PROF. KNOWLTON LECTURES

ON THE TRIAL OF JESUS.

The Sanhedrin a Corrupt Body—The Trial Illegal.

Prof. Knowlton lectured before the summer school students Monday night on "The Trial of Jesus from a Lawyer's Standpoint."

After reviewing the events preceding the trial of the Savior, Prof. Knowlton spoke of the trial itself. Jesus was first brought before the Sanhedrin, the great Jewish court. It was a corrupt body. For a series of years the Jewish commonwealth had been on the decline and many very bad men purchased places in the Sanhedrin. The charge against Jesus was not a definite and clearly defined one, which made it much more difficult for the accused.

After a short trial a vote was taken and Jesus was condemned to death for blasphemy.

There were numerous errors in the trial. First—Jesus was tried for a capital offense in the palace of the high priest, when the Jewish law provided that such trials should be held in the temple.

Second—The trial was held on a festival day, which was unlawful.

Third—The Jewish law forbade trials involving capital crimes being held at night, but the trial of Jesus was held when all Jerusalem was in darkness.

Fourth—A sentence of death was pronounced on the same day that the trial was concluded, while the law provided that such a sentence could not be passed until the next day.

There were other errors, and the Sanhedrin had no right to pass sentence of death. The sentence was not executed, but Jesus was taken before Pilate and then before Herod, with the charge that he was a traitor and an aspirant to the throne of Caesar. The charge seemed absurd, and both Herod and Pilate found no fault with the accused. Again he was brought before Pilate, and this time condemned to death that Pilate might have rest from the continual clamor of his Jewish subjects. There is a fundamental rule of law that no man shall be tried twice for the same offense. Yet Jesus was twice acquitted of the charge of treason, and then crucified on the same old charge.

The Jewish law provided for stoning blasphemers, and the Sanhedrin might have carried out their sentence had the Jews not been afraid of the followers of Jesus who then crowded the city. Instead they appealed to the Romans, and the Savior suffered death in a manner unknown to the Jewish law; death by crucifixion.

RAN AWAY.

Something of a mystery surrounds the disappearance of Miss Isabella Leutwein, daughter of Prof. Carl Leutwein, who is now teaching German in the Bay View summer school.

Miss Leutwein left home last Saturday without saying anything to her mother about her plans. She confided in her older sister who knows where the girl is, but who declines to say a word on the subject.

Mrs. Leutwein is puzzled and says she has no idea as to where her daughter is, but says the girl has done as she pleased for a long time and has paid little attention to parental advice.

On Saturday a hack drove to the house, Miss Leutwein entered it and was driven away, taking with her a trunk containing most of her effects.

It is intimated that the relations of the mother and daughter had not been the most pleasant and that this fact may account for the sudden departure of the latter. Rumor at first connected the name of the girl to that of a prominent law student who has been much in her society during the past year, and an elopement was hinted, but this soon proved groundless and the matter became more than ever a mystery.

Later—Miss Leutwein has been found living under an assumed name on a farm west of town and has returned home.

May Have A New Laboratory.

At a meeting of the Medical faculty, held in June a committee was appointed to arrange plans and designs for a new science building to be devoted to bacteriology and hygiene, physiology and histology, subjects taught by Drs. Vaughan, Lombard and Huber. It is estimated that such a building will cost about $75,000, and that amount will probably be asked of the legislature at some future date. The committee consists of Drs. Vaughan, Herdman, Cushman and Lombard.

Bad Milk.

Causes 30 Cases of Poisoning in University Hospital.

Saturday night about thirty patients and nurses at the University Hospital were taken sick. Pains in the stomach followed by vomiting and dysentery were the symptoms in nearly every case. Some of the patients became very sick, and in a few instances death seemed likely to result. Poisoning was evident and Superintendent Clark at once set to work to discover the cause of the trouble and finally discovered that all the persons affected had used milk out of a certain can. This can, it was found, had stood in the sun for three or four days and then been filled with milk without first being scalded. Mr. Clark thinks that some poisonous substance had generated in the can during the time it had been exposed. The milk will be analyzed so that the nature of the poison may be discovered.

The sick varied greatly in degree, some persons being but slightly ill and others seeming likely to die. All have recovered now and the danger is past.

Similar cases occur frequently, some times as a result of eating ice cream made of poisoned milk, and this instance only goes to emphasize the necessity that exists for a thorough disinfection of milk cans.

A GOOD STORY.

STUDENTS EAT HASH-HEESH

So Says the Journal.—Two Medical Students Experiment With Drugs.

Hash-heesh is a drug much used in southern countries of the Orient. Its effects resemble those of opium. The Journal says certain medical students recently experimented to study its effects upon themselves and tells the story as follows:

It was about 10:30 o'clock last Saturday evening when the box of black-looking, nasty-smelling stuff was opened. A few cracker crumbs were rolled on the table and with them for a coating two one-grain pills were made. Two medical students swallowed the pellets. A half-hour went by with no changes in their condition. Then another one-grain pellet was taken by each. In about 15 minutes the performance began. The older of the two students was talking about some popular book which he had just finished, when suddenly he stopped. He couldn't speak. That is, he could not be understood. He stuttered and stammered. His words ran together and lapped over each other. He shook his head and gesticulated actively, all the time thinking he was being perfectly understood, for the reason that to his ears his words were clear and distinct.

The second man started up at about the same instant. He was talking rationally when, without a bit of warning and for no reason on earth, he began to laugh. He laughed and laughed, a hyena-like, insane laugh. It was one of those laughs that are not contagious, but rather cause the goose flesh to rear and cold chills to chase one another up and down the spine.

COMBATS SUICIDE.

Nathan H. Pierce of This City Takes Morphine at Windsor.

An article in the Detroit papers Tuesday tells of the suicide of Nathan H. Pierce, of this city, as follows:

While John Hays was inspecting some cars on the Grand Trunk switches above Walkerville he found an insensible man in one of them. He immediately notified Chief of Police Griffiths and the man was removed to the police station. Dr. Hoare was called, and after working on him an hour succeeded in restoring heart action. The man did not regain consciousness and was conveyed to the Hotel Dieu, where he died at 11:30 p. m. An examination of his pockets revealed a druggist's envelope labeled "morphine," and inside the envelope was the small paper in which the powder is kept. He had a small dictionary in his pocket and between the leaves was a scrap of paper with the following words written on it:

"In case I die, I am Nathan H. Pierce, Ann Arbor, Mich., U. S. A."

The man mentioned in the article is well known here and is a brother of Edwin H. Pierce, a printer employed in the Inland Press office. He is twenty-seven years old and left here for Detroit last week. He had worked at several trades especially painting and hat making. Mr. Pierce is said to have been universally liked here. His brother thinks despondency resulting from lack of work was the cause of the suicide.

As THE REGISTER goes to Press the verdict of the coroners jury is received which is that Mr. Pierce died a natural death and did not commit suicide.

Sarah A. Palmer.

Mrs. Sarah A. Palmer, widow of the late George W. Palmer, 109 N. Main-st., died at her home at 11:45 o'clock last Thursday night. Deceased was 57 years and eight months old. The cause of death was Bright's disease. Funeral services were held Sunday at the home at 3 o'clock p. m., Rev. J. T. Sunderland officiating.

Three daughters, Mrs. Charles Shafer, of Detroit; Mrs. Charles Northrup, of North Rockwood, and Miss Susie, of this city, and one son, William, also of this city, survive the deceased.

The many friends of the family who are old residents here will sincerely sympathize with the bereaved children who have been called upon to mourn the loss of both father and mother within the brief space of four months, Mr. Palmer dying from an attack of pleurisy in March last.

Phillip A. Ulrich.

Phillip A. Ulrich, of Sharon, aged 58 years and 4 months, died at his home a week ago last night. The cause of death was sunstroke received the Friday preceding. Funeral services were held at the home last Friday morning, burial being at Roger's Corners in Freedom. The wife and five children survive the deceased. Mr. Ulrich came to this country about 30 years ago. He and his family have resided in Sharon for the past 24 years.

MANN SHOTS

At Hay Makers—Says They Assaulted Him.

J. S. Mann, who lives north of this city, has commenced suit against Albert and Benjamin Shellborn for assault and battery. The men were brought before Justice Duffy and gave bonds of $100 each.

The Shellborns had arranged to cut and draw some hay belonging to Mr. Mann and were to have a share of the hay for their work. On Saturday a quarrel arose, Mann claiming the other parties were getting more than their share of the hay. A fight resulted in which Mr. Mann, who is rather old, got the worst of it and was severely pounded about the head and face. Mann finally broke away, ran to his house, got a revolver and opened fire on his adversaries who made good time in getting off the farm and out of the way of Mr. Mann's bullets. Neither of them were hurt. Each side claims that the other began the fight and it is difficult to learn the exact facts in the case.

HE thought that he could trifle with disease. He was run down in health, felt tired and worn out, complained of dizziness, biliousness, backaches and headaches. SPECIAL MARKET LETTER

The following market letter is furnished us by McLAIN BROS. & Co., Commission Merchants, Rialto Building, Chicago:

There has been but little news of an interesting character relating to commercial or financial affairs during the past week to chronicle, except that which has referred to the status of the coal miners' strike, or the pending tariff legislation; the former is daily assuming larger proportions, and is causing considerable uneasiness since the proposed arbitration plans have been rejected, and the prospects for a prolonged struggle have become more pronounced. The stock and bond market has ruled decidedly firm, notwithstanding the unfavorable aspect of the contest, indicating that the major portion of holdings are controlled by strong capitalists, and not by a widely scattered long interest which would be likely to sell out on the first symptoms of a break in values. The continued flattering crop prospects, which are daily heralded from nearly all sections of the country, reassure investors and inspire hopes of good dividends for the ensuing year. There is still danger of a freight war, and there are frequent rumors of cuts in grain rates from the west. Abundant crops do not necessarily assure paying dividends, and unless remunerative prices for them can be secured, railways may be compelled to haul a large amount of freight at unsatisfactory rates.

The most important occurrence to note, and one which will gratify producers and business men throughout the country, is the advance in wheat, which, if maintained, will materially increase the purchasing power of farmers over a vast area. The advance, which at first was slow and moderate, increased with its momentum until its acceleration became great enough to frighten a multitude of shorts, and to induce the larger holders to accept accrued profits. Its inspiration came chiefly from abroad, and foreigners during its earlier stages were the most liberal buyers. Liverpool led in the upward movement, there evidently being a large unprovided for short interest in the July option in that market as well as in ours.

The foreign advices suddenly became very bullish, among the items being the reiteration of Russian and Danubian crop damage, the statements that Bulgarian authorities were contemplating the prohibition of exports, that there was talk of the removal of French import duties, that Austrian dealers were buying German wheat, and that Russian interior offerings were light. To this was added the report that 120,000 bu of wheat had been bought in New York for shipment to Argentina. Such an array of bull news was too much for the equanimity of many shorts and a general rush to cover followed.

The movement was rendered comparatively easy through the tardiness of the new wheat movement, which, although it promises to become large in the near future, has been too light for the comfort of shorts. From nearly all quarters come reports of yields exceeding expectations and of quality unsurpassed.

With the assurance of an urgent export demand at least fair prices may be anticipated, and any speculative reaction will doubtless be followed by a substantial recovery. The market is now undoubtedly nearer even than it has been for some time, the major portion of the long and short interest having been eliminated on the swell; the suddenness with which it came prevented the pyramidal accumulation of a scattered long interest and in consequence there is but little long wheat to be involuntarily sold on any reactionary break. Anything more than natural reactions must come through the pressure of heavy receipts or free short selling, and the creation of a liberal short interest will be the best assurance of another advance.

Receipts of new wheat at the southwest are rapidly increasing and the movement at the northwest is becoming larger. The first movement of the new crop has been directed to the Gulf Coast, a large amount having been sold for direct export via the Gulf route.

Railways traversing the southwest are making strenuous efforts to supply transportation facilities, but anticipate a "war famine" despite their diligence. Millers are liberal buyers and will require a large amount to replenish exhausted stocks.

The flurry in wheat absorbed the interest of so many traders that the corn market was neglected and the trading confined to comparatively few operators. The increasing receipts, due to the free selling to arrive on the recent bulge, and the prospects of a cut in freight rates tended to depress prices, but the liberal exports in a measure counteracted the bearish tendency. Farmers do not seem inclined to sell freely on the weak spots, preferring to await new crop developments before parting with their corn at unremunerative prices.

The visible supply of grain in the United States and Canada shows the following changes for the week: Wheat decreased 1,285,000 bu, corn decreased 295,000 bu and oats increased 54,000 bu.

REVIEW OF TRADE.

Excepting the great coal miners' strike, which may terminate at any time, there is scarcely a feature of the business outlook which is not encouraging, the season considered. Crop prospects have been improved by needed rain in some regions, and foreign advices continue to promise a large demand. In many home industries, particularly in building, there is more activity than in any year since 1892, and the week has brought a better demand in boots and shoes and in woollens, while the movement in iron, mainly iron ore, through the Sault Ste. Marie canal is the largest in its history. With money markets unclouded, there is nothing in sight to hinder rapid improvement. The tone is more confident, speculation in the wool market continues with prices stronger at all points.

GHOSTS AND FUN.

A few evenings ago a south side society girl carried out a novel entertainment, says Chicago News. Invitations were issued for a "ghost party" and each person was warned that he would be expected to tell a good ghost story. When the evening arrived the house presented none of the usual signs of festivity. Instead, the guests arriving found not one solitary gleam of light, and stumbling up the steps received their first shock. Before they had time to ring the door swung open without sound, and stepping into the hall they confronted, looming ghostly in the darkness, a tall, white hooded figure, which, without words, solemnly pointed to the stairway. Passing up this, with nerves beginning to assert themselves, shock No. 2 communicated himself through an open doorway which had to be passed.

Through it, from some unseen source, throbbed and pulsed a pale blue light and lying on the floor, in the middle of the room, in full view from the door, was a white figure which moved in a peace destroying fashion to a ghostly symphony of clanking chains. On the landing above was stationed another tall, white figure, to serve as usher to the dressing room, and in order that the ladies might be distinguished from the gentlemen, some slight infraction of the rule of absolute darkness was necessary. Accordingly, in front of the white figure stood a smoldering brazier and when stumbling steps or nervous giggles announced the arrival of more guests, the figure threw a pinch of some powder upon the brazier, producing a momentary flare of blue flame, by the light of which the ladies were solemnly and wordlessly waved into one room and the gentlemen into another. Here, at the hands of two hooded attendants, and by the light of dim, blue burning braziers, the guests themselves became spectral, being invested with long white hooded garments, and in this guise reaching the drawing room, they were received wordlessly by a white figure with a conspicuously cold and clammy hand, which assigned them to seats arranged in an irregular semi-circle before a log fire, which burned with green, blue and red flames, and afforded the only light in the room.

Then the story telling began, each speaker being apprised of his turn by a solemn pointing gesture of the central spook, and it is possible that such an eerie collection of ghost stories has never been retailed in one place before. One tale produced a hair raising sensation, describing as it did the feelings of a watcher in a haunted house, who, having sprinkled the floor with flour to detect and trace footsteps, and sitting, waiting, revolver in hand, heard all the doors fly open at the stroke of 12 and saw footsteps printing themselves off in the flour directly toward him, no other sign of the ghostly printer being visible. One of the best stories was told to the accompaniment of soft, weird music and each speaker, keyed up to concert pitch by the surroundings, did his or her best to produce that creepiness of the flesh which was so much desired by the fat boy in "Pickwick" while all nerves were kept in a high strung condition by a chorus of wild laughter, shrieks and chain clankings, which broke in upon the stories at appropriate points.

When all the stories had been told the company unmasked and becoming once more matter-of-fact, every-day people, indulged in material refreshments, but the ghostly part of the entertainment was pronounced a great success and several guests confessed to a half formed fear entertained throughout the evening lest, with a stage setting so much after their own hearts, some bona-fide, unbidden spooks might not have dropped in to keep them company.

THURSDAY, JULY 22, 1897.

EUROPEAN countries, including England, are giving encouragement to President McKinley's bimetallic commission and warranting the hope that it will be successful.

THE currency troubles with which the country has had to deal in the past few years has created such a demand for a general revision of the system that President McKinley's wish for a special commission to investigate this subject and report, has been generally commended by members of all parties.

THE fact that the eastern business firms have authorized their representatives in Nebraska and other Mississippi valley States to resume loans on farm property at low rates of interest is going to be somewhat embarrassing to Mr. Bryan in his proposed stamping tour of the western states this fall.

THE reduction in the number of failures gives another evidence of returning prosperity. They were 20 per cent. less in last month than they were in June 1896, and 25 per cent. less in liabilities, while the liabilities were only one-half of those of June, 1895. The above relates to manufacturers, while the general statement of commercial failures also indicates a falling off in number and in liabilities.

THE world's stock of silver money is now, according to the New York Journal of Commerce, a trifle over 4 billions of dollars, of which $3,533,000,000 is full legal tender. Of this amount no less than $2,498,000,000 has been coined since 1873, and all of this coinage but about 15 per cent. is full legal tender showing that the silver money of the world has been much more than doubled since the "crime" period, and the proportion which is full legal tender has been well maintained.

THE gold Democrats are organizing tickets and campaigns of their own in all the States in which there are to be important elections this fall, and it is reported that a very much larger percentage of the Democracy will support their tickets than was the case last fall. Many Democrats who felt bound to stand by the national ticket and platform last year are now co-operating with the sound-money wing of the party and in many cases, notably in Kentucky, the county conventions of the gold Democrats have shown a larger and more enthusiastic attendance than that of the silver wing of the party.

TOM Watson and his associates put an end to further prospects of fusion between the Populist party and any other political organization, at their recent Nashville convention. That convention, which distinctly declared against what Mr. Watson describes as Hessianism in politics, represents a great majority of the Populists of the country, and it may safely be asserted that no national convention of that party will ever again be able to repeat the performance of 1896 and make the Populist party an attachment to any other political organization.

THE fact that the reduction in coal miners' wages immediately followed the reduction in tariff, makes Mr. Bryan's speech in Congress in 1894 on that subject, very interesting. In that speech he demanded the entire removal of the duty on coal, saying that "the duty on coal is indefensible." Coal duties were reduced 36 cents per ton by the Wilson law, and a reduction of from 25 to 30 cents per ton in wages followed. If Mr. Bryan's advice had been followed and the entire 75 cents duty per ton removed, it is probable that the wages would have been still further reduced.

BETWEEN the prospective increase in demand for farm products in the manufacturing districts and the certainty that there is to be an unusual demand abroad, the prospects for the farmers are unusually bright. There is every reason to believe that there will be a prompt renewal of business activity in the manufacturing districts after the tariff bill becomes a law, the effect of which will be felt in the increased demand for farm productions, while the advices from abroad indicate an unusual shortage of crops in nearly all the great grain-producing countries of the world. Reports from Australia and the Argentine Republic indicate that their crop prospects are not up to the usual standard, while India, it is believed, will scarcely supply more than required for her own consumption. Reports from Russia, France, Hungary, and Germany point to a large decrease in the wheat harvest and make it probable that those countries as well as many others will be compelled to call upon the United States for grain supplies for the ensuing year. These reports, coupled with the well-known fact that the wheat stock of the world amounts to only about 75 million bushels, one of the smallest supplies at the corresponding date for many years, makes it almost certain that the demand upon the farmers of the United States, both from abroad and from those whose condition is to be improved by the revival of manufacturing industries, will be unusually great and result in a prosperity similar to that which existed in 1879, a period of revival succeeding the great panic. Happily the farmers of the United States seem likely to have an unusually large crop of wheat with which to supply this demand. "Bradstreet's," in its issue of July 10th, indicates already a marked advance in the prices of a large number of farm staples.

While the first man was waving his arms and trying to talk, the second arrived at the "destructive period" of the delirium, which, it might be said, is always observed in amateurs at the drug. He tipped over a heavy bookcase out of pure deviltry, and with no apparent reason save that it caused him to break out into another round of insane laughter.

This attack lasted about five minutes, then, as suddenly as it had come upon them, it left the "patients." They became as sane as ever and, strange to say began where they had left off the conversation that had been broken in to by the seizure. This lasted about 10 minutes, and then came the second paroxysm. They were both then in the "hallucination" stage. One of them slapped his hands to his thighs and crowded lustily. Then he threw himself on the floor and began picking at his legs, where in his eyes he saw growing great bunches of feathers. Suddenly he took himself for an owl, and going off into a dark corner of the room squatted upon the floor and "hooted" over and over again for a period of three minutes. His next antic was to lie flat upon the floor and contract the muscles of the upper portion of the body, emitting the while weirdly realistic hisses. He imagined himself a snake and in this condition passed through contortions that normally he would never have been able to get into or out of.

While influenced by these hallucinations his companion was not quiet. He was a steamboat. He held his arms out before him, the hands closed palm to palm, as you have seen divers and scum around the room time and again, "chooing" with all the vigor of a twin screw Atlantic liner. Passing from this condition he next beheld a beautiful river before him. "See the river, boys," he said; "let's go in swimming." Thereupon he began taking off his clothes. He was allowed to do so by the doctor, who wish to note how far such a conception would go.

The patient stepped out into the hall and reached carefully before him with his foot as though testing the temperature of the water. He would advance and draw back. Finally he took courage and walked out into the middle of the hall. He sat on the floor and waved his arms about him as every one has seen bathers do. He would go through all the motions of scooping up water in the palms of his hands and throwing it down his back. After playing about in this manner for at least 10 minutes, now and then emitting a stifled yell, he stepped out of his "bath" and looked about him for a towel. Not finding that very necessary article he showed himself equal to all emergencies by drying himself with the shirt he had just removed.

After his "plunge" he grew quiet and at length slept. He was allowed by the doctor to lie on the floor, no one being permitted to approach him. While his performance in the water was on, his "brother in crime" was having a big time over on the divan. He was destructive and was held down by the doctor and student who had let the hemp alone. He was crafty. All the time he was being held he was concocting some plan in his fevered brain whereby he might do damage. His eyes looked longingly at the lamp. The physician was about to take his temperature when it suddenly occurred to him that it might be dangerous to the insane man if the tube were placed in his mouth. He would have chewed up the glass. He said after his recovery that was what he was thinking of doing. He told one of the men holding him that he wanted a drink and begged him to feel his lips. They were so dry, he said. It was his intention, if water was brought, to shower it over the attendants and then throw the picture at the lamp. All he was allowed to do, however, was, when his guard's eyes were turned to the chap taking a bath in the hall carpet, to tip over a small table. The action relieved him greatly.

Will Doctor Angell Come To This?

Thackery tells the following story illustrative of the troubles of a Turkish Ambassador. It is interesting as giving a somewhat exaggerated idea of what Dr. Angell may have to endure. "Being at Constantinople a few years since—(on a delicate mission)—the Russians were playing a double game, between ourselves, and it became necessary on our part to employ an extra negotiator. Leckerbiss Pasha of Roumelia, then Chief Galeongee of the Porte gave a diplomatic banquet at his summer palace at Bujukdere. I was on the left of the Galeongee, and the Russian agent, Count de Diddloff, on his dexter side. Diddloff is a dandy who would die of a rose in aromatic pain; he had tried to have me assassinated three times in the course of the negotiation, but of course we were friends in public, and saluted each other in the most cordial and charming manner.

"The Galeongee is—or was, alas!—a bow-string has done for him—a staunch supporter of the old school of Turkish politics. We dined with our fingers, and had flaps of bread for plates; the only innovation he admitted was the use of European liquors, in which he indulged with great gusto. He was an enormous eater. Amongst the dishes a very large one was placed before him of a lamb dressed in its wool, stuffed with prunes, garlic, assafoetida, capsciums, and other condiments, the most abominable mixture that ever mortal smelt or tasted. The Galeongee ate of this hugely; and pursuing the eastern fashion, insisted on helping his friends right and left, and when he came to a particularly spicy morsel, would push it with his own hands into his guests' very mouths.

"I never shall forget the look of poor Diddloff, when his Excellency, rolling up a large quantity of this into a ball, and exclaiming, 'Buk Buk' (it is very good), administered the horrible bolus to Diddloff. The Russian's eyes rolled dreadfully as he received it; he swallowed it with a grimace that I thought must precede a convulsion, and seizing a bottle next him, which he thought was Sauterne, but which turned out to be French brandy, he drank off nearly a pint before he knew his error. It finished him; he was carried away from the dining room almost dead, and laid out to cool in a summer-house on the Bosphorus. When it came to my turn, I took down the condiment with a smile, said 'Bismillah,' licked my lips with easy gratification, and when the next dish was served, made up a ball myself so dexterously and popped it down the old Galeongee's mouth with so much grace, that his heart was won. Russia was put out of Court at once, and the treaty of Kabanople was signed. As for Diddloff, all was over with him, he was recalled to St. Petersburg, and Sir Roderick Murchison saw him, under the No. 3967, working in the Ural mines.

PENINSULA MATTERS

RELATED IN A BRIEF, CONCISE MANNER.

The Naval Reserves Take Their Annual Cruise—National League of Republican Clubs in Convention at Detroit—Uncle Sam Remembers the M. N. G.

Republicans From Everywhere.

Detroit, the star convention city of Uncle Sam's domains, has just entertained another mighty throng. Over 5,000 visitors were attracted to the city by the annual convention of the National League of Republican clubs. Of course the principal feature of the convention was the speeches and the election officers, but this was enough to maintain a lively interest. Gov. Pingree delivered a rattling address of welcome in behalf of Michigan, the state where the Republican party was born; Col. H. M. Duffield welcomed the delegates in behalf of the City of the Straits; and E. N. Dingley, of Kalamazoo, offered a welcome in the name of the Michigan League of Republican clubs, of which he is president. Then President D. D. Woodmansee gave the annual address to the league. Other speeches were made by Hon. Charles Emery Smith, of the Philadelphia Press; Hon. Webster Davis, assistant secretary of interior, and ex-Senator Arthur Brown of Utah.

The second day was considerably more lively. The report of the credentials committee showed two colored delegations from Louisiana and a settlement was not reached without considerable excited oratory. The report of the resolutions committee reaffirmed the platform of the St. Louis Republican convention, and extended sympathy to Cuba and to the striking coal miners and other laboring men of the land in their peaceful struggles for living wages. D. Augustus Straker, colored, a prominent Detroit lawyer, made a strong kick because there was no anti-lynching resolution and raised such a rumpus that the committee reported such a resolution. The election of a president of the national league was the next exciting event with six candidates as follows: A. M. Higgins, of Indiana; L. J. Crawford, of Kentucky; Grant Fellows, of Michigan; Thos. McEwan, of New Jersey; Fred W. Fleitz, of Pennsylvania, and Marcus Pollasky, of Illinois. The roll-call proceeded without interruption until Illinois' vote was called for and an attempt was made to cast a solid vote for Fleitz. Then there was an exciting scene, the vote was challenged and finally it was settled by calling the roll of delegates from that state. As the vote proceeded through the states it was seen that Crawford was in the lead and one state after another changed their votes for him so that by the close of the roll-call he was practically elected, but without waiting for the vote to be announced Fleitz, the Kentuckian's nearest opponent, moved to declare "Hon. L. J. Crawford, of Kentucky, the unanimous choice of the convention," and it went with a rush.

It was no job at all to elect a secretary, although there were plenty of would-be candidates for the position. M. J. Dowling, of Minnesota, was re-elected with only Ohio to oppose him. Frank J. Higgins, of New Jersey, was chosen treasurer by acclamation. Omaha captured the convention for next year.

Fr. Marquette's Statue Unveiled.

A splendid bronze replica of Trenton's statue of Fr. Marquette, the Jesuit who was the first white man to set foot on Michigan soil, was unveiled at Marquette with interesting ceremonies in the presence of 8,000 persons. At sunrise 45 guns were fired from the U. S. revenue cutter Gresham. At the unveiling 13 more were fired. Col. B. S. Kaufman, officer of the day, led the procession, a feature of which was 50 Chippewa Indians in war paint and riding horseback. The exercises at the statue opened with the singing of "Columbia." Miss Beatrice Hanscom read an original ode, and little Fannie Jopling, granddaughter of Peter White, pulled the cord which let the canvas fall, and the statue of Fr. Marquette stood revealed. Peter White then presented it to the people of Marquette in a few appropriate and modest remarks. Mayor Sherman responded. Don M. Dickinson, of Detroit, as orator of the day, spoke of the great Jesuit explorer and the work accomplished by him.

In a fit of jealous rage, John Ward shot and seriously wounded his brother Charles at his farm, five miles south of Coleman, and then went upstairs and, placing the gun against his breast, pulled the trigger. His recovery is very doubtful. The brothers had frequent quarrels, John being jealous of Charles for his attentions to his wife who is a handsome woman.

The Boundary Line.

When a young girl steps from girlhood into womanhood, she enters a new and strange country. A land of promise and hope, yet full of hidden dangers. Whether she will find happiness or misery depends largely upon the health and condition of the delicate, special organism which is the source and centre of her womanhood.

The lives of young women are often wrecked because of a mistaken sense of modesty, which leads them to neglect the earlier symptoms of feminine weakness. These troubles unless corrected, develop into serious chronic difficulties which become a dragging burden, ruining life's best opportunities and blighting all possibility of happy wifehood and motherhood.

Any woman suffering from these delicate complaints needs the health-giving power of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It heals and strengthens the womanly organs; stops weakening drains; gives vitality to the nerve-centres, and restores perfect organic soundness and constitutional energy. It is the only medicine devised for this purpose by a skilled and experienced specialist in diseases of the feminine organism.

Mrs. W. B. Duncan, of Arlington, Mo., writes: "I have used your 'Favorite Prescription' and an never tired of sounding its praise. When my lady friends complain, I say 'Why don't you take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription?' I told an anxious mother, whose daughter (18 years old) had not been right for five months, about the medicine, and after the young lady had taken two-thirds of a bottle of 'Favorite Prescription' she was all right. She had been treated by two of our best doctors."

Dr. Pierce's great thousand-page illustrated book, "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser" sent paper-bound on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to pay the cost of mailing only. Or, a handsome cloth-bound copy for 31 cents. Address, Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

An Electric Car Plunged Through an Open Draw Bridge near Saginaw and Seven Precious Were Lost—Uncle Sam Remembers the M. N. G.

Six Killed in a Bridge Disaster. Car No. 2 of the Interurban electric railway, bound south from Bay City to Saginaw with eight passengers and three employes of the railroad on board, ran off into an open draw span of the Interurban bridge, about six miles north of Saginaw, and six lives were lost and five persons badly injured—two fatally.

The car was in charge of Motorman Herbert Riley and Conductor John O'Brien, of Saginaw, and was going at a good rate of speed. The swing was open, but the motorman evidently thought he could stop in time. There was something the matter with the machinery, however, and the car plunged into the river, 20 feet from the abutment. Mrs. Will McLellan, aged 25, of Bay City; Mrs. David Campbell, aged 28, and her three little girls, Hattie, Lena and Eva, aged 7, 5 and 3 respectively, of Metamora; J. W. Hawkins, Sr., aged 77, of South Bay City, all lost their lives. T. P. Klumpf, of Geneva, O., a traveling man, was so badly injured that he cannot recover, and Joseph Mayhew, of Essexville, will probably die. Edward Girkins, of Bay City, assistant general freight agent of the Michigan Central railroad, was badly cut and bruised, and Motorman Riley, Conductor O'Brien and Extra Motorman Michael McDonald, of Bay City, were also injured.

Another account of the disaster says that the electric car was racing with an E. & P. M. train, which road is a competitor of the Interurban for the traffic between Bay City and Saginaw, and in the excitement the motorman did not notice the signals and could not stop the car after the swing had started to turn.

The conductor and motorman have refused to talk of the disaster, on the advice of their employers. It is said the Interurban cars attain a speed of 50 miles an hour between the two cities. It is fortunate that the affair occurred at an hour when the passenger traffic is the lightest, had it happened two hours later the death list might have contained between 20 and 30 names.

The road is owned by Saginaw parties, and the bridge was built last year at a cost of $65,000.

Later—T. P. Klumpf, the traveling man, of Geneva, O., died of his injuries. Conductor O'Brien and Brakeman Reilly were arrested, but have been released on $5,000 bail each, signed by Isaac Bearinger, of Saginaw, president of the Interurban railway.

The big, hearty, healthy man is a continual irritant to his dyspeptic friend. Constipation is the root of nine-tenths of the sickness of men, and of a large proportion of the sickness of women. It can be cured easily, naturally, and quickly. Nature is continually working as hard as she can to throw off impurities and to force out poisonous refuse matter. When there is an impediment, Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets set the wheels working again without any trouble. They assist nature in a gentle, healthful efficient way. There is nothing violent about their action, and yet it is just as certain as if it were twice as violent. "You do not become a slave to their use." They are different and better than any other pill for the cure of constipation, headache and kindred derangements. Almost all druggists understand this, and are conscientious enough to tell you so. The druggist who tries to sell you a substitute is not a safe man from whom to buy medicine. Send 21 cents in one-cent stamps to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., and receive Dr. Pierce's 1008 page "Common Sense Medical Adviser," profusely illustrated.

Oh, How They Hurt.

Neuralgic pains are often so acute, that the poor sufferer becomes, almost, frenzied with the intensity of the pain. Salvation Oil will instantly relieve and effectually cure neuralgia, so there is no reason why a moment's pain should be endured. Mr. Jacob Klein, 1036 Main St., Evansville, Ind., writes: "My wife suffered from neuralgia for seven years and since she used Salvation Oil, she has not had a spell. I think it is the best liniment I have ever tried, and I would not be without a bottle of it in the house. I had the rheumatism for five years and had tried a great many liniments, and must say that Salvation Oil did me more good than any other remedy." Salvation Oil is sold everywhere for 25 cents.

CARAMEL CEREAL

This great Health Beverage, prepared by the Battle Creek Sanitarium Health Food Company, has been demonstrated to be the only scientifically prepared substitute for Coffee, by receiving the FIRST AWARD at the GREAT ATLANTA EXPOSITION.

An eminent Washington attorney wrote the manufacturers: "I find Caramel-Cereal nourishing as well as refreshing, and always take a cup when I return home at night after a hard day's work."

Caramel-Cereal possesses the advantage that while palatable and refreshing it is free from deleterious properties, and hence may be freely taken by children and invalids. It ought to displace Tea and Coffee everywhere, and in doing so would save an enormous amount of sickness and suffering. Persons suffering from Sick Headache are generally cured by substituting Caramel-Cereal for Tea or Coffee.

THE 55TH CONGRESS AT WORK

SENATE.—85th day.—The session was uneventful, the deficiency appropriation bill being considered throughout the day. Among its provisions is one accepting the invitation of France to participate in the Paris exposition of 1900. The bill was not completed up to the time of adjournment. During the day Mr. Berry, of Arkansas, offered a resolution requesting the President to demand of Spain the release of Ona Melton, one of the Competitor prisoners. The resolution was referred to the committee on foreign relations. HOUSE.—The tariff bill was received from the Senate and immediately sent to conference, notwithstanding the efforts of the minority to secure time for debate. The minority also attempted to make some political capital out of the refusal of the majority to permit action on the Cuban belligerency resolution and the bankruptcy bill. Part of the day was devoted to enologies on the late Rep. Holman, of Indiana. CONFERENCE.—The first meeting of the conferees of the House and the Senate was held in the room with a full attendance, but the Democratic members of the conference remained less than 10 minutes. They withdrew upon the intimation of the Republicans that they desired an opportunity to reconcile their differences before consulting with the Democrats. The Republicans representing the Senate and the House entered upon a general exchange of views regarding the bill, and it was found that it would be a comparatively easy matter, apparently, to come to an agreement, so that the conference committee will be ready to report probably by July 21. The members of the conference refused absolutely to give out the details of the proceedings. The understanding was reached because of the conviction that any revelation of the rates agreed upon would add immeasurably to the work of the conferees in bringing down upon them the remonstrances of those whose wishes were not met in the adjustment.

He then shot her twice in the head, and turning the gun on himself blew his brains out.

Uncle Sam Will Keep Japan Off Hawaii.

A Washington telegram says: The administration has taken steps to keep its grip on Hawaii. Any aggressive interference on the part of Japan will result in the landing of marines and the hoisting of the American flag with or without the ratification of the pending annexation treaty. Rear Admiral Beardsley has been given instructions empowering him to act at the first sign of aggression on the part of Japan or trouble of any kind with which the local authorities are not able to cope. The Bennington, now on the California coast, is being fitted out to take the place of the old cruiser Marion at Honolulu.

There is no uneasiness among the friends of annexation in congress about the Hawaiian situation. Neither the attitude of Japan nor the persistent opposition of the sugar trust, it is believed, can weaken the position of the administration, although it is not expected that the annexation treaty will be ratified at this session.

SENATE.—86th day.—The session was uneventful, the deficiency appropriation bill being considered throughout the day. Among its provisions is one accepting the invitation of France to participate in the Paris exposition of 1900. The bill was not completed up to the time of adjournment. During the day Mr. Berry, of Arkansas, offered a resolution requesting the President to demand of Spain the release of Ona Melton, one of the Competitor prisoners. The resolution was referred to the committee on foreign relations. HOUSE.—The tariff bill was received from the Senate and immediately sent to conference, notwithstanding the efforts of the minority to secure time for debate. The minority also attempted to make some political capital out of the refusal of the majority to permit action on the Cuban belligerency resolution and the bankruptcy bill. Part of the day was devoted to enologies on the late Rep. Holman, of Indiana. CONFERENCE.—The first meeting of the conferees of the House and the Senate was held in the room with a full attendance, but the Democratic members of the conference remained less than 10 minutes. They withdrew upon the intimation of the Republicans that they desired an opportunity to reconcile their differences before consulting with the Democrats. The Republicans representing the Senate and the House entered upon a general exchange of views regarding the bill, and it was found that it would be a comparatively easy matter, apparently, to come to an agreement, so that the conference committee will be ready to report probably by July 21. The members of the conference refused absolutely to give out the details of the proceedings. The understanding was reached because of the conviction that any revelation of the rates agreed upon would add immeasurably to the work of the conferees in bringing down upon them the remonstrances of those whose wishes were not met in the adjustment.

SENATE.—87th day.—The funeral services over the late Senator Isham G. Harris, of Tennessee, were held in the presence of President McKinley and his cabinet, Senators and members of the House of Representatives, members of the diplomatic corps, and officials from all branches of public life, besides crowded galleries in which were many ladies.

SENATE.—88th day.—A discussion of Union Pacific railroad affairs occupied the day. The deficiency appropriation bill was taken up and Mr. Morgan proposed an amendment designed to prevent the consummation of an agreement made some time since for the settlement of the government's claims against the road. Late in the day the entire subject was disposed of by the withdrawal of the paragraph to which Mr. Morgan had offered his amendment. HOUSE.—On account of the death of Senator Harris, as soon as the journal had been read, the House, as a mark of respect to the memory of the deceased Senator, suspended business for the day. CONFERENCE.—The tariff conferees have struck some snags. The Senate conferees have laid before the House members the condition in the Senate where there is not an actual majority of the Republicans and where other than Republican votes are necessary to pass the bill on adopt a conference report. The members of the House are standing by their bill, nevertheless, and have told the Senators that they cannot accept the Senate amendments on many important items. On sugar the Senators are holding out especially for the Senate schedule. The House is just as firm for its rates, and is also standing stiffly for the House schedule on wool, contending that the Senate rates would be most oppressive on manufacturers. Lumber has been in dispute and the House conferees have insisted that their rate of $2 on white pine must be accepted and they have been supported in this by Senator Burrows, of Michigan. The Senators say that if the House lumber rate is restored it will provoke a long discussion in the Senate and that no one can tell when the bill would get out again. Straw matting, burlaps, cotton ties and other items which were placed on the free list by the Senate, met with great hostility from the House conferees, and so far nothing in the way of a compromise by the Senators has been accepted. The House conferees are also insisting upon higher compensatory duties on manufacturers of cotton, on account of the duty of 20 per cent on raw cotton.

SENATE.—89th day.—The Senate was in a deadlock for several hours with business at a standstill. It was due to the effort to secure action on the resolution of Mr. Harris, of Kansas, designed to prevent the disposal of the government lien on the Union Pacific railroad under the terms of an alleged agreement. There were many roll-calls on Mr. Harris' motion to consider the resolution, quorums appearing and disappearing, and from 12 to 5 o'clock no final vote on the motion was secured and it finally went over. The committee on foreign relations reported a joint resolution empowering the President to take such measures as he deemed necessary to secure the release from Spanish prisons in Cuba of Ona Melton, Alfred O. Laborde and Wm. Gildea, Americans imprisoned as suspected filibusters. Also to restore the schooner Competitor, on which they were arrested, to her owner. To accomplish this the President is authorized and requested to employ such means or exercise such power as may be necessary. HOUSE.—The session was brief, the only matter of interest being a resolution introduced by Mr. Simpson, of Kansas, directing the speaker to appoint a committee of five to investigate the sugar trust. CONFERENCE.—The conferees on the tariff bill are apparently farther apart than they were at the beginning, and there is no immediate prospect of agreement and more than one member stated that the entanglement was such that the settlement might be indefinitely prolonged. From all that can be learned there has been a general recession from the partial agreements made on the less important articles until sugar, wool, hides, etc., can be definitely fixed. Sugar is still the principal contention. It is now conceded by Senator Pettigrew, the leader for the $1 lumber rate, that the conference committee has finally agreed on the $2 rate on white pine.

SENATE.—91st day.—Pacific railway affairs occupied the attention of the Senate throughout the day and the Harris resolution relating to the pending judicial proceedings against the Union Pacific road finally went over. Early in the day Senators Stewart and White indulged in sharp personalities in connection with the contest over the San Pedro, Cal., deep water harbor. The joint resolution was passed accepting the invitation of France to participate in the Paris exposition of 1900. HOUSE.—No business was transacted. Immediately after the journal was approved a recess was taken.

SENATE.—92d day.—The open session was brief and uneventful. The Harris resolution, relating to the Union Pacific railway, was further discussed and then the Senate went into executive session. HOUSE.—The partial conference report on the general deficiency appropriation bill was agreed to, fixing the limit of cost of armor plate for the three battleships now building at $300 per ton.

SENATE.—93d day.—Senator Morgan, of Alabama, occupied most of the day in support of the Harris resolution relating to the Union Pacific railway. He severely arraigned the executive officials connected with a sale of the government in the road. CONFERENCE.—When the Republican conferees on the tariff bill adjourned the announcement was made that they had agreed upon all the items of the bill and that the result of the partisan conference would be submitted to the Democratic members of the conference at the next meeting. It is learned that while the majority of the Senate amendments were agreed to the House conferees were successful in carrying their points on the more important items. Senator Jones, silver Republican, of Nevada, holding as he did practically the balance of power both in the Senate and in committee, was enabled to secure many concessions for western interests, and he succeeded in securing a degree of protection for beet sugar greater than was given in either house. The bill as agreed upon will present an entirely new sugar schedule, at least in the main item of duty on raw and refined sugar, but favors the House schedule. Wool is also a compromise. It is estimated that the changes in the sugar schedule will raise about $2,000,000 additional revenue. White pine lumber was restored to the House classification of $2. The House made a strong fight to have hides restored to the free list, but they were compelled to submit to the Senate. The reciprocity clause has been transformed into a modification of both schedules. One of the biggest victories won by the House was in the restoration of the dutiable list of burlaps, jute and cotton bagging, cotton ties, floor matting, etc., which the Senate had placed on the free list. However, the rates are lower than they have ever been on this class of articles. Another victory of the House was the elimination of the Senate stamp tax on bonds and stocks. It was decided that the machinery of collection was too cumbersome. Raw cotton is restored to the free list as originally fixed by the House.

Cedar Springs small boys, wishing a bathing place, started to build a dam across Cedar Springs creek. Men pitched in and a first-class pond was provided. Now the nearest land-owner talks of erecting bathhouses.

Gov. Bushnell, of Ohio, was asked if he would call out the troops to protect the mines, but he refused to say what he would do until time to act. Nevertheless, it is said that Adjt.-Gen. Axline has given several companies of the O. N. G. secret orders to be ready at any time to answer a call.

The coal operators along the line of the C. & M. V. railroad in Ohio have acceded to the demands of the strikers and 300 men have resumed work. The mines are not extensive. The operators agreed to pay the 60-cent rate asked and also agreed to abide by the scale whatever it may be when adjusted.

The strike of the soft coal miners has caused many railroads to confiscate coal in their hands for shipment. Fully 15,000 carloads have been so taken by Illinois roads and Ohio, Indiana and Michigan dealers also complain.

AFFAIRS IN GENERAL.

BRIEF MENTION OF EVENTS OF INTEREST.

An Attempt Made to Settle the Miners Strike by Arbitration—The Strikers Increase in Numbers and are Very Confident—Coal Famine Threatened.

Notes on the Miners' Big Strike.

Nine prominent labor organizers have gone to the West Virginia coal fields to get the miners now working there into the union and have them lay down their tools. It is said by those who are in a position to know that it will not require much urging to bring the West Virginians out. The strikers' officers will then turn all their endeavors toward the Pennsylvania mines of the New York and Cleveland Gas Coal Co., whom President De Armit, of the company, brags cannot be induced to strike. The miners' officers realize that the early success of the strike depends in closing these mines and will use every means to bring the men out.

Gov. Mount, of Indiana, says his sympathy is all with the striking miners in the present contest, and if he sees his way clear will appoint an investigating committee.

With the scarcity of coal already prevailing at the lake ports, it is claimed the supply will not last over two weeks at the longest. The retail dealers as well as the operators in general, concede that famine is imminent and look for prices to advance enormously. At Cleveland coal has already jumped from $1.50 to $3 per ton.

An attempt was made to settle the strike by voluntary arbitration. Labor commissioners and official arbitrators of the states affected assembled at Pittsburg together with a number of interested mine operators and miners' union officials. The principal objection came from President DeArmit, of New York and Cleveland Gas Coal Co., who said he would not arbitrate, but would fight the United Mine workers to the last ditch. President Ratchford, of the miners' union, then said that the only recourse left for the miners was to fight also. Later, however, DeArmit offered to sign an agreement if 95 per cent of the operators of the Pittsburg district will abolish their company stores, use a uniform screen, give honest weight, and pay cash to the men every two weeks. Some of the operators look upon DeArmit's proposition as a humbug and as a ruse to gain time. The miners' officials declare that DeArmit once before signed such an agreement and soon found a technicality through which to repudiate it.

SENATE.—94th day.—The day was principally devoted to a discussion of Mr. Harris' resolution relating to the Union Pacific railroad. HOUSE.—The conference report on the tariff bill was adopted by a vote of 185 to 118. This eclipses all previous records. The result was accomplished after 12 hours of continuous debate. But two speeches were made by the Republicans, one by Mr. Dingley in opening the debate, and one by Mr. Payne, of New York, in closing it. The Democrats made 10 speeches and the Populists one. The sugar schedule was the main point of assault, but the most interesting feature of the debate occurred when Mr. Bailey and Mr. McMillin, the two rival Democratic leaders, crossed swords on the question of orthodoxy of the free raw material doctrine, the former opposing and the latter championing it. The galleries were crowded up to the time the vote was taken, many distinguished people being present. An analysis of the vote shows that 180 Republicans and five Democrats voted for the report and 106 Democrats and 12 Populists against it. In his opening speech Mr. Dingley spoke of the revenue to be raised by the bill and pointed out the difficulty resulting from the large anticipatory importations. The bill next year, he calculated, would raise $225,000,000, or $75,000,000 more than the present law. Over $40,000,000 had been lost in this year's revenues by the importations of wool and sugar and other things the duty on which was raised in the bill, so that he calculated that the bill this year would raise $185,000,000. Mr. Dingley declared that there was no doubt that the revenue produced by the bill would not only be ample to meet the expenditures of the government but allow a Republican administration to begin again to pay off the principal of the public debt. In concluding Mr. Dingley received round after round of applause from his Republican colleagues by predicting as a result of the enactment of this bill a rise of prices and a restoration of prosperity. The final conference report on the general deficiency appropriation bill was also adopted.

The Republicans representing the Senate and the House entered upon a general exchange of views regarding the bill, and it was found that it would be a comparatively easy matter, apparently, to come to an agreement, so that the conference committee will be ready to report probably by July 21. The members of the conference refused absolutely to give out the details of the proceedings. The understanding was reached because of the conviction that any revelation of the rates agreed upon would add immeasurably to the work of the conferees in bringing down upon them the remonstrances of those whose wishes were not met in the adjustment.

SENATE.—105th day.—The session was uneventful, the deficiency appropriation bill being considered throughout the day. Among its provisions is one accepting the invitation of France to participate in the Paris exposition of 1900. The bill was not completed up to the time of adjournment. During the day Mr. Berry, of Arkansas, offered a resolution requesting the President to demand of Spain the release of Ona Melton, one of the Competitor prisoners. The resolution was referred to the committee on foreign relations. HOUSE.—The tariff bill was received from the Senate and immediately sent to conference, notwithstanding the efforts of the minority to secure time for debate. The minority also attempted to make some political capital out of the refusal of the majority to permit action on the Cuban belligerency resolution and the bankruptcy bill. Part of the day was devoted to enologies on the late Rep. Holman, of Indiana. CONFERENCE.—The first meeting of the conferees of the House and the Senate was held in the room with a full attendance, but the Democratic members of the conference remained less than 10 minutes. They withdrew upon the intimation of the Republicans that they desired an opportunity to reconcile their differences before consulting with the Democrats. The Republicans representing the Senate and the House entered upon a general exchange of views regarding the bill, and it was found that it would be a comparatively easy matter, apparently, to come to an agreement, so that the conference committee will be ready to report probably by July 21. The Williams Professorship fund of the University will be used to establish a chair of ethnology, and the alumni will ask the appointment of Prof. J. B. Steere, former professor of geology, to become the head of the department. The last time the writer ever saw Prof. Steere, he was rushing madly through the shoal water of a small lake, bare-footed and with trousers turned up above the knees, in full chase of that fierce nautical terror, the acarus gryllus, which he succeeded in capturing, regardless of his life. The monster was more than half an inch long.—Adrian Press.

Douglas, head teacher of English in the Boys' High School for the past nine years, has been nominated to a position of first assistant to principal of the new Boys' High School in New York. Dr. Douglas took the examination and obtained a grade of 97.6-10, which was the highest grade given to any of the applicants. The salary is $3,000. The city editor of the Times is having more trouble. Not satisfied with the explanation given of the mistake regarding the Chinese laundry war, one of the celestials demands that a more complete retraction be made and published every day in a week. It looks as though the city editor may adopt the title "One Lung" which he suggests for the much injured Chinaman.

Prof. Alberto Jonas is now in the Adirondacks. The Musical Courier makes the following mention of his recent playing in New York. "Jonas is a player of ripening individuality. He has temperamental fire, a dainty touch, full of nice nuance. From the beginning he has the audience with him and by the time he is done every heart beats in truest admiration."

Prof. B. A. Hinsdale lectured before the summer school students Tuesday night on "Reading for the teacher." "Reading a list of books," he insisted, "can make no man a teacher. He must first have a broad education, a wealth of intellect and plenty of human sympathies. Having these, let each teacher read largely in every line of literature that any cultured man needs. Let him also read professional works, especially teachers' magazines and books relating to the science and art of education. Let him also read books on the history of education. These studies are as necessary to the success of the teacher as professional study is to the doctor or the lawyer."

A warm fight is in progress in the city council over the question of compelling the Ann Arbor R. R. to build a sidewalk on First-st. About three years ago the road made a proposition that the city should be given right of way to run a sewer under its tracks and in return was to have permission to build a span along First-st., agreeing at the same time to construct a 14-foot walk between the track and street. The walk was never built and the council passed a resolution recently instructing the Ann Arbor road to build the walk. The agreement cannot be found, and apparently the proposition was never accepted. Citizens are divided as to the proper course to pursue.

Mrs. Cornelia Perkins Knight Dead.
Mrs. Cornelia Perkins Knight, wife of J. W. Knight died last Friday evening after an illness of ten days, brought on by the recent hot weather. William Bradford, the second governor of Plymouth colony, who was one of the colonists in the Mayflower on her first voyage to America.

In 1829 her father's family removed to Riga, N. Y., where she lived until 1848 when she was married to Johnson W. Knight, of Akron, N. Y. Removing to Michigan in 1855, they settled in Ann Arbor in 1856. Mrs. Knight was a member of the Congregational church in this city. Her husband and three children survive her, the latter being Mr. Earl Knight, of Albion, Mich., Prof. Geo. W. Knight, of Columbus, O., and Mrs. Frederick C. Clark, of Columbus, O.

OVEREATING.

It has been computed by some one fond of mathematical calculations and antithetical conceits that if the food which is consumed in Great Britain not only in excess of need, but to the actual harm of the eaters, could be saved and sent to India, it would more than supply the wants of the starving thousands in that country.

This computation is of course little more than a guess, but it serves to emphasize the fact that many, perhaps the majority of mankind above the ranks of the very poor, sin against themselves daily by overeating.

An English hygienist of repute says that a large proportion of the ills which afflict men past the middle of life are due to errors in diet, chiefly in the direction of excess in quantity. He even goes so far as to make the deliberate assertion that more mischief in the shape of lessened resisting powers, actual disease and shortened life comes to the inhabitants of Northern Europe from their habits of eating than from their abuse of alcoholic liquors.

And what is said of Englishmen applies with equal force to Americans. We not only eat too much and too often, but we eat food that is too nutritious in proportion to its bulk; in other words, we eat too much meat.

Not only are gout and rheumatism favored, or, as some eminent authorities contend, solely caused by too much meat, but even certain tumors are thought by many to be hastened in their growth by the same means.

For the majority of city dwellers, especially brain-workers, three meat meals a day are too many; two are all-sufficient for most people, and many are better off with meat only once in the twenty-four hours. The other meals should be slight, consisting of bread, butter, cheese, milk, green vegetables and fruit.

There is an unfounded prejudice against nuts, which are regarded as indigestible, but that is because they are eaten at the wrong time. Both fruit and nuts are excellent foods, but they should be taken at the beginning of breakfast or luncheon, instead of at the end of the meal.

The dietary rules for lenten observance which the Catholic Church imposes upon its members are hygienically irreproachable, and it would be better for nearly all of us—unless the doctors be excepted—if these rules were followed, not only by Catholics during lent, but by everybody all the year round.

HOW TO FIND OUT

Fill a bottle or common water glass with urine and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates a diseased condition of the kidneys. When urine stains linen it is positive evidence of kidney trouble.

What To Do

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's wa mp-Root, the great kidney remedy fulfills every wish in relieving pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passages.

It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to get up many times during the night to urinate. The mild and extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized.

Look after the Back: A Fall, a Strain, a Constant Sitting or Stooping Position Brings Backache—Do You Know This Means the Kidneys are Affected?

How few people realize when their back begins to ache that it is a warning provided by nature to tell you that the kidneys are not working properly. You have a severe fall, you strain yourself lifting or perhaps you are compelled to maintain a sitting or stooping position for long intervals at a time, your back begins to ache, then your head, you become listless, tired and weary, but do you understand the real cause? We think not, else you would not use plasters and liniment on the back, which only relieve but do not reach the cause.

Mr. John Robson of 661 Russell Street, Detroit, says: "As a result of exposure during the war I have suffered ever since with rheumatism and kidney trouble. Pains would start in my hip and go around to my back. Highly colored urine denoted kidney disorder. The pain in my back was often so bad I had to give up work until the severity of the attack passed away. I have used many liniments and other things, but received very little relief. Some time ago I started using Doan's Kidney Pills and they have worked a wonderful change in me. My back is all right now and I owe it all to the most magical influence of Doan's Pills."

Mr. Robson was a member of the Fifty-first Illinois Regiment, which served through the war with honor and distinction. Doan's Kidney Pills are for sale by all dealers—price, 50 cents. Mailed by Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S. Remember the name, Doan's, and take no other.

Laws of Iron's Magnetism.

The laws showing the relation of the magnetizing forces of iron to the resultant magnetism have been fixed from experiments just completed by Prof. Reginald A. Fessenden of the Western university and A. E. Kennedy, until lately associated with Thomas A. Edison.

According to the Pittsburg Dispatch these two electricians have been trying for a year past to solve this law of iron's magnetism. The discovery will, it is claimed, greatly facilitate and cheapen the building of different electrical equipments, for by applying the formulae of the discovered law the many costly experiments of iron in a plan will not be required. This because the test of one piece of metal will suffice for a group. It is estimated that manufacturers by applying these formulae will save from 30 to 40 per cent in their work, and that the discovery will prove of great importance in other channels.

PRETTY GIRLS, THEIR FUTURE.

Pretty girls are delightful to look at and very nice to know, but there are a great many people in this practical workaday world of ours who have very tender spots in their hearts for the plain girls. While they may, and probably do, adore prettiness, they long ago learned that there are many pretty girls who base all of their ideas of present success and future hopes on their good looks, and overlook the fact that there are much more substantial things in the world than beauty, even though the world puts a very high value upon the most desirable commodity. It is a misfortune to be pretty if one depends solely upon that fact for one's prosperity in society and one's material prosperity.

The parents of beautiful children are often envied by their associates who have no children or only those who are ordinary looking and not specially attractive. But such parents very often make the most complete shipwreck of their children's lives by their injudicious management and the very evident pride they take in the appearance of the little ones. They must not study too much, as that would make them dull and spiritless. They must not wear old or unbecoming clothes, as that would detract from their loveliness and mortify their pride. One woman, the mother of a very beautiful daughter, made the lives of her friends miserable by constant exhibitions of her child's attractiveness. She was always on the alert for some opportunity to draw comparisons between her daughter and other children, and ever, of course, to the credit and advantage of her own.

It is one of the greatest of blessings to be beautiful if one has judicious parents and friends and is carefully trained and taught the true value of beauty and the advantages to be gained by its possession if it is supplemented and aided by good sense and good breeding. Everything that adds to beauty and tends toward its permanency has a high value in all of the relations of life. Whether it be a house, a horse, a work of art or a child, beauty adds in every way to its consequence. Physical symmetry and perfection are rarely found coupled with exquisite mental balance and a good stock of sterling common sense. But once in a while this admirable combination is discovered, and truly its price is above rubies. If parents could comprehend the importance of bringing up these jewels of untold value in the right way, what treasures they might bestow upon an appreciative world!

The diamond must be cut and polished by hard work and the severest treatment before it comes to its full commercial rating, and the finest gold must be tried in the fire, but these spiritual gems are allowed to come up and develop as they will, with no special shaping or forming save that which the vanity and weak affection of too partial friends give them. And this is often given in a feeble, half-hearted way, and, to a great extent, because public opinion demands it. In many cases this weakness and folly are so pronounced that the parents seem to think that everything in the way of ignorance, ill temper and bad manners must be allowed for if their darling is the culprit. How much better it would be to be bright, lovely in spirit and intelligent in mind as well as beautiful in face and figure!

Tired people are tired because they have exhausted their strength. The only way for them to get strong is to eat proper food.

But eating is not all. Strength comes from food, after digestion. Digestion is made easy with Shaker Digestive Cordial.

It aids nature, and this is the best of it. It gives immediate relief and, with perseverance, permanently cures. Sold by druggists. Trial bottle 10 cents.

The friends of a certain professional woman in Washington tell a story on her which they call a huge joke. There is a baby in the professional woman's family. The baby has a nurse. It has also a doting grandfather, who came to see it very early one morning recently. As he came near the house he saw the baby carriage standing near the side door. The house doors were still locked. Nobody was stirring. The grandfather looked into the carriage, and there, to his amazement, lay the precious baby. It had actually been left out all night, for, as the mother explained, she had been busy all the evening and supposed nurse had baby, and the nurse had been busy all evening and supposed the mother had baby. Between the two of them the child had been left out of doors all night.

WOMAN'S LONG HOURS.

SHE TOILS AFTER MAN'S DAY'S WORK IS DONE.

What She Has to Contend With—Work That Sooner or Later Breaks Down Her Delicate Organism.

The great majority of women "work to live" and "live to work," and as the hands of the clock approach the hour of six, those employed in stores, offices, mills and factories, hail closing time with joy. They have won their day's bread, but some duties are yet to be performed, and many personal matters to be attended to. They have mending to do, and dresses or bonnets to make, and long into the night they toil, for they must look neat, and they have no time during the day to attend to personal matters.

Women, therefore, notwithstanding their delicate organism, work longer and more closely than men.

They do not promptly heed such signs as headache, backache, blues, pains in the groins, bearing-down, "all gone" feeling, nervousness, loss of sleep and appetite, whites, irregular or painful monthly periods, cold and swollen feet, etc., all symptoms of womb trouble, which, if not quickly checked, will launch them in a sea of misery.

There is but one absolute remedy for all those ills. Any woman who has to earn her own living will find it profitable to keep her system fortified with this tried and true woman's friend, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which speedily removes the cause and effects a lasting cure.

We are glad to produce such letters as the following from Miss M. G. McNamee, 114 Catherine St., Utica, N. Y.:

"For months I had been afflicted with that tired feeling, no ambition, no appetite, and a heavy bearing-down feeling of the uterus. I began to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Soon those bad feelings passed away; I began to have more ambition, my appetite improved and I gained rapidly in every way, and now I am entirely well. I advise all my friends to use the Compound, it is woman's truest friend."

Politeness at Home.

In family life do not let familiarity swallow up all courtesy. Many of us have a habit of saying to those with whom we live such things as we say about strangers behind their backs. There is no place, however, where real politeness is of more value than where we mostly think it would be superfluous. You may say more truth, or speak more plainly to your associates, but you ought not to do it less courteously than you would speak to strangers.

French Vessel Run by Gas Engine.

According to the Engineer, ships propelled by gas engines are apparently gaining in favor in France. A new boat of this type has recently been put in service for the Havre-Paris-Rouen line, which is run by gas made on shore and stored on board under a pressure of 850 pounds in a steel holder. The engine is a two-cylinder one of 40-horse power, and the vessel is 100 feet long and draws 7 feet of water.

Troubled For Three Years.

"Having been troubled more or less for the past three years with kidney difficulties, Hood's Sarsaparilla was recommended to me. I began taking it and after using three bottles I was completely cured. I gladly recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla to anyone." Alex. M. Agens, Ludington, Michigan.

Cologne's Carnival.

Cologne has been celebrating the carnival by a historical and artistic procession around the cathedral, including young women who represented St. Ursula and her 11,000 virgins, the town tower and the mercenaries employed by the archbishops when they were secular princes. It is asserted that the carnival has been held at Cologne since pre-Christian times and that it is the direct representative of the Roman saturnalia.

Two Armies—The Regular and Irregular!

To which would you prefer to belong? The regular, undoubtedly. The irregulars are, admittedly, the most numerous, but they are in a very undesirable state of no-discipline. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters will soon remedy this want in a disordered liver or bowels. Billousness manifests itself in yellowness of the skin and eyeballs, sour breath, furred tongue, morning nausea, discomfort in the vicinity of the liver, vertigo and sick headache. Hosts of people suffer thus. These signs of insubordination to the governance of health, together with an irregular condition of the bowels, are soon regulated by the Bitters, which also overcomes malaria, dyspepsia, rheumatism, neuralgia, nervousness and kidney trouble. As a means of checking premature decay, hastening convalescence, and mitigating infirmities of age, the great tonic is without a parallel.

Killed by a Nail in the Foot.

An inquest was held recently concerning the death of George Wood, aged 32 years, lately residing at North Kensington, England. The evidence showed that about six weeks previous the deceased complained of a nail in his foot having punctured his foot. Afterward the toe began to swell, and he complained of hoarseness. Early one morning he had a sudden spasm and his jaw became locked. He was removed to the infirmary, where he died the next day. Dr. H. P. Potter said, when admitted the deceased back was arched; he had spasms of the limbs; he was unable to take food, his jaws being locked; and there was marked lockjaw. There was a small puncture in the foot, which was swollen. Death was due to asphyxia, following tetanus, the result of a punctured wound in the foot, caused by a nail in the foot.

A Seven-year-old Boy Suicides.

A suicide, very remarkable because committed by a boy 7 years old, occurred near Birkett, Washtenaw county. The boy was the youngest son of Emil Starbler, a laborer. His two older brothers, as he thought, imposed upon him, and he went away, saying: "I'll be dead when you see me again." He did not return. The river was dragged and the body was found in six feet of water.

Thousands Celebrate.

With thankfulness their restoration to health by the use of Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Think of the vast army who have been cured by this medicine—Men, women and children, who have suffered the consequences of impure blood, who have been the victims of scrofula sores, eruptions, dyspepsia, nervousness, sleeplessness.

They have tried other medicines and have failed to obtain relief. They tried Hood's Sarsaparilla and it did them good. They persevered in its use and it accomplished permanent cures. Do you wonder that they praise and recommend it to you?

His wife held a lamp while he started to investigate, but several shots were fired and Wright and his wife went back into the house. A double wedding, the sequel of a double elopement, occurred at the M. E. church at Eau Claire, near Niles. Just as the two couples emerged from the church two angry men dashed up the place. They proved to be the fathers of the brides, but as they arrived too late they gracefully accepted the situation and added their blessings. The contracting parties in the affair Oliver Machana and Miss Effie Swope, H. E. Winbiger and Miss Maggie Hendrix, all from Indianapolis.

BICYCLING ON THE ROAD.

An Inexpensive and Delightful Mode of Traveling.

There are very few people of the farming class who, if properly acquainted, will decline to take you in for the night, provided you are reasonably well dressed, a gentlemanly looking personage and are not traveling in a company of more than two, including yourself, says Harper's Round Table. You ride along through the day and toward evening come upon some attractive-looking farmhouse. You approach and ask the mistress if she will take you and your friend in for the night, adding that you are traveling on a tour from such a point to such a point, that you will gladly pay for what rest and food she can give you. In nine cases out of ten she will take you in after a short talk. An evening spent with the farmer and his wife and family, if you enter into the spirit of the thing, is one of the most enjoyable of evenings and at the same time one of the most valuable methods for picking up a knowledge of the people of this country who live out of your immediate sphere. Toward bedtime they will probably want to put you in the spare chamber, which, in such homes, means the one unused room of the house. If you decline and take one of the poorer but frequently used rooms you will be happier. In any case the mistress of the house will probably think more of you and charge you less. Often in the morning when you set out to continue your journey the farmer and his wife will laugh at the idea of payment. In that case it is due to those who come after you as well as to yourself that when you return home you send them something in the nature of a present or remembrance. In this way some very pleasant evenings are passed and some attractive acquaintances made, new places are discovered and new features of old places found, out from day to day and over and above all, it is the most inexpensive method of traveling afoot or a wheel that can be imagined.

Some of the prominent dailies of the state tried to create a sensation by declaring that the question of providing for a general revision of the state constitution would not be submitted to the people in 1898 as the recent legislation took no action upon the matter. The constitution, however, provides that the subject shall be submitted every 16 years and as it was last voted on in 1882 it will come before the people in 1898 without legislative action.

La Grippe

If you have had the Grippe, you know its aches and pains, the fever, the chills, the cough, the depression—you know them all. The Grippe exhausts the nervous system quickly, lowers the vitality. Two things should be done at once—the body must be strengthened, and force must be given to the nervous system. Cod-liver Oil will do the first; Hypophosphites the second. These are permanently and pleasantly combined in Scott's Emulsion. It lifts the despondency and heals the inflamed membranes of the throat and lungs. But you need not have LA GRIPPE. You can put your system in a condition unfavorable to it. You can have rich, red blood; resistive strength; steady brain and nerves. Scott's Emulsion prevents as well as cures. And whether you send or go for Scott's Emulsion, be sure you get the genuine.

SCOTT & BOWNE, New York.

A TAIL-TWISTER.

Secretary of State Sherman Gives Great Britain Something to Talk About.

Secretary of State Sherman has replied to Lord Salisbury's recent note on the seal question and intimates that the British government acted unfairly in not publishing the report of Prof. Thompson, the American expert, simultaneously with that of Dr. Jordan, the English expert. Complaints are also made in it that England has failed to furnish its share of the patrol fleet and has refused to keep firearms out of sealing vessels, according to the terms of the Paris award. The secretary's language was vigorous and firm, and pointed out in no uncertain terms that from the outset Great Britain has not lived up to the contract. In fact Mr. Sherman poked it at the Britons so hard that they are still squirming, as is shown by the utterances of the London press.

The St. James Gazette says, "The tail-twisters think that a dispatch couched in terms of studied discourtesy and menace toward this country is a small matter. But it is not safe, and after some flagrant affront we may some day find that we cannot yield to them; and then might arise a situation of the gravest peril." The Post says: "Every indication points to the certainty that Great Britain will be compelled to fight for her existence against the United States as soon as an American government believes that war can be safely begun. . . . We can imagine no more dreadful calamity. The time to face the situation is not in three years or three months, but now." The Times, the Pall Mall Gazette, the Daily Mail, and other leading papers, all give evidence of the fact that Mr. Sherman's thrust reached the important point intended.
