music and suggested the idea to him.

Several weeks later President Hinsdale was greeted on the street by the chairman to whom he had taken his request. "I merely wish to say you," said this gentleman, "that the classical music rendered on the occasion of the president's funeral was forgotten almost as soon as its notes died away; but that 'General Garfield's favorite hymn,' sung by him among his students long ago, was telegraphed from coast to coast, and is now famous the world around."

The story is well worth repeating, not only because it gives an interesting bit of history, but also because it contains a thought which musicians everywhere might do well to heed.—Hiram College Bulletin, July 1895.

NEWS OF THE HAPPENINGS IN MICHIGAN.

The Marquette County Miners' Strike is Still on and Grows More Serious Daily—Thirty Years Prison in for a Train Wrecker—Gen. Geo. T. Shaffer Dead.

A secret meeting of mine owners was held at Cleveland. It is reported that an increase in the wage scale was agreed to, but that it will not be as great as demanded by the miners. The strikers seem more confident of winning their cause than at any time. They have organized a miners' union with a membership of almost 4,000. The daily parades and meetings in the park between the two cities are attended by large numbers and much enthusiasm is shown. Some of the over-zealous strikers tried to prevent work on public streets and buildings, but their actions are declared to have been unauthorized.

The 300 men employed at the Champion mine, 19 miles from Negaunee, have also quit work. Supt. Fitch says the mine will be closed indefinitely. Capt. Hoar appealed to the strikers to permit him to resume work at the Star of the West mine. He offered to grant all demands, but the strikers said that all of the mines in the county would have to remain closed until a general advance is granted.

Miners Reject Owners' Proposition. The reply of the mine owners to the ultimatum of the strikers was received by the strike leaders and opened and read at a largely attended meeting of the strikers at the park between Ishpeming and Negaunee. The communication was to the effect that the schedule of wages demanded was too high and could not be granted, but the owners would concede some advance which would be made known if the men would report at the various mines for work. This proposition was rejected by the crowd with scarcely any discussion. They pointed to the absence of figures or any definiteness relative to wages and to the reasonableness of their own figures and asserted that nothing short of their full demand will suffice. They claim that for the men to agree to a scale separately would cause the disintegration of their union and they will brook no interference with the regular method of business observed by the strikers as a body. Here their determination is most pronounced.

Forest Fires Raging Again.

Extensive forest fires are raging northwest of Gladstone and considerable apprehension is felt for the "So" railroad company's roundhouse and the plant of the washboard company. Another fire is raging on the peninsula east of the city and is destroying much valuable timber. It is feared that it will reach the farms in which case much suffering will be caused. There has been no rain for some time and the swamps and slashings are dry.

Fires are raging near the outlet of Houghton lake. The Dewey State Co. have 2,000,000 feet of elm and basswood on the banks of the Muskegon and tributaries in that locality and 200,000 feet have burned already.

Trainmen report at Traverse City that the inhabitants of Grawn, on the C. & W. M., are forced to fight fires to protect their property. Serious damage has already been done.

Gen. Geo. T. Shaffer Dead.

Gen. Geo. T. Shaffer, ex-commissioner of the state land office, died at his home in Calvin township, Cass county, of hemorrhage of the lungs. He had been in poor health for some time. George T. Shaffer was born near Springfield, O., October 9, 1822, and with his parents, settled in Calvin township, in 1852. After reaching manhood he became teacher in a school, a farmer in summer. In 1859 he went to California. In 1863 he returned to Michigan, purchasing a farm of 230 acres, in Calvin township, upon which he has since resided. He enlisted in the Nineteenth Michigan Infantry, became first lieutenant and was five times promoted for gallant and meritorious service and remained in the service until 1863. He was elected commissioner of the state land office in the Democratic ticket in 1880.

Harbor Springs Indians Want Money.

A. J. Blackburn, of Harbor Springs, has the name of 200 Indians in that region, who claim a share of the $150,000 to be distributed among the Pottawatomies, near Dowagiac. In 1833 a secondary treaty gave the Pottawatomies the right to go to any part of Michigan without relinquishing tribal privileges. Eight families went to northern Michigan, and their descendants are pressing their claims. Chief Pokagon, of Dowagiac, vigorously protests these claims, however.

Serious Blaze at Union City.

A $6,000 fire in the business portion of Union City created considerable excitement. When first discovered Banford's block was in flames and the fire had already communicated to the adjoining building, occupied by Ewers' drug store. Notwithstanding the prompt action of the fire department these buildings were destroyed, as well as the Chase block. The Paddock house escaped burning, but was on fire several times.

Train Wrecker Sent Up for 30 Years.

Cass Waterman, arrested at Lowell for attempting to wreck a D., G. H. & M. train near Saranac, was sentenced to 30 years in the state prison at Jackson. He lays his trouble to May Hunter, of Grand Rapids, who he claims arranged the plans. Waterman was to wreck the train, pretend to have been aboard and injured and sue the railroad company for damages.

The home of Mrs. Watts, near Stockbridge, was destroyed by fire. The loss is $3,500, with little insurance.

Peter Venise's three-year-old child ate a piece of bread on which Paris green had been spread for rats and died, near Three Oaks.

The 12-year-old daughter of Mathias Olk fell a distance of less than ten feet from a ladder at Jackson, breaking both legs and both arms.

A prominent farmer near Springport became enraged at a horse because it balked and seizing a pitchfork he repeatedly thrust it into the animal's side. He then pounded the poor beast about the head with a heavy chain. The heartless man worked the horse daily for a week until it died.

AMERICAN MACHINERY.

European Manufacturers Already Find It Best to Use It Largely. Continued reports are received in this country of the large opportunities for the introduction of American machinery and the investment of American capital which are offered by the peace agreement entered into between China and Japan.

A provision is made that China shall hereafter be open for the introduction of all forms of modern machinery, and that such machinery shall be admitted free of duty. The Emperor of China has heretofore strictly prohibited the introduction of modern machinery, as the result of which the Chinese are to-day using wooden planes similar to those made centuries ago. May it not be possible that American shoe machinery will find its way into the Celestial Empire? And it is beyond the comprehension of the ordinary individual to estimate as to what is likely to be the result. It is said that the mill manufacturers in England are beginning to be alarmed by the transmission of cotton manufacture from Europe to Asia. The great trouble seems to be that there is no means by which England or America can meet the competition which is likely to come from Asia as the extension of knowledge and civilization goes on, for the Asiatics, when they once learn to operate the improved machinery which they will now be permitted to employ, will have such an abundance of labor available as to appall ordinary comprehension. Think of four hundred millions of Chinese and three hundred millions of Hindoos who have been accustomed to work for ten cents a day and less! As Matthew Marshall said recently: "These people will constitute a new mine of human labor as extensive and valuable as were the fertile lands of America when it was first discovered or the gold fields of California and Australia." This may be all right for those who will utilize the labor, but how about the Americans and Europeans with whom they will compete in products? Every woman needs Dr. Miles' Pain Pills. Dr. Miles' Nerve Plasters for Rheumatism. Pain has no show with Dr. Miles' Pain Pills.

A BOON FOR WOMEN.

Dr. Hartman's Great Remedy as a Prescription for Worn-out Women. It has been a well-known fact for years that the United States contains thousands and tens of thousands of tired, nervous, fretful women. They are not actually sick, but so languid and frail and haggard that life seems to have lost all of its pleasures for them, and those who live with them are sometimes worried almost into the same condition by hearing their incessant complaints. But it seems to the poor sufferers that nothing goes right; that everybody they come in contact with is opposed to them, and, as a consequence, they are fretful and irritable.

It is to such women as this that Peru-na comes as a blessing in a time of the greatest need. By making a thorough trial of this prince of remedies they will soon be made to realize its great worth and will never be without it again. It will bring back to their wasted cheeks the plumpness and bright color of perfect health, remove from their jaded minds all of the prejudices and worries with which they have been suffering, and give them a buoyancy of step and sparkle of eye that only the best of health ever brings. Send for free copy of new Ill of Life. Address The Peru-na Drug Manufacturing Company of Columbus, Ohio. For free book on cancer address Dr. Hartman, Columbus, Ohio.

Tickets will be on sale August tenth and eleventh and will be good for return not later than August 25. Stop-over privileges will be allowed at Colorado points, going. CASTORIA for Infants and Children.

MOTHERS, Do You Know that Paregoric, Bateman's Drops, Godfrey's Cordial, many so-called Soothing Syrups, and most remedies for children are composed of opium or morphine?

- Do You Know that opium and morphine are stupefying narcotic poisons?
Do You Know that in most countries druggists are not permitted to sell narcotics without labeling them poisons?
Do You Know that you should not permit any medicine to be given your child unless you or your physician know of what it is composed?
Do You Know that Castoria is a purely vegetable preparation, and that a list of its ingredients is published with every bottle?
Do You Know that Castoria is the prescription of the famous Dr. Samuel Pitcher. That it has been in use for nearly thirty years, and that more Castoria is now sold than of all other remedies for children combined?
Do You Know that the Patent Office Department of the United States, and of other countries, have issued exclusive right to Dr. Pitcher and his assigns to use the word "Castoria" and its formula, and that to imitate them is a state prison offense?
Do You Know that one of the reasons for granting this government protection was because Castoria had been proven to be absolutely harmless?
Do You Know that 35 average doses of Castoria are furnished for 35 cents, or one cent a dose?
Do You Know that when possessed of this perfect preparation, your children may be kept well, and that you may have unbroken rest?
Well, these things are worth knowing. They are facts.

The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher is on every wrapper.

REVIEW OF TRADE.

Dun's says: It is not the season for a tide of business to rise, but there is perceived scarcely any shrinkage except that which naturally comes with midsummer. The volume of new business is small compared with recent months, but large enough to encourage more openings of long closed works and more advances in returns to labor. Important strikes show that the advance is not enough for some. Accounts of shrinkage in the yield of wheat come both from Pacific states and from the Dakotas. Light western receipts for the week not a third of last year's strength at export ports, because the price a year ago was about 20 cents lower than it is now. The western movement largely depends on the export demand, which is phenomenally light. Corn advanced with wheat, but later lost the gain. Prices of iron and steel products still rise. Bessemer pig does not advance, although the Carnegie and one other company have been buying. Otherwise there is a distinct halting in new demand, though nearly all iron and steel works are coppered with orders for some time to come. Copper has again advanced. Textiles have a better outlook with larger demand both for cotton and woolen goods. Enormous sales of wool far exceed actual consumption, but reflect belief that the prices will not decline and but few changes have been upward.

The main cost of raising wool in sections where the sheep graze over the public domain is the wages of the herder. In the Argentine Republic this quality of labor receives three Spanish dollars per month. In Montana the wages of the herder, which is also the main cost of growing wool there, is $40 per month, as against $3 in South America. This is an increase in the cost of growing American wool, otherwise under similar conditions, of 1200 per cent.

SINCE that a breach was made in the wall of Protection, at the end of last August, we exported in the eight months from September 1, 1894, to April 30, 1895, just 18,394,804 bushels of corn. During the first eight months of the McKinley Tariff, from October 1, 1890, to May 31, 1891, we exported 14,582,826 bushels. The increase in our exports was over 3,800,000 bushels during the Gorman Tariff period.

This represents the price paid for the wheat of our American product at the markets of the world have been willing to take away since our wall of Protection was broken down. Is it worth while to grow corn for the sake of shipping it abroad to sell at four and a half cents per bushel? This is a problem that confronts the American farmer.

In the debate on the Tariff act of 1824, Mr. Taylor explained why the duty was placed on wheat in 1816 at 15 per cent., equal, he said, at that time to 2 1/2 cents a bushel. Since then it had been found that that rate did not prevent importation of wheat from the Black Sea, but chiefly from Upper Canada. The principle, he said, on which the then proposed increase of duty of 2 1/2 cents per bushel was to be laid was to secure to the American agriculturist the whole of the American or home market. Mr. Tracy stated that foreign wheat was coming into Rochester, N. Y., and selling for 70 and 75 cents, the price of domestic wheat being $1. (Annals of Cong. 1st, 18th, vol. 1, page 1689-1693.)

Messrs. Buchanan, Ingham, Vance and Mr. McLane of Delaware favored the increased duty in favor of our farmers. Mr. McLane wanted to know "if it was wise policy to build up our revenue on the growth of a rival and neighboring State, on the encouragement of foreign in the place of domestic agriculture?" (Annals of Congress, 1st, 18th, vol. 2, page 1698.) The motion to strike out the proposed increased duty of 2 1/2 cents on wheat was lost, 113 to 71.

A LITTLE HISTORICAL SKETCH.

The Road Roller Now Belongs to the City.

It has been nearly two years since the agitation looking towards the purchase of a roadroller first began in Ann Arbor. When the council finally got down to business, the agents of various roadrollers began to put in an appearance. The first on the ground,—and the last, too—was Mr. F. D. Franklin, Manager for Michigan, Ohio and Wisconsin, for the Pitts Agricultural Works, of Buffalo, N. Y. Although Mr. Franklin was a new hand at the roadroller feature of his business and had to compete with men who represented other strong companies, and men of large experience with roadrollers, he knew that he had a good machine, in fact the best machine upon the market. Competition did not scare him in the least. He came to Ann Arbor to do some legitimate business, and he was ready to make a price as low as the lowest. Then too, he knew that it would be a credit to any company to place one of these rollers in this city. When the street committee visited the various factories, Mr. Franklin was indefatigable in his efforts to make the trip enjoyable to the committee. When it came right down to the merits of the different rollers, the Pitts people, represented by Mr. Franklin, easily convinced the committee that the Pitts was the machine to purchase. When compared with the Kelley and Harrisburg rollers the latter were not in it. When the roller reached Ann Arbor, the engineer sent here by the company to test the machine, got boozed and ran the roller into a sink hole. Mr. Franklin at once telegraphed to the factory at Buffalo for Mr. Henn, the superintendent of the construction room where the rollers are made and had him come to Ann Arbor. Under his work as an engineer the machine proved capable of doing even more than the contract called for. The roller climbed the Observatory street hill, the steepest in the city, with the greatest ease and did it in remarkably quick time. Everybody who has watched the work of the machine or who has listened to Mr. Henn explain the many commendable features about the roller, is firmly convinced that the steam roadroller will do all that has been claimed for it. Mr. Franklin, during his frequent visits here has made many friends by his honest way of doing business and his pleasant and agreeable manner.

greater than has been required in prosecuting any of the above tests. The boiler steams freely and furnishes ample steam for the engine without forcing.

The consumption of good quality of soft coal during a continuous run of eight hours was 960 pounds.

Respectfully submitted, CHAS. A. WARD.

Ald. Taylor moved that the communications be received and spread upon the records.

It was so directed by the council. REPORTS OF THE COMMITTEE ON STREETS.

To the Common Council: Your committee on streets who were instructed to test the road roller and stone crusher in connection with the Board of Public Works would respectfully report as follows:

The machines have both been subjected to a variety of tests which could be placed under in performing actual and needed work for the city, and in no instance has either machine been found wanting, so far as your committee was able to determine. The roller was subjected to a test of hill climbing on Observatory Hill, the steepest in the city. Starting with 145 pounds of steam the roller climbed to top of the long and winding hill in exactly ten minutes, blowing off steam most of the way, and reaching the summit with the same head of steam as when starting, and with power to spare at all points.

On Geddes avenue and Main street, the roller demonstrated its power to spike up an extremely hard road bed, and to roll the same down into a smooth hard road. The machine is at present being used to macadamize a strip of street in front of Fireman's Hall, and as the roller is especially adapted to macadam work, the success or failure of such work will depend upon the man in charge rather than the machine itself.

As a motive power for running the stone crusher, your committee would say that it is all that could be desired, as it runs the crusher very smoothly and easily, without taxing its power to a point anywhere near its limit.

The stone crusher has been used to crush stone both coarse and fine, and has demonstrated that it can crush the amount of stone guaranteed, by crushing one hundred tons of Michigan hard heads in a run of eight and one-half hours. This run was made with the jaws of the crusher set so as to crush a medium sized product.

Your committee is of the opinion that these machines will prove a most valuable addition to the city's equipment for improving Ann Arbor streets, and would recommend their purchase at prices already agreed upon.

Office of the Board of Public Works, Ann Arbor, July 26th, '95.

Special Session. Called to order by Pres. Clark.

Present, Pres. Clark, Bullis; absent, Mr. Schuh.

Inspector Ward made the following reports on the tests of the road roller and crusher.

To the Honorable Board of Public Works of the City of Ann Arbor:

Gentlemen:—I hereby report that I have subjected the No. 3 Austin rock breaker, now on hire by the city of Ann Arbor, to the hereinafter described tests, and I find that it fills the requirements of the guarantee which is a part of the contract under which said machine was furnished by the F. C. Austin Manufacturing Co.

With a medium jaw opening the machine crushed 105 tons of quartzite and granite boulders in eight and one-half hours an average of twelve tons seven hundred pound per hour. With a maximum jaw opening the above capacity was increased about twenty per cent. with a minimum jaw opening the capacity was about eight tons per hour. The crusher ran smoothly in all its parts and the measurements of parts correspond to those of the guarantee. Respectfully submitted, CHAS. A. WARD.

July 24th, 1895. To the Honorable Board of Public Works of the City of Ann Arbor:

Gentlemen:—I hereby report that I have examined the "Pitts Agricultural Works" steam road roller now on trial by the city of Ann Arbor and find that it is built according to the specifications contained in the proposal of said company.

The extras consisting of a plow, harrow, and detachable pulley for running rock breaker, have been furnished by said "Pitts Agricultural Works."

The roller has performed the road working tests to which it was put in a satisfactory manner.

The engine has worked perfectly under the continuous strain required to run the rock breaker. The power of the engine is much greater than has been required in prosecuting any of the above tests.

The boiler steams freely, and furnishes ample steam for the engine without forcing. The consumption of good quality soft coal during a continuous run of eight hours was 960 pounds.

Respectfully submitted, CHAS. A. WARD.

July 25th, 1895. Mr. Bullis moved the following:

The Board of Public Works would respectfully report to the Common Council that they have had Inspector Ward test the Austin Stone Crusher and attach his report of the test and his examination of said machine hereto to which they would respectfully invite the attention of the Council. The Board would also report that they believe the Crusher to come up to the guarantee made by the F. C. Austin Mfg. Co.

Yeas—Pres. Clark, Bullis—2. Nays—None.

Mr. Bullis moved the following:

The Board of Public Works would respectfully report to the Common Council that they have had Inspector Ward test as far as was practicable the Steam Road Roller tendered to the city by the Pitts Agricultural Works and attach his report of his examination and test made hereto for your consideration. The Board would respectfully say that they are not personally experienced in either the quality required in such a machine or the works it should do, therefore cannot express a personal opinion as to the merits of the roller.

SHENK'S SALE.

Notice is hereby given that by virtue of a writ of fieri facias issued out of the Circuit Court for the County of Washtenaw, in chancery, in favor of the Ann Arbor Milling Company, against the goods and chattels and real estate of Hiram Storms and Agnes E. Storms in said county, to me directed and delivered, I did on the 11th day of July instant levy upon and take all the right title and interest of the said Hiram Storms and Agnes E. Storms in and to the following described real estate, that is to say: Commencing in Brown and Fuller's addition to the village now city of Ann Arbor, County of Washtenaw and State of Michigan, twelve feet from the northerly side of the cabinet shop as formerly located on the south bank of the race which now runs to the Ann Arbor Milling Company's mill, thence up the line of the race forty feet, and extending westerly from said line at right angles with said line forty feet wide to the river, with the privilege of erecting a bulk head thereon and the privilege of taking from said bulkhead seventy-two inches of water; also commencing in said addition at the south-east corner of a certain piece of land lying on the south-west side of the mill race heretofore decided to Josiah Beckley, Samuel Doty, John Thomas, Heman Thomas and Zebul M. Thomas, running thence down said race sixty-two feet, thence at right angles with said race to the river, thence up the river to said lands heretofore decided to Josiah Beckley and others, thence to the place of beginning and privilege of taking from said race on said premises one hundred and forty-four inches of water, said water privileges being subject to the limitations contained in deeds recorded in Liber G, page 296 and Liber J, page 129, in the office of the Register of Deeds of said county. Said lands being all the lands owned by the said Hiram Storms and Agnes E. Storms, upon the south side of the race of the Ann Arbor Milling Company's mill.

All of which I shall expose for sale at public auction or vendue to the highest bidder, at the south front door of the court house in the city of Ann Arbor in said county on the 18th day of September 1895 at ten o'clock in the forenoon. Dated, this 30th day of July 1895.

Walker to Alexis Packard on the 13th day of April 1871 and recorded in Liber 3 of assignments of mortgages page 90, and assigned by Israel D. Packard administrator of the estate of Alexis Packard to Prudence Packard by deed of assignment, dated April 26, 1879 and recorded in Liber 6 of assignments on page 241, and afterwards assigned by Israel D. Packard, administrator of the estate of Prudence Packard to Chloe E. Waters by deed of assignment, dated the 15th day of August 1889, and recorded in Liber 10, assignments of mortgages page 287, on which mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice, the sum of seven hundred and ninety-two dollars and fourteen cents ($792.14) and the costs of this foreclosure and no suit or proceedings in law or equity having been instituted to recover the moneys secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

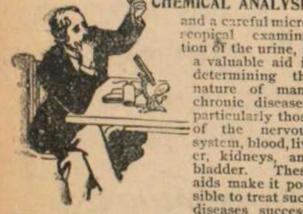

Now therefore by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and the statute in such case given, that on Saturday, the 26th day of October, at 11 o'clock in the forenoon of that day, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the mortgaged premises at the east front door of the Court House in the city of Ann Arbor (that being the place for holding the Circuit Court of the said County) The premises described in said mortgage to be sold are described as follows:

Chemical Analysis and a careful microscopical examination of the urine, is a valuable aid in determining the nature of many chronic diseases, particularly those of the nervous system, blood, liver, kidneys, and bladder. These aids make it possible to treat such diseases successfully, without personal examination of the patient. Thus Bright's Disease of the Kidneys, Inflammation of the Bladder, Gravel, and other Diseases of the Urinary Organs, "Liver Complaint," Dyspepsia, or Indigestion, Dropsy and many other maladies are successfully treated and cured without personal consultation with the physician.

Nervous Debility, whether resulting from over-study, worry, disappointment, or from exhausting drains upon the system caused by precocious secret habits contracted in youth, through ignorance of their ruinous consequences, is successfully managed, through correspondence, the necessary medicines being sent by mail or express. Write for question blanks, or describe your case, send sample of urine for analysis and enclose 25 cents for postage on treatise, which contains reproduced photographs and full names and addresses of vast numbers of people who have been cured in this way. Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, 65 Main St., Buffalo, N. Y.

Japan Evidently Not Afraid of Russia.

St. Petersburg: Advice from Vladivostok says that Japan is assiduously raising her army and navy to a war footing. Two cruisers, bought in Peru, have already arrived and crews will shortly be sent to England to bring out three ironclads each of 12,000 tons. A strong and warlike temper prevails in Japan. This correspondent writes that the Japanese imperial body guard has been sent to the island of Formosa where the rebels are supported by the viceroys of Southern China who send them arms and ammunition. The Japanese have blown up the fortifications at Port Arthur. Cholera is raging in Korea, and in the Liao Tung peninsula. The Japanese dominate Korea and hold the king a close prisoner.

They were preparing a blast and were pressing dynamite into the hole when suddenly the blast went off. All three men were hurled high in the air and came down fully 60 feet from the scene of the explosion, mangled in a most horrible manner.

Plunging over the wall the first section of the train was thrown into the sea. It consisted of 23 cars and two engines.

Easy Enough to Get Fat.

Skinny people generally are so, because of their inability to digest the food which is passed from the stomach into the bowels. The bowel digestion is weakened. Starches of the grains, make fat tissue, but if the bowel digestion is weakened by coffee, tobacco, whiskey, etc., the person remains skinny. Leave off the weakening habits and use in place of coffee, Postum Cereal, the food-drink. It is made entirely of grains and is fattening. It looks like the finest Mocha coffee. Persons who are to lay aside their hurtful habits and eat plain, well cooked food and some fruit, and drink Postum Cereal will feel a great improvement in a weeks time. Nature is powerful builder if left free to work without drugs and poisons.

Lalla Rookh.

The Free Press, in speaking of this magnificent display, said, "The stage set was the most elaborate affair of the times ever seen here. The large choruses were well trained; the principals were as effective as possible, the speciality performers were above the average, and altogether the performance was the most extensive entertainment imaginable, both in the diversity of its features and in the dimensions of the stage. It is impossible to enumerate all its features. The sight was of a dazzling nature, when the entertainment was at its height. It is needless to mention the various set features but they were marvels of delight to the 6,000 or so people assembled and the 'oh's' and 'ah's' became a general murmur of admiration and pleasure. Certainly the effect was startling in the extreme, and nothing stronger or more sensational could have been devised." The Tribune, in speaking of the performance, said, "Lalla Rookh is as brilliant as a butterfly's wings or fully 10,000 people visited the spectacle last night. To attempt to describe the brilliant setting would be about as profitable as to endeavor to catalogue the colors of a butterfly's wings or to write an essay on a half dozen rainbows. The fact is, 'Lalla Rookh is one of those spectacles not to be adequately described at any great length unless one desires to become ridiculous.'" The News characterized it as a "splendid show, witnessed by many thousand people," and estimated the attendance at 10,000, with as many more on the outside of the enclosure. It said in a sub-headline that the special features formed "a good vaudeville show." In closing a description of the show the News said, "The show was over at 10:50 o'clock and everybody went home voting it a great success." Performances are to be given every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday night until August 10, with a grand gala night.

GOT THE BACKACHE?

If You Have, Here's the Way to Rid Yourself of the Weariness and Pain Attending It.

Some people suffer with headaches, many people are worn out and weary all the time, many more people have lame back and backache. Few people understand the real cause of their aches, and fewer yet know how easily they can find a cure. Just a word of explanation before we prove that what we say is true. The back is the key-note of the kidneys. It aches; that's a sign that the kidneys are not working properly; it is lame; another sign, the kidneys are out of order. The kidneys, you know, are the filters of the blood, but filters sometimes get clogged up. This means in their case that the blood courses through the entire system impregnated with poisonous uric acid, bringing on many a disorder which, if neglected, means disease perhaps incurable. And now about the cure—Don't take our word for it; read what others say:

Mr. David C. Oaks is proprietor of the well known hardware and paint shop at 220 East Main Street, Kalamazoo. Mr. Oaks has suffered a great deal from kidney ailments; he described his condition and cure as follows: "I had a bad, lame back, which I suppose was caused by my kidneys; I was confined to my bed during bad attacks. I might say, from time to time, I have been in that condition for years. The urinary organism was affected, urine being scanty, highly colored, and difficult in passage. I was in a bad shape when I got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills, about which I had heard. I have used now two boxes of them, and the pills have removed all the pain and trouble. There was a marked improvement right from the first, and it has continued right along. Doan's Kidney Pills are the right thing in the right place."

For sale by all dealers—price, 50 cents. Mailed by Foster Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S. Remember the name, Doan's, and take no other.

Daughter of Supreme Commander of the Knights of the Maccabees OF THE WORLD.

HELEN MAY DICKINSON.

Disease of the nerves, vitality at low ebb, nervous prostration and all attendant evils and troubles are the result of the high nervous strain, the everlasting hustle of the American people. High authorities say it is the air, the climate that seems to intoxicate the people with such a mad desire for wealth and position, that they never know when to rest. This unremitting work, push and energy has made the United States the richest country on the face of the globe, but work, worry and a peculiar climate has made the American people a nervous race.

"Now as well as ever."

Mr. George Dickinson, Deputy Supreme Commander of Knights of Maccabees of the World, whose residence is Emporium, Pa., writes:

"Dear Friends:—I feel grateful to you for the great good your valuable medicine—Dr. Miles' Nervine—has done my little girl. She was almost blind from amaurosis, [disease of the optic nerve] and could not tell daylight from darkness. We were in despair that our rosy, baby girl should not be able to see out of her round, blue eyes. It seemed impossible, as they looked as well as ever, but it was true; she became worse. After several prominent oculists and physicians had failed, we finally decided to try Dr. Miles' Nervine. It restored her eyesight. I bought two more bottles and she is now permanently cured. I hope you will publish this letter for the benefit of others. I recommend it wherever I go. I also hope that your wonderful medicine will become so well known that every house will keep it as a standard remedy. Its merit only needs to become known for this to become an established fact."

DR. MILES' NERVINE is not a chance discovery, but the result of 20 years study, careful investigation and experiment by Dr. Franklin Miles, the great specialist in diseases of the heart, brain and nerves. It is sold by all druggists on a positive guarantee that the first bottle will benefit you. Should it not you may return it and obtain your money. This allows you to give it a fair trial without any risk. This proves our confidence in the medicine. This proves that it is made to cure. This proves the merit of the remedy, if it was an ordinary medicine, this unparalleled offer could not be made. It is a specific for all nervous diseases such as Nervous Prostration, Dizziness, Sleeplessness, Headache, Neuritis, Rheumatism, Apoplexy, Epilepsy, Convulsions, Backache, Nervous Dyspepsia, St. Vitus Dance, etc. Sold by all druggists at $1 a bottle, six bottles $5, Pills 25 cents.

BIG PROFITS Small Investments.

Returning prosperity will make many rich, but nowhere can they make so much within such a short time as by successful Speculation in Grain, Provisions and Stock.

$10 FOR EACH DOLLAR INVESTED can be made by our Systematic Plan of Speculation originated by us. All successful speculators operate on a regular system.

It is a well known fact that there are thousands of men in all parts of the United States who, by systematic trading through Chicago brokers, make large amounts every year, ranging from a few thousand dollars for the man who invests a hundred or two hundred dollars up to $50,000 to $100,000 or more by those who invest a few thousand.

It is also a fact that those who make the largest profits from comparatively small investments on this plan are persons who live away from Chicago and invest through brokers who thoroughly understand systematic trading.

Our plan does not risk the whole amount invested on any trade, but covers both sides, so that whether the market rises or falls it brings a steady profit that piles up enormously in a short time.

Write For Convincing Proofs, also our Manual on successful speculation and our Daily Market Report, full of money-making pointers. All Free. Our Manual explains margin trading fully. Highest references in regard to our standing and success.

HAVE YOU A

THE ONE PLACE TO DO IT

Is in the

FAMOUS PECOS VALLEY

IN NEW MEXICO.

Four years ago a company was formed to construct dams to hold water for use in irrigating the land along the Pecos Valley. This company has the LARGEST RESERVOIRS IN THE WORLD.

The land along the valley, with plenty of water for irrigation, is the richest land in the country. For the purpose of raising Peaches, Pears, Apples, Grapes, Plums, Apricots, it is equal to any section in California. The cost of land is Surprisingly Low, while the water tax is merely nominal. There can be no question that in the next three or four years land in this valley will increase from three to five times what it can now be secured for. The company that has constructed these great reservoirs are anxious to place the land with actual settlers and are using every legitimate means to induce farmers to remove to so inviting a field. Great numbers have already gone. Thousands more will be sure to follow soon. This place has

A WONDERFUL FUTURE

And will make fortunes to those who will take the trouble to look into the matter and make an investment now while the land is cheap.

MILLIONS OF DOLLARS

Have been made in California by those who years ago bought up large tracts of land at a low rate and sold it in a few years at an

ENORMOUS ADVANCE.

A similar opportunity is now open in the

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. For list of testimonials. Address, F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O. A LOVE MAP.

It Was on Annabel's Face and It Made Her Rather Suspicious.

"Annabel," cried a Harlem mother over the banisters, as she heard the front door close.

"Yes, mamma," replied a sweet girlish voice, and Annabel Googan slowly framed herself in the darkness of the staircase.

"Was that Mr. Tinberry, Annabel?"

"It was, mamma."

"Do you know that it is 20 minutes past 11?" came in cold tones from the wrapped figure in the upper hall.

"Mamma, we hadn't the slightest idea it was so late," said the young lady, earnestly. "You see," she continued, "Mr. Tinberry has been telling me about China and Japan. He said everybody ought to know about the war, and it was so interesting we never thought how late it was getting. Do you know, mamma," added the sweet girl, as she reached the landing, "that in China they—"

"Did Mr. Tinberry draw a map of China on your face, Annabel?" asked Mrs. Googan, sternly.

"Why, mamma?" said the daughter in startled tones.

The young girl rushed to a mirror and saw with horror-stricken glance that the left side of her face was streaked and stained with ink.

"Heaven and earth," she screamed, "his fountain pen must have leaked into his waistcoat pocket!" and with a shriek of horror the beautiful girl fell fainting to the floor.—New York Advertiser.

Collingwood at Trafalgar.

On the 21st of October the French and Spanish fleets were caught at Trafalgar. Every Englishman knows how Collingwood led the way into the fight far ahead of any other ship, made first for the Santa Anna, crushed her with a broadside which killed 350 men and was promptly engaged with no fewer than five of the enemy. And in the midst of the contest the gallant old Admiral in the his best uniform, knee-breeches, silk stockings, and buckled shoes, paced watchfully to and fro munching an apple. "you had better put on silk stockings, as I have," he said to his first lieutenant on the morning of the fight; "for if one should get shot in the leg they would be so much more manageable for the surgeon."

As the struggle went on he went down among the men, sighted several of the guns himself, and encouraged all hands. At one moment, in the hottest of the fire, he gave way to his ruling passion of economy of the King's stores, solemnly rolled up, with the assistance of his first lieutenant, a top-gallant studding-sail which was hanging loose over the hammocks, and stowed it carefully away, observing that it would be wanted some other day.—Macmillan's Magazine.

GOLDSMITH AND AMERICA.

Paid Passage to This Country Although He Did Not Come.

Oliver had but lately completed a rather wild and irregular course of study at college, and his kinsfolk had insisted that he should become a country parson, as his poor father had been before him. He felt his unfitness for such a calling, but he cared less for that than for some of the irksome restraints that it would impose. For instance, he could not bear the thought of being obliged to wear a long wig when he preferred a short one, or of being always dressed in a black coat when one of bright colors suited his fancy so much better. He had frankly told his relatives that he preferred pretty clothes to the hard lot of a poor parson; and yet, as neither he nor they could think of any other business for which he was better fitted, he at last consented to apply for holy orders. But when the time came for him to go to the Bishop of Elphin to be ordained, he could not resist the temptation to wear a pair of beautiful scarlet breeches with long hose and the brightest buckles. For would he not become a parson tomorrow, and be forever afterward condemned to sober black? The good bishop was horrified at such levity, and refused to ordain him. Perhaps upon examination he found that the young man was entirely ignorant of the catechism.

This failure of Oliver's had been much less of a disappointment to him than to his friends. But as he was now 23 years old, and his mother was very poor, it was highly necessary that he should find something to do. And so he had found employment as a private tutor in a wealthy family near Lissoy. From his pupils' point of view, he was, no doubt, an accomplished and successful teacher. He was only a great boy himself, and life would have been one long holiday to everybody if he could have had his own way. But his way did not please his employer, and finally, after a quarrel for which Oliver was doubtless to blame, he was dismissed. The money which he had earned at tutoring, however, was sufficient to equip him as a knight errant, for it enabled him to buy the horse and the splendid new suit of clothes with which, as I have said, he rode one fine morning into the city of Cork. To his great satisfaction, he found a ship already in port waiting only for favorable winds to sail for America. He lost no time, therefore, in selling his horse, and in making a bargain with the captain for his passage to the New World. Then he sallied out to see the town. He had no difficulty in making friends; for he had money in his pocket, and he proceeded to share it with all the beggars and street loafers that he met. He was ready to relieve every case of distress that came to his notice, and many were the boon fellows that he helped to entertain at the tavern. Several days were passed in this way, and the £30 in his pocket had dwindled to but little more than 30 shillings; and still the ship, upon one pretext or another, delayed its sailing. One fine night, however, while Oliver was in the country enjoying himself with some newly made acquaintances, a favorable wind sprang up, and the captain, entirely neglectful of his passenger, ordered the vessel to be cast loose from her moorings and the sails to be set for the voyage. And in the morning, when Oliver sauntered leisurely down to the wharf, he found that he had been left behind.—James Baldwin, in St. Nicholas.

Electricity for Switch Lights.

The Union Pacific is contemplating introducing the electric light into their switch lamps along the system. Had not the suit for a separate receiver for the Short Line been commenced it is understood that the Huntington yards would have been equipped with the Edison incandescent lamp, but the intention has been abandoned. It is argued that the yards in cities having electric light plants could be equipped with lights, a firm in Chicago having demonstrated that a light can be attached to the lower portion of a lamp without much cost, and would need less attention than the ordinary oil lamp, while the resultant light would be much greater. The yards at Omaha, Council Bluffs, Columbus and North Platte will probably be equipped with the electric light. Should such a departure be made the Union Pacific will be the first road in the United States equipping its switch lamps with electric lights, and the experiment will be watched with interest.

Indian and Chinese Cooks

Whatever may be the merits of the Indian cook, cleanliness is not one of them and the disorder and dirt of his kitchen make one wonder still more at the results of his cooking.

One writer tells how a lady was inveighing to a friend against the whole race of Indian cooks as dirty, disorderly and dishonest. She had managed to secure the services of a Chinese cook and was much pleased with the contrast. Her friend did not altogether agree with her and was skeptical about the immaculate Chinaman.

"Put it to the test," said the lady; "just let us pay a visit to your kitchen and then come and see mine."

So they went together. What need to describe the kitchen of the Indian cook? They glanced around and hurried out, for it was too horrible to be endured long.

When they went to the Chinaman's kitchen the contrast was indeed striking. The pots and pans shone like silver, the table was positively sweet, everything was in its proper place and Chang himself sitting on his box, was washing his feet in the soup tureen.—Queen.

Blue and Gray Tobacco Smoke.

Did you ever notice, while enjoying your favorite cigar, that the smoke that curls up from the burning end of the "weed" is blue, while that exhausted from the mouth is of a whitish gray? The explanation of this oddity is not far to seek. The wreath from the fiery end of the cigar is in the shape of infinitesimal dust particles, and all such particles (even the blue of the atmosphere is explained in the same way) reflect the blue color. In the case of the exhaled smoke the fine particles have united with the moisture of the breath, and have thereby become several folds larger than those escaping direct from the burning tobacco. This being the case, they have become large enough to reflect the white light which gives the exhaled smoke an entirely different color.

Unexpected Kindness.

One cannot curb a little innocent curiosity as to what would be the feelings of a good Portland woman if she knew of the officious kindness of one of her relatives. She is quite advanced in years, and, during a recent illness, this relative went to an undertaker and paid all bills for the funeral expenses in prospectus. The lady is now able to do her own household work.

Terry's Silverreen.

Among the many discoveries of the present age, none rank higher than the new metal silverreen, which owing to its great durability and cheapness is bound to take the place of silver in the manufacture of fine tableware.

Silverreen is a beautiful white metal, will not tarnish or rust, and all goods made from it are warranted. We want everyone to have a chance to compare silverreen with silver, so for the next sixty days we are going to give away one half dozen Silverreen Tea Spoons Free, to every person who will send for one of our Silverreen sets, containing six Tea Spoons, one Sugar Shell, one Butter Knife. If at any time the Silverreen goods do not prove satisfactory, return them and your money will be refunded. Remember we give you the Silver Spoons. Send at once as this offer is for 60 days only. Price Silverreen set $2.00. TOLEDO SILVER CO., TOLEDO, OHIO.

EXPEDITING THE MAILS.

A Western Editor Starts Out in a Grand Cause.

Two or three months ago, when appointed Postmaster of this town, we mentioned the fact that the tri-weekly mails from Lone Jack, Pine Hill and Dog Creek reached this postoffice in the most erratic manner and evidently at the convenience of the mail carrier, says a Western exchange. We promised to look into the matter as soon as we got things in hand, and last Tuesday afternoon, as the Lone Jack mail, due at 11 o'clock a. m., had not arrived at mid-afternoon, we mounted our carriage and set out to investigate. This route is carried on horseback, and the name of the carrier is Simms. We found Mr. Simms luxuriously reclining under a tree about four miles from town. He was luxuriously drunk and sound asleep, while his old horse had shaken the mail bag off his back and was stamping on it with his hind feet. Mr. Simms is a very sober man just now, but we doubt if he has any clear remembrance of a tenth part of what happened to him during the ten minutes following our arrival. All he can remember is of being struck by a cyclone, which lifted him up and tossed him into the earth. He was a hard man to wake up, but when he got his eyes open and began to realize the situation he didn't waste much time getting onto his horse with his mail bag and heading for town. On his next trip he came in an hour ahead of time and we understand he intends to do better than that. Some day this week we shall look into the delay on other routes. For weeks past the Pine Hill mail has been from six to ten hours late on every occasion and we shall make a great effort to discover the cause and remove it. It is our duty as postmaster to see that the mails arrive and depart on time and we feel quite certain that our manner of "expediting" the service will meet with the approval of both our fellowtownsmen and the postal authorities at Washington.

About Knives.

A cheap Pocket-knife can be bought at every Store, but it is not the kind you want.

One dollar is the lowest price that a really good knife can be sold for. This column is placed in this paper to advertise the very best Pocket-knife ever sold. It is J. C. TIDMARSH'S Sheffield Steel Knife.

Never buy a knife only because it looks well. If blades are not the best Sheffield steel they will soon bend, no matter how they will look. Still, you want a fine-looking knife.

The United States law provides that only samples to agents and to the trade will be admitted free of duty. You can, therefore, see the advantage that I have in showing samples to agents over those who deal in Sheffield goods in America.

I am an advertising agent! I am entrusted with a certain amount to spend advertising these knives (the best value ever seen in America at One Dollar each). Now, the knife is its own best advertisement.

Imagine a Pocket-knife (3 1/2 inches long) with the most beautifully-grained ivory handle—genuine African ivory made with two blades of the very best Sheffield steel that will last a lifetime and cut like a razor. The tips of the handles are heavily plated with sterling silver. And then a very nice chamois leather case goes with each knife. Now, would it not be easy work selling this knife at One Dollar each? I know it would, for it looks as if it were worth two dollars.

And so it is if you compare it with the value offered in the ordinary Store. Is not this knife its own best advertisement?

You can make $4 per day selling these knives. This is a genuine and straightforward statement. This is counting that you show it to only twelve buyers every day. And every one that sees it will say it is a good value for $1. The knives are sold to you at $8 per dozen; you sell them at $1 each.

I determined to use large sum of advertising money entrusted to me in sending out free samples to those who promise to act as agents for the sale of these knives.

I will send you a free sample, but you must sign the promise at the foot of this column, and make a deposit to show that in asking for the knife you are acting in good faith.

The deposit that I ask of you is 44 cents about half the wholesale cost of the knife, and less than one-third what you would have to pay for a knife like it, if you bought one.

Send the money by a Postal Order or one-cent stamps for 44c., and put a five-cent stamp on the letter, which must not weigh more than one-half ounce.

The deposit of 44 cents will be placed to your credit, and will be deducted from your first order at the dozen rate.

I am an advertising agent, contractor and publisher with one of the largest Advertising businesses in the world, and absolutely guarantee to send, postage paid and duty free, the knife described above free to anyone who signs the promise below, and sends it with the deposit as stated.

Let me advise you not to part with your sample, even if you should lose a sale at $1 by refusing, as it will take time to replace it. I could not send you another even if you sent the full $1. After the sample they can only be supplied to you by the dozen as there is duty on them to be paid.

Any English Banker can give you information about my high standing, or write to the publisher of this paper, who knows that I do a large and straightforward advertising business, and that I do exactly as I say.

I have taken this place in this paper for three years! The first one answering this advertisement after this number of the paper has come out will, if he likes, have his name printed in this space as agent for these knives.

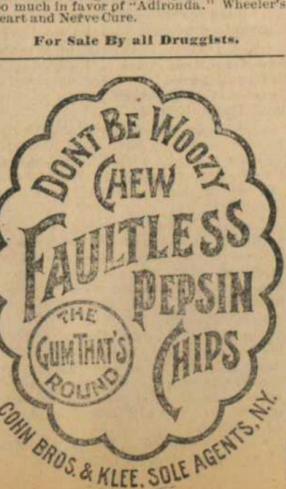

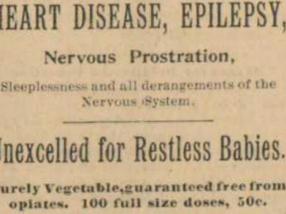

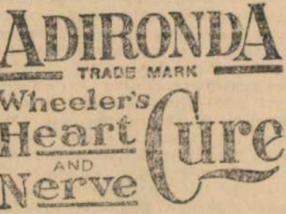

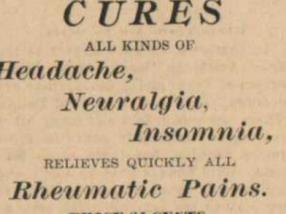

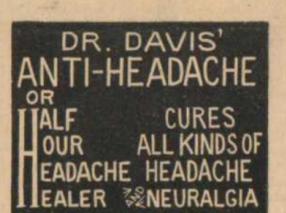

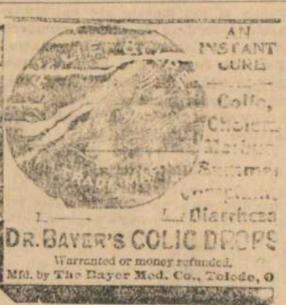

The Editor of the Springfield (Ohio) New Era writes, in his paper of June 29, 1894:—"I have received a sample knife from Mr. Sears, and am very much pleased with it. He is the owner of a very large advertising business in London, and is, I believe, perfectly responsible and straightforward."

Sign your name and address to the following, cut it out and send it with Postal Order or stamps for 44 cents, and you will receive by return of post the beautiful knife as described above.

F. W. SEARS, ADVERTISING AGENT AND CONTRACTOR, WHOLESALE KNIFE ADVERTISING DEPARTMENT, 138 FLEET STREET, LONDON.

DEAR SIR,—I faithfully promise on my name and honor to show the Sample Knife you have promised to send me to one or more of my friends, thereby constituting myself an agent. This will make me "in the trade" as far as Pocket-knife is concerned. By this promise I am entitled to a sample of your beautiful Dollar Pocket-knife with chamois leather case, to be sent me post-paid and duty free. I also enclose 44 cents Postal Order or stamps, which please hold for me until I send you an order at the dozen rate.

FOND OF LETTER H.

Men Use It for an Initial in Names When Any Other Would Do.

"It's a peculiar thing," said the knowing clerk in a hotel which is noted more for its hospitality than it is for its inquisitiveness into the character of its guests. "It's a peculiar fondness that the average man has for the letter H as an initial. Now, I don't suppose that there are more middle names beginning with H than with any other letter—M or R or S or B—but nine men out of ten, if they are in doubt about a middle initial, decide on H."

"Now, here's another instance: Cast your eyes over this page of our register. That is mostly late guests who drop in here late at night and sign names other than their own. See the result: 'Charles H. Jones,' 'John H. Smith,' 'George H. Robinson,' 'A. H. Brown,' 'F. W. Brown,' and so on. There are ten names on that one page the middle initial of which is H. Now, that letter isn't any easier to write than any other letter; it certainly isn't any more ornamental, and I can't see that in any respect it has an advantage over the rest of the alphabet. Yet the human race sticks to it with a fidelity worthy of a more important cause. I'd like to have some wise man tell me why."

The Fingall Succession.

The Earl of Fingall, recently given much newspaper prominence in London, who is the head of the great Irish house of Plunkett, has been one of the sufferers through the depreciation of Irish property, and about a couple of years ago was compelled to sell to a New York merchant, bred as a peasant on the Fingall estate, his ancestral county seat, Killeen Castle, in County Meath. Lord Fingall is quite a young man, being 55 years of age, and he holds the hereditary office of State Steward to the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland. Having no son, but only a little girl 2 years of age, his earldom, which is one of the oldest peerages in Ireland, will, after his death, pass to his uncle, formerly an officer in the army, but now a Roman Catholic priest engaged in missionary work in those very gold-mining settlements of Australia which have proved so disastrous to his nephew; and after the missionary's death the earldom will pass on to Sir Francis Plunkett, now British Envoy at Brussels, and who, like so many other foreign diplomats, has married an American girl, the daughter of Mr. Charles W. Morgan, of Philadelphia.—London American.

WHY?

QUESTIONS WOMEN ASK Here Answered with Good Sound Reason.

[SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.] Why do people say that Lydia E. Pinkham's treatment, especially her Vegetable Compound, effects cures beyond the physician's skill?

Because of the fact that a woman best understands a woman's ills. What man ever suffered from a single pang like unto woman? Man works from theory only. Why do tens of thousands of women write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., telling their most secret thoughts?

Because they know that their letters go straight to the hands of a woman, are opened, read, and answered by a woman, who as a woman has made woman's ills a life study, and because she never fails them, and cures cases which the doctor cannot.

The lady who asks that the following letter be published, gives concisely the uniform expression of gratitude contained in thousands of other letters in Mrs. Pinkham's possession.

"For eight years I suffered with neuralgia of the womb, backache, severe pains all through my body, and kidney trouble. None of the doctors did me any good. I took twelve bottles of your Vegetable Compound, and cannot thank you enough for the relief I found."

"I am now well cured of all those pains. I should advise every woman to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound who has any female trouble. I had a friend who was to go under an operation. I advised her first to try the Compound. She did, and is now so much better and stronger she has given up all thoughts of the operation."—Mrs. M. WILDE, 2137 Park St., Toiga, Pa.

GRASSHOPPERS $1 EACH.

They Were Made to Earn Their Value on the Boh-Tail Cars. Bobtail cars were all the go in St. Louis at one time. They were not so popular with the people as with the companies, as they were small and inexpensive affairs, the driver acting in the dual capacity of driver and conductor, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

If the fellow who hatched the scheme had kept it to himself, perhaps the railway company would never have discovered his rascality. This chap had a long head and tried to make all he could out of his lucky find. He went into the wholesale grasshopper business. He knew that grasshoppers were not to be had in winter, therefore he laid in a supply. He fed them and took care of them. When Jack Frost cleared the fields of the chirpers he started out on a tour among the drivers. He was careful about sounding his man first, and to those who were willing to be tempted he showed how the trick could be done. He had the grasshoppers and would furnish them at $1 a piece. By taking care of the hopper it would be good for a week, no matter how cold the weather. He pled his trade with some boldness, and it eventually led to his downfall and a wholesale discharge of drivers on several of the lines.

HYPNOTISM SUPERSTITION.

The Strange Psychic Power Appears in a New Phase.

A new phase of criminal hypnotism has come to the surface in a most sensational manner, and in a way to startle society in general. A Brockport (N. Y.) State Normal School girl is reported to have suddenly tried out in agony in church, that a certain young man had hypnotized her. The fact that the young woman who thus gave rise to a strange sensation and scandal is also reported to be a cousin of Miss Frances E. Willard will also direct added public attention to her eccentric deed. Her remarkable accusation against a youth of good repute may be set down as a freak of simple hysteria, especially, as the young man enjoys the reputation of having dabbled in this modern black art of hypnotism. A knowledge of this amateur propensity of his may have easily wrought upon the perfervid imagination of an excitable miss.

Nevertheless, the serious question remains as to what this queer outburst may lead. The public imagination has itself been decidedly agitated recently by the many romantic and weird tales of hypnotic mystery and crime. There can be no doubt in the mind of the more than casual observer that the theory of crime through the agency of hypnotic suggestion is gaining ground in public sentiment, if not in the courts. Clark Bell's paper on "Hypnotism and Law," read before a recent session of the Medico-Legal Society of America, reveals the fact that this belief of criminal hypnotism is entertained by a number of eminent physicians. It is but a step from the accusation after a crime to this Brockport phase of accusation before a crime. Is it possible that the close of the nineteenth century is to witness a hypnotism superstition? It is the fashion to sneer at the old Puritans for their witchcraft delusion; but what record as regards superstitious beliefs is this generation to leave for the scrutiny of posterity?—Philadelphia Record.

CHARLES DICKENS' SONG.

It Concerned the History of Guy Fawkes and Had a Chorus. A favorite song of ours—and I think my father enjoyed them all even more than we did—was one concerned with the history of Guy Fawkes: "Guy Fawkes, that prince of sinisters, who blew up the House of Lords, the King and all his ministers." The beginning of each verse contained some startling statement of this kind which was afterwards modified and explained away in what we considered a most artful and humorous manner. I forget exactly what happened to interfere with the final stage of Guy Fawkes' nefarious project but in another verse it was stated that Guy "crossing over Vauxhall bridge that way came into London. That is, he would have come that way, to perpetrate his guilt, sir; but a little thing prevented him—the bridge it wasn't built sir," and also that when they wanted to arrest him "they straightway sent to Bow street for that brave old runner Townsend; that is, they would have sent for him, for fear he was no starter at all, but Townsend wasn't living then, he wasn't born till after that."

To each verse there was a chorus of the good, old-fashioned sort, with an "Oh, ah, oh, ri fol de riddy oddy, bow wow wow" refrain, and a great part of the point of the joke lay in the delivery of the introductory monosyllables; the first "oh" being given, as it were, with incredulity, or in a tone of inquiry; the second "ah," strongly affirmatively, and the last "oh" with an air as of one who has found conviction not without difficulty. Some of Tom Moore's melodies also formed part of the repertoire, and there were no doubt others, which I have forgotten, but the impression of the singer, as he sat in that rocking chair with us three children about or on his knees, has never in the least faded from my mind, though of his appearance at some other and later times the picture may be less vivid.—Charles Dickens Jr.

CROSSING THE ROCKIES.

It Is Not All Bugged Nature That Attracts the Traveler's Attention.

Crossing the Rocky Mountains on the Northern Pacific Railroad affords an opportunity for a thoughtful mind to canvass the possibilities of time and wonder what shook the earth on its crazy bone. Covered with Christmas trees, snow and mules, the mountains rise about you like a thirsty crowd when some one says "beer." To climb these high places big engines coined by the hand of man so strong that they could pull anything with two ends to it, are put on ahead, and the train jogs uphill as if the grade was the other way. A man smoking a joint of fish-pole got on the train at Helena, and when he wasn't setting fire to his fish-pole he was telling us that he was the principal man around there and had information to lend. There was a fence so near the track we thought we could read a sign on it: "Go to Fleming & Lewaux for your condition powders," this man told us that the fence was thirty-five miles away and still going. A mountain that had been dug out to allow the train to pass by without running into the river, we found was seventy-five miles away. The train stopped at a little town called Busted Knuckle. The largest building was a saloon. A sign read "Beer 5 cents a glass," and we found that about half the people that traveled got left at that town; the saloon, instead of being a half block, as it looked, was in reality twelve miles in the country. Near a station house a cow and a horse and a few pigs were surrounded by a fence; the cow was standing bow-legged in order to eat grass without interfering with the fence, and the horse seemed crowded for room, while the pigs roared around us to believe that the piece of ground contained 160 acres of land, more or less, according to the government survey. He got off at the next stop and took charge of a yoke of oxen.

RUNNING—FOR BOYS.

Every Boy Can Become a Runner If He Tries.

Every American boy should learn to run. In Greece, in the days when men and women took better care of their bodies than they ever have since, just as the American child is taught to read. And as far as we can judge by the statues they have left behind them, there were very few hollow-chested, spindle-legged boys among the Greeks. The Persian boy was taught to speak the truth, run, ride and shoot the bow. The English boy is encouraged to run. In fact, at some of the great English public schools boys of 13 and 14 years of age, like Tom Brown and East at Rugby, can cover six and eight miles cross-country in the great hare-and-hound runs. Every boy is turned out twice a week, out of doors, and made to run, and fill himself full of pure fresh air and sunshine, and gain more strength and life than any amount of weight-pulling or dumb-bell work in stuffy gymnasiums would give him. See the result—the English boys, as a whole, are a stronger set than we American boys. Every English school-boy is to some extent an athlete. And that is what American boys should be. Not because football, baseball, and tennis are valuable in themselves, but for the good they do in strengthening boy's bodies. By playing ball every day for hours in the open air; by exercising his arms, back, and leg muscles in throwing, batting, running, and sliding; by going to bed early and giving up all bad habits in preparation for the games, a boy stores up strength, which he can draw on all his life long—that is why every boy should be an athlete. But not every boy can play football or baseball. He may not be heavy or strong enough; he may never be able to acquire the knack of catching or batting the ball. Every boy can become a runner.

SPARROWS THRASH A CAT.

Grainkain Lost His Living Breakfast and Got a Sore Head Besides.

A young sparrow fell out of its mother's nest in Madison Square Park, New York, the other morning, and fluttered about on the grass below, flying about in little jumps, while the maternal parent anxiously hopped about coaching the young athlete. George Francis Train and his bevy of youngsters sat on a bench nearby, under a big maple tree, watching the lesson, and a dozen more or less interested feathered tribesmen flocked nearby, approving spectators. Suddenly there was a flash of something gray and white, and a big cat bounded into the circle. Its claw just missing the fledgling, which fluttered to one side. The mother bird attacked the cat's face, and the fighting tribesmen followed her example as a little boy caught the helpless little flyer in his straw hat. The cat, thoroughly enraged at the loss of its breakfast and the vigorous pecks of the fighting sparrow's sharp beaks, struck viciously at his assailants. They kept just out of reach, however, circling about, and every now and then making sallies at the cat's ears and eyes. Pussy finally fled, the pupil resumed his lesson and the feathered tribesmen adjusted their uniforms.—Exchange.

A Ludicrous Mistake.

A cyclist who had lost his friend asked an old woman if she had seen a man on a bicycle along there. She answered: "No, sir; but I saw a man mending umbrellas at the top of yon lane." The cyclist went up the lane, and was amused to find that the "man mending umbrellas" was his friend, who had come a cropper and was sitting among the ruins of his machine.—Comet Aster.

TUNNELING THE SIMPLON.

Swiss Alpine Barrier to Be Pierced for the Fourth Time.

Little has been heard lately of the project for tunneling the Simplon, but it would appear at last to have taken final shape, if the Allgemeine Zeitung is to be trusted, says the Manchester Guardian. The tunnel when completed will be the fourth to pierce the Alpine barrier, but it differs considerably from either the Mont Cenis, the St. Gothard, or the Arlberg tunnels because its great length of about twelve and one-third miles, half as much again as the length of the Mont Cenis tunnel and nearly twice the length of the Arlberg tunnel, has made the work of construction peculiarly difficult. To secure proper ventilation will be far from easy and the engineers will have further to devise a means for lowering the temperature, which, it is estimated, will be 64 degrees Fahrenheit, for the tunnel will be very deep, 2,372 yards of superincumbent earth rising vertically from it in one place to the summit of the mountain. Its course may be roughly described as the chord of an arc made by the famous Simplon road, which was constructed by French engineers between 1801 and 1806. The northern opening is near Brig, the southern near Iselle. The distinctive feature of the project is that two parallel tunnels are to be constructed about 230 yards apart and connected at intervals by galleries running diagonally from one to the other. Each tunnel is eighteen and one-third feet high and fifteen feet broad at the level of the floor and will contain one line of rails. Both tunnels will be constructed simultaneously, but at first only one is used for traffic, the other being reserved and utilized for purposes of ventilation. Meanwhile the existence of two connecting tunnels will greatly facilitate the task of excavating either of them. Rubbish will be more quickly removed, machinery will be more easily brought to the rock face, and if any falls of the rock occur it will be possible to rescue the workmen and repair the damage. The work is to be pushed on from both sides at once. The galleries have for the first few yards to be excavated by hand, and it is estimated that the progress then made will be only at the rate of a meter a day.

HE MADE NO SALE.

The Persistent Young Man Failed to Accomplish His Purpose.

The young man was polite but persistent. He invaded the office, hat in hand, and waited patiently until the elderly man looked up from his work. "Excuse me, sir," he said, when he saw he had the business man's attention. "I am taking orders for trousers."

"Don't want any," said the business man, shortly. "Pardon me," persisted the young man, "but if you will kindly look at my samples—"

"It would only be a waste of time," interrupted the business man.

"I will measure you for them right here and you need not lose five minutes from your business," continued the young man, paying no attention to the interruption.

"But I don't want any," insisted the elderly man.

"Very well, sir, I regret—" Just then his eye fell on a smaller desk in the corner, and he saw a possible opportunity to do a little business after all. "Might I ask you occupies that desk?"

"My private secretary," replied the business man.

"Do you suppose—"

"Why, yes, possibly you might." The business man was suddenly interested. "It's worth trying, anyway."

"When can I—"

"Come back in an hour."

"Thank you, sir, I will."

Then the business man became so interested in some mental pictures that he conjured up that he forgot all about his work for nearly fifteen minutes.

It was just about an hour later that the young man came back. He entered in a business-like way, and then stopped, stammered something in a confused sort of way and started to back out.

"Come in," called the old man cheerfully. "Anything I can do for you?"

"N-n-no, thank you." And he was gone.

"What a queer-acting man," said the private secretary, looking after him.

"Isn't he, Miss Blank?" returned the business man innocently. "I think it must be one of the effects of woman in business."—Chicago Times-Herald.

THROUGH A BRICK.

You Can Blow Out a Flame If Your Lungs Are Stout.

"You wouldn't have believed it possible to blow out a candle flame through a brickbat," remarked a celebrated physicist, whose penchant is to give scientific research a practical bearing. "It can be done, however, and it illustrates the all-pervasive qualities of air. Most rooms are largely ventilated through their walls, and the brick and mortar are merely rudimentary lungs, which take in and throw out the atmosphere with little hindrance."

"You may try the experiment yourself. Place a candle on the other side of your brick and use two funnels, with the flaring ends on the opposite sides of the brick with the small end of one in line with your mouth and the small end of the other trained on the candle flame. The least breath will make the light flicker, and a hearty expiration will extinguish it altogether. Try it and see."

GHOST IN A HOTEL.

Narrative of a Singular Experience of Lord and Lady Dunraven.

Propos of the report that the Brevoort house was to be closed up there is a story that Lady Dunraven has been known to tell about the famous old inn. The countess is described by those who know her as a woman much more inclined to common sense than to ghost-haunted cock lanes, even with Dr. Johnson's authority. She used to tell the facts in the tale simply for what they were worth. It was more than one decade ago, years before the Valkyrie was thought of, when Lord Dunraven was first interested in the mining regions of northern Michigan. He and Lady Dunraven were staying in New York for a few days before starting west and had taken rooms at the Brevoort—pleasant rooms—with a view of the avenue and a nice glimpse of Washington square. The first night, being tired with their voyage, they went early to bed, as it happened, not so early to sleep. Both the earl and countess were blessed with hearty English constitutions. They were not at all accustomed to lying awake till the small hours. They wondered what they could have done, what they could have eaten or drunk to afflict them with such gratuitous vigilance. Just at a venture, finally, they bundled themselves out into an adjoining parlor, made themselves extempore couches there, and slept soundly till morning. Next night and the night after there was the same wakefulness and in the end the same migration to the adjoining room for relief. They began to think they should have to leave town earlier than they had planned, for they would not for the world have made any pretext to shift chambers. The explanation of the mystery, if it was an explanation, came out by chance. They had a call before long from an old-time New Yorker whom they met in England, an authority on all matters pertaining to the town's history. "I wonder," he remarked casually, "that they should have given you these rooms. You know it was in that room that Mr. X. hanged himself." It was in that room that Lord and Lady Dunraven had tried in vain to sleep, and they exchanged significant glances. Of course it was only a coincidence, they said, but the next day they took their departure for the west.—New York Tribune.

CHANGING THE BIBLE.

Centuries Ago It Was a Very Dangerous Undertaking.

About the middle of the twelfth century came, so far as the world now knows, the first gainsayer of the general theory concerning the Bible. The text was that of Aben Ezra, the greatest biblical scholar of the middle ages, ventured very discreetly to call attention to certain points in the Pentateuch incompatible with the belief that the whole of it had been written by Moses and handed down in its original form. His opinion was based upon the well-known texts which have turned all really eminent biblical scholars in the nineteenth century from the old view by showing the Mosaic authorship of the five books in their present form to be clearly disproved by the books themselves. But Aben Ezra had evidently no aspirations for martyrdom; he fathered the idea upon a rabbi of a previous generation, and, having veiled his statement in an enigma, added the caution, "Let him who understands hold his tongue." For about four centuries the learned world followed the prudent rabbi's advice, and then two noted scholars, one of them a Protestant and the other a Catholic, revived his idea. The first of these, Carlstadt, insisted that the authorship of the Pentateuch was unknown and unknowable; the other, Andreas Maes, expressed his opinion in terms which would not offend the most orthodox, that the Pentateuch had been edited by Ezra, and had received in the process sundry divinely inspired words and phrases to clear the meaning. Both these innovators were dealt with promptly. Carlstadt was, for this and other troublesome ideas, suppressed with the applause of the reformed church, and the book of Maes was placed by the older church on the Index.

Another 'Orrible Murder.

It was night; the stars were covered by a cloud of mist; the vivid lightnings flashed and shook their fiery darts upon the earth, the deep-toned thunder rolled along the clouded sky, the elements were in wild commotion, the storm spirit howled in the air, the winds whistled, the hailstones fell like cannon-balls, the huge billows of the ocean dashed upon the rock-bound shores, and torrents leaped from the mountain tops when the murderer sprang from his sleepless bed with vengeance on his brow, murder in his heart, and the fell instrument of destruction in his hand. The storm increased, the lightning flashed with brighter glare, the thunder growled with deeper energy, the winds whistled with a wilder fury—the confusion of the hour was congenial to his soul and the storm passions which raged in his bosom. He clinched his weapon with a sterner grasp. A demoniac smile gathered on his lips, he grated his teeth, raised his arm, sprang with yell of triumph upon his victim and killed—a mouse!

Gas Used for Cooking.

Gas is very largely used for cooking purposes, not only in London, but in country towns. At Maidstone, for instance, at least 25 per cent of those who use gas have discarded coal for cooking purposes. The gas sent out during the daytime for cooking purposes is 49 per cent during the summer and just over 50 per cent during the winter of the total quantity of gas made at the works.

The Incomparable Chicago & Alton

In these United States of America at least, and it is highly probable that throughout the entire world, the official record for the safety and welfare of its passengers made and maintained by the Chicago & Alton Railroad cannot be surpassed if indeed it can be equalled.

Over its completely rock-balled, dustless roadway between Chicago and Kansas City, Chicago and St. Louis and St. Louis and Kansas City, eighteen magnificently appointed express trains are run on uniformly fast time every day. But in spite of this heavy passenger traffic the official records show that from December 4, 1879 to December 4, 1890, eleven years, there was no passenger, who was in place as a passenger, killed on Chicago & Alton trains. Moreover there was not a passenger seriously injured, to the extent of losing a limb, an eye or a member of any kind during that time.

During the entire period of the World's Columbian Exposition in Chicago, when it was not an uncommon thing to find the usual passenger traffic of the road increased two, three and four-fold, and special excursion trains were very many, there was not an accident of any kind—a most remarkable record.

Besides being America's most popular railroad, the Chicago & Alton is the Pioneer Dining Car Line, the Pioneer Pullman Sleeping Car Line and the Pioneer Palace Reclining Chair Car Line.

Be sure that your ticket reads over the Chicago & Alton Railroad, when its matches and direct lines can form the whole, or even a part of your journey.

HOW SHE MIGHT GET ONE.

The Millionaire's Daughter Was Tired of No-Account Noblemen.
"Father!"
"The beautiful heiress looked lovingly into the eyes of the great capitalist."
"Yes, my child."
He, who was cold and haughty to others, was gentle as a woman with her, and his voice and manner showed how much her happiness was to him.
"I'm dying of ennui, father," she said. "Won't you grant me a little favor?"
"Anything in reason that you wish, Beatrice," he answered.
"It will not cost much, father," she said. "I am a-weary of everything I have and I would marry. Buy me a man."
"My child, but last week I got an English duke and a French count, and—"
"I know, father," she interrupted, wearily, "but you were cheated on that last importation. I knew the moment I saw them that they were not according to invoice, so I couldn't accept either. I want a man—a real man."
"Some one of courage, energy and independence?" he asked, hesitatingly, as if fearful of her answer.
"Yes," she said.
"Alas! my poor girl, there are none for sale," he said sadly. "I can buy you a title or a yacht or social position or a duke, but a man—a real man—cannot be purchased. Let me get you another invoice of lords, and possibly you may—"
"No," she said, decidedly. "I must have a man."
He walked the floor in great perturbation for a few minutes. Then his face suddenly brightened.
"I have it!" he said. "Strange I never thought of it before."
"You'll buy me one," she said.
"I cannot," he replied. "But—but," he added, so agitated by his discovery that he could scarcely speak plainly, "it just occurs to me, my child, that—possibly you might get one yourself, just like other girls, you know."

The Drawing of it is the other afternoon we were talking of some well-known superstitions and, among others, of that secret room in the castle of Glamis, which, Sir Walter Scott tells us, is known only to the earl of Strathmore, his heir-apparent, and one other person in whom the earl may choose to confide. One of our party told us an amusing story concerning this secret chamber of Glamis. Once, when stopping at the castle in autumn, a curious and indiscreet visitor took advantage of the host's absence to suggest a plan by which the whereabouts of the hidden chamber should be revealed. The castle was full and it was proposed that each guest should hasten to his or her room and hang his or her pillow out of the window, while one visitor was told to mark off such window as displayed no white signal. In the middle of carrying out this pretty plan the master of the castle returned unexpectedly and great was his wrath at this unseemly curiosity. Never had the owner of Glamis appeared in so towering a passion. The display of temper is hardly to be wondered at, for the Glamis secret is regarded with an extraordinary seriousness by the Strathmore family and when imparted to the heir has been known to fill him with gloom hard to dispel.—Sketch.

A noted American singer is fond of telling of a little experience she had in Boston once upon a time. She was to sing at an evening concert, and a carriage was to be sent for her. She was staying at the time with a friend, who had a suite of rooms in a large apartment house, in which the tube system of communication with the outer world prevailed. It was past the time when the carriage should have appeared, and the lady was growing a little nervous. She was sitting with her wraps on, when the bell rang furiously. Hurrying to the tube herself the prima donna said:
"Well?"
The reply came in a voice heavily charged with irritation.
"I'm a hackman," said the voice, and I was sent here to give what is called a lady, an 'I don't know what in time her name is! I've rung ev'ry bell in this house! Are you her?"
When informed that the "cussed lady" herself was speaking to him he coolly replied:
"Well, come on. We'll have to lope it all the way to the hall to get there on time!"

Attractive Religion.
"Is your religion winsome? Does it charm and attract? Does it show itself in a pleasant face, a cheerful smile, a genteel tone, courteous manners? Is it kindly and thoughtful for the comfort of others, willing to serve, slow to push personal claims, quick to sympathize and help? Or is it sour and hard, grim and frowning, dominated by petty gossip and jealousies, self-asserting and domineering—driving away more carefully than this question. See whether or not you are properly representing Christ."—Moralian.

SCARING A DOG.

But the Experiment Can Hardly Be Called a Great Success.
Bill Jones, of Happy Valley, came into the office the other day and said he had found a good way to scare a dog, says the Fairhaven News. He said he didn't see any sense in wanting to shoot a dog or be cruel to dumb brutes by poisoning 'em when there were ways enough to just scare 'em and in that keep 'em from bitin' you. He said, just to show his good faith before we printed the recipe in the News, we might go down street past Oldfeller's place and try his dog once. So we started out with him. Jones took his umbrella and as we walked along he showed us how the old thing worked. He asked us to walk just ahead and he played we were in the position of the dog and wanted us to growl. When we made a noise he rushed at us with the umbrella, opening and shutting it in rather a startling manner. By and by we reached Oldfeller's place, but didn't see the dog. Then Jones growled like and shouted, "Sic 'em, Towser!" In about a second and a half Towser came flying around the fence corner and Jones just had time to lower his umbrella when the charge was made. Towser made a rush like a trolley car a half block ahead of you. Jones parried and worked the slide on the umbrella handle. The next instant the dog had a mouthful of a four-dollar umbrella cover and two ribs out of the same. Jones expectorated a mouthful of tobacco juice in Towser's eye and then told him he could have the remainder of the water cover, his remarks all prefaced with adjectives never used in prayers. We didn't return to the office together and Jones said if we ever printed the recipe or made any mention of the experiment the A. O. U. W.'s would lose a couple of thousand on us and have a day of for a funeral.

THE BRIDE OBJECTED.
She Insisted That the Word "Obey" Be Omitted from the Marriage Ceremony.
A strong-minded-looking young woman and a resigned-looking man called at the city hall, New York, the other day, and asked to see the mayor. "I want to get married," she announced.
A moment later they stood before Mayor Strong. The woman asked for the book containing the marriage ceremony and scanned it over until she came to the passage "Love, honor and obey."
The bridegroom tugged at her dress and said: "Never mind, Pauline, now. You needn't do it anyhow when we are married."
The bride ignored him, and said: "Mr. Mayor, I wish you would leave the word 'obey' out when you marry us."
"Well, well," said his honor, "is this the new woman?"
"No, sir; I'm not the new woman, but I believe in equality. That word 'obey' is a relic of barbarism. It comes from the time when women were in bondage."
The Mayor then left the word out. The pair gave their names as Charles Sossinger and Pauline E. Becker, of Philadelphia.

How Icebergs Break From Glaciers.
The number of bergs given off varies somewhat with the weather and the tides, the average being one every five or six minutes, counting only those large enough to thunder loudly, and make themselves heard at a distance of two or three miles. The very largest, however, may, under favorable conditions, be heard ten miles or even further. When a large mass sinks from the upper fissure portion of the wall, there is first a keen, piercing crash, then a deep, deliberate, prolonged, thundering roar, which slowly subsides into a low, muttering growl, followed by numerous smaller, grating, clashing sounds from the agitated bergs that dance in the waves about the new-comer, as if in welcome; and these again are followed by the wash and roar of the waves that are swashed and hurled against the moraines. But the largest and most beautiful of the bergs, instead of thus falling from the upper weathered portion of the wall, rise from the submerged portion with a still grander commotion, springing with tremendous voice and gestures nearly to the top of the wall, tons of water streaming like hair down their sides, plunging and rising again and again before they finally settle in perfect poise, free at last, after having formed a part of a slow-crawling glacier for centuries.—John Muir in Century.

Collected for Both.
Here is a somewhat new story of the Niagara Falls hackman:
Two tourists, a lady and a gentleman, stopped off at the Falls between trains. A hackman engaged them for a brief tour of sight-seeing. The time actually consumed was fifty-five minutes. The hackman said he must have $10. The gentleman remarked that it was an outrage. The driver explained that he had been of great assistance in pointing out the places of interest and stood firm. The gentleman prepared to pay under protest.
Unfortunately for himself, he handed the man a $20 bill.
"Do you pay for the lady also?" asked the hackman, promptly.
"Do I pay for the lady?" repeated the fare, in astonishment. "Of course I do. What do you mean?"
"Then there will be no charge," replied the hackman. "My charge of $10 is for one person; $20 for two persons. The amount you have handed me is exactly correct. Thank you, sir."
