The further claim is made that Mr. and worked contrary to the interests of those who secured his appointment They Will Make Rome Howl.-Our as administrator and who had guaranteed to meet all necessary expenses, and that he refuses to proceed to get control of the property which it is claimed belongs to the estate he represents. Recently those who had gone upon the bonds of Mr. Manley as administrator and who were the only creditors of the estate, petitioned to be relieved, claiming that he was not doing his duty as such administrator and that they deserved to be relieved from their responsibility because of such failure and as they charge, he had sold out to the opposition.

The petition for Mr. Manley's removal sets forth that the said Manley is corrupt and dishonest and an improper person to longer hold such position as administrator and that he shall render his account and be discharged and dismissed, and that some other proper person be appointed in his stead. This petition is endorsed by the bondsmen and all the creditors of the estate dition. and is signed by the only heir. This will no doubt create quite a stir when the matter comes up in the probate court on the 17th of next month.

It is said that commutation tickets, hanging from a tree-dead. good for fifty rides per month will probably be sold for $12. Not a few people believe that the new line will be controlled by the Michigan Central railroad company. It is likely that this company would rather control such a line than leave it under the management of a rival corporation.

From what the farmers say it appears that the firm is doing business on very much the same principle followed by the Bohemian oats fakirs of a few years ago. The farmers allege that last spring the firm in question sold to them C. T. Winchester, of Wesleyan Universeed beans and promised to pay 80 cents sity, Middletown, Conn. His subject a bushel for the crop when harvested. The farmers believing it to be a good chance to make some money, bought on literature and a very pleasing quite heavily of the seed beans, Now the time has come to sell the beans and the firm ask that the beans be put on the cars before payment is made. Then instead of paying the 80 cents agreed, they offer any price they may desire, which ranges all the way from 40 to 60 cents a bushel. In conversation with the REGISTER, one of the farmers said. "The scheme will defraud the farmers of Super or township out of hundreds of dollars."

It will be remembered by the readers of the REGISTER that last spring this same firm induced some farmers in Sharon to store a lot of beans in their ware house and when the farmers went for their beans, they were gone and it was only after much trouble and threatened prosecution that the beans were returned to their rightful owners. The farmers interested threaten to pro ecute unless the terms of the contract are lived up to.

Monday night Phoenex Lodge, of Ypsilanti, came up to Ann Arbor in full force and bad an enjoyable time over, that the work had been exceedingly well done. Phoenix Lodge certainly has a large number of very able members who are well up in their work.

The evening was fittingly closed by a banquet given by Fraternity Lodge, under the management of Hangsterfer, the popular caterer, and by numerous toasts and responses all of which were thoroughly entertaining.

While he was here in the gas engine business some people thought him a little queer. He had no doubt thought over his new invention, that was to revolutionize gas engine building, until his mind gave way. Of late he has all sorts of strange halucinations. One is that he will turn the Huron river into a great canal and, with strong cement dams, be able to furnish unlimited electric power. He has also a political tendency. Last tall he was a rabid free-silver advocate. Now he believes himself divinely appointed to do away with William Jennings Bryan. He declares that he has a mission to rid the earth of such an incumbrance. He is a pitiable sight as he raves about his cell. A recent epidemic of railway accidents throughout Germany has created much alarm. MRS. OLIPHANT.

Her Indomitable Courage and Saving Sense of Humor-A Pretty Womau.

One day in the last week of her life Mrs. Oliphant said: "Many times I have come to a corner which I could see no way around, but each time a way has been found for me." The way was often found by the strengthening of her own indomitable courage, which as long as her children were left to her never seemed to flag; it was the courage of perfect love, says the Fortnightly Review. But it is certain that if she had no moral qualities except courage she could not have toiled on as she did; a saving sense of humor, a great capacity to enjoy what was really comic and everything that was beautiful, made life easier for her, and "the great joy of kindnesses" was one never absent from her. So that whatever suffering might be lying in wait to seize upon her solitary hours there was almost always a pleasant welcome and talk of the very best to be found in her modest drawing room. SPIDERS' WEBS TO BLAME.

When Wet With Dew They Make the Telegraph Service Useless.

From an exchange: The overland telegraph between Yokohama and Tokio was recently interrupted in a strange and mysterious way. Every morning for several days it was impossible to get a message over the line during the early hours. Then an odd word here and there managed to struggle along the bewitched wires, arriving at some point, for which, as it was afterward discovered, it was not intended. As the day wore on, however, the wires became clear and remained so till the following morning, when they were again interrupted. After a little more delay messages did get through, but this did not relieve the strained nerves of the officials, for the telegrams were published recently the following sta- of the most bewildering nature. A party of linemen, under the superintendence of a Japanese expert, were sent to thoroughly overhaul the wires on the trunk line. On putting out his hand to brush away one of these webs he received a shock, and then the cause of all the trouble was clear to him. 'The morning dew made the spider's webs good conductors of electricity, and the current was carried to earth in the early morning, and the drying of the gossamer threads here and there accounted for the clearing of the wires later in

Man and Dog No Match for the King of Birds.

Taylor Hoffman of Jersey City came down to the pine woods of Atlantic county on a gunning expedition a few days ago, says the Philadelphia Record. He has had telerably good luck, but ran plump into an experience on the trip which paid him for all the time spent in looking for game. Hoffman had put in a hard day of tramping and by the end of the afternoon was pretty well fagged out, as was his dog. weather was warm and the shade of the woods grateful, so Hoffman stretched himself out beneath a tree for a good rest. His dog dropped down close to him. Hoffman fell into a doze, but held his dog in fierce combat with an immense baid eagle, and the beast was getting the worst of it. Hoffman was afraid to fire his gun, because of the chances of killing his dog, so he got dom quickly turned upon its new foe and fought as only eagles can fight. Hoffman found himself in a sorry predicament, for he was no match for the big bird. So close was the fighting that he could not use the club to advantage, and the eagle had the sagacity to fly high enough to escape the dog, all the while using its great, ugly talons and beak with fierce strength. At length Hoffman fell exhausted and his dog, with renewed strength, returned to the encounter. Weakened by the contest, the eagle took itself off and disappeared. Hoffman was cut and bruised in many places, but was not seriously injured.

The business, so called, of the stock exchange in Wall street and elsewhere is carried on by the use of tokons or bits of paper designated as bonds and stock certificates, which are supposed to chittle the holders of them to certain dividends to be declared by managers of railway and other corporations, or to certain interest installments payable at stated times. The croupler at fare guarantees prompt payment in cash to the chip holders at the end of the game. [99] G. F. Stein, Administrator. on; the contingencies and rascalities in of a cure made by S.S.S.(Swift's Specific) is its permanency. Of all diseases, it is well known that those of the blood are the most obstinate, and therefore the most difficult to cure. The medical profession, in fact, have virtually admitted that a real, deepseated blood disease is beyond their skill.

Of course, their admission is not made in so many words, but actions speak louder than words, and their inability to cure, after months and often years of treatment, is sufficient evidence that diseases of the blood cannot be cured by Their mercurial mixtures, although taken faithfully, only cover up the symptoms of the disease, inducing the patient to feel that he is being cured, but when he is sooner or later seized with stiff joints, pain in the bones, etc., the evidence of the doctor's patchwork is conclusive. Such results cannot be expected from the use of S. S. S. Being ourely vegetable, containing no harmful mineral ingredients, it is the only blood remedy which acts on the true principle of forcing the disease from the system, building up rather than tearing down the health. No loss of hair, no stiff joints, no decrepit mercurial wrecks result from the use of S.S.S. H. L. MYERS.

Mr. H. L. Myers, of 100 Mulberry street, lying upon remedies based upon mineral ingredients, and for the hundreds of dollars which he invested received only disappointment in return. He says:

Cultivation of Punctuality.

Habits of punctuality can be cultivated. Slow coaches can be cured. Some one has said that the only way to For there is a safe Stove, and it is call the Insurance. catch a train is to start in time, and in this pithy sentence lies the gist of tuality. Two rules grow out of it. One is, "Always begin in time to get ready," and the other is, "When there are several things to be done, decide which is the most important and do that first." Perhaps these rules are best explained by illustration. No. 1 means that if you have an engagement for five o'clock and it takes you thirty minutes to get ready, start promptly at 4:30, and let no siren voice tempt you to delay beginning until 4:35. Be resolute, be firm in this. But in No. 2, suppose you have to dress to go out by a certain hour, and you have also a note to write. You decide to write first; the note lengthens into a letter, your pen runs rapidly away with the time; you add a postscript for a very important item, and then you have barely time to dress, using all speed, and as you begin to haste a button pops off, or you can not find your gloves, and after this unavoidable delay (?) you hurry to your rendezvous to find your friends waiting. In spite of their gracious assurance "that it makes no matter," you know that it does. But suppose you had thought your engagement of paramount importance, you would have dressed first, mended the button calmly, then written the note without any lengthening of it, and neither your friend nor your correspondent would have suffered. Believe me, punctuality is a comfortable virtue in a family, and entirely dependent upon your will.-Philadelphia Led> cently absorbed the earnest attention of the French Academy of Sciences. The problem is clearly a difficult one, for that learned body of savants has so far failed to offer a final solution. M. Marey, a distinguished professor who has made a special study of animal movements, claims that the body of a cat is composed of two parts, one of which acts as a pivot for the other. Upon dropping the cat, it appears, paws upward, and then by a series of convulsive movements, it gradually rights itself and reaches the ground in an upright position. The whole process of turning is accomplished before the animal has fallen a yard. Without a fulcrum, without something to lean against, the cat certainly would not accomplish the feat. Mr. Marey declares that the animal's limbs act upon a fulcrum which its own body pro-

Mrs. Augusta C. Genet owns a large tract of coal land in the Lackawanna anthracite district. In 1864, says the Sun, she made a contract with the Delaware and Hudson canal company, whose main field of operation is in the district, by which it was to mine the coal on her land, paying her an annual rental for the property and a royalty of 121/2 cents a ton on all coal that would pass over a screen of one-half inch mesh, the coal that passed through the mesh to be waste. Twenty years later it was discovered that by rescreening this culm through smallermeshed screens a large proportion of it could be reclaimed and made a valuable commercial coal, known as pea coal. Subsequently a still smaller size, known as buckwheat coal, was screened from the waste. These long neglected culm piles, the disposal of which was a serious problem with coal operators, have since yielded millions of dollars to the companies In 1886 Mrs. Genet found that the Delaware and Hudson canal company was using a screen of much smaller meshes than was mentioned in the contract with her, and by it obtaining from the discarded culm large quantities of coal for which she it in New York to compel a settlement. contract the waste coal was virtually conveyed to it, and that it was simply utilizing its own property. Mrs. Genet's contention was that the waste reverted to her after it passed through the one-half inch screen. This view the New York courts took of the case, up to the Appellate Division, which has recently also decided in her favor, giving her judgment for $40,000.

Men Ready to Protect and Succor the Girl Forever. One of the curious Cretan customs which prevail on the eve of every insurrection is known as adelphopoiesis, or fraternization, says the Fortnightly Review. One of its immediate results is the cessation of all feuds, enmity and rancor. It is carried out as follows: A number of individuals choose a young girl, who must be pretty-no difficult matter in Crete. They inform her parents of their intention and the needful consent is never withheld. Then the priest is sent for and told to begin the ceremony. He takes a very long girdle and joins all the men with it in a circle, in the center of which the young girl is placed. Then the clergyman recites a number of prayers and winds up by giving his benediction to all present. The moment he pronounces the last amen the circle and its center stand in relation of brothers and sisters to each other to all religious and social intents and purposes. Each and every one of the males is bound in honor-and a Cretan knows no more sacred obligation-to protect the girl throughout her life, but none of them can ever take her for his wife. She is and remains their sister in the eyes of the priest and people to the end of her days. But they must also stand by and succor each other, and if needs be at the cost of life itself.

REPORTS of silver-mining companies show in many cases the cost of producing silver is now less than 25c. per ounce and that the silver used in the manufacture of a dollar would now probably cost about 20 cents. No wonder that the silver-mine owners are willing to spend millions to force the United States to adopt laws by which they can turn 20 cents' worth of their products into a dollars, especially in view of the fact that most of the silver mines are now owned by foreigners.

This is a day of thanksgiving and the people of this country have much to be thankful for. The producers in all parts of our broad land have been blessed with bountiful crops and the increased prices have gone far towards overcoming discontent with the hard conditions of the past few years. There will be tens of thousands of happy home gatherings today. Those who join in them should not, however, forget the few in their midst who through misfortune, are in need. Share your bounty with those who otherwise would have nothing to be thankful for, and thereby double your own chance for rejoicing.

THE new tariff law is beginning to be felt in the increase of wages as well as an increase in employees, which immediately followed its enactment. Naturally the first noticeable effects of the adoption of a protective tariff would be in the resumption of work by the manufacturers and the increased number of employees, and this became apparent before the new law had been in operation a month. Now follows the next step, the increase in wages. A ten per cent. increase in the wagis of about 2,000 furnace operatives in the Mahoning and Shenango valleys is announced to take place on December 1st. and similar advances are reported in the iron sections of other parts of the country.

There has been for a long time past a combination among the various railroads running between Chicago and Minneapolis by which passenger rates have been kept up to the higest notch between these two points. Three wseks ago when twentytwo men, including the Minnesota team and their attendants, asked for rates to Detroit to play the U. of M., one of the roads was so anxious for the business that it cut the agreed rate slightly. The fact leaked out and as a result war has been declared and the traveling public is reaping the benefit of a great cut in rates.

DISLIKED BLOOMERS. A Performing Bear Attacks a Woman Cyclist.

Bruin does not object to bicycles on principle, says the London Telegraph, but his indignation rises to the striking point when he sees bloomers superimposed thereon. He rightly regards them as successful competitors with his own ungainliness. This was amusingly illustrated on Clapham road, where, in the morning a collision took place between a performing bear and a lady on a bike. Bruin was trudging along the road quietly following the hook in his nose to which his master had attached a chain, and allowed to pass without observation several women wearing the orthodox skirts on bicycles or tricycles without opening his mouth or wagging his tail. At last, not far from Kennington church, a corpulent lady in bloomers came slowly wheeling along, and the moment she came with in range of the bear's vision, he suddenly snarled, jerked the chain out of his keeper's hand and made for the bicycliste. With his head he butted the machine, which, with the lady on it, fell over and on himself, to the great amusement of a large number of spectators, who laughed heartily at the mixture of Bruin and the bloomers. The keeper promptly ran after his charge and rescued him from underneath the frightened wheelwoman, who shricked much, but was not wounded. He marched off the animal in captivity once more, while the lady summoned a four-wheeler, put the damaged bicycle on the top and drove off inside. She obtained the name and address of the bear's owner, with the view, no doubt, of obtaining reparation, but perhaps a county bailiff will have some difficulty in finding him by the time a summons is obtained.

THE HOLY ALLIANCE. Alexander of Russia a Man of Religious

Mind. The Emperor Alexander of Russia was a man of a mystical, it may be said a superstitious, habit of mind, deeply impressed with the divine right of kings, and, it must be added, with a corresponding conviction of the obligation to govern according to what he regarded as Christian principles, says the Nineteenth Century. He proposed, therefore, that the sovereigns in congress should enter into a holy alliance. in which each pledged himself personally to rule according to the Christian standard, and to come to the assistance of any other in the case of domestic as well as international difficulty Lord Castlereagh, as the representative of this country, demurred to a pledge which his sovereign could not undertake independently of parliament. But he desired to avoid all possibility of disagreement with the other powers, and especially not to offend the susceptibilities of a personage who had been so influential in overcoming the common enemy; and after correspondence with Lord Liverpool at home, the prince regent wrote a friendly letter expressing his personal interest and sympathy with the aims of the other sovereigns, while refraining on the ground of constitutional necessity from entering, on his own part, into any obligations such as were proposed. The other powers had no such hesitation. They undertook the sacred duty of crushing trouble at the beginning by lending their forces to put down any movement, whether strictly domestic or not, which threatened to interfere with an established organization. The general outcome of the settlement was a series of guarantees against international aggression, sapplemented by the special obligations of the members of the holy alliance to suppress internal some European institutions is doubtless all right, but we had better save a little of our pity and lavish it right here at home. The American wife and mother who labors morning, noon and night, in the close confinement of the home is in some respects worse off than the abused Peasant-woman. The latter enjoys fresh air, sun-light and out-door exercise and retains that most precious endowment, her health.

American women, ever busy in the close confines of the home, get delicate and soon suffer from weakness and derangement of the delicate feminine organs. Confinement to the house runs down their health and they suffer from internal ulceration and inflammation, giving rise to debilitating drains on the system. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes the important feminiae organs, that are the cradle of the race, strong, healthy and vigorous. It is invaluable to nursing mothers and overworked housewives. All medicine dealers sell it.

"Secret Service."

Kalamazoo Telegraph, November 22: The military dramas of W. H. Gil-ette possess somewhat of the thrilling nterest that attaches to one of Captain Charles A. King's novels and the components are much the same. Of l Gillette's successful plays perhaps Secret Service" is the most success Its presentation at the Academy of Music Saturday night gave Kalamazoo theater-goers a chance to judge of its merits. The verdict was one of satisfaction with a play which has everywhere been received with pleasure, in testimony whereof were much applauding and curtain calls. There is something about the intense situations the military trappings and clanking sabres, the gun, the rattle and roac, the love-making and warfare, which makes "Secret Service" interesting to everyone who has a bit of romance in his compesition. This play will be given at the Athens theater next Saturday

The Wrong Thing. To do the right thing at the wrong ime is as bad as to do the wrong thing at any time. How often have we blundered just at this point! If we review the past we will see that in many cases we have brought trouble upon ourselves, not because we did a wrong thing, but because we did just the right thing to be done, but we did it at the wrong time. We need great caution and care. Guard well this point.

A BAT STORY.

Fight for His Life. Jacob Bricker of Rauchtown had quite a unique as well as thrilling experience the other day, which he is at a loss to account for, but has no desire to again repeat, says the Philadelphia Times. Mr. Bricker is a laborer, and on the day in question, feeling somewhat indisposed, did not go to work. He was lounging in his house when he heard a peculiar noise in the third story or attic. Supposing at first that the noise was created by mice and rats frolicking about, he paid little attention to it, but the continued and increasing discordant screeching, combined with the swish of wings and an everlasting pit-pat, as made by birds flying against something, aroused Bricker sufficiently to institute an investigation. Alone he went to the attic and was at once nonplused and astounded to see the small room literally black with bats, flying helter-skelter and attacking every inanimate object in sight. When Bricker first saw the bats he had no thought of self-protection from danger, but imagined they would frighten at his approach and leave. But in this he was mistaken. Hardly had he gotten fairly into the room until the bats, in perfect swarms, flew at him. Their sharp claws and stiff wings as they flew in his face and alighted on his hands made many painful abrasions, and it was with difficulty the man was enabled to secure a short stick, luckily lying near, with which to defend himself. Striking right and left, Bricker went for the mouse-like birds, and with every stroke a dull thud on the floor told of one less bat. But the birds were in for fight, and the more killed the more it appeared came at the man. Just how long the struggle continued Bricker has no idea of reckoning. It could not have been more than five minutes, but to him it seemed like an hour or more. Finally, when the swarm of bats began to grow manifestly smaller under the sure stroke of Bricker's club, they began to scatter, and with one parting screech took a hasty leave. Covered with blood on face and hands, and suffering no little pain, Bricker took a survey of the room, and for the first time realized the execution he had been able to do. The floor was covered with dead patched as soon as possible and without any mercy, and then the man made a count of the dead birds. He found fifty-three in all, and he is positive that fully twice that many escaped. The bats entered the attic through an open window, but where they all came from is a mystery. There are a number of caves in the immediate vicinity, but they have mostly been explored and very few bats ever noticed. And then the time of their visit being made in

In an article on the "Wonders of the World's Waste," William George Jordan, in the Ladies' Home Journal, details how science at the present day utilizes the ox. "Not many years ago," he says, "when an ox was slaughtered 40 per cent of the animal was wasted; at the present time 'nothing is lost but its dying breath.' As but one-third of the weight of the animal consists of products that can be eaten, the question of utilizing the waste is a serious one. The blood is used in refining sugar and in sizing paper, or manufactured into door-knobs and buttons. The hide goes to the tanner; horns and hoofs are transformed into combs and buttons; thigh bones, worth eighty dollars per ton, are cut into handles for clothes-brushes; fore-leg bones sell for thirty dollars per ton for collar buttons, parasol handles and jewelry; the water in which bones are boiled is reduced to glue; the dust from sawing the bones is food for cattle and poultry; the smallest bones are made into boneblack. Each foot yields a quarter of a pint of neat's-foot oil; the tail goes to the "soup"; while the brush of hair at the end of the tail is sold to the mattress-maker. The choicer parts of the fat make the basis of butterine; the intestines are used for sausage casings or bought by gold beaters. The undigested food in the stomach, which formerly cost the packers of Chicago thirty thousand dollars a year to remove and destroy, is now made into paper. These are but a few of the products of abattoirs. All scraps unfit for any other use find welcome in the glue pot, or they do missignary work for farmers by acting as fertilizers."

DIRECTIONS.

In making up your list use nothing but English words. Words spelled alike but having a different meaning can be used but once. Use any dictionary. Anything that is a legitimate word will be allowed. Work it out in this way, senna, an, set, sat, eat. Use these words in your list.
We offer these rewards in order to introduce SENNARETS, the bes

Candy Cathartic in the world, for the baby, child, boy, girl, mother, father, grandma and grandpa. They all like them, they are just like candy. Ask grandma what senna is, she can tell you, and will hail with delight the coming of SENNA in the form that it is now introduced.

Here is a chance for the school girl, the school boy, the teacher, the young and the old, to obtain a Farm, Piano, Bicycle and $200.00 in Gold, absolutely FREE.

Get down your dictionary and go to work, it will be found pleasant and instructive, and every father and mother should encourage their boys and girls to enter this contest. There will be no favorites, the person sending in the largest correct list will receive the rewards no matter who they are or where they live.

Your list should be made up at once, as this offer may not be made again, and the contest will close November 25, 1897, and the names of the successful contestants will be published in the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, November 30th, 1897. CONDITIONS.

Ask your Druggist for a box of SENNARETS, 25 cent size. In the box you will find a SENNARET word building contest card. Send this card with your list of words. No list considered without it.

Box of SENNARETS with full particulars will be mailed you on receipt of 25 cents in Silver or Postage, if your Druggist does not keep them. Buy and Try a Box of SENNARETS, the best Candy Cathartic in the world, and get one of the Thirty-nine Prizes. You can do it if you will only try. Address all letters to the COLUMBIA CHEMICAL COMPANY, 1201 and 1203 Chemical Building, St. Louis, Mo., U. S. A.

The great World's Fair, at Chicage, in 1893, while it gave pleasure to many, gave pain to not a few as an indirect result of their visit to the White City. People were lared along the miles of wonderful exhibits by the new marvels that met the gaze at every step, and did not realize their exhaustion until they dropped into a chair in some breezy corner by the lake, and "cooled off." That's what began the trouble, in many cases. Of one such case, Mrs. L. W. Stevens, Fort Fairfield, Me, writes:

"My husband took a severe cold and cough two years ago last October—time of the World's Fair, which we attended. This cough lasted over two years, was accompanied by spitting of blood, and nothing could be found to help him, although various remedies were tried. Several doctors were consulted, but their prescriptions afforded no relief. Finally, I saw an advertisement of Dr. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in paper and prevailed upon my husband to get a bottle and try it. The very first dose helped him and he was completely cured in a short time. We feel

CURIOUS CANNON INVENTED.

Makes No Noise When Fired Nor Emits

Smoke or Flame. It is just announced that a cannon has been invented the report of which none can hear, and which emits neither smoke nor fire, says the Philadelphia Times. It is the invention of Col Humbert, a retired artillery officer, who has made a study for years of the subject. The projectile, or, rather, the composition thereof, the powder and the method of discharge are all widely at variance with those familiar to artil

Col. Humbert claims that by means of his apparatus a cannonade can be kept up at a distance of from two to four miles without the enemy being able to form any idea as to the position of the battery. In this way he says that batteries can be planted in the vicinity of the fortifications of an army, yet so far therefrom as to be beyond sight, even if the most powerfu field glasses are used. In such instances as these he claims that aim could be taken by means of detailed maps and diagrams showing the exact position of trees, etc., all of which in formation could be obtained by scout ing parties.

For instance, a battery of artillery could take up a position just beyond the line of vision and carefully map out a program of shots. Every point of the enemy's fortification or camps would be known, or at least all that it was necessary to know, and thus the enemy would be exposed to a fire which would apparently come from a battery well within range, and which they would be totally unable to locate. In some instances the point of shock projectiles and the objects at which they were fired would give an idea of the direction in which they came; but if, for instance, high-angle shooting, or firing in the air, were adopted, the shells would come plunging down from a height, and their point of embarkation would be a mystery. In such cases the only way to ascertain the whereabouts of the battery would be to send out scouting parties in all directions, and in the meantime the firing would continue. One of the most difficult things with which the commanders of troops have to contend is mystery. Soldiers are not afraid of tangible objects, but when death comes upon them from a totally unknown and unseen quarter they easily become panic-stricken and fly in whatever direction seems to be opposite to the one in which danger lies. Thus Col. Humbert believes that his system of artillery would frighten the soldiers, in addition to killing many of them, and that this combination would be sufficient to rout any army or reduce any town thus bombarded.

It is, however, not only artillery that this new invention is applicable, for the inventor declares that it would be quite as easy to manufacture small arms on the same principle as it is to make cannon. Should this be the case, not only would troops have the benefit of seeing one another, as smokeless powder now permits them to do, but much of the confusion resulting from the noise of conflict would be obviated, and battles, therefore, would become much more orderly affairs than at

THE BOER AT HOME.

One of Them Improved by a Good Thrashing.

Bryant Lindley met a Boer and asked the way, says Harper's Magazine. He received a surly answer which amounted to "Go to the devil." Upon this he protesied angrily, and the Boer remained in equal bad humor. At length the Boer shouted, "What's your name, anyway?" and when he heard it his manner aftered at once and he exclaimed: "What, and are you the son of the great American missionary, Daniel Lindley?" My friend gladly pleaded guilty to this charge and the surly Boer became at once the most hospitable friend and begged forgiveness for his rudeness. As they rode together toward the road which my friend was seeking the Boer recounted with grateful satisfaction the many good deeds performed by the elder Lindley, but of them all the best to him was that represented by a sound thrashing he had once received at the hands of this venerable missionary. For it appeared that this particular Boer, in his youth, had been sent to a school taught by Lindley; that the Dutchman was noted for his size and strength and had bragged of his capacity to down the teacher: and had actually sought the opportunity by refusion obedience. But he soon learned that he had made a gross mistak . for this particular missionary was also a noted whitee and gave him such a hiding with a bullock whip that the young giant roared for mercy before the whole school. And for this and similar deeds the Boers leved the elder Lindley, and this particular Boer venerated his memory. On the evening in question, when the two men were about to part, the Boer, who had been so uncivil at first, begged Lindley, with tears in his eyes, to grant him a great favor for the sake of his conscience. "Your father," said he, "did me a service so great that I can never repay it-he gave me the worst thrashing I ever had-he saved my character, and I am a better man today, thanks to him."

Lunacy in England. Englishmen are growing crazier every year, or at any rate, more are treated as lunatics yearly in proportion to the whole population, according to the report of the commissioners of lunacy. There were 99,365 lunatics in England and Wales on January 1, 1897, an increase of 2,919 over the year before, making the proportion one lunatic to every 313 persons in the country. In 1859 the proportion was one to 536, in 1869, one to 418, and in 1879 one to 536. May, April and July are the months in which most Englishmen go mad; 52 per cent of the female and 31 per cent of the male lunatics yield to hereditary influences, or have their madness born with them; 21 per cent of the males and 81/2 per cent of the females come to it through drink; another large percentage of the women loses its wits through the accidents of sex; 2.2 per cent of the women and only 0.6 per cent of the men go mad through love. while about the same proportion of both, 1.8 and 1.5 per cent respectively; goes crazy on religion. Married men have a greater tendency than bachelors, and the degree of their madness is

A BARKING CAT.

Narsod by a Foster Mother, He Has A Factory in Holland Engaged in Their Traits of the Dog.

James H. Maddox, superintendent of the Missouri District Telegraph Com- articles for which bone is generally pany, has a cat. Besides the usual fe- used have been made from congealed line complement of nine lives, this cat blood, purchased at the slaughter has a past, and, unless all signs fail, a houses, and treated with some subfuture which falls to the lot of few cats, says the St. Louis Republic.

His name is Towser, and, although his mother was a well-bred lady, Towser has all the characteristics, habits and frailties of a dog. In early kittenhood Towser's mother fell a victim to the deadly cat rifle of a small boy and Mr. Maddox found a foster mother for the kitten in a kind-hearted pet dog, with a young family and troubles of her own. The canine mother took kindly to the little foundling and Towser, the kitten, grew fat and sassy with a litter of puppy foster brothers and

When the kitten was weaned he showed no tendency to abandon the dog's life which he had learned to lead and began to exhibit all the canine characteristics which he had nursed with his adopted mother's milk. Instead of mewing and caterwauling like a melancholy orphan cat he began to bark like the other puppies, and growl like they did, and he became the wonder of the friends and visitors at the Maddox home. He was named "Tow ser" and responds to the whistle of his master like a sure enough dog. Perhaps the oddest trick Towser has learned is that of wagging his tail, which he does, not in the serpentine manner of his ancestors, but from side to side, in the vigorous and uncompromising style of a dog. Towser expresses fear, too as he has seen his foster brethren do You won't have to if you'll go to and runs to cover. During the hol weather Towser suffered considerably from the heat and might have been seen sitting about in the shade, pant ing with his tongue out, in the manner supposed to be peculiar to the dog.

He has none of the sinister traits of narrow edge of back fences in the dead of night, and gets from place to place in a dog trot or a real gallop instead of in the soft-footed and obsequious manner of other cats. Towser has master ed that mysterious free-masonry o dogs which has been the wonder of naturalists for all time, and seems to have but little trouble in forming the acquaintance of strange dogs which he meets on the street corners and about the bases of friendly lamp-posts and telegraph poles. Occasionally he has run across an ugly terrier, which, accepting no overtures, would attempt to rend Towser on the spot, and it is only on such rare occasions that Towser's feline propensities come to the surface When a dog attacks him he will climb a tree or a fence, where he will sit growling and barking at the enemy until he satisfies him that he is not really a cat, but a dog in all but physigal conformation.

Towser is very fond of a run through the streets with his master, and from long jaunts over the granitoid pavements and rough streets his once velvet paws have been covered with calious corns until his footfall is no longer inaudible, and his toe-nails are as rough and strong as those of a dog.

Towser has a pronounced antipathy for women, and will rush at them, barking furiously and growling as if he is worse than his bite, however, for he has never been known to bite any one and has earned for himself the reputation of being a very docile and intelligent dog, or cat, as the case may be.

The Hours of Fate.

Dr. Richardson tells us that in the period between midnight and six in the morning the animal vital processes are at their lowest ebb. It is at these times that those who are enfeebled from any cause most frequently die. Physicians often consider these hours as critical, and forewarn anxious friends in respect to them. From time immemorial those who have been accustomed to wait and attend on the sick have noted the hours most anxiously, so that they have been called by our old writers the "hours of fate." the life-giving sun has been longest withdrawn from man, and the hearts of even the strongest beat with subdued tone. Sleep is heaviest and death is nearest to us all in the "hours of American Rullway Material.

Russia is showing herself far more broad-minded than Germany in connection with the rallroads about to be built in China. For, whereas Germany expressed her willingness to furnish the money needed for their construction, providing the materials were made in Germany, Russia, which has undertaken the job, has announced her intention of getting the engines, the rolling stock, the rails, etc, in the best market. It is with this object in view that Privy Councillor Joguvitch, who has recently been appointed by the czar to the post of director-general of the China railroad system, is coming to America for the purpose of making Stores in 22 extensive purchases in the United States.

The Question of Bags. A few months ago Mr. Justice Day, in the Queen's bench Division, had a case before him of some duration, and many technicalities. Toward the conclusion of a long speech, counsel said, and the saying may be taken as a specimen of what had preceded it: "Then, my lord, comes the question of bags; they might have been full bags or halffull bags; or, again, my lord, they The handsomest, easiest and most desirable shoes for STREET, DRESS and OUTING WEAR. For a long time buttons and other stance that hardens it to the sufficient consistency, gays the Philadelphia Times. The same articles can be made from milk by a process invented by an Englishman. The milk used is skim-The process of turning this liquid into butttons, pool balls, combs, backs of hair brushes and similar articles consists of mixing it with a substance, the ingredients of which are a secret of the inventor, and compressing At the end of three days the substance is as solid as celluloid and is ready to be cut and shaped in any way the manufacturer wishes. At present a factory in Holland is engaged in fashioning the hardened milk into various articles, buttons being the chief. The buttons made in this peculiar way differ very little in appearance from ordinary bone buttons. creamy white in appearance, but can be colored black or red or any other color by simply mixing the coloring matter with the milk before the hardening process begins. They are said to possess advantages over the bone and celluloid article in being less brittle and less liable to chip. For combs the milk substance has been found to be especially well adapted, as it is smooth and delicate to the touch, and derives from its creamy origin a glossy surface. In the same way it is a good substitute for ivory in billiard and pool

J. Fellows, of Saguache, presented her husband with triplets, three girls, whose combined weight was thirteen and a half pounds. The children are said to be healthy and doing nicely. At its last meeting the board of county commissioners recognized Mr. Fellows and his family by passing interesting resolutions. They are as follows: "Resolved, By the board of county commissioners, now in session, who have just learned of the increase in our population to the extent of triplets to the family of our fellow citizen Joseph Fellows, this board, to show the gratitude in behalf of the people of Saguache county, hereby make a donation of $25 and hereby order the clerk to draw a warrant for that amount and present it said Fellows as a token of reward for his efforts to increase the population of this county and to show to the world at large what inducements the glorious climate of the San Luis valley can offer to encourage immigration and that others may put forth more efforts in the same direction."

"Theater sickness" is the name of the new disease recently discovered by the eminent French physician, Dr. Morticole, which is at present a topic of a good deal of discussion in scientific and lay circles in Paris. The doctor declares that "theater sickness" and seasickness resemble one another, take their victims entirely unawares, and prey especially on women. The symptoms consist of giddiness, loss of consciousness, a deep faint, and in perverse cases the malady causes death. It seizes a victim after he has gazed long at the stage, and more commonly in tragedy than in comedy, and, in brief, it constitutes a species of asphyxia. When men feel the "theater sickness" coming on they become, according to Dr. Morticole, oblivious to all considerations of locality, and put their heads between their knees, while women feel an inclination to recline with their feet at an acute angle above their heads, so excessive is the ver-

CURED BY EXPERIENCE. Why the Boys Are Not Going to Alaska. A story was told on the dock recently in Seattle of three young men who were cured of the Alaskan fever in a very practical manner, says the Post-Intelligencer. They had concluded that they would go on the Al-Ki, and had purchased their berths. "Now, you boys," said the aged adviser, "want to remember that it's pretty cold up there. It's pretty low temperature here today, but nothing to what you'll find on the Yukon. Now, let me advise you. Before going to that country you would better have some experience. You may not like it, and then you will want to come back. To-night promises to be pretty coid. I have a tent at my house that I used when in Alaska. You boys take the tent out on Queen Anne hill and sleep in it tonight. It is now 10 o'clock. Don't eat anything until about 8 oclock this evening. Then build a fire in your tent, cook some beans and bacon, fix up some unsweetened wack coffee and make a meal. Until ledtime sit around the fire smoking and chewing tobacco and playing cards, and then fix up a rough bunk on the ground and sleep until moraing. If you enjoy it, go to Alaska; if not, stay at home." The boys caught up with the idea enthusiastically, and promised to carry out the programme. Whether they did or not is not known, but yeserday morning three miserable lookng boys canceled three tickets on the Al-Ki, and as they humbley left the steamship office one was heard to say; Do you suppose it really gets that cold

There is every prospect that after Christmas it will be necessary to divide into two or witness for the city and Dr. Copeland more "clubs" according to the plan pursued in several city associations. The girls are now dressing dolls for class real estate security. Christmas, the intention being that each member shall have a sample of her own needlework to add to the exhibition to be given just before Christmas, at which time their work is to be sent, probably to some children's hospital. The greatest hindrance in the work so far is a sufficient number of dolls. There were four of them for twenty-five girls last Saturday, but as next week will bring the month's business meeting with the payment of the five cents dues, the girls will be able to purchase a few more dolls.

Thursday being Thanksgiving day, the rooms will be closed and no classes will meet either in the afteruoon or evening of that day.

Moncure Conway has since also told us how the high priestess of the new religion was laughing in her sleeve while she was sending reports of these alleged miraculous occurrences to her devotees in England. It is disingenuous, therefore, in the adherents of theosophy to disclaim kinship with spiritualism. Is it not claimed for Mme. DINING AND FEEDING.

American Table Manners Not So Open to Criticism as Formerly.

It has been conceded that the degree of civilization a people has reached may be accurately measured by its dietary, says the Woman's Home Companion. Now, some one has said that out sustaining any injury, thirty-five 'the American feeds, the Englishman devours, the Frenchman dines." In view of this statement one wonders what the English have been doing through the centuries to have advanced so little. We do not pretend to answer for them, but would say for ourselves, we have been hewing our way through forests, pioneering in every direction, in every sense-ample apology for feeding instead of dining. But of course it was a Frenchman who made the declaration, and of course he made it long ago, when, mortifying though it be, honesty compels us to acknowledge that we may have been guilty. Times, however, and conditions have changed, and not even the most bigoted Frenchman will refuse to admit that when the American has reached the dining point he will have more to dine upon than any other man in the world. The culture of man in America will demand all the art in his cuisine that France has by study evolved, with the added merit of honesty in his food, the disguises incident

He said the swelling was caused by an irritation of the swelling was caused by an irritation of the kidneys, and I commenced treatment with him. But I seemed to be getting worse. I was strongly urged by a friend to try Doan's Kidney Pills, and I finally con-sented. After the first week I commenced to see a change, and felt much better. This was encouraging, and I continued their use. I took five boxes in all, with the happy result that I was completely cured. THE much talked of Oberlin charges against the 'Varsity foot ball team have been read and answered. They were unfounded. Oberlin lost her head so far as to take newspaper estimates rather than official returns, vague rumors in preference to what the referee and umpire saw, and floating tales of spectators rather than the facts avoid the rush. Arriving at the ball shown by official correspondence. Most everybody loses his head once or twice in some such case and when angry and excited makes charges which sober investigation compels him to take back along with abundant humility. One with the Arctic voyagers,-everybody such lesson is enough for most men but attempted a joke on this subject. some keep on doing the same thing over and over. We wonder which class the Oberlin management belongs to.

Part of the board say the delay in opening the doors to Nansen's lecture on Tuesday night was due to the inability of members to agree among themselves, while others say it was the fault of Dr. Nannot appear at the hall until late. Three hundred or more tickets appeared at the door which the board could not account for and it looks a little as though some one had been counterfeiting. The matter is now under investigation and the two factions on the board, headed by Sadler and Thomas are glaring at each other and saying things which aren't kind at all.

MICHIGAN WON.

From Wittenberg in an Easy Game. The game Saturday afternoon was too tame to be interesting. Michigan rushed her opponents at will and the only question was, "How large a score will Michigan make?"

Michigan woke up at once and carried the ball down the field by a rapid series of bucks pushing Thomas over the line for a touch down within two minutes after the game began. A try at goal failed. Score 4-0.

Wittenberg's next kick darried the ball to Michigan's 30 yard line, but the 'Varsity rushed across the field without losing the ball. Thomas made the best gains and in two minutes went through the line for a second touch down. No goal; score 8-0.

Two minutes were sufficient to bring the ball very near Wittenberg's goal but the ball was lost and punted into Michigan's territory. It was brought back and Thomas made a touch down. No goal; score 12-0.

McLean made the next touch down running several yards with a Wittenberg man hanging to him. No goal; score 16-0.

In the second half Hodgman went in as full back and Gordon as half. The 'Varsity was easy and did not pile up half the score they should have made considering the poor work of Wit tenberg. Hodgman tried a drop kick from field but missed. A second attempt succeeded and Hodgman was cheered. Score 21-0.

A lot of punting followed and Hodgman made another drop kick which brought the 'Varsity score up to 26. Hodgman tried four more drop kicks but two men blocked and the other two missed by a few inches.

Gordon made a touch down on a difficult run from the 10 yard line. Hodgman kicked goal. Time was called; score 32-0.

A great many people who attended Dr. Nansen's lecture went early to they found an immense crowd before each of the still unopened doors. The wind was very cold and seemed to come from every direction, putting the people in a good condition to sympathize

Meanwhile the crowd was growing larger and colder, and the boys started a yell which was a failure because their teeth were chattering. Then they pounded on the doors and demanded admittance of the empty hall. At Treasurer J. F. Thomas says the board 7:30 the three doors were thrown open and the struggle began.

Three solid masses moved up the ball and met at the foot of the stairs. "Got to have your ticket punched!" "Can't get up without a red ticket." "Rush! Rush!" "Stop shoving!" Dr. Nansen's love for the unknown is as great or perhaps greater than before his Arctic voyage. He speaks of the "Fram" as a dear friend and dwells on the beauty of the cold Arctic nights and the north where there are "no advertisers, no porters' lies, no newspapers and no reporters"

The expedition of the "Fram" had none of the fearful results which followed the "Jeannette," the Greeley Expedition and other early Arctic explorations.

Oa the eighty-fourth degree of latitude Nansen and Lieut. Johansen left the "Fram", took dogs and started on a trip which was to go farther north than man had ever gone before. With provisions for 100 days they counted on reaching the pole and returning during the same summer to Frans Joseph Land. After reaching the eighty-seventh degree the explorers found the ice too rough to proceed farther and started south. Crevices in the ice checked their progress and they crossed these in the two "Kyacs" which they carried.

HEART DISEASE.

SOME FACTS REGARDING THE RAPID INCREASE OF HEART TROUBLES.

Do Not He Alarmed Rut Look For The Cause.

Heart troubles, at least among Amercans, are certainly increasing and while this may be largely due to the excitement and worry of American business life, it is more often the result of weak stomachs, of poor digestion.

Real, organic heart disease is incurable: but not one case in a hundred of heart trouble, is organic

The close relation between heart trouble and poor digestion is because both organs are controlled by branches of the same great nerves, the Sympathetic and Paeumogastric.

In another way, also the heart is aflected by that form of poor digestion, which causes gas and fermentation from half digested food; there is a feeling of oppression and heaviness in the chest caused by pressure of the distended stomach on the heart and lungs, interfering with their action; hence arises palpitation and short breath.

Poor digestion also poisons the blood, makes it thin and watery, which irritates and weakens the heart.

The most sensible treatment for heart troubles is to improve the digesbrook, who graduated in '80 and has tion and to insure the prompt assimilation of fobd.

This can best be done by the regular use after meals, of some safe, pleasant reminded him of the foggy days they Just now, she says, they are banishing and effective digestive preparation, like Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, which from western countries and are work- may be found at most drug stores and pened while the Fram was on its voy- ing on "Improved Christianity." which contain valuable, harmless di-"Missionaries," she says, "are needed gestive elements, in a pleasant, convenlent form.

It is safe to say that the regular, persistent use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at meal time will cure any form of stomach trouble, except cancer of the

The Wrong Thing.

To do the right thing at the wrong of the commonest diseases and one of time is as bad as to do the wrong thing at any time. How often have we blundered just at this point! If we review the past we will see that in many cases we have brought trouble upon lessness about so simple a thing as piles thing, but because we did just the right ourselves, not because we did a wrong
