A SUCCESSFUL ENTERTAINMENT

AT THE INLAND LEAGUE LAST FRIDAY NIGHT.

A Full House—Paper by Mrs. Thomas, of Detroit, an Excellent One—Given in Full Below—Miss Cole's Pupils Showed Splendid Training—The Whole Entertainment Greatly Enjoyed by All.

The ability to stimulate the interest and direct the natural activity of children in that direction which tends to make of them thinking men and women is a gift which all real teachers possess, and which some have in a specially marked degree. That Miss Lucy Cole, teacher of music in the public schools, has this ability was clearly demonstrated by the results she has attained as illustrated in her work with the children last Friday night at The Inland League.

It was pleasing to see the interest manifested by the children, their willingness and the hearty zest they manifested throughout, and the readiness with which the children sang any indicated pitch, or silently thought the time and tune of any exercise written, singing aloud at the proper moment any tone indicated by their teacher, was surprising. That the children enjoy this kind of work, and that it is a recreation for them which enables them to do better work in their other studies, is acknowledged by all who have given the matter any consideration or thought. Ann Arbor has reason to be proud of its excellent school system, and no less cause for pride is the work being done in musical study under the direction of its able teacher in charge of this work.

The entertainment opened with a paper on "Music as an Aid in School Government," by Mrs. Emma Thomas, who has charge of the study of music in the Detroit public schools. It was an excellent paper and was listened to with great interest. We give it below in full:

MUSIC AS AN AID TO SCHOOL GOVERNMENT.

"Music is a discipline—a mistress of order and good manner. She makes the people milder and more gentle, more moral and more reasonable." Luther.

School Government is, in the abstract, similar to any other form of government. Its character depends very largely upon the dispositions and abilities of those who are to be governed.

Each school building, from the cozy little red box away up in the pine wilderness of our own state, to the ample halls of the greatest University in the land, at Ann Arbor, is or should be, the daily meeting place of a community of interests—State houses, so to speak, where, for a certain specified time, the best forms of government are exemplified. There cannot, however, be a community of interests where there is not perfect harmony.

Harmony, whether it be physical, mental, commercial or financial, must be musical; not necessarily a sweet succession of sounds, purely articulated in each instance, but music that is sweet to the mental and the sentimental ear—music to the heart, the eyes and to all good human impulses.

Music appeals to all that is good and true in the child. It touches the soul and lifts the child out of its baser self into a higher and nobler attitude of thought and feeling. Its effects on the discipline of a school stamps this assertion as a fact. The most uncouth and reckless class of pupils is brought into subjection by the singing of a single song and continued singing is the means of refining, ennobling and elevating. Many instances such as this have come under my personal observation. Therefore it is that I believe in music as an aid to school government. Properly introduced and taught in the public schools, music never fails to win the appreciation and homage that belong to it. Under such conditions, music is infallible in its aid to the development of human virtues and graces. It encourages the pupil and it sympathizes and consoles with him: It enkindles enthusiasm for all things beautiful and it inspires a desire to be right and to do right.

Just as the most certain and most safe improvement and correction for all forms of mental life is provided by the public schools, so does the proper and conscientious teaching of music in the public schools provide the most direct and the most certain way to the good government of those schools.

We teach music in our public schools not altogether with the idea of creating skilled musicians, but for character and enjoyment. Our constant thought must be how to develop character, for character is as necessary to a pupil's success and happiness as intellectual ability. It is far more necessary to make a good than a great man. That which singing may do for our children and for the world is more important than that which is accomplished by other studies. Morals, truth, honesty, obedience, are the sentiments of many a song that leaves impressions on the child's mind that can never be effaced. A child's success in after life depends to a great extent on his courage and helpfulness, and singing can give these to a child if the right kind of songs are chosen.

We must get more out of music in the schools than just the ability to sing a song by note. The best literature in song should be first, last and always. Let them sing the best that can be found, classical gems from the best masters. Why defer to later years the best. Let all children sing. Yes, all. The very children whom we exclude

The Revival Campaign.

Henry Ostrom has made a profound sensation during the few days he has been in our city. On Sunday evening very many people were turned from the church and on every evening the audiences were surprisingly large. He is a young man of fine appearance and very prepossessing manners. His sermons are masterpieces of effective evangelistic oratory. Mr. Crowell sings with energy and, while not as cultured as some singers who come here, he is more useful in the place he occupies than if he were. He sings simple heart thrilling music and speaks the words so that everybody can understand them. Mr. Ostrom preaches at 3 every afternoon and at 7:30 every evening. His afternoon sermons are as good as those of the evening. Today, Thursday is to be a high day. Mr. Ostrom will preach four sermons during the day. The program will be as follows: 8 a. m.—Cottage prayer meetings; 10:30 Sermon to Old People and their friends. 3 p. m.—Sermon on The Holy Spirit. 4:30 p. m. Sermon to Boys and Girls. 7:30—Sermon "Christ Crowded Out."

Death of Mrs. J. C. Watts.

Mrs. J. C. Watts, wife of J. C. Watts, passed away quietly at her home on East Liberty-st., Sunday morning at 6:30. She was born at Evans, Erie Co., N. Y., Sept 8-1831, and has been a resident of Ann Arbor fifty years.

She was a most devoted and loving wife and mother, and throughout her life has been a great friend of the poor and needy; always trying to cheer and aid them.

There are many who will mourn her loss.

She leaves a husband, a daughter Carrie L. Watts; and two sons, Herbert C. Watts, of Syracuse, N. Y. and Harry E. Watts, of Detroit, Mich. The funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock from the family residence.

An Answer Filed.

The Ann Arbor Water Co., through its attorneys, Lawrence and Butterfield, has filed its reply to the bill of the Ann Arbor Milling Co., petitioning the Circuit Court to restrain the Water Co. from taking water from the river or from springs which supply the river. The Milling Company, in its bill, claimed that the Water Company was pumping vast quantities of water from the river and also cutting off the river supply from springs which fed the river. The defendant sets up that very little water is taken from the river, and that is used only for condensing and is turned back into the river. They also claim that the Huron river is a meandering stream up to and above the waterworks, and that they are riparian owners. The defendant's right to the natural use of the water is paramount over the complainant's right for artificial use. They state that prior to 1830 the river was used as a navigable stream and boats ran between Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti and Flat Rock, at the river's mouth. Trappers and fur traders brought their furs and game down the river from Strawberry, Bass and Portage lakes to sell at the trading posts. West of Ann Arbor the river was used as a highway by which people traveled to one another's farms. By virtue of the statutes and laws of the United States the river is a public highway and navigable stream.

The answer further states that inasmuch as the Huron river is a navigable stream that when the dam of the Ann Arbor Milling Co. was built no permission was received from the supervisors of Washtenaw county therefore, the complainant has for years past been a public trespasser and has no more rights than any one else.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS.

[OFFICIAL.]
COUNCIL CHAMBER,
Ann Arbor, February 10th, 1896.
Adjourned session.
Called to order by President Hiscock.
Roll called. Quorum present.
Absent, Ald. Shadford, Prettyman.
COMMUNICATIONS.

The 5th estimate of the City Engineer upon completed work in sewer district No. 3, amounting to $2315.04 was presented to the Council and referred to the Finance Committee.

FROM THE BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS.
To the Common Council:

WHEREAS, one Henry Collins, did on the 19th day of June A. D. 1895, enter into certain contracts with the City of Ann Arbor, through its duly authorized representatives, for the construction of two certain lateral sewers known and designated as the Hill street lateral sewer, situate in lateral sewer district number three, and the Huron street lateral sewer, situate in lateral sewer district number four of the said City of Ann Arbor, and

WHEREAS, section 113 of the sewer specifications of the City of Ann Arbor the same being a part of said contract of Henry Collins with the City of Ann Arbor, provides.

The contractor shall well and truly and promptly pay as the same may become due and payable, all indebtedness which may become due to any person, firm or corporation on account of any labor performed, or material furnished in the construction of any sewer for the City of Ann Arbor, and in case any claim or claims for failure to so well and truly pay for materials and labor as above the Board shall retain from any monies due or to become due to the contractor, a sufficient sum to pay such claim or claims and shall pay the same therefrom when such claim or claims is, or are fully proven to the satisfaction of the Board.

And whereas said contractor, Henry Collins has failed to pay certain claims that have become due for labor and material used in the construction of said sewers, which failure has been brought to the attention of this Board therefore.

Be it Resolved, That this Board deem it expedient to exercise the authority vested in it by said section 113 of the sewer specifications of the said City of Ann Arbor, and hereby declare that the Board does retain all money due or to become due said contractor Henry Collins for the construction of said sewers said money to be held for the benefit of said claims for labor and materials furnished in the construction of said sewers said money to be paid on such claims as the Board may deem expedient, when the same are to be proven to its satisfaction, and

Be it further Resolved, that the Clerk be instructed to notify the Common Council of the City of Ann Arbor and said contractor Henry Collins, of this declaration.

Board of Public Works,
Glen V. Mills, Clerk.
Received and placed on file.

To the Common Council:

The Board of Public Works hereby certify that they have examined and audited labor bills, for work claims during the month of December 1895 and January 1896 on Sewers in District No. 3 as follows:

Accounts assigned State Savings Bank	$2132.27
Accounts assigned State Savings Bank	76.23
Accounts assigned to Mrs Pike	58.37
Total	$2266.87

and we certify that they are true labor bills and we hereby ask the Council to order warrants drawn to the respective holders of the same pursuant to the resolution passed by this Board Monday February 10th 1896, retaining monies due or to become due Contractor Henry Collins, for the purpose of paying labor claims.

Board of Public Works,
Glen V. Mills, Clerk.
Received and place on file.

By Pres. Clark.

Whereas, the Common Council of the City Ann Arbor, has by resolution unanimously declared that the offices of street commissioner and plumbing inspection ought to be combined, and

Whereas, this Board heartily approve of the sentiment of that resolution and have for a long time been of the opinion that such a combination was desirable and for the best interests of the city for the reason that one thoroughly competent and well paid official will perform better service at less expense to the city than a number of poorly paid, inexperienced and incompetent men, and

Whereas, it has been suggested that this change should not be made until a new board has taken office, but as no change will necessarily occur in the membership of the board for three months and then only of one member and as such action can be changed at any time that this or a new board deems expedient for the best interests of the city to do so we think it best to make use of the experience we have gained as members of this Board and act upon the suggestion of the Council at once and give this combination of duties a trial.

Therefore be it Resolved, that the offices of plumbing inspector and street commissioner be and are hereby united in one office and that the street commissioner be charged with the duties which have heretofore devolved upon the plumbing inspector.

Yeas—Pres. Clark, Bullis—2.
Nays—Mr. Ross—1.
To the Common Council.

The Board of Public Works herewith submits the resolution of the Board relative to the combination of the office of Street Commissioner and Plumbing Inspector to your honorable body for consideration.

Received and placed on file.

To the President and Honorable Common Council of the City of Ann Arbor:

Gentlemen:—I hereby call your attention to the fact that there is now over 700 cubic yards of stone in the city yard on Main street and that when a 1000 yards have been piled there the room will all be occupied, and the city must have some other place to pile stone or refuse to receive any more. At the rate they are now being delivered the yard will be full in 2 or 3 days more.

Respectfully,
A. M. Clark,
President Board of Public Works.
Received and placed on file.

I hereby certify that all bills above scheduled the day and year above written and endorsed by me are true labor bills and were given by me for labor performed on sewers in this City and I hereby request the city of Ann Arbor to pay the same and retain the amount thereof out of any money's my due or to become due me from the city of Ann Arbor for Sewer District No. 3.

You will please take notice and notice is hereby given that Henry Collins late contractor for the construction of sewers in the City of Ann Arbor is justly indebted unto the Flush Tank Company, of Chicago, Ill., for material furnished and used in the construction of such sewers, in the sum of twelve hundred (1200.00) dollars. You will further please take notice that for the purpose of securing the prompt and punctual payment, the said Henry Collins on or about the said first day of September last by an instrument in writing under his hand duly assigned to the said flush tank company the sum of twelve hundred ($1200.00) dollars and upwards of the money then due or hereafter to become due to him, the said Henry Collins from the City of Ann Arbor, on account of construction of such sewers, and the said flush tank company hereby makes claim for such sum of money from the City of Ann Arbor by virtue of such assignment.

The assignment above referred to was duly filed in the office of the City Clerk on the 5th day of December last. Yours truly, The Flush Tank Co., By M. J. Cavanaugh, Atty.

To the Honorable Common Council of the City of Ann Arbor:

Gentlemen:—In the matter of the Collins Sewer contract and claims for labor and assignments made by Mr. Collins, allow me to say that there are now on file in the office of the City Clerk assignments from Mr. Collins to the Farmers and Mechanics Bank of this city, and the Union Sewer Tile Company, and the Flush Tank Company, amounting to $7708.00 and thirty-three cents, also an order from Mr. Collins for the payment of some $2800 for labor claims. The total amount of the orders and assignments is $10,508.00. There will be due him, when the sewer is completed, less than $8000.00, if we now honor the order for payment of the labor claims and disregard the assignments now on file it will place the City in the position of a corporation usurping the functions of a court of chancery. The conditions are these: These assignments were made covering any money which, at the date of making them, might be due Mr. Collins, or which thereafter become due. These assignments were duly filed, they have been acknowledged by Mr. Collins, and I do not believe that the City can go on and exhaust this fund without taking into consideration these assignments. I beg leave to say that some two months ago, when the first trouble was had by Mr. Collins on account of labor claims, I advised the Board of Public Works to have Mr. Collins come before them and show his ability to complete this sewer and not to lend encouragement and the credit of the City, by agreeing further to pay labor claims, as from the showing made at that time this same condition of affairs which exist at the present time, was bound to come about, but that advise was disregarded upon the plea that six or eight hundred dollars would complete the sewer. In stead of that amount doing the work we are met with a claim of something over three thousand dollars and all claims are not on file as yet, and still the sewer is not completed.

The fund you asked to dispense and which you have been dealing with is a special fund, created by a special tax and great care must be exercised in dispensing it. In view of the fact that Mr. Collins was unable to meet the labor claims as they came due and had not paid the claims for material, and the fact that they were advised to declare the work abandoned when the contractor left the City, the Board of Public Works had no right to take such steps as would lead the laboringmen to believe that the City would in the future pay labor claims. They have no right now to ask your honorable body to pay these labor claims, for the reasons that had they declared the work abandoned the City would have been protected by Mr. Collins' bond filed for the purpose of securing to the City his faithful performance of his contract; also that the fund they were asking you to dispense was being exhausted and others were claiming the same money. Further, the sum they ask you now to expend is largely in excess of the amount they had said would finish the work.

As far as our duty goes and the only duty we owe to any one is the duty we owe to the tax-payers, and all that the tax-payers desire is that the sewer in that district be completed for the amount which Mr. Collins contracted to complete the work for. If you go on and pay out all monies which remain unpaid upon the contract and disregard these assignments you will place the City in a position which I am afraid will call for paying these same amounts over again. In my opinion the legal position of the City of Ann Arbor is a mere naked trustee or stakeholder against which there are conflicting claims. The only remedy now that I can see is that the whole matter be thrown into a court of chancery, the City taking the position that it is ready and anxious to pay over this money to the parties really entitled, it being impossible for it to ascertain who these parties are. The City is a mere naked trustee, without interest, a mere stakeholder. Let the City say to the claimants that it has no objection to their litigating or settling their respective claims to this fund between themselves. That it is ready and anxious to comply with such judicial determination, or such settlement, and to pay over the fund accordingly. But, that it objects to being forced, not only to participate in the battle between the claimants, and its risks and embarrassments, but especially to occupying a position on their respective lines, where the thrusts intended for each other will only reach the other through the City. Let it say to the claimants, this is your own battle, not ours. We ask to be permitted to step aside, and allow you to aim your blows directly at each other, and take upon yourselves all the risk and responsibility incident to the contest. Let it ask to be allowed to place the fund, which these claimants are endeavoring to reach, in the hands and custody of the court, who may regulate and direct the contest between them in such manner as shall be found best to secure their respective rights, allowing the City to retire from the contest with the cost of litigation to come out of the fund, which the City holds in good faith, for the benefit of the parties who may be entitled to it, or any portion of it. I therefore ask that you empower me to file a bill of interpleader and thus save harmless the City of Ann Arbor.

Yours, Chas H. Kline, City Atty.

REPORT OF SPECIAL COMMITTEES. To the Common Council: Your special committee to whom was referred the report of the Board of Public Works beg leave to report that they have found the same under consideration in connection with the members of the Board of Public Works and have found the same errors which the Board has had corrected and also, upon request of your committee the Board has consented to cut out their objectionable features and make alterations which your committee deem advisable.

Your committee would therefore recommend that the request of the Board of Public Works be granted and that fifty dollars be appropriated from the contingent fund to print and circulate the same. Respectfully submitted, H. G. Prettymann, H. J. Brown, Majority of Special Committee.

To the Common Council: Your special committee to whom was referred the annual report of the Board of Public Works, has had the same under consideration and has been unable to agree upon a report thereon. The undersigned, being the minority of said committee, begs leave to report that he is not in favor of the expenditure of ($50) fifty dollars or any other sum of money by the city for the publication of the annual report of the Board of Public Works in pamphlet form; that he does not believe that Section 140 of the City Charter contemplate the publication of such a report in the form of a pamphlet.

In the report as it appears to me, the Board, through the convenient medium of a literary clerk has undertaken to demonstrate its own infallibility and has assured us of the high standard of excellence which obtains in all its various departments and has alluded to your Honorable Body, the Common Council, as a body of political heifers, and as an apology for its failure to entirely ignore every mandate or resolution of that body, has complained that its hands are tied, while it has been compelled to imbibe its bitter instructions piece-meal, like paregoric, as the infant of the nursery at its loving mother's knee.

Every appointee of the Board has its warm approval and much space is devoted in setting forth the merits of the Street Commissioner, Plumbing Inspector, Engineer and others.

In so far as the report contains tabulated statements of the expenditure of public money of the cost of various kinds of improvement, I should be glad to lay it in the hands of every one of my constituents but I have yet to be convinced that the citizens of this City who earn their bread by the sweat of their brows, will thank me for voting to expend their hard earned money, over which they have placed me a guardian, to publish in pamphlet form, and circulate among its admirers this egotistical effusion called the annual report of the Board of Public Works.

Let it be placed on file in the Office of the City Clerk, duly labelled, where reports of other city officers are placed, and there it may remain as an immortal testimonial of the undying devotion and shining virtues of the august body whose signatures it bears.

Respectfully submitted, John Koch, Minority of Special Committee.

A year ago President Cleveland deemed a syndicate necessary to float an issue of bonds. After that sharp experience he came to the conclusion to offer a new issue publicly, relying on the banks for the gold. To-day he ought to be persuaded that even reliance on the banks is needless. Next time he wants gold let him come down directly to the people. The next bonds should be in small denominations at a fixed price and be offered at the windows of the money order divisions of the post-offices. They will be promptly taken up. The American people can carry on the government of the nation without help from foreign capitalists, syndicates, national or international, or even banks. Let the people become the creditors of the government and they will look more closely into its monetary system. When they do that the system will be speedily reformed. Such a result would not be the less of the benefits following a really popular loan.—Times Herald.

It is not over-stating the matter to say that the growth of sentiment in Michigan in favor of Hon. Hazen S. Pingree, of Detroit, for governor is most remarkable. Go where one will in any nook or corner of this great state and talk with voters of all classes and representatives of all parties and everywhere the rank and file will be found ready to support Detroit's mayor for the office of governor. The only thing that can prevent a practically unanimous nomination of Mayor Pingree by the Republican party this summer will be a lack of organization among his supporters, the large majority of whom are not politicians and may not realize the necessity of attending the primaries and seeing to it that Pingree delegates are sent to the county conventions. If this is done there is no other candidate in the state who would stand the ghost of a show of capturing the nomination. THE REGISTER believes that with Mayor Pingree at the head of the Republican ticket next fall the ticket would be elected by one of the biggest majorities ever given to any ticket or party in the history of the state.

The significant feature of the reception accorded the very original and unique utterances of Mayor Pingree at Central Music Hall was the vociferous applause that greeted his allusions to the alleged partnership that exists between corrupt aldermen and the big corporations that are growing rich out of the municipal franchises.

Although the address was read from manuscript, it bristled with Pingreeisms. The propositions advanced were undoubtedly the emanations of the Pingree brain. Notwithstanding the many amusing eccentricities of Detroit's fearless executive, it is very evident that the "Pingree idea" with reference to municipal franchises and municipal ownership of street railways, electric and gas light plants, is promulgated with convincing candor and has found lodgment in the minds of a very large proportion of the thinking population. Behind the Pingree idea is the prestige of a remarkable victory in Detroit after a struggle that has attracted the attention of the whole country.

Mr. Pingree has been a target for the shafts of vituperation and malevolent criticism. When he began his fight for 3-cent fares and municipal ownership of street railways and public works he was called a populist, afterwards a socialist and finally an anarchist. But judging from the magnificent physique of Detroit's handsome executive, this indiscriminate abuse operated as a stimulating tonic. As a result of Mayor Pingree's tireless crusade against the corporations and trusts Detroit now enjoys the luxury of 3-cent fares on street railways and no franchise is granted to any street railway company that does not provide for ultimate municipal ownership of the entire plant.

The portion of the address that recommended a law that would impose a fine upon every voter who neglected to vote on election day and making attendance at one of the primaries a necessary condition for exercising the rights of suffrage evoked a hearty response from the audience, indicating very clearly the drift of popular sentiment on this question.—Times-Herald.

because of the undertone, the spirituality of good songs. We do so children an irreparable wrong. Froebel said: "A child's soul is often more tender and vulnerable than the finest and tenderest plant."

The senses are divided by Bain and other authorities into two groups: one, the lower of taste, smell, and those which relate to the building up of the body; the other includes the higher, hearing, sight, or those which relate to the outside world of the lower senses.

Many children who cannot sing, are overcome by the power of the lower senses, and need to have their vision extended.

Even if our subject in teaching is to give our pupils an ability to read music as music, which is, in my opinion, a very low aim, I believe it can better be attained by reading very much music as found in the best songs than in any other way. Why should not music be graded according to its difficulty as we do in reading the best literature? But should we teach music with this aim in view, to give our children the mechanical ability to read music? Rather, should not our aim be to so teach our children that they may be able to appreciate the heavenly harmony, and thus obtain a concrete standard by which to measure music as it comes to them? Abstract standards for estimating music are of but little value except to a musical critic. The appreciation of the beautiful in song is a growth not a creation. And, above all things, let us teach our children to sing for others, that some time they may give pleasure to other children. Mr. Wm. L. Tomlins once said in a talk on musical education: "If music ends only in fitting us to enjoy ourselves, it becomes selfishly enervating, and this reacts on a musical tone."

I am afraid sometimes, in our anxiety to have our pupils advance more rapidly in musical knowledge, we do not pay attention enough to physical advantages of singing. Properly taught, singing is a great promoter of health. Noted physicians tell us that thousands of the human race are sinking an unall into premature graves, on account of consumption and other lung troubles, who might be living were their lungs properly developed by deep breathing, which is necessitated by cool singing. The lungs are composed of thousands of minute air cells, and those in the bottom of the lungs in many cases remain unexercised, causing weakness and early decay. We should be particular that children sit erect and breathe deeply.

Breath must reach the bottom of the lungs, filling all the air cells, and when this habit is formed early in life sound physique is a sure result. We all know music creates a liking for both mental and physical discipline, it is an aid to conscientious, systematic study, a help to thorough and beneficial training, it develops good impulses and discourages unworthy ones it applauds all things that are honest, it sustains and strengthens the memory, and, leaving the school-room, goes out daily in the minds and hearts of the pupils, to continue its work and scatter its benefit through the home, the neighborhood, the country at large. Good school government is made more certain by music, because it binds teachers and pupils more closely together, than can be done in any other way because, in brief, it is the personification of that harmony which must exist in order to have good government of any kind, and because properly applied, it reproduces itself in the hearts and minds of those who are to be governed, and so completes that much desired structure, good school government."

The evening closed with several songs by the school children, and two beautiful numbers by Master Gerald Brown, A duet from Humperdink's fairy opera "Hensel and Gretel," by little Elsa Clement and Bradley Granger was greatly enjoyed, as was also "Mother Madge and her Numerous Family," enacted by some fifteen school children. Such entertainments should stimulate the parents to visit the schools more, and learn for themselves the work that is being done daily for their children.

The total number of bushels of wheat reported marketed by farmers in January is 664,102, and in the six months, August-January, 5,993,826. The amount marketed in January is 397,736 bushels less than reported marketed in January 1895, and the amount marketed in the six months, August-January, is 1,303,115 bushels less than reported marketed in the same months last year.

At 37 elevators and mills from which reports have been received there was no wheat marketed during January. The condition of live stock ranges from 92 to 97 per cent, comparison being with stock in good, healthy and thrifty condition.

Captain Allen's Address.

The Service Commemorative of the birth of Lincoln held at the Unitarian church Sunday evening was largely attended. The church was decorated and the music, especially Mrs. Howe's Battle Hymn of the Republic as sung by Mr. George, was finely rendered. Capt. Allen's address upon "The Greatest American" was eloquent and impressive. He drew a graphic picture of the poverty and hardships of the childhood days of Lincoln, when, at nine years of age, he helped his father hew the boards to make a coffin for his dead mother. His life was sad. The death of his youthful love left a wound in his heart which never healed. He was attracted to sad and melancholy poetry. In his solitary walks he was often heard repeating to himself

"O why should the Spirit of Mortal be Proud."

Lincoln was a great man wherever placed. He was a great reasoner. In the canvass of the State of Illinois, in 1858 by himself and Douglass, the "Little Giant" was a wisp of straw in his hands. He was a great orator. His Gettysburg Oration will be as immortal as the Oration of Pericles over the grave of the defenders of Athens. He was a great writer. There are passages in his second inaugural and in his emancipation proclamation that will be classics so long as the English language endures. He was a great executive and the master spirit in the greatest crisis of modern times. How small after the lapse of nearly a third of a century all the men around him appear! How the memory of all these men begins to grow dim in the shadow of his colossal fame! Early in his administration Seward assumed that he was to be the leader in the Government, but a single letter from Lincoln squelched his impertinence and his presumption and taught him that his master was in the white house. Mclellan at one time imagined that he was a greater man than his Commander in Chief. Lincoln patiently endured his insults and bided his time. His great heart felt a sincere sorrow for the pitiable record which his small minded-but conceited subordinate made, and he forgave him. As Lincoln sprung from the people so in his whole career he was with the people. He never felt himself wiser than they. His only ambition was to learn their wishes—and when he found what those wishes were, to give them effect by the mighty arm of the government. Lincoln was a great general. Every successful campaign planned, every successful battle fought was inspired by his suggestion and won by his encouragement and support. Captain Allen or any other student of our history can easily show that Abraham Lincoln was "The Greatest American." It is not at all certain that history will not distinguish him as one of the greatest men of our Anglo Saxon race. Intelligent, disinterested and patriotic citizens in days like these when small men fill all departments of the government and have in view only self and party, instead of principle and Country may will be discouraged, and fear for the ultimate success of free institutions, but they need not despair of the Republic when the people can bring forth from their very dregs such a man as Abraham Lincoln! A true savior to lead us through the night of darkness, storm and peril.

Michigan Crop Report for February.

The weather during January was fairly favorable for wheat. The ground was not at all times entirely covered with snow, but when it was not covered the temperature ranged high and no material damage was done. In reply to the question "Has wheat during January suffered injury from any cause?" 71 correspondents in the southern counties answer "Yes" and 440 "No"; in the central counties 23 correspondents answer "Yes" and 150 "No," and in the northern counties 2 answer "Yes" and 91 "No."

In answer to the question "Has the ground been well covered with snow during the month?" about one-half of the correspondents in the southern counties, two-thirds in the central, and nearly all in the northern answer "Yes."

The total number of bushels of wheat reported marketed by farmers in January is 664,102, and in the six months, August-January, 5,993,826. The amount marketed in January is 397,736 bushels less than reported marketed in January 1895, and the amount marketed in the six months, August-January, is 1,303,115 bushels less than reported marketed in the same months last year.

At 37 elevators and mills from which reports have been received there was no wheat marketed during January. The condition of live stock ranges from 92 to 97 per cent, comparison being with stock in good, healthy and thrifty condition.

This afternoon, at three o'clock, the local union holds one of their regular meetings, in the postoffice block. Business of importance in relation to the District convention, which meets in Ann Arbor in April, will be transacted and a full attendance is requested.

The Loyal Temperance Legion meets Saturday next, at two o'clock, as usual. These meetings are well attended and are very interesting for the children. Last Saturday Miss Otis made some experiments showing the action of alcohol upon albumen, and other substances found in the body and explained the effects of this poison when taken into the system, in such a manner that the children will be sure to carry the lesson with them through life.

A comprehensive bill forbidding the manufacture and sale of cigarettes in any form, by or to any person, is before the Iowa legislature, and will probably be passed.

It is stated that if Niagara were harnessed to use all its energy it would run more machinery than there is in the world. It is equally true that the united voting power of the Christian church could crush all the dominant powers of evil.

Chicago has thirty-two police matrons. At the Harrison street station 1,665 women, girls and children came under the matron's care, and there were about 10,000 commitments to the House of Correction and Bridewell last year. Strong drink is the main cause of this degraded humanity.

The recent decision of the New York court ratifies the excise law and affects about 2,000 liquor saloons daily selling within 500 feet of churches or school houses in the city. That the excise commissioners are now two to one in favor of Sunday closing is another source of rejoicing for temperance people.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., boasts of something unique in the way of a restaurant firm. The business card of Smith Bros., caterers, confectioners and restaurant-keepers, contains a statement that they never furnish intoxicating liquors, and that they require total abstinence in all their employees. They have pursued this policy for forty-six years and it has not hindered them from becoming rich and influential, universally trusted and beloved, the sort of men that would be expected to "evolute" from a white ribbon home.

One who has figured it all up says two drinks of whisky cost a pound and a half of beefsteak; two beers, a dinner of mutton chops; one cocktail, an egg plant or head of cauliflower. "What will you take, Charlie?" stands for a nice oyster stew for the whole family on Sunday morning. "Set 'em up again!" means sugar in the house for a month.

News comes to us of the great audiences and enthusiasm which greet Miss Willard in the south. The cordiality with which she is met in college towns is particularly hopeful and gratifying and we rejoice that she, with the temperance cause, has come to "stand before princes" and to "sit at king's tables." Large Young Woman's Christian Temperance Unions were formed in the colleges of both Spartanburg, S. C., and Greensboro, N. C. by Miss Willard.

DR. GREENE'S NERVURA

Alexander Salvini, the Great Actor, Says Dr. Greene's Nervura Cures.

What he Says Means Health to You if You Use This Grandest and Surest of all Medicines, Dr. Greene's Nervura.

The word of an illustrious actor, like that of a great general or statesman, commands the attention of the world. Alexander Salvini, son of the greatest actor that ever lived, is rapidly taking his father's place in the minds and hearts of the people. Every word of his, therefore, like the utterances of Jefferson or Irving, whom everybody honors and reveres, will be read with deepest interest and profoundest attention by all.

Mr. Salvini writes to the people:—"Travelling as I do, I cannot fail to notice the great use of Dr. Greene's Nervura Blood and nerve remedy, and especially among my friends and acquaintances.

"From my own experience, I can strongly recommend it as a most excellent and reliable family remedy, especially for rheumatism and neuralgia, nervousness and all nervous affections, which illnesses in our profession, we are most liable to contract."

Weak nerves, poor blood, low vitality, rheumatism and neuralgia, are the bane of life, the thief of comfort, the destroyer of happiness. It is the height of folly to suffer when a cure is easy, sure and speedy by using Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. Use this great and wonderful remedy and the nervous, irritable, weak and trembling feelings will disappear; your sleep will be natural, calm, restful, and you will wake mornings feeling strong and vigorous instead of tired and exhausted; all gloomy depression and sense of anxiety will fade from the mind; your nerves will become strong and steady as steel, your strength, energy and ambition will be restored, and perfect health take the place of weakness and debility.

This remarkable discovery, Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, should not be classed with ordinary patent medicines. It is the prescription of the most successful specialist in nervous and chronic diseases, Dr. Greene, of 35 W. 14th St., New York City, and he can be consulted by all with out charge, personally or by letter.

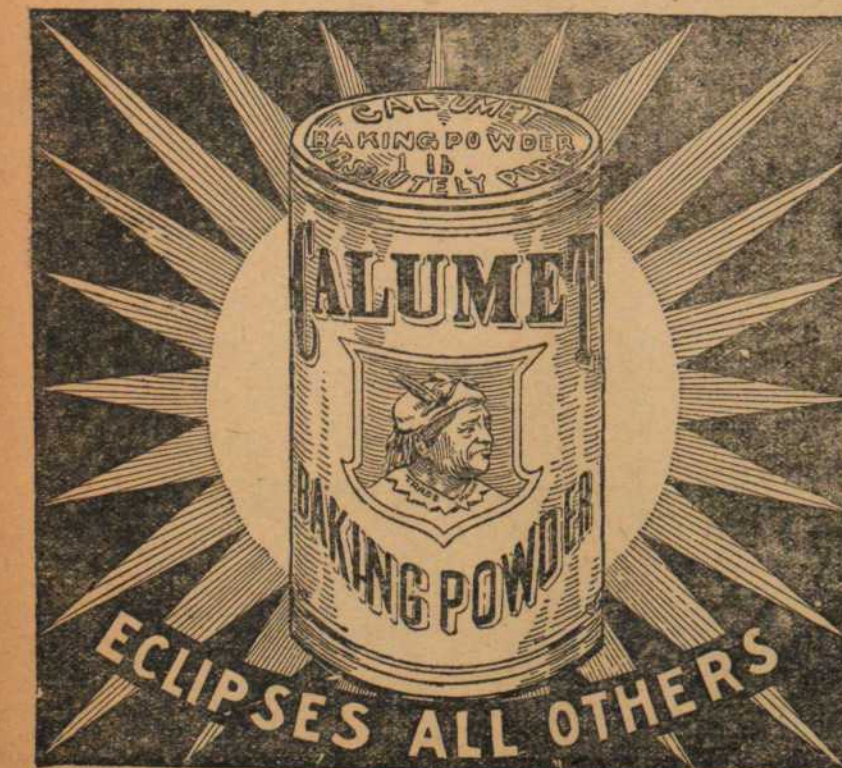

Probate Order.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, ss.
 COUNTY OF WASHTENAW, ss.
 At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Washtenaw, holden at the Probate Office in the City of Ann Arbor, on Thursday, the 13th day of February, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-six.
 Present, J. Willard Babbitt, Judge of Probate.
 In the matter of the estate of Edward Treadwell, deceased.
 David Rinsey executor of the last will and testament of said deceased, comes into court and represents that he is now prepared to render his final account as such executor.
 Thereupon it is ordered, that Tuesday, the 10th day of March next at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for examining and allowing such account, and that the devisees, legatees heirs-at-law of said deceased, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said Court, then to be holden at the Probate office, in the City of Ann Arbor, in said County, and show cause, if any there be, why the said account should not be allowed. And it is further ordered, that said executor give notice to the persons interested in said estate, of the pendency of said account, and of the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the ANN ARBOR REGISTER, a newspaper printed and circulating in said county, three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

Last Wednesday eve, about 99 of the friends of Mr. and Mrs. Geo Russell assembled at the Russell house and helped them celebrate the 20th anniversary. They received as a token of the respect in which they are held some very nice presents among which was a nice silver cake basket, pickle caster and a set of pure China Bone dishes. It was a very pleasant occasion.

Centuries ago, people used to fear what they called the pestilence. "Black Death" was the most terrible thing in the world to them. They feared it as people now fear the Cholera and Yellow Fever. And yet there is a more terrible thing than any of these. There is a thing that causes more misery and more deaths than any of these. It is the commonest trouble that human beings suffer from. It is so common that nine-tenths of all the sickness in the world is traceable to it. It is merely that simple, common thing—constipation. All this is telling what it may lead to, but it is sure to lead to something bad. Its immediate effects are unpleasant in the extreme. It makes people listless, gives them headaches, makes the digestion poor, causes dizziness, loss of appetite, loss of sleep, foul breath and distress after eating. All this merely because Nature has been imposed upon, and has been refused the little help she needed.

This little help is furnished by Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. One pill is a gentle laxative and two a mild cathartic. There are two remarkable things about the "Pellets." One is that they never gripe; the other that they cure permanently. There is no other medicine that does cure permanently. You can take any other medicine you like, as long as you like, and if you stop, your trouble will come back quickly, and the chances are the trouble will be worse than it was before. This isn't true of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. You take them until you get yourself into perfect working order, and then you stop. You don't have to take any more "Pellets" unless after a while you do something that deranges your digestive system again. We are not guessing about these facts, and we don't ask you to take our unsupported word for it. Thousands of people have found that they are true, and have testified to them. Let the druggist who says that something else is "just as good" sell that something else to somebody else. Don't let him trifle with your health for the sake of a little more profit to himself.

Family of Seven Butchered at Chicago

An entire family of six, father, mother, wife and three children, were murdered by Richard Klattke, a Chicago carpenter, who then completed the work by killing himself. The members of the Klattke family were found dead in their little cottage at 207 Bersau avenue. Each had a bullet wound in the head and in each case the ball had penetrated the brain death evidently having been instantaneous, from the position of the bodies. Beside the body of Richard Klattke lay a revolver and empty cartridge shells were scattered about the rooms. There were no signs of struggling on the part of any of the victims and a heavy odor which appeared to be that of chloroform pervaded the house. From this it was surmised that Klattke had chloroformed the entire family and then taken deliberate aim and had put a bullet into the brain of each and then shot himself. Klattke was a rapid anarchist.

The Chinese Call Camphor "The Great Medicine."—Where Camphor Grows.

Camphor is a vegetable not a mineral and our common camphor comes from the Island of Formosa. Camphor trees are covered with the most beautiful of bright green leaves, and the air in the vicinity is filled with the spicy, aromatic odor of the tree. It is a curious fact that the Chinese sell their own camphor, and pay a hundred times the price they get for it for the Malay Camphor, of which they take the entire product, but very little finding its way to foreign ports. This camphor is grown further down the coast on the Islands of Borneo and Sumatra. Camphor is called by the Chinese "The Great Medicine," from its wonderful soothing and healing power. Pretzinger Bros., well known chemists, have in their Catarth Balm not only the little known and rare Malay Camphor, but also the camphor from the Eucalyptus Globulus (Australian Blue Gum Tree) as well as other camphors and camphor compounds. What a wonderful relief these camphors carry in the form of this Balm tens of thousands of people can attest. Used freely, a diseased membrane or sore spot in the passage to the head will be quickly cured, while graver cases of catarrh will yield readily. Have you tried the "great medicine"? If not, ask for Pretzinger's at the first drug store you meet, and see if you can distinguish the delicate order of the Malay Camphor in the preparation while you are using it. If you like, send a two cent stamp to Pretzinger Bros., Chemists, Dayton, O., who will send you a small sample free, or a full sized package for 50 cents.

TEACHERS—Teach your little ones to sing.

Teachers are requested to read the paper of Mrs. Emma Thomas teacher of music in Detroit Public Schools headed, "Music as an Aid to School Government," found elsewhere in this issue and show same to school officers—also write for booklet by Miss Lucy Cole, teacher of music in Ann Arbor Schools, entitled, "How We Teach the Little Ones to Sing."—(FREE.)

We believe music and singing should be taught in every school. That it can be successfully done, and is beneficial to the scholars, is proven by its having been made a feature in the schools of Germany and England for years.

We have in the past and shall in the future offer valuable prizes to those teachers and schools which show sufficient interest in this work to take it up.—Teachers, investigate this subject. You will be surprised at the eagerness and delight manifested by the pupils and more than compensated by the increased interest and zeal shown by scholars in their other work.

This is no new idea. The study of music is a recognized feature in all city schools. Why need our district schools be behind in this most beautiful branch of education?

Information as to proper books, methods, etc., gladly furnished on request.

MICHIGAN EVENTS RELATED IN BRIEF ITEMS.

Michigan Association of Farmers' Clubs Hold Their Annual Meeting at Lansing

Mother and Son Killed After 18 Years. —Report of the State Labor Bureau.

Farmers' Clubs in Convention.

The annual meeting of the Michigan State Association of Farmers' clubs held a two days' session at Lansing, Gov. Rich, after delivering an earnest address of welcome, acceded to the request of the association and talked for some time on state affairs, answering the question, "Is the Government Worth What it Costs?" He declared that Michigan was governed as economically as any state in the union. President A. C. Bird in his annual address said that two years ago there were but 50 farmers' clubs in the state, while now there are over 200. The influence of the clubs will be appreciated, he said, when it is stated that some 15,000 persons, with the same interests and purposes, gather weekly in 200 communities in the state. He said it was time for the association to take up a different line of work—the great question of public expenditures. The discussion developed much hostility to the University, and but little to the charitable and reformatory institutions.

The general trend of discussions were to condemn the state legislature, legislators, state institutions and state officers in general; protesting against alleged excessive salaries and carelessness in expenditures. Gov. Rich protested against the wholesale condemnation of legislatures. The legislators were very much like the average farmer, who, as supervisor, was not particular to work too many hours a day, but never failed to charge full legal rates. Col. Vic Deland struck a responsive chord when he reminded the ex-legislators, who had been kicking on various legislation, that they did none of this kicking when they were in the legislature, where it would do some good, but they went with the crowd. Detroit and Detroit affairs were unmercifully roasted by Robert Gibbons.

Resolutions which were adopted favor equal suffrage, denouncing the appropriation for fish commission purposes as extortionate, declare against all junkets, want all officials' salaries and fees reduced, demand text books printed by the state, advocate reduction in the number and pay of department clerks. They will exact pledges from all legislative candidates to support these reforms.

Officers were elected as follows: President, A. N. Kimmis, Jr., Wixom; vice-president, J. T. Daniels, Union Home; secretary, H. F. Peckham, Parma; directors, W. H. Hawiett, Dansville; C. J. Phelps, West Branch.

Hold Robbers Make a Big Haul.

Wm. H. Moyer, wholesale dealer in cigars at Traverse City, was sitting at his desk in his office making out bills when two men entered the room, blew out his light and placing revolvers at his head, demanded his money. He gave them about $70 which he had in his pocket. They then demanded that he should open his safe, and with threats of instant death should he refuse, compelled him to do so. He was then securely bound, gagged, tied to his chair and the robbers took $4,700 and escaped. In the morning a domestic came to the cigar store of Thomas Thomas, across the street, and stated that Moyer had not been home during the night, and his family were much alarmed. Thomas went to Moyer's office, found the door unlocked and discovered him bound as the robbers had left him.

Labor Commissioners' Report.

Labor Commissioner Morse reports that during the past year there were 3,137 factories inspected. Of these factories 2,836 were running, and 2,561 of these were running full time, leaving 376 idle or running short time. Computed at $1.32 per day the average wages paid employes of factories inspected in 1895, the loss in money on account of short hours is $434,282 daily, or $135,701.28 annually. The number of males employed was 96,884; number of females, 15,104. There were found 140 children under the age of 14 years working. They were employed in 64 different factories, and were all discharged, the law being rigid in this respect. In 484 factories 1,989 children over 14 and under 16 years of age were found employed.

A Happy Reunion.

Mrs. Thomas Smith, of Leslie, was very much astonished by a visit from a stranger about 20 years of age, who after a short conversation proved to be her only son, whom she had not seen for 18 years. He was abducted from her home in New York state when 2 years of age. Finally when grown up he learned that the people he lived with were not his natural parents. He learned his parents' name, then traced his mother. His father's name was Langthorn, Mrs. Smith having been married before.

Costly Fire at Mt. Pleasant.

Fire broke out in Vance's cigar factory, at Mt. Pleasant, and spread rapidly to adjoining buildings, totally consuming George C. Faulkner's hardware store, with Hall & Coffey's shoe store, Bernhardt's billiard rooms, saloon and restaurant, old Exchange hotel, and city fire department's barn, with a total loss of $20,000. By hard work the opera house and First National bank were saved.

A state conference of district officers of the Epworth league was held at Lansing.

A postoffice has been established at Day, Cass Co., with Eva O. Byrd as postmistress.

The local option issue was defeated in Clinton county by 220 majority. Eight years ago it carried by about 550, a loss for the dry element of about 800 votes.

A hired man named Walters, employed by Watson Frost, near Midland, accidentally fired a shotgun and fatally Mary Frost.

Complaint was made against the Kalamazoo Paper Co. for killing fish in Portage creek, by dumping vitriol or other liquid into the creek.

MICHIGAN NEWS.

A new state bank is to be established at Coloma.

Escanaba has voted to bond for $59,000 to construct a municipal water works system.

Revival services at Albion resulted in 323 new members being added to the various churches.

Henry Garrige, an old French-Canadian surveyor, was found dead near Lake Linden, on the road to his home. Being thinly clothed, he perished from cold.

John King, an Evert youth, was fined only 10 cents for disturbing a religious meeting by throwing cayenne pepper on the stove, but had to pay $15 costs.

The Christian Endeavor society of the state are preparing for their convention at Ionia, April 1-3. Free entertainment will be provided for 1,000 guests.

A large force of men are laying steel rails on the Ann Arbor road from Dundee to Ann Arbor. The improvement will cost the company $180,000 the coming year.

Nathan Tompkins pleaded guilty at Big Rapids to beating his three-year-old daughter with a stick of wood. The justice gave him all the law permits, a $100 fine.

Jerry Scott, colored, of Jackson, arrested on the charge of beating his six-year-old daughter to death, narrowly escaped lynching while being taken from court to the jail.

Bauschke Bros., of Benton Harbor, who spent $1,000 on a horseless carriage, admit the invention is a failure. The gas engine make as much noise as a steamboat and causes much ridicule.

A. Keppen, aged 31 years, was struck by an electric car at Grand Rapids, and instantly killed. He was walking on the track and was not seen by the motorman until the car was almost upon him.

Adelbert Lyon, aged 21, was arrested at Benton Harbor for swearing that Bertha Coulterman was 18 of age when he went to get a license to marry. She is only 13. Her brother made the complaint.

Ray Harris found a dynamite cartridge on the railroad track at Grand Rapids and began a series of experiments with it. He is now minus several fingers on his right hand, and has a deep gash over his eye.

Before the physics classes in the U. of M. Professor Garhart and Assistant Professor Reed performed the feat of photographing through a heavy pasteboard box and several sheets of paper, by means of Roentgen cathode rays.

Food Commissioner Storrs reports that during last month the number of adulterated foods found upon the market showed a marked falling off. He roasts the numerous coffee substitutes upon the market, saying they are practically of no value.

Mrs. Albert Allen, near Gobleville, went the barn to gather eggs, and discovered the body of her father, Elijah Bullard, lying face downward. He was dead, and had probably been frozen to death. He had recently been released from the insane asylum.

The old Dewey & Stewart roller process flouring mill at Owosso was almost totally consumed by fire. Loss on building and machinery, about $25,000. The lessees, Miller & Hoxie, will lose about $5,000 with $3,500 insurance. The mill was one of the oldest landmarks of Owosso.

Jerry Scott, a colored man of Jackson, was arrested by Sheriff Peek, at the suggestion of Coroner Slenuo, and held on suspicion of having whipped his 6-year-old daughter so brutally that it caused her death. It was also alleged that Scott laid the little one on the stove and burned it badly.

Poormaster Bush, of Kalamazoo, who was removed by the supervisors because of cruelty to applicants for aid, refuses to turn over the books and will continue to hold his office. County Clerk Forbes has, however, notified the grocers and butchers that the county will not pay for Mr. Bush's orders.

The common council of Grand Rapids met in special session in honor of ex-Mayor Edwin F. Uhl. President Ball announced the selection of Mr. Uhl as ambassador to Germany and ennobled him highly. Others made brief addresses and a committee was appointed to draft resolutions officially expressive of the joyous sentiment in the city toward Mr. Uhl and the appointment.

Jerry A. Hill, of Brent Creek, Genesee county, has invented a dead-sure gunboat destroyer. It consists of a round brass ball five feet around, stuffed with dynamite. There's a sort of alarm clock which explodes a cap, while five magnets draw the ball close to any steel-clad gunboat it may approach. They are expected to chase a boat 100 yards distant.

There was a large gathering at Traverse City to perfect the organization of the Michigan Maple Lumber Co. Fifty hardwood lumber manufacturing concerns in the shore towns from Manistee to Little Traverse signed the articles of association. The membership will be extended to including the railroad points in northwestern Michigan. The general offices are located at Traverse city.

The pumps have been stopped at the Davis mine at Negaunee and the miners will probably attach the property to secure unpaid wages. About three months ago it was announced that the property had been sold to Marquette and Chicago capitalists. The former owners still insist that they disposed of the mine while the alleged purchasers deny buying it. The novel spectacle is presented of a valuable mine without an owner.

Mrs. Jessie Wilkins was assaulted with criminal intent in the yard of Bethel Baptist church, which is near her home, at Kalamazoo, by a man who came up quietly behind her, grabbed her and carried her to the horse sheds near the church. Just as he had thrown her to the ground Mr. Wilkins appeared and a fierce fight ensued between him and his wife's assailant. The fellow escaped, but Mr. Wilkins says he recognized him. Mrs. Wilkins is in serious condition.

Allegan and Ottawa Maccabees met and organized an association. They will hold a celebration at Allegan next June 11.

comes to stay

There is more than one food which will cause the body to increase in weight. A free supply of sugar will do this; so will the starchy foods; cream, and some other fats. But to become fleshy, and yet remain in poor health, is not what you want. Cod-liver oil increases the weight because it is a fat-producing food. But it does far more than this. It alters, or changes, the processes of nutrition, restoring the normal functions of the various organs and tissues.

Scott's Emulsion

of Cod-liver Oil with hypophosphites, is pure cod liver in a digested condition. So that when a person gains in weight from taking Scott's Emulsion, it is because of two things: First, the oil has acted as a fat-producing food; and, second, it has restored to the body a healthy condition. Such an improvement is permanent; it comes to stay.

Uncle Sam's New Bond Issue Sold With a Rush at a Big Premium—U. S. Minister Will Incure the Displeasure of the Hawaiian Government.

Popular Bonds Sold Well.
The U. S. treasury department received 4,640 bids, representing $58,239,850, when the time came to sell the $100,000,000 issue of U. S. 4 per cent bonds. The immense offerings astounded experts. The bids literally swamped the treasury department and it was impossible to tell at once with definiteness how many bids and for what aggregate had been received at figures in advance of the upset price of 110.6877, at which a syndicate composed of J. P. Morgan & Co., Pliny, Fisk & Co., of New York, and the Deutsche bank, of Berlin, offered to take the whole loan. The bids ranged from a par up to a single $50 bid at 150. Secretary Carlisle was greatly pleased at the success of the bond offerings. He said no definite statement could be made yet concerning the awards to successful bidders, nor how far, if at all, he would exercise his option of rejecting any or all bids. He said that it showed what the people of this country would do when appealed to. He thought, too, that the effect abroad would be very marked in our favor.

U. S. Minister Insulted Hawaiians.
Advices from Honolulu say: Diplomatic relations with the United States have been somewhat ruffled by the refusal of Minister Willis to participate in the celebration of the national holiday, Jan. 17, the anniversary of the birth of the republic. Mr. Willis also suppressed the invitation extended to Consul Mills and Capt. Pigman of the cruiser Bennington. It is said that through his personal influence he induced the British, French and Japanese commissioners to assume a similar attitude regarding the holiday. Considerable correspondence has passed between Mr. Willis and the Hawaiian government on the subject of the celebration, but no definite or satisfactory reply has been received from the minister in explanation of the action.

It is reported that unless Secretary Olney apologizes for the actions of Minister Willis, that official may be given his passport soon.

Conference of All American Republics.
Washington: Minister Carbo, of Ecuador, has received a cable from the secretary of state of Ecuador stating that the Central American governments of Guatemala, Nicaragua, Salvador, Honduras and Costa Rica have accepted the invitation to join in a convention of American republics with a view to unifying them. This is the first affirmative action toward the convention, which is designed to bring about a common understanding of North, South and Central American countries on the Monroe doctrine. Senator Carbo says the Ecuadorian government took the initiative in calling the convention some ago. The general plan is to have the convention held at Washington some time in August next, although the exact date is not settled.

25 People Probably Drowned.
A special from Philadelphia says: Pocahontas dam at Morristown, N. J., has given away, flooding the city. Twenty-five people are missing and may have perished. The dam held back the waters of Pocahontas lake which was greatly swollen by the melting snow and was full of floating ice eight inches thick. The flood overflowed every outlet and suddenly, without warning, a section of the dam gave away and a wall of water six feet high swept into the valley, broke the D. L. & W. railroad embankment and flooded the town to a depth of 10 feet in 10 minutes. Residents fled in terror to the upper floors and roofs. Many heroic rescues were made, but 25 people are missing.

Edwin F. Uhl as Ambassador to Germany.
The President has made his choice for a successor of the late Mr. Runyon, as ambassador to Germany, and there is every reason to believe that Hon. Edwin F. Uhl, of Grand Rapids, first assistant secretary of state, will be named for the post.

Mr. Uhl first came into national prominence with the incoming of the present administration. Previous to that time he had achieved a fine reputation as a lawyer in Michigan, and he also was well known in unnumbered circles. In politics he had always been a Democrat and was at one time mayor of the thriving city of Grand Rapids. As first assistant secretary of state Mr. Uhl has frequently been called upon to assume the entire duties of the administration of foreign affairs during the absence or disability of the secretary of state. After the death of Secretary Gresham he was acting secretary of state for some weeks.

"Bat" Shea Must Die.
Judge Mayham, of Albany, N. Y., has denied the motion for a new trial for "Bat" Shea. His reasons, he said, for so deciding are that the confession of McGough was not supported by his evidence given before the commission appointed by the governor as placed in contradiction to the evidence of the witnesses for the people at the trial was lacking confirmation in many instances. There is no appeal from the decision of Judge Mayham, and Shea will be electrocuted.

Joe Merrifield, aged 13, shot and killed his little brother Frank, aged 7, and then shot himself, at Henderson, Ia., because their father deserted them. Their mother is dead.

The passage of the anti-prize fighting bill by congress has killed the possibility of the Maher-Fitzsimmons fight in the United States and it will have to be pulled off in Mexico, if at all.

The London Telegraph announces that the naval program, which involves the outlay of $9,500,000, is substantially completed. It is proposed to build five first-class battleships, four first-class cruisers, three second-class cruisers, six third-class cruisers and 20 torpedo destroyers.

President Kruger, of the Transvaal, has accepted an invitation extended by Colonial Secretary Chamberlain to come to England, accompanied by some members of the Transvaal government, to act as a commission, but asks that before he starts Mr Chamberlain specify the subjects which shall be discussed.

A man who has every appearance of being Schlatter, the divine healer, who created such a sensation in Colorado, is believed to be working in the chain gang in San Bernardino, Cal. He was sent from Red Lands as a vagrant. He will talk to no one except when urged and say he is doing penance for his sins. He lost his white mule on the desert near Yuma.

Turkey's plan to implicate the American missionaries in Armenian affairs is being steadily pursued. An attempt has been made to arrest Mr. Knapp, one of the hardest working missionaries at Bitlis, on a charge of sedition and murder based on an accusation signed under coercion by some Armenians who were in jail. Mr. Knapp appealed to United States Minister Terrell.

The British fruit steamer Lamington went ashore off Blue Point, Long Island, during a heavy fog and is pounding herself to pieces. Seven of her crew and seven employees of the Merritt Wrecking Co. are on board. Lifesavers went to the scene, but were unable to get a line to her. The men took to the rigging and after several hours hard work they were taken off in the breeches buoy by the lifesavers.

New York and Brooklyn were visited by a heavy wind and rain storm. A three-story brick building was blown down and two men killed. A claming sloop was capsized near Fort Hamilton and two men drowned. Numerous other vessels were wrecked. Telegraph communication along the coast was broken. In New York people were lifted from their feet and many were badly injured.

Floods at Bound Brook, N. J., destroyed a great deal of property, completely submerging the business portion of the town. Many people were rescued with the greatest difficulty. Two men were drowned trying to save their families, and 10 or 12 others missing. In some way fire started in a lumber yard and spread into 20 residences and four other buildings had been destroyed. Somerville and other towns along the Raritan river suffered from the flood but not so severely.

A schooner which passed Key West, Fla., signaled the pilot boat Nonpareil that they had on board two stowaways. They announced themselves as Dr. Castillo and servant. Dr. Castillo stated that he was surgeon-general of the Cuban army and that he left the camp of Gen. Gomez about 10 days ago for the United States on a secret mission of importance. He said that Gomez was encamped in the southern part of Cuba with a large army and plenty provisions and ammunition. He also said that the ultimate success of the Cubans was assured in a short time.

REVIEW OF TRADE.

General trade waits the results of subscriptions to the bond issue and the sentimental effects of the unexpectedly favorable outcome have been for easier money and improvement. Additional favorable influences are found in heavier bank clearings, continued firmness of prices sustained demand for iron and steel and the announcement from some western states of revival in business with jobbers in staple lines. At some eastern cities favorable trade conditions are reported. At the south gains in wholesale lines are announced. The reverse reports include the depressing influences of stormy and wet weather, continuance of extreme conservatism in almost all lines, and the fact that the relief to the treasury by the over subscription to the bond issue in the absence of sound currency legislation by congress, will probably prove only a temporary device to maintain the gold reserve. General trade at leading cities shows no real gains from the preceding week, when the situation was quiet even to dullness, and the outlook unsatisfactory. Wheat exports were larger than for the same week last year and the price has advanced quite heavily. Corn is steady. Cotton and wool have tended downward. Iron and steel are a little lower but have brighter prospects. Failures for the past week were 329 in the U. S. against 281 the same week last year.

A number of towns in South Dakota, and northern Nebraska and Iowa report an earthquake, severe enough to rattle doors and windows.

Advices from Havana say that all kinds of provisions are extremely scarce there owing to the stopping of all railroad traffic by the insurgents. Starvation is staring many people in the face.

Spanish troops at Sabanailla, Cuba, slaughtered 46 helpless inhabitants—30 of whom were women and children—because they fed a band of insurgents. This is as bad as the Armenian massacres.

Won By A Lit Student.

Last year the Ann Arbor Organ Co. offered prizes of $25 and $10 for the best catch line to be used in advertising the Clifford piano. The result was an almost overwhelming avalanche of lines, none of which exactly what was desired and did not, in their estimation deserve place in the Ironrank. From the best of them one line was selected. "The Clifford tone is a high toned tone," and the author of it Charles R. Morey, of Charlotte, Mich., was sent a check for $10. Mr. Morey called at the office of the company yesterday and thanked the manager for the $10. He is a student in the literary department. —Times.

A Fine Establishment.
Mr. O. M. Martin has moved his undertaking business into his fine new quarters at 17 S. 4th Ave. In his new building Mr. Martin will have far more room for his rapidly growing business. His new block, of which he occupies the entire lower floor and basement, is 110 feet deep and 22 feet front. In front Mr. Martin has fitted up a neat office. Just in the rear of this is a show room fitted up with thirteen folding cases upon which various styles of caskets may be conveniently exhibited. Immediately back of this, and connected with the front office by a hallway, is a commodious workshop and stock room where caskets may be trimmed from the large stock of casket furnishings which Mr. Martin always keeps in great variety. Adjoining this Mr. Martin has a morgue for use in cases where such a place is needed. It is the only place of the kind in the city. The rear room is to be used as a carriage room and will also have a place for horses. The building is so arranged that no caskets or stock have to be carried back and forth through the front office. All stock can be driven directly into the rear room from the alley or taken from the building in the same way. The building is heated throughout with a furnace and equipped with both gas and electrical appliances. It is without doubt as fine, if not the finest, undertaking establishment of the kind in Michigan outside of Detroit.

Our "White" Sale
EMBROIDERIES!
Fashion has decreed that Embroideries shall resume this Spring their old time place as the favorite trimming. A large advance in price has been the natural result, and the Swiss Factories are flooded with orders. It was our good fortune to anticipate this, and in October last we give an order for over 1,000 yards to be filled by the Zahner and Schiess Co., of St. Gall, Switzerland.
These goods have been received and maintain the reputation that this great house has of producing the finest Embroideries in the world. Not only are the goods beautiful in design and exquisite in finish, but, at the prices we have marked them, exceedingly cheap as well. We will guarantee them to be from 10 to 25 per cent. lower in price than similar goods, of inferior finish, offered elsewhere in the city.
Fine Cambric Embroideries from 3 cents to 65c—worth from 5c to $1.00 a yard.
Fine Nanisook Embroideries from 10c to 45c—worth from 12c to 75c a yard.

A $15,000 Gravel Walk.
 The gorgeous tales of oriental splendor tell of pathways strewn with gold dust, to be trodden by the sacred feet of royalty, and diamonds are the conventional paving material for the promenade of the princes in the fairy tales.
 It has been left to a St. Louis business man, says a correspondent, to construct a gravel walk, neither long nor strikingly beautiful, that is a modern, if comparatively humble, rival of these glistening highways of fiction and fable, for it represents $15,000 in hard cash.

The manager of a St. Louis coffee company is the proud possessor of this unique walk. It is composed of several tons of Brazilian pebbles, that came to him in an ordinary business way during the last few years.
 This firm are heavy importers of Brazilian coffee. Before the berries are ready to be roasted for the market the sacks are opened and the contents carefully examined for twigs, leaves and other impurities, the latter generally taking the shape of small pebbles about the size of a coffee berry.
 These came with such regularity and in such quantities that long ago the idea that they were accidentally in the sacks was abandoned and the conclusion reluctantly reached that they were purposely placed in the bags to make weight. The daily discoveries of these Brazilian pebbles, which are paid for as coffee, will fill an ordinary bucket. They are still added to the gravel path as they come in.—Exchange.

Catarrah cannot be cured with Local Applications, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrah is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrah Cure is taken internally, acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrah Cure is not a quack medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years, and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing catarrah. Send for testimonials, free.

Why Angels Needed Ladders.
 A very devout gentleman of Boston has recently undertaken to teach a Sunday-school class of bootblacks and newsboys the beauties of the gospel and he has had some very amusing experiences. He relates that recently he undertook to tell a story of Jacob's ladder. After he had graphically pictured the wanderings of the sad old patriarch, his dream in the east, and the ladder on which angels were ascending and descending, he paused and said:
 "Now, boys, if there is anything in this story that I have not yet explained, you may ask me any question you like and I will answer it." Thereupon a little chap cried out:
 "Say, Mr. Minister, did you say dem angels hed wings?"
 "Yes, my boy," replied the doctor, "angels always have wings."
 "Well, den, ef dey hed wings, what for did dey need ladders?"
 The doctor nearly fainted but recovering his equanimity he said: "Now, boys, that's a first-rate question and it has a first-rate answer. But I'm not going to tell you the answer. As one boy has been smart enough to ask the question, some boy present must be smart enough to answer it. Come, now boys, why did those angels need a ladder when they had wings?" After a moment of solemn silence a little fellow cried out: "Cause dem angels was molting."—Boston Home Journal.

The Opera Hat in Paris.
 The attempt of the director of the Comedie Francaise to forbid the wearing of hats by the ladies in the orchestra stalls is extending itself to the other Paris theaters. The Opera Comique and one or two other houses have made similar regulations. But the ladies are up in arms. They threaten to boycott all the theaters which impose restrictions on their attire. As a result of their ire their hats and sleeves are larger than ever. At the opening night of a new play at the Porte St. Martin lately the hats and sleeves were so enormous that a leading critic began his article next day by saying that he had seen nothing of the piece, of the scenery, of the actors, or of the costumes, and had seen nothing but hats and sleeves.

Hives are not dangerous to life, but they are a prolific breeder of misery and profanity. Doan's Ointment gives instant relief, even in the worst cases of this and other exasperating diseases of the skin.

The Czars' Regia.

AN EXPENSIVE DRINK.

Valued Higher Than a Horse and Rifle.
 A soldier in the regular army was commenting on the strength of an Indian's love for whiskey. "They are the biggest fools you ever saw. I came across a buck one day on the plains and he asked if I had any whiskey. I shook the canteen and told him there was only one drink there. He insisted on having it and offered his rifle for it. Finally he got mad because I wouldn't take the rifle and pony. You never saw such fools. Why didn't I make the trade? I would, but you see, that was the only drink I had."

This story is to illustrate the power of human habits, and to speak particularly to those who are annoyed with the coffee habit which is the cause of an immense amount of sickness, the coffee never being suspected. Chemists find the same poisonous alkaloids in coffee as in strychnine, tobacco and morphine.

It is easy to quit coffee by adopting a delicious substitute made of the healthful grains, wheat, &c., &c. Postum Cereal has the deep seal brown color of fine Mocha and changes to the rich golden brown of old Java when cream is added. Its fragrance and flavor are charming. When coffee is left off and Postum Cereal put in its place the old troubles of the body disappear, and under the true nourishment of the food drink, new vitality, strength and the ruddy color of health quickly appear. Postum Cereal makes red blood for adults and children, and is a most grateful change from berry coffee, the very beverage having everything in its favor and none of the hurtful properties of the old.

THE WOMEN OF ARMENIA.

Bright and Hard-Working—Many Will Become Doctors.
 Middle Beglarion, the young Armenian lady doctor of whose history our Vienna correspondent lately gave an account, delivered a lecture in that city last night before an audience composed chiefly of persons interested in the question of woman's higher education says the London Daily News. Her subject was "The Women of Armenia and Their Mohammedan Sisters." Our correspondent telegraphs: "Middle Beglarion did not hesitate to oppose Prof. Albert's assertions as to the inferiority of women, as far as the Armenians are concerned. She said that when an Armenian looks around him he can certainly not say that all he sees is man's handiwork, for it is rather woman's."

The products of industry which have made the country famous—silks and wools, carpets and embroideries—are all made by women in Armenia from the treatment of the raw material and the designs to the final processes of manufacture. No male Armenian claims to have had a part in this work, nor does he dream of looking down upon woman as an inferior being. There is not a single proverb in all the dialects of the country that ridicules woman though there are innumerable ones in her praise. Armenians say: "Let women learn all they can—they will be so much more useful, and we will marry them all the more willingly." Dr. Beglarion mentioned that women were now to be admitted to the Petersburg university, and promised herself great results from this liberal concession, as hundreds of families, whose girls had passed through the grammar schools and seminaries in Tiflis, declared they should send them to study medicine, and so obtain relief from the terrible dearth of doctors in Armenia.

Centuries ago, people used to fear what they called the pestilence. "Black Death" was the most terrible thing in the world to them. They feared it as people now fear the Cholera and Yellow Fever. And yet there is a thing that causes more misery and more deaths than any of these. It is so common that nine-tenths of all the sickness in the world is traceable to it. It is merely that simple, common thing, constipation. It makes people listless, causes dizziness, headache, loss of appetite, loss of sleep, foul breath and distress after eating. The little help needed is furnished by Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. One pill is a gentle laxative and two a mild cathartic. Once used, always in favor. If you are careless enough to let an unscrupulous druggist sell you something on which he makes more money, it is your own fault if you do not get well. Be sure and get Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

Resembles a Mud Turtle.
 A potato grown at Fort Kent, Me., is the greatest curiosity ever raised there. It resembles a mud turtle, the animal seemingly lying stretched out over a fair-sized potato, holding under each arm a perfect potato, while the tail of the turtle is curled down over the potato on which he is reclining. An animal face and paws, with well-defined claws, complete the freak of nature.

QUITE COMMON-LOOKING.

Disinterested Opinion of One Who Met Senator Gorman by Chance.
 From the Washington Post: Senator Gorman tells the following story: He was sitting one day eating lunch in the old Barnum hotel in Baltimore, with a friend, when another gentleman came up and was introduced. Finally the visitor, who had not caught Gorman's name, remarked to him: "Howard county?"

"Do I understand you came from 'Yes, sir,' said Mr. Gorman. 'Then you know a man there by the name of Arthur Gorman?'"
 "Yes, sir; very well," replied the senator, without a smile.
 "What sort of a man is he?"
 "He looks very much like me," said the senator.

Just at that moment the senator's friend nudged the visitor. "You are talking to Gorman himself," he whispered. The man turned around. "And you are Gorman?" he inquired. The senator pleaded guilty.
 "Well, sir," said the man, "I owe you an apology."
 "Not at all," said the senator, pleasantly.

"But, sir, I do," persisted the man with the air of one who has been greatly disappointed. "I am mortified beyond measure. I thought Senator Gorman was really somebody, and you, sir, are as common-looking as I am!"

ONE MAN'S SUFFERING. Your Face

The Trials and Tribulations of a Battle Creek Citizen—How He Comes to Tell This Story.
 (From the Battle Creek Moon.)

Among the moulders at the works of the Michigan foundry company can be found Mr. Amos Maynard; he has lived in Battle Creek for over ten years, is honored and respected by all who know him; such is the man who makes this statement, he says: "I have had kidney trouble for years, and it has made my life miserable. The heavy lifting, necessary in my business, made me worse. I have been compelled to lie in bed in a helpless condition for as long as nine days at a time; the greatest pain was from my back, which sometimes felt as though a bayonet was being run through me in the region of my kidneys; many citizens of Battle Creek knew how bad I was. I could not move without the greatest caution, for as soon as I attempted to stoop over, bend to one side, or even turn in bed, the pain was simply unbearable. I wore porous plasters constantly for the little temporary relief they brought me. Whenever I caught the slightest cold it went straight to my kidneys and made me worse. I was advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills, and got some. I have taken in all four boxes of them, and I now feel as active as ever. A few months ago I would have ridiculed the idea of being cured so quickly, and being able to work as I can now. All the long-standing pains are gone, and the former traces of kidney disorders found in my urine have disappeared. I have recommended Doan's Kidney Pills to many friends who were troubled as I was, and in every case I have learned they proved as beneficial as with me. Doan's Kidney Pills would be cheap to me at almost any price."

RUBBER-TRADE BOOM.

Many Modern Improvements and Much Economy. One of the most interesting of current events, from the view point of the electrician, is the newly developed production of rubber in Lagos, says the Pittsburg Dispatch. In 1893 no imports of this article were recorded as received from the colony, and last year the amount was only $29,970. By a single steamer which left Lagos at the beginning of last month, however, the value of the rubber shipped to Liverpool was $75,000.

The new industry has taken hold of the inhabitants of Lagos indiscriminately with the rush of a gold craze. Numbers of clerks, small traders and others—even, it is said, professional men—have packed their traps and gone into the interior to take their chance in collecting and manufacturing the gum.

The native owners of the forests have a shrewd appreciation of the bearing of this unwonted excitement, and are insisting on the payment of royalties. Some of them are even entering into the business of preparing the rubber for the market.

Prices in the interior have been considerably advanced, and there is no longer as much profit as there was at first in purchasing and transporting the product to the coast.

The fear among electricians that an artificial rubber would have to be resorted to in consequence of the increasing scarcity of the natural product has, for the present, at all events, been allayed. In many rubber sources the wholesale destruction of trees by the natives has been stopped and odd kinds of rubber are cropping up from unexpected quarters. Several new sorts, together with the familiar little black balls with white center, come from the west coast of Africa. A new product comes from Madagascar. It has a horny appearance and contains much earth. Nothing certain is known of its botanical origin. From New Zealand have been received packages of a rubber which appears very elastic, but which does not bear cutting up well. It is the product of the banyan, and the rapidly and facility with which this tree reproduces itself is an important factor, in view of the wasteful methods still adopted by the natives, who practically destroy the tree in order to obtain the rubber.

Improvements and economy in the manufacture of rubber have also been effected by the use of more efficient machinery, and especially by the adoption of large rollers. So far it has not been possible to completely eliminate the sulphur contained in vulcanized rubber, and all processes for the manufacture of old rubber are more or less unsatisfactory.

Pursued by a Demon.
How many suicides, think you, reader, have been committed by persons driven distraught and hunted to their doom by the demon of chronic ill health? Countless. For instance, we know, do we not, that hypochondriasis is a monomania—a sort of minor madness produced by chronic dyspepsia? Again insomnia, or sleeplessness, often a result of the same cause, culminates in a derangement of the reasoning faculties. It is, therefore, of momentous consequence to prevent the arrival of disease at its chronic phase, when it daily and nightly scourges the sufferer to a dangerously uncertain goal. No medicine know to science, as a means of arresting the maladies to which it is adapted, exists equal to Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Among these complaints are chronic indigestion and indigestion, kidney and rheumatic ailments, constipation and liver trouble. Appetite is improved by the Bitters, the blood fertilized, and bodily substance and vigor increased by it.

Lost Interest.
"I want to take out some life insurance," he said.

"Certainly," exclaimed the active young man, as he hastily gathered an application; "what occupation, please?"

"Baseball umpire."

"You'll find the accident company just across the ball," cordily came the active young man's voice as he slowly laid his pen aside.—Atlanta Constitution.

AMERICAN ENERGY WINS.

Minister White's Story of a Chance Meeting with a Former New Yorker.

From the Troy Times: The American can always be trusted to make his way, no matter what may be his environments. A story told by Andrew D. White, ex-minister to Germany and Russia, illustrates this fact. Mr. White stated that once when he was at Berlin, after all the diplomatic corps had been duly presented to his wife, the Chinese minister, in pursuance to custom, brought round his principal secretaries and presented them to his colleagues. Among these was a tall, fine looking man, evidently a European dressed in a superb court costume and covered with gold lace. As his Chinese colleague introduced him to Mr. White in German, the conversation was continued in that language, when suddenly this splendidly dressed person said in English: "Mr. White, I do not see why we should be talking in German. I come from Waterloo, in western New York, and was educated at Rochester university under your friend, Dr. Anderson." Mr. White said that had the gentleman dropped through the ceiling it would not have seemed more surprising, and that it was hard to believe that the pretty little village of Waterloo, or even Rochester, with all the added powers of this noble university, should have been able to develop a creature so gorgeous. It turned out that the gentleman concerned, after graduating at the University of Rochester, had gone to China with certain missionaries, had then been taken into the Chinese service, and had proved to be a thoroughly intelligent, patriotic man, faithful to his duties to China, as well as to the United States.

A CRY FOR HELP

RESULT OF A PROMPT REPLY. Two Open Letters that Should Suggest to Thousands of American Women to go and do Likewise.

[SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.]
LITTLE FALLS, MINN., May 11, 1894.
I am suffering, and need your aid. I have terrible pains in both sides of my womb, extending down the front of my limbs and lower part of my back, attended by backache and pains in the back of the neck and ears.

The doctors have given me opiates to quiet the pain. I have a very high fever nearly all the time. I am nervous, and cannot stand. My doctor says I must keep in bed. Now I place myself under your care. I am only twenty-one years old, and too young to suffer so much."—MRS. CHAS. PARKER.

The above letter was received by Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., May 15, 1894, which received a prompt reply.

The following letter reached Mrs. Pinkham about five months later. Note the result.

"I deem it my duty to announce the fact to my fellow-sufferers of all female complaints, that Lydia E. Pinkham's treatment and Vegetable Compound have entirely cured me of all the pains and suffering I was enduring when I wrote you last May. I followed your advice to the letter, and the result is simply wonderful. May Heaven bless you and the good work you are doing for your sex!"—MRS. CHAS. PARKER.

All the druggists in town say there is a tremendous demand for Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound; and it is doing lots of good among the women.

If you are sick and in trouble write to Mrs. Pinkham. Relief awaits you.

How the Aired Grace.
A commercial traveler who was taking a vacation with his uncle in the country, said the Sank Center (Minn.) Avalanche, was suddenly called upon to ask the blessing, and, not being accustomed to it, promptly tackled the difficulty in the following words: "We acknowledge the receipt of your favor of this date. Allow us to express our gratitude for this expression of good will. Trusting that our house may merit your confidence and that we may have many good orders from you this fall, we are yours truly."

"Oh, my poor head," sighs many a weary mother, many a tired husband, many an overworked child,—and relief seems far away. The severity and frequency of headache in many instances leads the sufferer to desist of ever obtaining freedom from the painful affliction. Remedy after remedy is tried in vain, for still the manly "struck" throes closer than a brother. There is, however, a specific for headache and neuralgia. It is Gessler's Magic Headache Wafers. Chronic headaches yield to them. Sold by A. E. Mummary.

She Was Sensitive.
A mind reader having demonstrated to a party of ladies and gentlemen, his ability to read a newspaper through two thicknesses of horseblanket, one of the young ladies left the room with the remark that she "wasn't going to stay here any longer with this calico dress on!"—Wilbur (Wash) Register.

"Ho! Hello! Are you training for a race?" "No," shouted the flying man, "I'm racing for a train." The trouble was he didn't have a Rand-McNally Guide. For sale by Moore and Wetmore.

GEORGE R. KELLY SELLS WOOD.

VERY SINGULAR.

A Woman's Ideas About the Stock Exchange.

"So this is the stock exchange of which I read so much in the papers?" said Mrs. Bloombumper, as she sat in the visitors' gallery and gazed upon the mass of gesticulating men below, according to the New York World.

Her escort nodded. "How very interesting! Now tell me, when are the bulls and the bears 'let in'? After the men are through quarreling?"

"The men are not quarreling, Mrs. Bloombumper. They are merely buying and selling. There are no real bulls and bears, those terms being applied to the brokers themselves. The bulls are those who expect the price of stocks to advance, and the bears are those who expect the price to decline."

Mrs. Bloombumper looked disappointed. She wanted to see the animals fight. Women are so sanguinary. Then she asked:

"If they are buying and selling, where are the counters where the goods are displayed? Do they give out samples?"

Her escort then went into a thorough explanation of the method of doing business and of the commodities bought and sold. He expatiated on the vast amount of wealth represented among the dealers, of the enormous transactions day by day, and then added:

"Before a man can do business on the floor of the exchange he has to buy a seat, and sometimes as high as $30,000 is paid for one."

"You don't mean to say," she demanded, "that those men down there have paid such enormous prices for seats?"

"Yes," she added, with an air of deep conviction, "if I had paid that much for a seat, I would not act like those men are doing. I'd sit in it."

The Trouble Over.
A prominent man in town exclaimed the other day: "My wife has been wearing out her life from the effects of dyspepsia, liver complaint and indigestion. Her case baffled the skill of our best physicians. After using three packages of Baccin's Celery King for the nerves she is almost entirely well. Keep your blood in a healthy condition by the use of this great vegetable compound. Call at John Moore sole agent, and get a trial package free. Large sizes 50c and 25c."

No Trimmings Needed.
Pat Clancy was interposed to a marked degree. In vain did Pat's friends tell him he was killing himself; he continued his downward course until the grim enemy brought him up with a round turn.

For the widow Clancy, who was inconsolable, the only comfort was to see that the final ceremony was as elaborate and costly as possible. To this end Mr. Muldoon, the funeral director, waited upon her to carry out her wishes as profitably as possible. His deferential manner was only surpassed by his business-like questions.

"An' how many carriages would yees be havin', mum?" he inquired. "Arrah, they can't be too many fur Pat," was the answer. "A splendid casket, O' sh'pose?" "The finest money can buy."

"What kind uv trimmin's, mum?" "Uy what?" Mrs. Clancy turned a shade paler. "Trimmin's, mum."

"Trimmin's, is it? Divil a wan will O' have! divil a wan! Shure, wasn't it trimmin's what kilt poor Pat, the delirium koid?"—Boston Budget.

The Mount Lebanon Shakers have invented a great many valuable things. They were the first to make brooms by machinery; the first to put up seeds in little packages; the first to manufacture cut nails.

Now they are out with a method of curing dyspepsia by resting the stomach. Their remedy is known as the Shaker Digestive Cordial. It supplies food in an artificially digested form and at the same time aids the digestion of other foods in the stomach.

In other words, by the use of the Shaker Digestive Cordial, a dyspeptic virtually gets along without the use of his stomach until it is restored to its natural strength and vigor. A single 10 cent bottle will oftentimes give marked relief. Get a bottle from your druggist and try it.

Launching a Big Ship.
That it costs something to launch a big battleship is shown by the statement that the expense of getting the Victorious, the latest addition to England's fleet, afloat was about $10,000. She is a sister ship to the Magnificent and Majestic, and is 390 feet long, 75 feet beam, and 27½ feet draft. There were used up on the ways over which she slid into the water 7,000 pounds of Russian tallow, 160 gallons of train oil and 700 pounds of soft soap. The gross weight of the ship, equipped and ready for sea, is 15,725 tons.

If the Baby is Cutting Teeth.
Be sure and use that old and well-tried remedy, MRS. WINDSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic and is the best remedy for diarrhoea. Twenty five cents a bottle.

A White Moose.
The big white moose recently shot in the Maine woods by a Mr. Sargent of Grafton has greatly interested naturalists, as well as sportsmen. It is the only white moose ever seen in Maine, and very few have ever been heard of elsewhere. The naturalists say it is, of course, not strange that there should be a freak of nature, as white deer and other albino game animals are not uncommon. But white moose are a great rarity.

In a Paris Zoo. There is a young Siberian wolf at the Jardin des Plantes, in Paris, with a robe hardly discernible from a badger's. A great curiosity is the myopotamus of Cuba, which is half rat and half pig. It is very fat, and cooks think must be good to eat.

A White Crow.
A pure white crow was caught on Foxada island, British Columbia, a few days ago. It was taken from a nest in which were several black crows.

Heart Disease Cured

By Dr. Miles' Heart Cure. Fainting, Weak or Hungry Spells, Irregular or Intermittent Pulse, Fluttering or Palpitation, Choking Sensation, Shortness of Breath, Swelling of Feet and Ankles, are symptoms of a diseased or Weak Heart.

MRS. N. C. MILLER. Of Port Wayne, Ind., writes on Nov. 29, 1894: "I was afflicted for forty years with heart trouble and suffered untold agony. I had weak, hungry spells, and my heart would palpitate hard, the pain would be so acute and torturing, that I became so weak and nervous I could not sleep. I was treated by several physicians without relief and gave up ever being well again. About two years ago I commenced using Dr. Miles' Remedies. One bottle of the Heart Cure stopped all heart troubles and the Restorative Nervine did the rest and now I sleep soundly and attend to my household and social duties without any trouble."

VIOLA CREAM

A lovely complexion only Nature can give. She gives a new, clear and soft one to those who use Dr. Hebra's Viola Cream. It is not a paint or powder to cover defects. It gets rid of them, by Nature's own process of renewing the vitality of the skin; banishing all roughness, redness, freckles, moles, pimples, blackheads, sunburn and tan. It does this surely and harmlessly, because naturally. Its use means both skin-beauty and skin-health. Viola Skin-Soap hastens the process, because it is a pure and delicate soap. It should be used in connection with the Cream. It should be used in the nursery, too. Ordinary soaps are not fit for a baby's skin. Viola Cream, 50 cents. Viola Skin-Soap, 25 cents. THE NERVE SYSTEM

Is the most delicate and important structure in the human body. It is the seat of our intellects. Strengthen and restore the nerves and diseases lose their most powerful and pernicious aly.

Mayo's Spinal, Blood and Nerve Remedy is prepared especially for the Nerves. Instantly relieves and permanently cures torturing pains in the head, body or limbs, SLEEPLESSNESS, NERVOUSNESS, LOSS OF NERVE POWER, DIZZINESS, CONFUSION OF THE MIND, etc. Delay is dangerous. Send for valuable treatise.

Mrs. M. Quilan, No. 2320 W. Walnut Street, Louisville, Ky., writes: "I think God must have sent your remedy to me. I was bed-ridden with a complication of diseases which finally resulted in complete nerve exhaustion and severe sinking spells, when I first commenced using it. I began improving at once, have used 10 bottles and am now assisting in the care of my home, something I have not done for years. It certainly has helped me when everything else failed."

Our agent at Inglesfield, Ind., says: "A young man who had been down for three winter on a stretch with Rheumatism got so bad that he fell that they made his bed in a wagon and brought him to me. He was not able to raise up. After using 5 bottles of your Remedy he is a right again and says, he feels as if he had never been bothered with Rheumatism."

GUARANTEED. Send for circular. MAYO'S SPINAL REMEDY CO., CINCINNATI, OHIO.

LOCKWOOD DIDN'T LEAD.

An Invitation to Pray Frightened the Eminent Attorney.

From the New York Mail and Express: Many prominent lawyers in London are of an evangelistic turn of mind and employ their leisure by pupil exercise in whatever denomination they favor. Reader Harris, a well-known queen's counsel, for instance, is founder and head of the obscure body known as the Pentecostal league, which is holding its annual meeting in London this week. But the best known preaching queen's counsel is Samuel Waddy, a leading light among Methodists. Mr. Waddy is a good-humored old soul, of whom his brethren "learned in the law" like occasionally to make fun. Once when he was on a circuit with Mr. (now Sir) Frank Lockwood, that witty lawyer determined to see how Waddy behaved in the pulpit. Accordingly, accompanied by a barrister friend, Mr. Lockwood visited the Methodist chapel where Waddy was to preach and took a prominent front seat. But Waddy espied them when he entered the pulpit, and, knowing their object, determined to get rid of them; so, after some preliminary exercises, he rose and solemnly said:

"Brother Lockwood will lead the congregation in prayer."

"Brother" Lockwood's dismay may be better imagined than described. He vanished from his seat quicker than thought, and no "Methody" chapel has known his proud presence since.

It is not often that anyone scores off Lockwood. Generally it is the other way. Once he was engaged on the opposite side from Sir Charles Russell (now Lord Russel of Killowen), who was trying to browbeat a witness into giving a direct reply, "Yes," or "No." "You can answer my question 'Yes' or 'No,'" declared Sir Charles. "Oh, can you?" retorted Lockwood. "May I ask if you have left off beating your wife?" Of course Lord Russell was not a wife-beater, but he was fairly cornered. If he said "Yes" he admitted the practice; if he said "No" the situation was still worse. He did not press the point with the witness.

A French Statue to Newton.

The French seem to be ahead of every nation in the honor which they pay to great men, especially great men of science, and this honor is not confined to their own countrymen. A number of streets in Paris are called after eminent foreign savants, English and other, and monuments are even erected to illustrious foreigners. For instance, the municipal council of Paris has decided to erect a statue to Sir Isaac Newton, and in doing so it honors itself. With so many of our own famous men of science, dead or alive, waiting in vain for public recognition in this noble manner, it is hopeless to expect the lord mayor or the county council to reciprocate the compliment and honor the great investigators of France in this way.—London Globe.

A Great Clock. The ancient city of Rouen, France, owns the very earliest specimen of the larger varieties of the ancient clock-makers' triumphs. It was made by Jehan De Falains, and was finished and set going in September, 1389. So perfect in construction is this ancient time recording machine that, although it has been regularly striking the hours, halves and quarters for more than half a thousand years, it is still used as a regulator. The case of this early horological oddity is six feet eight inches in height by five inches broad. For 325 years it continued to run without a pendulum, being provided with what the old-time clock-makers called a "foliot."

Laxol is the best medicine for children. Doctors recommend it in place of Castor Oil.

Substitute for Coal.

Paul d'Humy, a French naval engineer living in Liverpool, has succeeded in converting petroleum and other oils into a hard, homogeneous mass, suitable for use as fuel on the surface and give an intense heat. They can be made in any size or shape, and cannot evaporate or cause an explosion. They require very little draught and make not more than from 2 to 3 per cent of ashes. A ton of this fuel, M. d'Humy says, represents at least thirty tons of coal, and the cost is not more than from $5 to $10 per ton.

Curfew Bell is Popular.

The town of Peebles, Ohio, has decided to try the curfew bell plan so popular in the northwest. A large bell has been ordered and will be hung in some conspicuous spot. This bell will be rung promptly at 8 o'clock each night except Sunday. At that time every boy between the ages of 6 and 18 and every girl between the ages of 6 and 16, unless accompanied by their parents or guardians, must be within doors, under penalty of arrest and a fine of not less than $1 and costs.

THE PROMISED LAND.

Why the Tourist, Traveler and Student should visit Utah.

There are two reasons, either one of which ought to be conclusive with every American citizen. First—The trip from Denver to Utah via Rio Grande Western, "Great Salt Lake Route," is the grandest to be found anywhere on the continent. No European trip of equal length can compare with it in variety and grandeur of scenery and wealth of novel interest. Second—You should go because, when you have made this wonderful trip, you will find Utah at the end of it—Utah, one of the world's famous spots and a land of gold, silver, copper, iron and coal; of lofty mountains and fertile valleys; of vineyards, fruits and flowers. Salt Lake City, the capital, is of great interest on account of its historical and religious associations. Here are Hot Thermal Springs, Warm Springs, Sulphur Springs, Sanitarium, Parks, Drives, Canyons and the most healthful climate on earth. Great Salt Lake with the new and beautiful Saitair Beach Resort, of Moorish design, has no equal in America. Write to F. A. Wadleigh, Salt Lake City, for copies of pamphlets, etc. (07)

Tropical Birds in Germany.

A gold medal has been awarded to Herr Prosch as a reward for his success in introducing tropical birds into German forests. With the exception of canaries and African parrots, all the birds imported from tropical regions have been acclimatized, and even the young of the former have survived the severity of last winter. The new bird colony is situated in Southern Saxony.

Popular Low-Price California Excursions.

The Santa Fe Route personally conducted weekly excursions to California are deservedly popular with travelers who seek a wise economy in cost of railroad and sleeper tickets without sacrifice of any essential comfort. About one-third saved, as compared with first-class passage.

The Pullmans occupied by these parties are of latest pattern and afford every necessary convenience. A porter goes with each car, and an experienced agent of the company is in charge. Ladies, invalids, elderly people, etc., will appreciate this personal care.

The Santa Fe's California line passes south of the region of severe snow storms and is remarkably picturesque. The daily service is same as above, except as regards agent in charge.

Where Our Gold Often Goes.

Joel Connors, an old resident of Darke county, Indiana, who died recently, instead of being very poor, as he said he was, had nearly $10,000 in gold. His wife did not know he had accumulated the money until just before he died, when he told her of it. He did not definitely describe his hiding place, and what has been found was widely scattered.

The Natural Highway.

The Grand Trunk Railroad with its numerous lines and connections via Port Huron and Detroit; its through vestibuled trains to New York and intermediate points including Toronto, Montreal and Dominion of Canada; also its lines to Boston both via Niagara Falls and Montreal; its noted fishing, hunting and pleasure resorts at Muskoka lakes and Georgian bay; its St. Lawrence river, Montreal, Quebec and eastern sea-coast tours,—its latest attraction the British Empire Exposition of the wonders of the world, to be held in Montreal from May until October next,—make it the most convenient and popular line, for those wishing to visit these several points on business, or make up an elegant tour for the coming summer. Same Old Story.

A rich old Englishman recently had a painful experience with the tax gatherer. In order to avoid paying the death duties he had turned over all his property to his son. The son, however, died intestate and without any children before his father, and, as his son's heir, the old gentleman had to pay death duties on his property himself.

FATE OF A SAVAGE TRIBE.

The Story of a High Priest's Prophecy and its Fulfillment.

At a village near the source of the Oyapok, the stream over which Brazil and French Guiana are disputing, says the Journal des Voyages, an old man of the Calcouchians tribe of Indians lives, the only person of this tribe thereabout, and he tells the story of his people's fate. The tribe was once great, he said, but for two generations it has been without a country. His people once had a country on the Tinnac-Humac mountains called Paritou, and for allies the Ouayanos, the Oupourous and the Emerillous. His people were strong but the evil spirits (yolocks) cast them down. A numerous people from the east came against his people and their allies. The great priest of his people abode three days without food in the house of divinations and came out looking as if ten years had passed over his head. He reported that the yolocks had decreed death to the people. Then the braves joined their allies and the war went on. The invading people were not brave but they came in swarms until the allies were wearied with slaughter. Many years passed and many young warriors perished, while the women cried out that their lovers were dead. The first to make this outcry was Anita, who had lost her lover in the mountains of Paritou. Then the high priest cried that this language deserved death and Anita was strangled by the old women. Then the high priest at length declared that the fates had prophesied aright and it was time for the people to take flight through the forest.

"They shall eat no more cassava or tapoca," he said, "they shall no more drink caferi, they shall no more know the manioc. They shall go through the forest known only to the tiger and the tapir."

It was in the moon of Ayanouri and the people ate only grains and cacao. They started and reached the banks of the Oyapok, the long river. They passed over the rocks of a great falls and reached the great river Yinarari. They followed it toward the south.

Three months after they had left the forest of Paritou they came upon a high mountain whence flowed another Oyapok. This Oyapok, they learned, was called Agamionare. The high priest said that the people should retire here to die. So they settled there and upon the banks of another river, the Ourouatou, and the women hoped that the warriors would love them again and the fields would be planted. But the high priest said:

"Plant, drink, dance. Be beautiful young women, be handsome young warriors, but do not burn the pimento. It's useless, for the giant Courop (the small pox) comes to lead you to the funeral butcher." The giant Courop was without pity; he struck and struck again. Mothers fled their children and children their mothers. The villages were full of the dead, full of uncasten cassava. The cinders of the hearth were not relighted. Nearly all of the Calcouchians died. That was long ago. To-day there remains not more than fifty Calcouchians dispersed among the Oyamps. The Calcouchians are dead, slain by war and Courop, because the fates willed it. Fate is neither just nor unjust but is often sad.

VANDALISM

Savagery of Some People Who Call Themselves Civilized.

The savagery of savages is as nothing to the savagery of some creatures who are brought up in civilized communities and call themselves civilized also. We have few records of Indians or Zulus wantonly destroying pictures or books or statuary unless they thought them "bad medicine" and held devils. Yet, how far could one of our city thugs and loafers be trusted in the presence of a work of art or a thing of beauty? It seems to be a sort of instinct with him to throw a stone whenever he sees flowers or ornaments, or to pull out a knife and hack at them, or to upset or scratch or injure them. In a certain blind and brute way perhaps his conduct gives him a flattering sense of power. He cannot make anything useful or beautiful himself, but he can destroy it. The only way to cure these vandals appears to be either to educate them early or drown them. Drowning is the least expensive, but there is a public prejudice against it, so for a few centuries we must expect to see our public buildings defaced, our metal work bent and scratched, our plate glass broken, our street lights shattered, our pictures jabbled with canes and umbrellas, our mirrors marked with initials carved by diamond rings, our rugs and carpets and wood work spat upon, our walls scribbled with names, our streets made depositories of filth and our books torn and dog-eared; for it takes a long time to cure a vandal of his vandalism. One needs to begin with his father. There is so close a relation between the wantonness of the destroyer and the darker deeds of the criminal that perhaps we are justified in keeping a suspicious watch on any man, woman or child who will destroy plants, books and pictures or throw stones at helpless animals. The excessive aggression that mutilates and makes ugly will trespass on others' enjoyments, rights and properties with but little more development. This is seen particularly in the case of burglars. These fellows, not content with stripping a house of all they can get, not infrequently destroy what they cannot carry away. They burn papers, tear paintings from their frames, smash furniture, break glass and otherwise act like incarnate fiends. It might not be a bad idea in case of the capture of these men to impose sentences graded to accord with the amount of damage they had worked. It would make others of their tribe a little more considerate—perhaps. On general principles these wanton destroyers should go to prison, anyway.—Ex.

THE FALLEN NAPOLEON.

All Had Turned Against Him When He Finally Left Paris.

It was a stubborn fight with fate that went on in the gilded Elysian palace in the street of St. Honoré in those bright days of a Paris June. An emperor was trying the hard task of ruling his own spirit; a conqueror was set to the bitter struggle of conquering himself. Than this there is no harder task in all the world, whether for boy or emperor. And, in this fight, allies were not to be depended upon; foes really were friends. For the first would have tempted the overpowered monarch to stand at bay against victorious Europe and distrusting France; the others were determined to drive him from France at all hazards. And, in his case, to go was his only safety; though had he died fighting for his lost crown, history would have given him even greater glory. Then came the end, when his ministers set themselves up to be his masters; when those he had most richly rewarded became his keenest foes; when France refused to acknowledge as its ruler a man twice overthrown; when from those to whom he looked for counsel came only lukewarm loyalty, false protestations, or unwelcome truth; when from anger at the unreliable chamber of deputies, whom he, like Cromwell, threatened to turn out "neck and heels," he would change to indecision, silence and even timidity, it was plain there was but one thing to do.

He did it. On the 22d day of June, 1815, Napoleon signed a second abdication, proclaimed his little son, whom Austria had kidnapped, emperor of the French, and three days after left Paris forever. He drove to Malmaison, twelve miles from Paris, that beautiful estate, half palace, half villa, which had been the home of the Empress Josephine. Here Napoleon had spent many happy hours in his days of power and prosperity; here Josephine had died while he was at Elba; here the emperor had planned out his greatest campaigns, his most glorious victories; and here Philip came to him.—From "A Boy of the First Empire."

Convicted of Being a Scold.

That some of the laws framed by the old New England farmers may be made to apply at the present day, was fittingly illustrated in Judge Finletter's court of Philadelphia recently, when a Mrs. Mary West was held in bail to keep the peace for two years and ordered to pay the costs of the suit, on the charge of being a common scold. The woman had previously been sentenced to undergo an imprisonment of one month, but the judge reconsidered this, and rendered the judgment above stated.

An Ancient Bridge.

The triangular bridge at Crowland in Lincolnshire, which was probably intended as an emblem of the trinity, is the most ancient Gothic structure remaining entire in the kingdom. It was erected about the year of our Lord 860.

Cancer Of the Breast.

Mr. A. H. Crausby, of 128 Kerr St., Memphis, Tenn., says that his wife paid no attention to a small lump which appeared in her breast, but it soon developed into a cancer of the worst type, and notwithstanding the treatment of the best physicians, it continued to spread and grow rapidly, eating two holes in her breast. The doctors soon pronounced her incurable. A celebrated New York specialist then treated her, but she continued to grow worse and when informed that both her aunt and grandmother had died from cancer he gave the case up as hopeless. Someone then recommended S.S.S. and though little hope remained, she began it, and an improvement was noticed. The cancer commenced to heal and when she had taken several bottles it disappeared entirely, and although several years have elapsed, not a sign of the disease has ever returned.

BAD SMELLS.

England's Efforts to Improve Condition in India.

Under English rule "local self-government" has been bestowed upon the people of India, so the board has to look around for means to pay for water and drainage schemes and town conservancy; the barrier dues are one of them and the carters, who have just come in are as discontented as the people of the town, who pay, one way and another, shillings per head annually for local rates, says the Gentleman's Magazine "Four annas for each cart entering Singpur, in addition to four tolls of the road from Panhunder! It is monstrous! How will they get food to-day for themselves and their bullocks?" Here some women, passing on their way to the tank, halt and listen to the dispute and join in the complaint that "the 'takkus' is grievous, the children's food is being taken away." The toll contractor has no concern with their feelings, and only observes that it is the "hukm" or command of the government, and proceeds to rake in his dues. The district officers say that the ingratitude of the people is most discouraging; latrines have been put up, the filth is carried away daily to a distance from the town, street drains are cleaned, stray dogs are destroyed, oil lamps have been erected in the streets water of good quality distributed to standpipes for public use, and they have a local board, presided over by the Taluk native revenue officer, and yet they are not happy. It is really too bad. Some of the people will positively not drink the water coming to them in metal pipes, and some will neglect to resort to the open country outside the town, according to old custom. A native hand-loom weaver, of whom there are many in Singpur, told one of the collectors, who told the head clerk who told his superior, that the people were not ungrateful, but they were a queer and liked their own ways, which the English did not understand; they did not notice the odors which the English called bad smells; they liked to take their drinking water from the village well, or the temple tank, especially the latter, which had been blessed by the presence of Vishnu; and they did not like the dung-carts parading the streets and standing in the marketplace. Least of all did they like paying a week's earnings every year to the local board when the cost of poor was increasing. They were very poor men what should they do?

A Horrible Railroad Accident

Is a daily chronicle in our papers; also the death of some dear friend, who had died with consumption, whereas, if he or she had taken Otto's Cure for throat and lung diseases in time, life would have been rendered happier and perhaps saved. A Unique Wedding.

A few Saturdays ago a high-class wedding was celebrated at the town hall of the 17th arrondissement of Paris between a workman who had "made his pile" and the fair one of his choice. There were eleven private and hired coaches and a large concourse of respectable-looking people.

But the strangest part of the affair was that the bridegroom wore, in addition to his tall silk hat and black pants, an ordinary blouse of blue linen, just a let people see where he had sprung from, while the bride, attired in a stylish white dress, went bareheaded, as no doubt she had been in the habit of going to and from her workshop. The loving couple were escorted by four comrades (workmen) dressed similarly to the bridegroom.—Le Temps.

A Cough is a danger signal of worse troubles to come. Cure the cough and prevent its results by using Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup.

A Costly Bug.

Secretary Morton was showing a reporter through the entomological bureau the other day, and this is part of what the reporter says he did: "I've got a bug in there that cost the government $20,000; he don't look it, but he did. It's a fact. One day an outfit of scientists started in pursuit of this bug. They ranged all over the hemisphere and stuck to his trail like bloodhounds they ransacked North America all the way from the isthmus to Alaska. After the most remarkable adventures by flood and field they treed their bug and took him prisoner. He was then brought captive to Washington, and he's right there now in that brick house, the highest priced bug on earth. A round-up of the total expenditure of that one bug hunt came to $20,000. But we got the bug."

A Buddhist Revival.

There is a strong Buddhist revival going on in the Japanese empire. The church has been stirred up by the invasion of missionaries, and within recent years Buddhist papers have been organized and the Japanese press is full of articles about religious matters.

CRAWLED ON HIS BACK.

Experience of a Man with a Broken Leg on a Trestle.

James Starr, aged 65, took six hours to crawl with a broken leg from the trestle at the foot of 24th street to High, says the Louisville Courier-Journal Starr is a carpenter who lives with his daughter, Mrs. R. M. Sanders, at 2405 West Jefferson street. He left home Saturday morning and did not return. He drinks some and his son-in-law believes he was drunk Saturday night when he started to cross the canal on the trestle. The old man said it was about 10 o'clock Saturday night when he concluded to rest the night across the canal and not go home. When he got opposite 24th street he missed his footing in the dark and fell. As he shot through the trestle his head struck one of the ties, and he landed on the ground unconscious. How long he lay there he does not know. When he awoke it was with the consciousness of great pain in his leg. He tried to yell, but his voice was weak and he was unable to speak above a whisper. The pain in his leg made cold perspiration cover his body. He waited for what seemed an hour in the hope that some one would pass along and lend him assistance.

The place was as quiet as a grave, and he could not hear even the rap of a policeman. He started to work his way from under the trestlework, but every attempt to move forward made him scream with pain. Finally he turned on his back and began to crawl along with his head and hands, dragging his injured leg with him. This was very slow and very painful. Once he remembers to have lost consciousness, the pain was so great. He does not know how long he lay where he was, but he thought that he might die there before any assistance could reach him. He began again to crawl on his back. He felt that he was about to faint again, so he stopped. He struggled with himself to keep from losing consciousness, fearing that he might never awaken. When he felt that he had gained enough strength to venture on he began his laborious and painful task again. After he had struggled along between rests and partial unconsciousness for what seemed to him a week he began to break down. He rested from his labors awhile, thinking some one would surely pass along, but no one appeared. He epied some salt sheds near by and made his way toward them. When he reached the sheds the night watchman was making his last round. Just as the watchman discovered Starr the latter fainted. The watchman saw the man was badly hurt and telephoned for the ambulance. By the time the ambulance reached the sheds Starr had regained consciousness. He was taken to the city hospital, where it was found he had suffered a compound fracture of the left leg.

Blondes No Longer Popular.

News comes from England that it is likely to start afresh the old and interesting discussion relative to the "disappearance of the blonde." It is in effect that the ruddy-faced, flaxen-haired dolls made in Germany now find no market in England, the demand at present being for brunette dolls, which the German manufacturers show themselves disinclined to furnish to the British trade. Ten years or so ago some very instructive statistics were printed tending to prove that as a result of the mixing of races the little dark-complexioned woman was multiplying and the blonde was being crowded to the wall. The popularity of the brunette proves something about this, but what it proves depends on the way statistics are used. In Spain, for instance—a land of dark faces—a blonde foreigner enjoys great popularity with the ladies.—Exchange.

A Long Walk.

Charles Roberts, wife and three children arrived at Muncie, Ind., last week after a 1,500-mile walk from the interior of Texas. Roberts left Delaware county seven years ago and invested all his possessions in the lone star state and lost. Last August, he says, starvation seemed to be staring him in the face and he decided to make a bee-line for Indiana on foot. He has walked all the distance except about twenty-five miles. He selected wagon roads to walk on, and reports kind treatment from the farmers. The youngest child is a boy, aged 7, and the other two are twins, aged 12, a boy and a girl. All showed signs of exposure, but were in good shape physically. At St. Louis the trip was delayed because of the slaughter beginning.
