TUESDAY'S ELECTION A REGULAR LANDSLIDE.

dential chair next fall. But the voters take place. did not see it that way. It seems that the state has gone Republican by at least 100,000, with the state legislature strongly Republican, thus ending Brice's senatorial career. In New York, while PHILLIP BACH PASSED AWAY Tammany carried the city by a small majority, the state has gone Republican by at least 80,000. The legislature is Mr. Bach Besided in Ann Arbor for who realize how rapidly it has been days. strongly Republican, thus insuring the defeat of Hill for a re-election to the U. S. Senate. Iowa goes Republican with a majority something like 80,000. New Jersey also shows a good Republican majority. Delaware is also Republican, and possibly Kentucky. The flop in Delaware will defeat Gorman in the U. S. Senate. In Detroit the large majority of the Democrats seem to have taken the advice of the Free Press and taken to the woods. Pingree's majority is 10,527, being 38 votes more than the entire number received by his opponent. This enormous majority for Mayor Pingree will give a great impetus to his gubernatorial boom and will make his candidacy one that will be difficult for any other aspirant to overcome. On the whole the Republicans have every reason to be exceedingly jubilant over the result of Tuesday's election. If it means anything at all, it means Republican victory on national lines next year.

For the Ladies' Gym.

There is around, calling on the business men, a committee composed of the following young ladies: Misses Zena Thompson, Edith Noble, Ella Wagner, Ann Richards, and G. E. Mogford. They are circulating a subscription paper headed as follows: "Two Regents of the University have pledged the sum of $35,000 for a Women's Building (Gymnasium and League Rooms) on condition that the women of the state raise $15,000 more to complete the necessary fund of the most active and prominent business 850,900. The question of a deep water canal connecting the great lakes with the sea has been discussed for years. Each year the importance of such a canal, especially to the states in the lake region, has become more and more apparent. MAYOR'S OFFICE.

Ann Arbor, Mich., October 28th, 1895.

To the Honorable Common Council of the City of Ann Arbor:

Gentlemen:-That portion of the proceedings of the Common Council of October 21st, 1895, relative to the report of the street committee upon the matter of payment to the city of twenty-five ($25,000) dollars for earth belonging to the city and used George Mrs. Martin Lang, lot 18 B 4 S R W. Bullis, I desire to disapprove of the same, for the following reasons:

1st. That it does not appear that the amount to be paid was arrived at from any data furnished from disinterested persons.

2nd. As I deem it, sufficient investigation has not been had in justice to the city or to Mr. Bullis.

If your honorable body is of the compromise the matter, and that it street was read and referred to the be settled as a regular, legal business transaction, "then I would suggest that it be done in a business like manner; that the city engineer be instructed to carefully estimate the amount of earth necessary to make the fill to its present grade and of that portion lying outside of the legal or customary line of street filling and to report to the Commen Council the number or cubic yards therein contained, the Council then to base their settlement thereon, allowing no claim of offset for filling said to have been put there by other than at the city's expense, except such as is so conclusively proven. I am sure that there is no desire on the part of the Council that the City profit at Mr. Bullis's expense. We are all in duty bound, so far as lies in our power, to protect the city's interest, and we should insist that its officials do their duty.

Prostitution of office should not be tolerated.

The "missing word contest" was so popular for many months after it was introduced that it has been kept up even against the law. It never attained any great popularity The Mississipri valley, from the headwaters to the gulf, was roughly shaken up by an earthquake shock, which, while it did no serious damage, was quite severe in many places. The working man started to pawn clothing in order to raise the money, when a friend suggested to him to have the company send the prize money minus the two pounds. He wrote to that effect. In answer came a letter stating that he need not send the money, as it had all been settled. But they had a charge on their books against him for "notarial and other costs of currency, amounting to five shillings. Would he send that over immediately for expenses. Confidingly he did so, and never heard from the company afterwards.

The train stopped in the great dark station of a New England city and a gentleman who had been dozing during the last hour of his journey got up in haste, seized his bag and hurried out of the car. In a moment he came rushing back; he had forgotten his overcoat, says the Youth's Companion. But no overcoat was there, for his son had come along from the smoking car, recognized it and carried it out.

THOSE who seem to be the nearest to the administration believe we are drifting into a situation with the British government in reference to her Venezuelan claim that is exceedingly critieal. Mr. Olney, s note to Minister Bayard, the full text of which has not been made public at this writing, is said to set forth most firmly the claim the Great Britain's controversy with Venezuela on the boundary question falls legitimately within the scrope of the Monroe doctrine, and that the conquest of that strip of territory by our English cousins would be regarded as an act of hostility to the government of the United States. Lord Salisbury is reported to have replied to this view of the matter, but his letter has not yet been made public. It is claimed by those who are so related to the administration as to be able to forecast coming events, that while the tone of Lord Salisbury's letter will be amicable, it will insist' nevertheless, that Great Britain must share with the United States our interest in the South American republics, as she was an established power on this before this nation was born, and that Great Britain must be considered an exception in the application of the Monroe Doctrine. It is idle to speculate on the contents of a letter which has not yet been officially published, but we are loth to believe that the British Premier will commit himself or his government to any position that involves a backdown on the part of this government or war. Just now the complications arising among the European nations over the reported Russo-Chinese alliance are likely to make English statesmen cautions in bringing that government into antagonism with the United States. It seems to us that England should agree to submit the dispute in question to disinterested arbitrators as the most honorable and the speediest method of settling this protracted controversy.-Ex.

Miss Emma Bower is seriously ill from au attack of neuritis. She has been suffering from this trouble for the past week. Last evening she was so low that her life was dispaired of.

It is stated that a new time card has gone into effect on the Motor Line. If those who have immediate charge of the schedules on that road would pay just a little bit of attention to keeping the public informed as to the exact time when trains run they would have considerable more patronage.

The Ann Arbor council thought perhaps $1 per year was hardly enough salary for the city treasurer, since he must collect sewer taxes in addition to the other taxes of the city and proposed to give him about $50 per month for fees. After due consideration they decided this would not be feesible, and the dollar a year salary goes. -Adrain

Halloween was celebrated last Thursday night in about the usual manner by students and the young people of the city A large gathering of young people congregated on the east side of the campus about midnight and attempted to build a bon fire of neighboring fences. There is nothing new about camphors. and their healing properties are well known. Everybody with catarrh or cold in the head uses "Pretzinger's." This wonderful success has raised the question among a good many as to how old camphor, as a drug, was. But we have to go down the long ages of history to find the starting point. Camphor was used among the Phœnecians at the earliest dawn of history; the Egyptians six thousand years ago knew all about It; the Chinese have used it for at least five thousand years. The Dayton chemist was bright to use so ancient a remedy, and well deserves the fortune he will make out of it. The healing properties of the camphors instantly allay the inflammation of the nasal organs and open up the passages so that easy, comfortable breathing is possible. The old scabs and sores yield readily and quickly disappear. The horrible choking sensation so common stops at once. Pretzinger's does not seem to be a secret remedy at all, and well-known physicians prescribe it constantly in their practice. A small sample can be had by sending a two-cent stamp to Pretzinger Bros., Chemists, Dayton, Ohio.

W OMEN are not the only ones who are sensitive about their ages. A man doesn't like to be told that he is getting old. A man doesn't like to get old at all. But worse than getting old, is the appearance of age. Health keeps a man young It doesn't make any difference if he has lived eighty years. If they have been healthy years, he will be hale and hearty and won't look within twenty years as old as he is. Good digestion and rich, red blood make people look youthful. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery makes rich, red blood. It makes health in the right way. It works according to the right theory, and in 30 years of practice, it has proved that the theory is absolutely borrect. It begins at the beginning—begins by putting the stomach, liver and bowels into perfect order, but it begins its good work on the blood before it finishes with the digestive system. It searches out disease germs wherever they may be and forces them out of the body. It promotes the copious secretion of the digestive fluids, and assists in throwing off refuse matter. It makes the appetite good and the digestion strong. It isn't a violent medicine. It isn't strong medicine. It does nothing but good to every portion of the body. It doesn't do harm in one place while it is helping another place. It is meant to help the whole body and it does help it. Whenever a man feels himself failing in health, when he feels that he is getting old too fast, that his vitality is low, and that he is losing flesh, he should waste no time in getting the "Golden Medical Discovery." It will build up quicker than anything else in the world. It will give him rich blood and solid flesh. It will make him feel half as old and twice as strong. Druggists sell it.

DURRANT WILL HANG.

The Murderer of Blanche Lamont Found Gullty-Jury Out but 20 Minutes.

W. H. Theodore Durrant was con-victed of the murder of Blanche La-mont at San Francisco for which he has been on trial since July 22. The ury was out but 20 minutes and arived at the verdict on the first ballot. As there was no recommendation of as there was no recommendation of mercy the punishment was fixed at death. As the aged foreman of the jury, pale and trembling, read the words that fixed Durrant's fate, a low rumbling noise like the roar of a mob arose from the room, and the next moment men were cheering wildly, while women wept hysterically in ex-citement. Judge Murphy announced that he would pass sentence a week later and would then also set the day of the trial of Durrant for the murder of Minnie Williams. Durrant's attor-ney will appeal to the supreme court and it is expected that nearly a year will elapse before a decision will be obtained.

Holmes, the Frend, is Found Guilty. Henry H. Holmes, the most fiendish murderer that ever existed in the United States, was found guilty at Philadelphia of the murder of Benj. F. Pietzel. While the trial was one of eccentric surprises there were no sen-sations and when the state had made its case the defendant put in no testi mony and after the attorney had de-livered their addresses the case was given to the jury, who retired to deliberate at 5:40 p.m. According to one of their number they had reached their verdict before the doors of their room closed upon them. For hunger's sake they ate their supper first, then took a ballot and without hesitation every man of the 12 answered "Guilty of murder in the first degree." But however atrocious the crime however fiendish the criminal, it is hard to send a man to the gallows, in one minute's time. So, for decency sake they talked about the case for about an hour and a half. Then word was sent into court that they had agreed. Immediately after the announcement of the verdict, the usual application for leave to file a motion for a new trial was made. Dist-Atty. Graham did not oppose the motion and Judge Arnold fixed Nov. 18 for a hearing. The principal reason urged will be lack of time for the preparation of the of the defense. Should a new trial be refused, an appeal will be taken to the supreme court and argument heard at its next sitting, January, 1896.

10 Mexicans Burned to Death as Heretics. News comes from Texcapa, Mexico, a small town inhabited by Indians and Mastisos (half-breeds), that ten persons were burned there as heretics by order of the auxiliary town judge. The judge claims he was acting according to the will of God, manifested to him in an extraordinary vision, accom-panied by certain indications of divine panied by certain indications of divine wrath against heretics and people leading immoral lives. The whole population of Texcapa seems gone mad. All believe the judge was commissioned by the Almighty and the saints to destroy evil-doers. They point to the pile of bones on which they profess to see miraculously traced outline forms of the saints who, on advising the judge to burn the heretics advising the judge to burn the hereties left their images. GOT THE BACKACHE?

If You Have, Here's the Way to Rid NEWS OF THE HAPPENINGS IN Yourself of the Weariness and Pain Attending It.

Some people suffer with headaches. many people are worn out and weary all the time, many more people have lame the time, many more people have lame back and backache. Few people under-stand the real cause of their aches, and fewer yet know how easily they can find a cure. Just a word of explanation before we prove that what we say is true. The back is the key-note of the kidneys. It aches; that's a sign that the kidneys are not working properly; it is lame; another sign, the kidneys are out of order. The kidneys, you know, are the filters of the blood, but filters sometimes get clogged up. This means in their case that the blood courses through the entire system impreg-nated with poisonous uric acid, bringing on many a disorder which, if neglected, means disease perhaps incurable. And now about the cure:—Don't take our word for it; read what others say :

Mr. David C. Oaks is proprietor of the well known hardware and paint shop at 220 East Main Street, Kalamazoo. Mr. Oaks has suffered a great deal from kidney ailments; he described his condition and cure as follows: "I had a bad, lame back, which I suppose was caused by my kidneys; was confined to my bed during bad attacks. I might say, from time to time, I have been in that condition for years. The urinary organism was affected, urine being scanty, highly colored, and difficult in passage. I was in a bad shape when I got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills, about which I had heard. I have used now two boxes of them, and the pills have removed all the pain and trouble. There was a marked improvement right from the first, and it has continued right along. Doan's Kidney Pills are the right care Is Required in Fitting Them to the Feet.

There is a threadbare joke about the oman who wears a No. 3 shoe on a to. 5 foot-a feat that is impossible in xact ratio to the antiquity of the story here is a distinct limit to the squeez ng capacity of any shoe, no matter that may be the endurance of the wearer. But, on the authority of the lost experienced shoe dealers, we find it true that the majority of feet are istorted and turned from their natura growth by the obstinate and misplaced vanity of the general shoe buyer. Very few persons get their shoes long The great foot folly lies righ here. The masses buy short, broad hoes, so that widths such as double C and double D, that never ought to be manufactured, are in much demand When a woman tells the size of her foot she likes to make the use of a short number-nothing is said about the

The best authorities assure us that ny one could have what sculptors call the perfect foot, a long, narrow one, if mothers would only begin, with the first shoes, to put their children in those that are a little longer than the foot, adding all the extra space neces sarv before the toes instead of at the ides, as they are for some unaccountable reason so prone to do. Thus, without injury, but rather to the advantage of the foot, a pleasing shape may early be secured at the expense of he present squat extremities.

The other day a woman who had worn her shoes so short that her feet had bumped themselves up at the instep in the most unsightly protuberinces told a salesman who tried to persuade her to lessen the width and inrease the length of a new purchase that she was considered by her friends have a "perfect Trilby foot." She added, with a toss of her head: "A onger size, indeed! Why, my foot was odeled on the other side!" "For what, unless it were as a monstrosity?" thought another customer, who overheard the remark.

The Chinese are not the only race who disfigure their useful extremities. They go systematically to work to accomplish their deformities, while our women do it by blindly ignoring the pedal space that nature has allotted them. The Mongolian feet are shortened by a long turning up of the toes, ours by cramping the members till the instep is slowly raised in self-defense. A naturally high instep is a thing of beauty, but one that is elevated by force is nothing but grotesque.

And (but of course this is a secret) we find, if shoe dealers are to be trusted, that women are not alone in this vanity. They declare that men commit the same folly of broad and short, and, what is oddest of all, that country people are much more prone to it than ity-bred men and women.

Another word of warning may prove useful, as it seems not generally to be understood, that when one goes into a shop to try on shoes the feet are contracted from the exercise of walking, and are in the best condition for making them feel easy and comfortable. Due allowance should be made, too, for the first morning hours, when, after a night's idleness, the feet are somewhat enlarged and quite likely to be aggressive in the matter of space.—New York

About Knives.

A cheap Pocket-knife can be bought at every Store, but it is not the kind

One dollar is the lowest price that a really good knife can be sold for. This Moumn is placed in this paper to adver-i e the very best Pocket-knife ever sold. It is J. C. TIDMARSH'S Sheffield Steel Knife.

Never buy a knife only because it looks well. If blades are not the best Sheffield steel they will soon bend, no matter how they will look. Still, you want a fine-looking knife.

The United States law provides that only samples to agents and to the trade will be admitted free of duty. You can, therefore, see the advantage that I have in sending samples to agents over those who deal in Sheffield goods in America. in America.

I am an advertising agent! I am entrusted with a certain amount to spend advertising these knives (the best value ever seen in America at One Dollar each). Now, the Fnife is its own best advertisement.

Imagine a Pocket-knife (3‡ inches long) with the most beautifully-grained vory handle—genuine African ivory mand with two blades of the very best mand with two blades of the very best Sheffield steel that will last a lifetime and cut like a razor. The tips of the handles are heavily plated with sterling silver. And then a very nice chamois leather case goes with each knife. Now, would it not be easy work selling this knife at One Dollar each? I know it would, for it looks as if it were worth two dollars. were worth two dollars.

And so it is if you compare it with the value offered in the ordinary Store.

Is not this knife its own best adver

You can make $4 per day selling these knives. This is a genuine and straigtforward statement. This is counting that you show it to only twelve buyers every day. And every one that sees it will say it is a good value for $1. The knives are sold to you at $8 per dozen; you sell them at $1 each.

I determined to use large sum of advertising money entrusted to me in sending out free samples to those who promise to act as agents for the sale of these knives

I will send you a free sample, but you must sign the promise at the foot of this column, and make a deposit to show that in asking for the knife you are acting in good faith

The deposit that I ask of you is 44 cents about half the wholesale cost of the knife, and less than one-third what you would have to pay for a knife like it, if you bought one. Send the money by a Postal Order or one-cent stamps for 44cts., and put a five-cent stamp on the letter, which must not weigh more than one-half

The deposit of 44 cents will be placed to your credit, and will be deducted from your first order at the dozen rate.

I am an advertising agent, contractor and publisher with one of the largest Advertising businesses in the world, and absolutely guarantee to send, postage paid and duty free, the knife described labove free to anyone who signs the promise below, and sends it with the deposit as stated.

Let me advise you not to part with your sample, even if you should lose a sale at $1 by refusing, as it will take time to replace it. I could not send you another even if you sent the full $1. After the sample they can only be supplied to you by the dozen as there is duty on them to be paid.

Any English Banker can give you information about my high standing, or write to the publisher of this paper who knows that I do a large and straightforward advertising business. and that I do exactly as I say.

I have taken this pace in this paper for three years! The first one answer-ing this advertisement after this number of the paper has come out will, if he likes, have his name printed in this space as agent for these knives. The Editor of the Springfield (Ohio) New Era writes, in his paper of June 29, 1894:—"I have received a sample

A WORD ABOUT ECONOMY.

Thrift May Be Penny Wisdom and Pound Foolishness.

The woman who is not watchful of expenses in the household and a constant enemy to waste is not womanly at all. But, nevertheless, economy, like most virtues, needs a curb bit when it is ridden as a hobby. The writer once heard a society girl exclaim boastfully: I never save pennies. I always throw them away." In a land overflowing with maimed beggars and half-starved newsboys this seems incredible. Yet it is true. However, the society girl's speech has been retailed merely as a companion to the other extreme. A man of exact business habits told a boarding-house parlorful of the usual free-and-easy-going American folk that in footing up the expenses of his recent wedding journey there was one cent expended for which he could not account. A few days after he cried gleefully on entering the crowded dining-room: "I've found it!" "Found what?" demanded an eager chorus. "The cent!" was the grave reply. In a family composed of four members and three servants a young woman said, as if she were looking for commendation, that she managed to save greatly in the washing of sheets by a method of her own; when fresh ones were due, she merely turned about those already in use, and "began over again" with them for a seond week In this way she declared that half the ordinary amount of bed-linen washing might be spared, while her listeners were busy wondering if her head had no objections to lying where her feet had been. One of our best stort-stor, writers once gave a few comestic bints in a household journal which graphic ally illustrated what is here meant by the danger in unbridled economy. Her remarks happened to be upon the theme of using up remnants. She seriously advised the general housewife to do as she did-make periodical incursions upon the refrigerator, and, whatever was found there, whether fish, fowl, or vegetable, to mix together in some commodious vessel, and from this unappetizing compound to make "croquettes," as if hash would not be teo polite a name for such a mess. A little later on, the author mentions casually that her family are all dyspetic. The only wonder is that they are not corpses. In another household an elderly lady, inured to small savings at first from some degree of necessity, and subsequently from habit, caecked her newly made daughter-in-law with a quick cry of distress from throwing a spent match into the fire. "Stop! stop!" said she; "Lalways save burned matches for kindling." The mean side of frugality has been pointed out here alone as warning. There is assuredly a safe, decent course that should run through every well-regulated home but it must be, however, a middle pathway between throwing away pennies and giving up whole, valuable hours to tracking a stray one.

One of the most singular looking creatures that ever walked on the earth or "swam the waters under the earth" is the world famous man-faced crab of Japan. Its body is hardly an inch in length, yet the head is fitted with a face which is the perfect counterpart of that of a Chinese coolie-a veritable missing link, with eyes, nose and mouth all clearly defined. The curious and uncanny creature, besides the great likeness it bears to a human being in the face, is provided with two legs, which seem to grow from the top of its head and hang down over the sides of its face. Besides these legs, two feelers, each about an inch in length, grow from the chin of the animal, looking for all the world like a forked beard. These man faced crabs swarm in the is and seas of Japan.

COUNTERFEIT GEMS.

The University of Pennsylvania Has an Interesting Collection. The University of Pennsylvania has newly acquired a most interesting collection of counterfeit gems, says the Boston Transcript. It embraces practically every known species of imitation in this line. All varieties of precious stones are represented, many of them being such admirable reproductions of the true originals as to deceive the eye of anybody not an expert. Most of them came originally from Idar, in Switzerland, which is the great market of the world for imitation cut

Real gems used to be cut there on an extensive scale, but that business has gone elsewhere. The cutters are prospering, however, for the demand for false jewelry has never been so large is now. There is an enormous sale at present for cheap and counterfeit precious stones. Astonishing quantities of these are now disposed of in Europe to the peasants, who care more for glitter than for quality. Immense numbers of them also are exportedparticularly to the United States. They are mounted in cheap settings at Providence and Attleboro, the bulk of them going to the west, where they furnish favorite article of merchandise for

Great quantities of agates are cut at dar for sale to African savages. These must have peculiar forms, such as are demanded by various tribes. The latter commonly are so particular that they will not accept them at all unless furnished in the shape to which they are accustomed. Mr. Stewart Culin, a famous expert in such matters, informs the writer that primitive people generally prefer stones of a green color. Nearly all Egyptian amulets are made of green porcelain, glazed. Green is the color of life and symbolic of the vital principle. For the same reason jade and serpentine were highly valued even during the prehistoric time in China and Mexico, while turquoise has been held in equal esteem by natives of Asia and America. Primitive peoples generally have regarded jewels as possessing talismanic significance. modern times they have lost such meanings. Earrings, necklaces, brooches and bracelets were formerly amulets. So likewise in the east are the nose ring, the anklet and the collar, and among savages the lip-plug and the ear-plug. Superstitions still attach to the wedding ring, which is a survival of a very ancient ornament and talisman. Many women will never take off their wedding rings. Every bit of jewelry worn by an Egyptian woman means something.

Betrothals in Holland.

In certain parts of Holland when a young man thinks he loves a girl he asks her for a match to light his cigar at the door of the beloved one's home. that something is intended, and if the visit is repeated and the same thing occurs no doubt is left in the minds of the girl's parents, and they immediately proceed to investigate the young man's character and antecedents. When he calls a third time they are prepared to give him an answer. If his suit is looked upon favorably he is given a match. If refused, he produces his own match, lights his cigar and walks away. If a favorable answer is given he steps forward and joins hands with the girl. While the engagement is by no means a settled fact even at this important stage, it is stated as a truth that if, on the occasion of the young man's third visit, his inamorata offers him a second cigar and he smokes it in the house the engagement is never canceled.

A Ready Answer.

When Admiral Stephen B. Luce was a young lieutenant on the old ship Constellation he was known equally for his capabilities as an officer and for his roystering tendencies. His readiness to wit was also a marked quality, as is shown by the following story, that is a favorite in the wardrooms of the navy to this day: The ship was at Newport and the lieutenant entered fully into the pleasures of that gay city. As he went aboard one evening after an afternoon out, the officer of the deck noticed that his step was not as steady as it might be, and, in his sternest tones, said: "Mr. Luce, you're tight, sir!" Quick as a flash came the answer: "If Stephen B. Luce, how can he be tight, sir?" The future admiral heard no more of the matter-Cincinnati Times-Star.

A Splendid Chance. Everybody who is weak, delicate or sickly wants to get well. Dr. Greene, of 35 West 14th St., New York City, makes a specialty of treating patients through letter correspondence. The wisest thing all suffering people can do is to write the Doctor, stating just how they feel mentioning every symptom of which they complain, and he will answer the letter, explaining each Recamier Toilet Preparations. symptom and describing the case so thoroughly that patients understand their complaint as well as though they had talked with the Doctor. He make his explanations so clear that they carnot help but understand just what to do to get well. It saves a journey to the city and doctor's fees, and costs nothing. Dr. Greene is the most successful specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases. He is the discoverer of that wonderful medicine, Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. Thousand are being cured through his perfect system of letter correspondence. It has been proved successful.

HIS FUTURE OCCUPATION. One Bad Boy Thought He Would Drive

a Coach and Preach. Ex-Attorney General Miller was born and spent his early life in a small New York village. At the little school house where he first learned to read and play "hookey" there was a fellow pupil who, although about the same age as Mr. Miller, was noted throughout the village for his pure cussedness. That boy, according to Mr. Miller's statement, would sit up of a night to concoct some scheme to make the people of the town miserable. He would chase the cows, stone the dogs and pigs, put ropes across the path at night, set pins on the seats at church and scare the wits out of all the old maids for a mile around. Whenever any devilment was done it was laid at the door of this one boy, and usually correctly. At school he was a terror to all. Stubporn and defiant, there was no restraining him, and the schoolmaster was in despair. One day he thought he would make a last effort to reform the boy by argument, and he called him up to the desk. "Now, Tom," he began, "you are a bright fellow, but you are spoiling your future. Just think what you can make of yourself if you only behave yourself. Now, have you ever thought of what you will do when you grow up to be a man?" The boy looked at him for a moment and then, picking up a straw from the floor, he picked his teeth for a moment, as though in deep thought. "Yes," he said, "I 'lowed I would drive a coach an' preach some."

The Dog Holds Himself.

There is dog owner in Philadelphia who tells a story concerning his canine companion that tries the belief of his friends, despite the fact that he vouches for its truth. The dog is an intelligent-looking animal, of the shepherd variety, and is frisky and full of fun. The particular trait of which its master boasts is that when he wants the animal to stay in one place it is not necessary to tie him up. All that is necessary is to fasten one end of a rope to a convenient post and give the other end to the dog to hold in its mouth. The patient animal will sit for hours in this way, and would no more run away than he would fly.

The Incomparable Chicago & Alton

In these United States of America at least, and it is highly probable that-throughout the entire world, the official record for the safety and welfare of its passengers made and maintained by the Chicago & Alton Railroad cannot be urpassed if indeed it can be equalled. Over its completely rock-ballasted, dustless roadway between Chicago and Kansas City, Chicago and St. Louis and St. Louis and Kansas City, eighteen magnificently appointed express trains are run on uniformly fast time every day. Moreover there was not a passenger seriously injured, to the extent of losing a limb, an eye or a member of any kind

During the entire period of the World's 'olumbian Exposition in Chicago, when it was not an uncommon thing to find the usual passenger traffic of the road increased four-fold, and special excursion trains were very many, there was not an accident of any kind-a most remarkable

LINCOLN AND MATRIMONY.

Apprehensive That the Pathway Was Not One of flowers.

Money loaned for outside parties. All friend, Joshua Fry Speed, subsequent legal business given prompt attention. Letters from Lincoln to his closest ious and impatient desire to learn if marriage is a pathway of flowers and the two had morbidly feared it to be. John Gilmer Speed presents these hitherto unpublished letters bearing upon "Lincoln's Hesitancy to Marry," in the Ladies' Home Journal. In one Lincoln

> 'far happier than you ever expected to be.' That much I know is enough. I know you too well to suppose your expectations were not, at least sometimes, extravagant, and if the reality exceeds them all, I say, enough, dear Lord. I am not going beyond the truth when I tell you that the short space it took me to read your last letter gave me more pleasure than the sum total of all I have enjoyed since the fatal first of January, 1841. Since then, it seems to me, I should have been entirely happy but for the never-absent idea that there is one (referring to Miss Mary Todd) who is still unhappy, whom I have contributed to make so. That still kills my oul. I cannot but reproach myself for even wishing to be happy while she is otherwise. She accompanied a large party in the railroad cars to Jacksonville last Monday, and on her return spoke so that I heard of it, of having enjoyed the trip exceedingly. God be praised for that. One thing I can tell you which I know you will be glad to hear, and that is that I have seen Mary and scrutinized her feelings as well as I could, and am fully convinced she is far happier now than she has been for the last fifteen months past."

Eight months after Speed had married Mr. Lincoln wrote him:

"But I want to ask a close question: 'Are you now in feeling as well as judgment glad that you are married as you are?' From anybody but me this would be an imprudent question not to be tolerated; but I know you will pardon it in me. Please answer it quickly, as I am impatient to know."

Mr. Lincoln's object in asking this "close question" is manifest. Mr. Speed gave the answer quickly and satisfactorily, and on the fourth of November (1842), one month exactly after the question had been submitted, Mr. Lincoln was married.

LIFE IN LONDON.

An Observing American Paints a Pen Picture of a Great City.

A New York business man, who is in England, has written a letter from London to one of his friends, which is quoted by the Philadelphia Record.

"I was in parliament when the liberal ministers threw up the sponge. There are many curious-looking Englishmen in the house of commons, and I never saw a more motley crowd. There were solemn-looking personages, wearing wigs: there were strange beings with bald heads and whiskers; there were red-haired and yellow-haired men; there were 100 faces which Sig. Lombroso ought to put in a book. Three-fourths of the members wore their hats in the house, mostly stovepipes and derbies. Nearly all of them were clumsily clad. Some wore-ill-fitting dress suits, others cutaways; many had sack coats of all colors, and but few had stylish clothes. Lots of them had trousers that were too short or were too long or very slouchy, while some wore clothes that looked so grotesque as to suggest Baxter street in New York or Petticoat lane in London. So much for my first impression of the first assembly of gentlemen in the world. I used to think that the house of representatives at Washington was badly dressed, but I had not seen the who were hurt are Bernard Rice, of British House of Commons. As for brains of parliament, it seems to me that every man whom I have heard speak during my four visits to it had a hatful of them, closely packed, wheth-

No More "Bad Men.

"In the cvolution of modern civilization, the bad man, namely, the desperado and tough, who gloats over killing his fellow man, disappears," said Col. F. B. Jenkins, of California. few years ago we heard a great deal of characters like Sam Bass, Jesse James, Ben Thompson and Rube Burrows, but today there is not in the United States a single individual with a national reputation for wickedness and dare-deviltry such as any of these acquired. There are a few men left who have records for desperate courage and nerve in trying emergencies, men of the Bat Masterson order, but they can be counted on the fingers of one and. Masterson never figured as a pandit or reckless taker of human life. He is a peaceable man, and if left alone will harm no one. In Denver and all over the West and South he has a host of friends. The day of the desperado is ended, and monstrosities like Thompson, who boasted when in his cups of the number of victims he had slain. will henceforts cease to afflict humanity."-Washington Post.
