THE BLACK CAP.

Worn in England When a Judge Passes Sentence of Death.

There is one particular part of the dress belonging to the order of the coif-the black cap-which the judges in England always put over their wigs when passing sentence of death, says the Gentleman's Magazine. Little is known concerning this black cap, and many mistakes have been made about it. Mr. Sergeant Pulling, in his work, "The Order of the Coif," says: "The black cap, or sentence cap, of the judges and sergeants is certainly not the coif, as Lord Campbell repeatedly states. It is, on the contrary, the covering expressly assigned to veil the She-"Very slippery coming home, coif, on the only occasion when the was it not?" He-"Oh, very." Shecoif was required to be hidden. By the ancient privileges of the sergeants, He-"Oh, yes, I did manage to keep the coif was not to be taken off even them; but they changed places with in the royal presence. The chief in- the back of my neck several times."signia of the order was to be so displayed when sitting on the bench or pleading at the bar, but this rule seems always to have been departed from in passing sentence of death. The head of the administrator of justice was then covered, as a token of sorrow, by the black sentence cap. This cornered cap, black cap, or sentence cap, as it is sometimes termed, is a piece of limp black cloth, which is put on the top of the piece of the of the wig. The cap is rarely put on, except when a prisoner has been convicted of murder, and then the judge places the cap on the top of his wig and passes sentence of death." When the judges sit in the criminal courts and when attending church in state, they always carry the black cap in their hand as a part of their regular judicial attire. The black cap is also worn by the judges on the day when the new lord mayor goes in state to the royal courts of justice to be sworn in.

Curlous Notices.

A facetious hotel proprietor hung up this sign in his rooms: "Indian clubs and dumb-bells will not be permitted in any of the rooms. Guests in need of exercise can go down to the kitchen and pound a steak.'

A notice displayed in a Norway hotel is a curious specimen of "English as she is spoke." It reads as follows: 'Bath! First-class bath. Can anybody get. Tushbath. Warm and cold. Tub bath and shower bath. At any time, Except Saturday. By two hours forbore.

This brings to mind another specimen of foreigner's English, displayed on a notice posted up in an art exhibition in Japan, to which foreigners are welcomed. Here are a few examples of the rules: "Visitors is requested at the entrance to show tickets for inspection, Tickets are charged 10 cens and 2 cens, for the special and common respectively. No visitor who is mad or intoxicated is allowed to enter in, if any person found in shall be claimed to retire. No visitor is allowed to carry in with himself any parcel, umbrella, stick and the like kind, except his purse, and is strictly forbidden to take within himself dog, or the same kind of beasts. Visitors is requested to take good care of himself from thievery."-Tit-Bits.

Informal Receipt. Uneducated people sometimes have a happy knack in coming to the point Here, for example, is a story from the Boston Herald. Dan and Mose, neither of them noted for erudition, were partners in an enterprise which it is needless to specify. One morning a cus tomer called to settle a small bill, and after handing over the money asked for a receipt. Mose retired to the privacy of an inner room, and after a long delay returned with a slip of paper, on which were written these "We've got our pay. Me and words: Dan.'

A herd of white deer was seen near Kingman, Me., a few days ago. The herd was first seen by a Newport sportsman. For a while he was so bewildered that he did not know what to do, for it may be that no man before him ever saw more than one white deer at a time in the Maine woods. He succeeded in killing a big white buck weighing about 225 pounds. The buck was almost as white as snow.

There was a patch of brown hair on his right side near the rump. When the man arrived in Bangor he met a taxidermist, who bought the deer at a handsome price. When it is considered that the bank satistics of the country are the accurate test of business conditions, it will be seen that the assertions of the Democratic orators and newspaper in the campaign of 1896 were entirely unfounded and that the statement of the men who made them cannot be trusted in the campaign upon which they are now about entering.

THE following table shows the sales to other parts of the world of products of agriculture by the farmers of the United States during the last year of President Harrison's administration, the four years of Cleveland's, and the first year of McKinley's. It will be observed that the year 1892 and 1897 far exceed any year during Cleveland's term, despite the insistence of Democrats that low tariff cultivates our foreign trade. During the last year of President Harrison's term, the exportation of products of agriculture were larger than in any preceding year in the history of the country, while during the four years of Cleveland they fell off from 100 to 150 million per annum, increasing again in the first year of Mc-Kinley protection of a larger sum than ever before in the history of the country. to third place and Germany has passed The figures are from official statements | her in the race for supremacy now held | of the Bureau of Statistics of the Treas-by England. ### DOINGS OF CONGRESS.

A Paragraphic Chronicle of the Acts of the Nation's Lawmakers.

A resolution was adopted by the House calling on the state department for information as to the condition of the concentrados in Cuba, and the progress made in Spain's efforts to induce the Cubans to accept autonomy.

The Senate has confirmed the nominations of A. O. Wheeler, to be U. S. marshal of the western district of Michigan; Commodore F. M. Bunce to be a rear-admiral; Geo. M. Bowers, of West Virginia, to be U. S. fish commis-

Rep. Lewis, of Washington, introduced a resolution demanding that Spain recall DeLome instead of merely accepting his resignation.

The House adopted Congressman Wm. Alden Smith's resolution calling for the correspondence between Germany and the United States relative to the exclusion of our fruits and horses. During short open session of the Senate two phases of the Cuban question were adverted to briefly. The amendment of Mr. Allen to the diplomatic and consular appropriation bill recognizing the belligerency of the Cuban insurgents was reported adversely by the foreign relations committee, not, as Mr. Morgan explained, on the merits of the amendment, but because the committee did not approve of tacking such legislation to appropriation bills. Mr. Morgan's resolution, calling upon the President for the reports of United States consuls in Cuba and for information as to whether any agent of the autonomous government in Cuba had been accredited to this government and recognized by it was adopted without dissent.

Sarah Bernhardt, the famous, is considered quite ill and will have to undergo an operation.

Spain is nervously urging the Glasgow shipbuilders to hurry the work on the new Spanish war vessels.

King Menelik, of Abyssinia, is preparing for a journey to the European countries and is collecting objects of special artistic interest in Abyssinia. the most valuable of which he will take as gifts to the various rulers. His majesty intends to be absent about eight months, and the government of Abyssinia during that time will be intrusted to the queen.

A new patriotic society was organized in the council chamber at city hall at New York. It will be known as the American Flag association, and its membership will be made up from committees selected from the various patriotic societies of the country. Its object will be to protect the national flag from desecration. Gen. O. O. Howard is one of the prime movers.

The German authorities, it is said, are attributing the severity of the action taken in regard to prohibiting American fruit, to overzealous subordinates. It is intimated they are beginning to believe there was too much haste in the matter. Ambassador White has cabled that live plants are prohibited, but that fresh fruit, not infected, is being freely submitted.

In 10 years the United States, which occupied the second place among nations in foreign trade (meaning imports and exports combined), has fallen off years the commerce of England aug- go his way, as one does after a light mented 32 per cent, that of Germany 46 per cent and the United States 14 per cent, while France fell off 3 per cent. ### CORPORATION STORES CLOSED Reasons Why One of the Largest Coal Companies Abolished the Evil.

From the Mahony City, Pa., Daily Record: The Cross Creek Coal company is out in an explanation in the Hazleton papers that they have not decided to close their company stores, as some newspapers have stated, because they were not paying, but because of the agitation and sentiment against these stores among the workmen and community generally. There was scarcely any necessity to correct the ridiculous statement that the company store is not a profitable enterprise, but it is a sign of awaking to a sense of public duty when we are told that they have given way to the pressure of law and public opinion, of which they have been so long defiant. It is true that this statement of the company's attitude is accompanied by another-that this company has always shown a spirit of liberality and benevolence toward its employes; has frequently extended needed help in times of distress to the families of its employes; has established a hospital for the treatment of their injuries and has provided training schools in which they have received instruction and aid in the struggle of life. We would be the last to cast discredit on the warmheartedness of the Coxe ladies, and the memory of the late Eckley B. Coxe is fragrant of the performance of many humanitarian deeds, but charity or liberality in one direction cannot take the place of wrong and oppression in others. Law and public opinion are stirred by the harsh and oppressive and unrepublican nature of the company store system. Experience and public opinion proclaim that forced relations between employe and employer should end when the former performs faithful service which the latter rewards with payment in the coin of the realm, leaving to his individual responsibility the proper outlay of his earned wages.

Women the Best Conversers.

Of one thing there can be very little doubt, and that is the greater readiness in conversation of women than men. A woman can create conversation, which is a very useful thing, and is frequently found a great social difficulty. If we give a man a subject on which he knows anything at all, unless he be a fool or morbidly reticent. he can talk about it so as to make himself fairly intelligible and perhaps interesting to those for whom the subject has any interest at all. Men, when their feeling of enthusiasm is excited, throw off the slowness and hesitation which frequently cramp their power in society, just as they throw off the physical infirmity of stuttering under the influence of some awakening theme or some strong sympathy. But the power of conversation in some women, and not always those of remarkable ability, is the very art of making bricks without straw. They will talk to one by the hour about nothing-that is, on no particular subject and with no particular object, and talk coherently not foolishly and withal very pleasantly all the time. It would, we are free to confess, berather difficult for the listener to carry away with him any mental notes of what has been said; he may not be

is a whole man, at least physically, to be a western cow-boy. His every-day life calls for great physi-cal endurance, and upon some occasions this must also be is must also be acked by considerable nerve. It would be a good thing for many a hard working business man if he could turn cow-boy for a couple of months each year. his lungs, a little steel into his muscles, a little edge to his ap-petite and a little of the calm of the boundless plains into his nerves. Unfortunately, the rush of modern business will not permit the aver-age hard working business man to turn cow-boy even for a short time each year. The only resource left him, if he does not wish to break down prematurely, is to keep a to break down prematurely, is to keep a watchful eye upon his health, and when he finds that he is getting out of sorts, let up a watchini the is getting out of sorts, let up a little on work, and resort to the best of all known tonics. That tonic is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It promptly puts a worked out man into condition, be-cause it starts at the right place. It begins by restoring the lost appetite. It corrects all disorders of the digestion and makes the assimilation of the food perfect. It invig-orates the liver. It purifies the blood and fills it with the life-giving elements of the food. It is the great blood-maker and flesh-builder. By enriching the blood it nour-ishes and builds up every organ and tissue in the body. ### Not Unlike Others.

The activity and power of intellect of the late Henry George did not prevent absent mindedness. A writer in You won't have to if you'll go to SEWING the Review of Reviews says that this quality was "the jest of his circle," Names escaped him. I heard him say to Mr. Dayton, the candidate on ais ticket for compirolier and one of the best known men in New York: "You won't mind it, I hope, if I forget your name; I am so conscious of the danger of getting names wrong, that when the need of remembering comes it rattles me, and away the name goes." He came late to a recent dinner at the Lotus club, where he was to discuss with some friends the question of his being a candidate in apprehended contingencies. It was raining, and he took from his pocket the slippers with which Mrs. George had insisted on providing him in case he should get his feet wet, and as he put them on he apologized with honest gravity: "I lost time looking for a man I kept asking after as Kinsella, and it turned out his right name was Moriarity. At least I think that was what he told me it was when I found him." But there was no absent mindedness when discussion of the business in hand ensued. He was keen and wide awake.

A Bird's Peculiar Choice.

A strange nesting place was that once selected by a swallow. At Corton, Lowestoft, England, Mr. Russel Coleman discovered the swallow's nest, on r ng birds in it, on the re part of the machinery of a common windmill. The particular spot chosen was the "wallomer," the outer edge of one of the wheels. The revolutions averaged thirty a minute, and Mr. Coleman estimated that in that time the nest traveled about one hundred and eighty feet. The young birds would certainly be experienced travelers before they left such a nest. The mother bird, when, sitting, usually traveled tail foremost, and when she entered or left the nest she had to make use of the hole through which the laying shaft projected. To do this it was necessary for her to dodge the sails, which were, of course, hung close to the wall of the mill. When the creaking and shaking will save money. of the machinery of a windmill is taken into account, one can hardly fail to be struck with the peculiar taste of the bird that "hose such an apparently uncongenial spot in which to rear her young.

Thought He Was Racing Man. It takes a man who From the Westminster Gazette: Henry George had a quaint humor of his own, and could tell a good story against himself. During his Australian tour one of his friends in Sydney suggested to the secretary of a local racing club that it would be a graceful thing to send Mr. George a complimentary ticket for the race meeting then at hand. The papers were at the time devoting many columns to the reports of George's meetings and discussions on his doctrines, but the sportsman had evidently not read them. "Who is Mr. George?" he asked. never heard of him before." "Why, he's a man of world-wide celebrity. "Does he own any horse?" queried the secretary. "Yes, two very fast trotters, Progress and Poverty." "Oh, all

Two hundred and forty quarts of milk saved the home of Farmer Geo. I. Platt at Milford, Conn., from destruction by fire. Platt runs a dairy and keeps sixty cows. Saturday night's milk was stored in the barn. The farm-house was newly shingled Saturday and the old shingles had been put in the cellar, where, on Saturday also, a servant put some hot ashes. At 3 o'clock Sunday morning the shingles caught fire. The well curb was broken and there was no water available, so the farm hands threw milk by the gallon on the fire. The last quart extin-

The mint of Philadelphia is almost constantly engaged in turning out cents made of copper, with a slight Pennsylvania alone absorbed 11,000,000 last year, and New York 9,000,000. There is as much curiosity about the final fate of these cents as there is about that of pins. Nobody is able to tell where the pins go to, and it is imcome of the hundreds of millions of cents issued by the mint since it began operations. ### Preventing Ships From Sinking.

It is proposed to construct the hatches on ships so that pressure from below will fix them more firmly in their seats. This implies that they shall be air tight. Then as long as a ship with a hole in her does not capsize, the confined air will give her a chance at least of floating. At present hatches are put in from above and are designed to exclude deck water, not to restrain air. An air-tight hold would make it possible to force out water down to the level of a leak by pumping in air.

Cynical Sort of Proceedings.

Phil May was asked why it is that one occasionally finds some of his original drawings on sale, and he replied characteristically, "That I don't know; they must be sketches which I have given to friends and have been sold by them. Terrible thought, isn't it? But that is the only explanation. It reminds me of the liberal politician i once heard of ----" "What was that?" asked the interviewer, on the alert for a good story. "Oh, it was the same sort of thing-only more so. It seems this man was an ardent liberal-no, there is no political bias in this story He got into correspondence with Mr. Gladstone, who gave him some of his works with his autograph on the fly leaf. Monte Carlo's gambling bank took in 14,850,000 francs during the year ending Oct. 31, 5,000,000 francs less than the year before. Among its expenses were: For Prince Albert of Monaco, 2,000,000 francs; for police education and other public charges, 1,-500,000 francs; to the directors and officials, 1,000,000 francs; for the theater, music, sports and charity, 800,000 france. A hundred thousand francs were spent to get unlucky gamblers out of town, and another hundred thousand to keep them from committing suicide. Nevertheless, thirty-five persons killed themselves on account of gambling losses during the year.

To Cure Female Ills-Some True Reasons Why Mrs. Pinkham is More Successful Than the Family Doctors.

WHY SO MANY REGULAR

PHYSICIANS FAIL

A woman is sick; some disease peculiar to her sex is fast developing in her system. She goes to her family physician and tells him a story, but not the whole story

She holds something back, loses her head, becomes agitated, forgets what she wants to say, and finally conceals what she ought to have told, and thus completely mystifies the doctor.

Is it any wonder, therefore, that the doctor fails to cure the disease? Still, we cannot blame the woman, for it is very embarrassing to detail some of the symptoms of her suffering, even to her family physician.

It was for this reason that years ago Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., determined to step in and help her sex. Having had considerable experience in treating female ills with her Vegetable Compound, she encouraged the women of America to write to her for advice in regard to their complaints, and, being a woman, it was easy for her ailing sisters to pour into her ears every detail of their suffering. Over one hundred thousand women were successfully treated by Mrs. Pinkham last year. Such are the grand results of her experience.

THE ANN ARBOR REGISTER, FEBURARY 17, 1898.

INSULTED THE PRESIDENT, De Lome Calls McKinley Hard Name

and Must Leave the United States. The representatives of the Cuban junta at New York have given out copies of a letter signed "Enrique Dupuy De Lome" who is minister of Spain at Washington and addressed to Jose Canalejas, who went to Cuba last September as Premier Sagasta's personal representative. In this letter the Spanish minister refers to President Me-Kinley as "weak and catering to the rabble," and as a "low politician, who desires to stand well with the jingoes of his party." Horatio L. Rubens, uine. A man risked his life to obtain it. We do not hesitate to acknowledge that it was stolen from Canalejas. It is written on the paper of the legation. The handwriting is De Lome's and the signature is his. He may deny it until he is black in the face, but it is genuine and everybody who has seen it knows that it is." The publication of De Lome's letter mused a sensation in official Washing-on and will undoubtedly soon be fol-owed by Senor De Lome's departure there was a disposition to question the uthenticity of the letter, but as bit by t the circumstantial evidence accur-tion the united States. At the outset here was a disposition to question the uthenticity of the letter, but as bit by t the circumstantial evidence accurmulated, until it was finally announced officially that the minister declined to deny the authorship of the letter, all doubt was dissipated and the only question that remained was as to the line of action to be pursued by our government toward the offending minister.

The writing of this letter is unques tionably an offense against the amenities of diplomatic relations, and such offenses almost invariably have been regarded in the United States, as in other countries, as sufficient ground for the termination of the official status of the letter writer.

The state department has promptly taken hold of the matter, Assistant Secretary Day consulting President McKiney four times during the day, which resulted in a message being sent to U.S. Minister Woodford at Madrid directing him to lay the facts before the Spanish government together with the statement that in view of the minister's refusal to deny the authorship of the letter the Spanish government is looked to with confidence to deal with the case properly. This amounts to an invitation to recall the minister, presuming that he himself has not already taken steps to vacate his position. No doubt is entertained of a compliance with the implied suggestion, but in case there should be undue delay in acting the state department would feel called upon to move directly in the matter and give the minister his passports.

A TERRIBLE CATASTROPHE.

Eleven People Killed, 27 Missing and 19

A fire of mysterious origin completely destroyed the large six-story cold storage plant of the Chautauqua Lake Ice Co., at Pittsburg, within three hours. The structure was divided by three heavy fire walls into practically four buildings. The ice company had its ice making plant and storage warehouses on the lower floors and the Union Storage Co. occupied the balance of the building with the stored property of innumerable householders and merchants, besides about 400 barrels of whisky in bond. When the fire reached the whisky the stuff exploded, blowing out the Mulberry alley wall with awful results. The alley was filled with firemen, policemen and reporters, and many were caught by the falling walls. The large warehouse of W. A. President of Gautemala Assassinated. Advices from Jan Jose, Guatemala, announces the assassination of President Barrios of that republic.

Gen. G. Jose Maria Reine Barrios. president of the republic of Guatemala, was born in San Marcos in 1859. He was a nephew of the former president, Justo Rufino Barrios, who was killed during a rebellion in 1885. Gen. Barrios succeeded his uncle as commander of the forces, but Barrillas gained the ascendancy, was made president, and banished the young general. He was recalled later and in 1892 he was elected president over Barrillas, and his term would have expired in March this year. Last June Barrios publicly declared himself dicator of Guatemala.

Later reports state that the assassination of Barrios was immediately followed by a revolutionary attempt to raise Prospero Morales to the presidency. Morales' adherents, under Gen. Marroquin, attempted to seize the palace barracks, but Marroquin and several others were killed and the remainder fled from the city with troops in pursuit. Vice President Cabrera is acting president, but there are loud demands that Gen. Mendizabal be proclaimed president. A serious crisis is apparently impending.
