ANN ARBOR, MICHIGAN, THURSDAY, APRIL 28, 1398.

WHOLE NO. 1218.

Left Tuesday for the State Camp at Island Lake---Is now Preparing for the Active Work in the Field.

GREAT DEMONSTRATION BY CITIZENS.

Schools, University and Business Places Closed in Honor of the Departure---Enormous Crowd Sees the Men Off---The Company in Fine Condition--- 100 Men on the "Waiting List" --- May Garrison Forts Around Washington.

Island Lake is one of the very busiest places in the state this week. Three regiments of militia are there and are having their first experience in the actual operations which they will be subject to when in the field. In the annual encampment they have had plenty of good, hard drill, but special cooks and considerable recreation made the experience something like an outing.

Now there is no outing about it. The men left in heavy, marching order, carrying their own blankets and haversacks; they wade through mud and water; rations were issued and the men have to do their own cooking; they are taken out for forced marches over muddy roads and rough fields, in rain and shine, and so far as possible given the kind of experience they will have to meet when they take the field against the Spanish armies.

It was at first proposed to send state troops to the south at once and let them get a taste of the climate, but Governor Pingree thought better and decided to send them instead to their old camping ground at Island Lake where they can become accustomed to camp duties and get somewhat hardened to outdoor life, at less expense than would be necessary to take them to the south.

Ann Arbor may be proud of the company she sends to camp, for the drill of the past few weeks has shown that the men are in the very best condition and all are brave and loyal fellows who will make a record if fortune sends them into an engagement. Opportunity was given for those who desired, and could give a good reason, to stay at home but with the exception of a few whose phy sical condition was such as to keep them out of regular service, and one or two whose family affairs made it almost impossible to leave, staid behind. But where one man remained at home there were a dozen clamoring to take his place. All day Monday men poured into the armory and wanted to enlist. The company had already been filled to its full number, 86, and all applicants were put on a "waiting list" and will be drilled regularly so that if another call comes or if an order is issued for the doubling of the company they will be ready.

On Tuesday morning the city was decorated with flags and pictures of the Maine. Crowds early began to assemble on the screets. About nine o'clock the long line of Grand Army veterans and Sons of Veterans appeared, marched down the street and lined up in front of the armory. The crowd became more and more dense and by the time the Ypsilanti militia arrived, at half past nine, the streets were packed worse than on any Fourth of July or circus day the city has seen. Within the armory the boys were lined up for inspection. The big blue boxes containing their camping outfits were already on the train, and with rifles blankets and haversacks they were taking the last drill before leaving for camp. Some of them were serious and realized that they may never come back for they know the danger of the terrible Cuban climate with its yellow fever and kindred forms of death and dread it more than Spanish bullets and shells. There were others who looked at the pleasant side only and considered the departure as the beginning of a vacation which might end in pleasure, or glory, with only a remote possibility of death.

At ten o'clock the doors of the armory opened, the long line filed out amid deafening cheers from the citizens, and joining the Ypsilanti company marched to the train. Here the crowd was something wonderful. It was packed from the cars to the hills on First street. House tops were crowded and men clamored over the cars. As the train moved there was more cheering but as it pulled out of sight the crowd became silent; then the seriousness of the occasion came over the people, and there were tears then and sad faces, for all realized that the boys had gone to war and that war does not send back all the men it takes forth and gives back many wounded and helpless.

There is considerable speculation as to what disposition will be made of Company A. Nothing is known further than that the men will remain in camp at Island Lake until ordered to the front. Rumor now says there is a possibil- new law building as a class memorial. ity that the first regiment will go to Washington as a guard for that city but this is only a rumor.

HORRIBLY MANGLED.

A Negro Named Wm. Kirzey is Killed on the Michigan Central.

Late last Friday night Sam Camp and Arthur Carroll were returning from a fishing trip down the river when they stumbled over the dead body of a negro lying on the track. Coroner Ball, who has not yet recovered from his injury, was called, and after a painful experience in hoppling across a plowed field arrived at the scene. He found that the man had apparently fallen throught the train. His head was cut off and the body badly mangled. In a note book in the pocket was the name, Wm. Kirzey, and a letter, apparently from his sweetheart, was signed "Lil-

The body was later identified as that of Wm. Kirzey, a negro about 35 years old who came from Canada and has worked for some time at Ypsilanti.

NOW THEY ARE WARLIKE.

U. of M. Professors Believe In Whipping Spain at Once.

Up to the beginning of hostilities the U. of M. faculty has hoped for peace and condemned war policy, but a number of professors are now as warlike as anybody and are for drubbing Spain in the shortest possible time.

Prof. Bradley M. Thompson expressed a very general sentiment when "I have not been in favor of precipitating a war with Spain. Peace can not now be purchased except with a victory. Spain will be whipped when she is no longer capable of inflicting injury upon us. Our only thought should be how can we, in the least time and with the greatest certainty, destroy the Spanish navy. Without a Splendid Savings... navy she will be absolutely helpless.

"The conquest of Cuba will not destroy or weaken the Spanish navy. It will most likely weaken ours. Cuba adds nothing to the military strength of Spain. It is a source of weakness She has an army there of 100,000 men that she must clothe and feed. If we stay away from the island that army can do us no harm, and can do Spain no good. That army cannot invade this country if it would, and cannot kill a single American soldier, unless he goes there to be shot at.

"We do not want Cuba until the close of the war. Every life sacrificed and every dollar expended through an invasion of Cuba at the present time is a dollar squandered.

"Destroy the Spanish navy and Cuba is ours the moment we whistle and beckon to her.

"If we throw our army into Cuba it annot make itself self-supporting. If, by any chance, our navy should be disthat army into capitulation.

"The war should commence on the sea and end on the sea."

REGENTS MEET.

Students May Go to War and Uncle Sam May Use Hospitals.

The board of regents met last Friday and arranged the regular budget deciding how much money shall be appropriated to the use of each department during the coming year. Plans were adopted designed to prevent further scandals in the Students' Lecture Association. The board then decided to offer the hospitals to the United States government for use in case of war, if so desired. It also decided to offer diplomas to any senior students in good standing who enlist for service in the war with Spain and to allow other students, not seniors, to enlist and return at some later date without loss of credit

Prof. M. E. Cooley, who has left to join the naval reserves on board the Yossemite, was granted leave of absence until next October, or longer, if he desires. George Wilcox, of Bay City, will take Prof. Cooley's work in the engineering department.

The senior law class asked permission to furnish a corner-stone for the The board consented. A communication was received from the widow of the Spring late Judge Samuel T. Douglas, of Grosse Ile, donating to the university the law library of 800 volumes left by the judge. Regents Lawton and Cook and Prof. Spaulding were appointed to confer with a similar committee from L. GRUNNER, - 118 S. Main St. the Michigan Agricultural college concerning the forestry of the state. A new course was established in the engineering department leading up to the degree of bachelor of science in chemical engineering. It is to have 118 hours required work.

A Woman's Burden.

This is a story of a woman addressed to women. It is a plain statement of facts too strong in themselves to require embellishment, too true to be doubted, too instructive to be passed over by any woman who appreciates the value of good health.

The women of to-day are not as strong as their grandmothers.

They are bearing a burden in silence that grows heavier day by day; that is sapping their vitality, clouding their happiness, weighing them down with the woe of ill health.

Mrs. Alexander B. Clark, of 417 Michigan Avenue, Detroit, is a typical woman of to-day. A wife with such ambition as only a loving wife can have. But the joys of her life were marred by the existence of disease.

Suffering as thousands of her sisters have suffered, she almost despaired of life and yet she was cured.

To-day she is well! She wants others to profit by her ex-perience; to grow well; to enjoy health; to be as happy as she is.

"For five years I suffered with ovarian trouble," is Mrs. Clark's own version of the story. "I was not free one single day from headache and intense twitching pains.

Railroads Needed in Ecuador. Ecuador is saily ceucient in transportation facilities. Gold, silver, copper, iron, lead, coal and petroleum are there in abundance, but the lack of railroads renders it difficult to develop these minerals as is wished. Stomach Trouble

Stomach trouble is the common name applied to a derangement of the system which is keenly felt but vaguely understood. It may mean inability to retain food or to digest it. It may mean nausea, pain after eating, fullness, inordinate craving for food, or entire lack of appetite. Whatever it means, there's trouble, and it's with the stomach. If you have stomach trouble, you will be interested in this letter from a man who had it and was cured by

Sarsaparilla

"For nine years I suffered from stomach trouble. I tried the aid of the best doctors of Philadelphia and Pittsburg, and spent large sums of money, all in vain. One day while waiting a train in Bellaire, O., I picked up a paper with a notice of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I got one bottle to try it. It did me so much good that I purchased five more bottles. I took four of them and gained in flesh, my appetite improved, and now I can eat anything. My stomach is all right, thanks to the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla."—Calvin M. Stevens, Uniontown, Pa.

In my communication to the Council of 1897 I recommended the paying of Main st. and am glad to state that the idea was approved by the property owners and adopted by the Council and the prospect is that the work on this improvement will soon commence, and I believe if a good brick pavement is secured on this street its cleanliness and beauty will so commend it that the property owners on the remaining bus-iness streets will avail themselves of the opportunity to secure this great improvement on the liberal terms ofimprovement on the liberal terms of-fered by the ordinance. When we got our business streets paved and our residence streets macadamized they will be in perfect condition and we will be in perfect condition and we will no longer hear the inquiry, "Are our streets muddy or dusty?" In connection with this permanent class of work more money is needed than can be raised in one year under the charter and steps should be taken to secure the necessary authority to raise the additional amount needed for paving purposes and in the request of the Board.

Owing to the fact that the electric road between Ann Arbor and Detroit will soon be completed and thousands of visitors coming to our city I believe the time has arrived to secure the land offered. Michigan National Guard in Camp at Island Lake Preparing to go to the Front-The Michigan Naval Reserves Called Out-Double Drowning.

State Troops Mobilized.

After a conference with the members of the state military board, Gov. Pingree issued orders to prepare the Michigan troops for service. An order assembling the troops at Island Lake was issued at once, as follows:

Have your command ready to move in heavy marching order to Island Lake not later than Tuesday, April 26. Every available rifle, blanket and over-Every available rifle, blanket and overcoat must be taken. Do not bring stoves or provisions, except rations en route. The men will find use for private blankets for a few days. If short of overcoats, men not supplied may wear citizens' overcoats. Extra overcoats and blankets will be issued at camp. Route wired later by quartermaster-general. By command of the governor. E. M. Irish, Adjt-Gen.

The Island Lake encampment will be a permanent one until the trouble is over. When the militia have finished drilling and been ordered to the front the grounds will be used as a camp of instruction for volunteers as long as there is any necessity for a camp of that kind.

Gov. Pingree has engaged military headquarters at 1307 Majestic building, Detroit. Gen. Irish will probably be in charge of the headquarters the greater part of the time, as much of the important work of earing for the Michigan troops will have to be done from telegram from Washington: Send complement naval militia, officers and men, for Yosemite, to navy yard, Norfolk, Va., immediately. Transport-ation by Pennsylvania railway. Consult agent at Detroit. Telegraph com-mandant navy yard, Norfolk, time of arrival. T. Roosevelt, Assistant Secretary of the Navy.

The divisions of the Michigan Naval Reserves at Detroit and Saginaw were at once directed to prepare to act in accordance with the order, but owing to the delay in receiving supplies it was necessary to wait about three days before starting for Norfolk to take charge of the auxiliary cruiser Yosemite.

Later the following telegram was received from Capt. Crowninshield, in charge of the insormation bureau of the navy department:

Before serving on naval vessels en-listed men or naval militia must be discharged from militia and enlisted in navy for one year unless sooner discharged. Officers will receive acting appointments. Assignments to duty will be made by organizations and men of same militia will not be separated unless imperatively necessary. Please inform officers and men accordingly and take steps prepara-tory to discharging men upon their arrival at the navy yard.

War Enthusiasm in Michigan.

Throughout the length and breadth of the peninsular state the fire of patriotism is burning and thousands of ing of the Cuban independence resolutions and the ultimatum to Spain was the signal for outbursts of enthusiasm in nearly every city, village and town. There were particularly fervent demonstrations along the railroads over which the U.S. regulars of the Nineteenth infantry passed from Detroit and Sault Ste. Marie on their way to Mobile. A very distressing accident occurred as the boys were about to board their train at Detroit. Eight of their comrades who had been left behind to care for Fort Wayne were firing a salute, when the sixth shot discharged prematurely. The metal was too hot, and while the charge was being rammed home by Private Egmon the heat exploded the charge and Private Egmon had his arm shot off. Ordnance Sergeant Annis lost a thumb.

Two Men Drowned.

Arthur Williams and Arthur Navin, aged 21 and 25 years respectively, were drowned in Manistee lake at Manistee. They were crossing in a rowboat with three other men to East Lake and tried to catch a tow with the tug Frank Canfield, which was passing them. Their boat swung against the side of the tug and capsized. Three men clung to the make her life joyous and happy. BLOCKADE OF HAVANA.

The North Atlantic Squadron Before the Cuban Capital-Spanish Fire on It.

The blockade of Havana by the North Atlantic squadron was an established fact by the time President McKinley's proclamation ordering the blockade had been published. The arrival of the squadron before Havana just about dark was announced to the city by three cannon shots from Morro castle. and instantly there was a great stir throughout the Cuban capital. Trumpets summoned the troops; the volununteers, the marines and the regulars seized their arms and hastened to oc cupy their respective stations. Civilians, who had not been called on to join the defending forces, armed themselves and hastened to join the troops. Orders were given to extinguish the lights of Morro castle. Capt.-Gen. Blanco inspected the batteries and is-sued instructions for increasing the forces at the most exposed points. Thousands of people fled into the country during the night, fearing that the city would be bombarded.

The guns about Havana fired a number of shots at the squadron at night. but none of them reached the mark. Not a gun was from the fleet in reply

The first shot from an American warship on the Spanish flag was fired 17 miles southwest of Key West. The flag was on the Spanish freight steamer Buena Ventura, and the shot was from the gunboat Nashville. The second shot was fired across the Buena Ventura's bow at a distance of half a mile before she lowered her flag.

The Buena Ventura was a tramp steamer from Pascagoula, Miss., for Rotterdam with lumber. The Nashville fired a blank shot, which the Spaniard ignored. This was followed by a shot from a six-pounder. The Buena Ventura then surrendered with her crew of 20 men. The Nashville towed her prize into harbor at Key West and put a prize crew on board.

The news of the capture of the Span iard set the people of Key West frantic with enthusiasm. All work was suspended and the docks crowded with

When a prize crew had boarded the captive she was found to be the Spanish steamer Pedro. of Bilboa, loaded with rice, iron and beer. She was taken to Key West by the prize crew. The next lucky vesse of the squadron was the monitor Erics son which steamed right down under Morro's guns and drove a fishing schooner out ahead of her and turned her over to the cruiser Cincinnati. Other and important captures followed rapidly. The 5,000-ton Spanish steel steamer Catalina, valued with her cargo at a half million dollars, was captured by the cruiser Detroit, 12 miles from Havana and taken to Key West. The Catalina sailed from New Orleans for Barcelona, via Havana. The gunboat Helena brought in the Spanish steamer Michael Jover. The Jover was bound from New Orleans for Barcelona, with a cargo amounting to about 2,000 tons of cotton and staves. She had a crew of 52 men and the prize is estimated to value $400,000. THE Mayor, in his annual message to the common council, "challanges any one to name a city where the laws have been so generally observed and good order maintained as in the city of Ann Arber." A peculiarity about this is that the friends of Sheriff Judson assert that in as much as fully eighty percent or more of the forty to sixty drunk and disorderly people arrested each month are picked up by three or four members of the Sheriff's force while in this direction the Sheriff should have full credit for the good orded prevailing. In proportion to which the business of arresting drunk and disorderly persons is taken care of by deputy Sheriffs one would naturally conclude that about one more deputy would enable the Sheriff to attend to all the police duty of the city and the two-hundred and seventy-five dollars per menth paid to the policemen could be saved. If what appears on the surface is true, the people of this city are under great obligations to the Sheriff's force. We wonder what would become of things were it not for the efforts of the deputy sheriffs in almost daily ridtunity to secure a beau iful park site on ding the streets of drunken persons and disturbance. But we are asked almosl daily, "Is there another city in the state the size of Ann Arbor where THE mayor is right when he states there are so many drunken people who that good pavement on Main street will have to be sent to jail?" SPAIN'S INTERNAL DANGER

The strange fatality that has prompted Spain to cling with death-like tenacity to Cuba, when by her moral turpitude she had forfeited her right to hold it longer, is likely to bring worse misfortune upon the proud old monarchy than the loss of the island. The dangers which threaten the throne from within are among the most serious forces with which the Sagasta ministry must contend. Rumors of disturbances in the prin-

Speaking of Dr. Henrage Gibbes, who recently left here to become health officer of Detroit, the Tribune

He charges them with malicious prosecution in a case where Nacyart was charged with peddling milk when he had a case of scarlet fe him for having his closet too near his dairy. The health board will stand solidly behind Dr. Gibbes. At the meeting last night Commissioner Davock offered a resolution declaring the closet a "public nuisance, unwholesome was adopted unanimously.

The great majority of diseases have their inception in indigestion, biliousness and impure blood. Among these diseases are tion, body-torturing rheumatism, insanity-breeding neuralgia, emaciating malaria and all manner of disfiguring blood and skin diseases. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is a cure for all these diseases, if taken in anything like reasonable time. It is not a cure-all, but cures the diseases mentioned for the reason that they are caused and aggravated by the same disorders. It makes the appetite keen, the digestion perfect, the liver active, the blood pure and builds firm flesh and healthy nerve fiber. Don't be wheedled by a penny-grabbing dealer into taking something else.

"Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cured me of a severe case of poisoning of the blood," writes Mrs. Selia Ricca, of Coast, Santa Cruz Co., Cal. "Boils, one after another, would break out on my arms, and were very painful. I have tried the Ibudiy praised sarsaparillas without any benefit whatever, and not until I took the 'Discovery' did I get well. That was two years ago, and I have not had a boil or sore of any kind since."

One cannot run away from the fact that our plan of marking goods is the proper one. The old method has always been to look the article over. If it was large and gaudy and cost 25c the merchant always marked it to sell for 50c because it being a good looker it would bring it. If it was a small article more necessary than ornamental and cost the same as the other he marked it 30e or 35c. In this wretched manner the people were cut off from any bargains at all except on bargain days, which are days invented for the purpose of getting rid of goods at a reduced price, which no one wants at all and the merchant has found it out.

SECRETARY SHERMAN RESIGNS

President Calls for 125,000 Volunteers and They Respond at Once-Spain Declares That a State of War Exists-The Blockade of Havana.

President McKinley sent to congress a message recommending a declaration of war against Spain. The President referred to the action taken by the executive under the joint resolutions recently passed by congress for the independence of Cuba. He presented the resolutions to the Spanish representa tive at Washington and the later asked for his passports and withdrew. The notified by the Spanish minister for foreign affairs, that the withdrawal of the Spanish representative from the United States had terminated diplomatic relations between the two countries and that all official communications between their respective representatives ceased therewith. The President calls attention to the note of the Spanish government conveying this information and says:

It will be perceived therefrom that the government of Spain treated the reasonable demands of this government as measures of hostility, following with that instant and complete severance of relations by its action, which by the usage of nations, accompanies an existent state of war between sovereign powers. The position of Spain being thus made known and the mands of the United States being de-nied, with a complete rupture of intercourse by the act of Spain, I have been constrained in the exercise of the pow-ers and authority conferred upon me the north coast of Cuba and of Cien Fuegos on the south coast of Cuba; and further, to issue my proclamation, calling for volunteers to carry into effect ne resolutions of congress. In view of the measures so taken, and with a view to the adoption of such other measures as may be necessary to enable me to carry out the expressed will of the congress in the premises, I now recommend the adoption of a joint resolution declaring that a state of war exists between the United States of America and the kingdom of Spain, and I urge speedy action to the end that the definition of the international status of the United States as a belligerent power may be made known and the assertion of all its rights and the maintenance of all its duties in the conduct of a public war may be assured.

The war bill reached the White House a few minutes before 6 o'clock. The White House was almost deserted at-the time, no one of the cabinet being with the President except Atty.-Gen. Griggs. The enrolled copy of the bill was laid before the President and he at once went over the phraseology with the attorney-general. The presidential signature was affixed at 6:18, and the bill was then the law of the land.

Secretary Sherman Resigns.

Secretary of State Sherman handed his resignation to the President at a call for volunteers, yet in states where special meeting of the cabinet. The there are no national guards or where secretary's resignation was tendered in a simple note asking that it take effect in the call, the states will be expected as soon as his successor shall have qualified. Mr. Sherman retires from publie life after a service of over 40 years, embracing the house of representatives, the senate, the secretaryship of the treasury and the secretaryship of state. The reason for the resignation is the condition of the secretary's health. The venerable statesman is now within a few days of 75 years of age.

The next secretary of state will be Wm. R. Day, who served as assistant secretary of state under Sherman. Mr. Day agreed to accept if nominated by the President and confirmed by the senate. He has had entire charge of Cuban affairs since the beginning of the present administration. John B. Moore, professor of international law at Columbia university, New York, will succeed Judge Day as assistant secretary.

Serious disturbances occurred at Mal-Brooke and his staff of the department aga and Valencia, Spain. At the former place a mob stoned the U. S. consulate, tore from the door the escutcheon bearing the arms of the U.S. and dragged it through the streets. The authorities later dispersed the mob and restored the escutcheon with humble apologies for the outrage. Pzzmier Sagasta also apologized to Minister Woodford.

A UNANIMOUS VOTE.

How a Poll for President Was Taken on a Canalboat.

"When I read of the polling of passengers a month or so ago on trains and boats running into and out of New York city to ascertain their preferences as to candidates for mayor," said a gentleman who has long been identified with transportation interests-and politics as well-according to the Boston Herald, "it reminds me of a story my father used to tell of the campaign of 1836. In those days there was still a great deal of traveling by canai, and some of the 'packets' on the Erie were fitted up almost as sumptuously, for the time, as the palatial cars seem now. A large party was coming east from Buffalo on one of these passenger boats, and as political feeling ran high there was much excited discussion over the respective merits of Van Buren, Harrison, White, Webster and Mangum. It was on one of those warm October days when the cabin was too torrid for occupancy, and all the passengers were assembled on the deck. The leaders in the informal political debate were a Democrat and a Whig, both fluent talkers and clever in argument, and pretty soon everybody on board gathered around to listen to them. Presently the Whig suggested that it would be a good idea to 'take the sense of the meeting," and the Democrat, after a quick look ahead, agreed. He obtained silence and announced: 'Gentlemen, we are about to take a vote for president of the United States. Are you ready?' 'Ready,' was the prompt answer on all sides. Just then the steersman called out the customary warning, 'Low bridge.' Here was the Democrat's opportunity, and he seized it. 'All those in favor of Martin Van Buren,' he shouted, 'stoop down! Contrary minded, stand erect! The boat at that moment reached the bridge and every man dropped as if he had been shot. 'It's a unanimous vote!' declared the triumphant partisan of the sage of the Kinderhook."

THE MOST FAVORABLE SEASON

To cure catarrh is in the spring. During the winter the patient is likely to take fresh cold and have a set-back. But if treatment is begun in the spring and continued into the summer, nothing need be feared for the succeeding winter. Of course, it all depends on catarrh medicines which relieve the most disagreeable symptoms temporarily. Per-u-na cures more slowly but also more permanently than this class of medicines. A course of Pe-ru-na during the spring will cure catarrh more quickly than at any other season. Mr. Walter H. Tucker. Concord, N. H., writes Dr. Hartman as follows: "When I began taking your medicines four years ago I was suffering with chronic catarrh. I had taken nearly two dozen bottles of a so-called catarrh cure without much relief. Pe-ru-na cured the can say it saved my life."

Dr. Hartman has published in book form a series of lectures on various phases of chronic catarrh, which he calls "Winter Catarrh." This book calls "Winter Catarrh." In the case of Grand Rapids vs. the Grand Rapids and Indiana Railway Company, reported in the 66 of Michi-gan at page 42, upon the petition of certain property owners, and a resolu-tion of the council, a part of Seward street was vacated and the defendant was permitted to use that part so vacated on condition that it build and maintain a certain passenger station, on condition that First street should not be continued across its railroad.

The city subsequently filed a petition to open First street, across the railroad laid on Seward street, at the time the latter was vacated by the city, and the defendant set up the contract made with the city whereby the city agreed never to open First street across the right of way granted it on Seward street. The trial judge held the con-tract invalid and the company appealed the case to the Supreme Court. discussing the rights of the company under the contract the court says: "The powers of a municipal corporation in respect to opening, improving, and coutrolling its streets are held in trust for the public benefit, and cannot be surrendered by contract to private persons, or to a corporation, by resolution of the common council, or in any other manner. If this could be done, there is no reason why the common council of any year may not, by contract, preclude the city for all future time from opening, widening, or extending any of its streets, or laying out new streets, no matter how great the new streets, no matter how great the public necessity may be therefor."

In the case of the Wabash Railroad Company vs. the city of Defiance, reported in volume 7 General Digest at page 774, the company crossed two streets at a grade eighteen feet below the grade of the street, where the same crossed the railway. The city council passed an ordinance permitting the railway to erect two bridges across its track, where the same crossed the two highways. The ordinance described in a general way the bridges to be constructed by the company, and provided for a side walk on each side of said bridges. The work to be done to the satisfaction of the city and the bridges were to be kept in repair by the composed by the ordinance were well and faithfully kept by the company.

The city subsequently changed the grade of the streets aforesaid, where they crossed the railway track, to the level of the railway, and so changing the approaches as to cause them to descend to the level of the road.

The railroad company filed a petition in the court of common pleas for Defiance county, Ohio, to enjoin the city of Defiance from proceeding with the improvement of the streets aforesaid, by which they would be so graded as to necessitate the removal of the bridges aforesaid and the approaches to the same. The court dismissed plaintiff's petition and it appealed to the Supreme court of the state of Ohio, where the decision of the lower court was affirmed. Plaintiff then appealed to the United States Supreme court and the case was affirmed by that court.

In delivering the opinion of the United States court Mr. Justice Brown united States court Mr. Justice Brown says: "It (the city) does not agree that the bridges and their approaches shall remain any particular length of time, or that it shall not make new requirements as the growth of the city may seem to suggest. The only contract as to time which could possibly be extracted from this ordinance would be that titled to maintain them in perpetuity. The result would be that, if the city forever in the way of any improvement of the streets. This proposition is clearly untenable. It is incredible, in view of the language of this ordinance, that "If it were possible that the city could make such a contract at all, it could only be done by express authority of the legislature and in language that would admit of no other interpretation. It is claimed that the construction of the sidewalks by the railroad company was a consideration, since it had been the duty of the city up to that time to keep them in repair; but it surely could not be a consideration for the perpetual at $3000 and $2000 respectively. maintenance of the bridges. "Indeed, the general principle that the legislative power of a city may con-trol and improve its streets, and that such power, when duly exercised by or-dinances, will override any license previously given by which the control of a certain street has been surrendered to any individual or corporation, is so well established, both by the cases in this court and in the courts of the several states, that a reference to the leading authorities upon the subject is sufficient. Indeed, the right of the city to improve its streets by regrading or otherwise is something so essential to its growth and prosperity that the comnon council can no more denude itself legislate for the health, safety and morals of its inhabitants."

The learned Judge then discusses, at great length a large number of cases sustaining the above both by the Su-preme Court and the courts of the several states, and among them, the Grand Rapids case, referred to above, in the 66 of Michigan, and continuing while, in 1887, overhead bridges might have seemed a better and safer plan of crossing the railway, than cross-ing at grade, the subsequent growth of the city may have demanded a different policy in 1893. It is hardly possible that the approaches required to reach an overhead bridge, which was 10 or 12 feet above the general level of the ground, should not have affected, to a ertain extent, the value of the adjoinng property as city lots; but whether this is true or not, it was purely within the discretion of the common council to letermine whether the public exigen cies required that the grade of the street be so changed as to cross the railroad at a level."

GLEN V. MILLS, City Clerk. INTERESTING EXPERIENCE

Of an Iowa Lady Who Was Cured of Dyspepsia After Suffering for Twenty-five Years.

Mrs. Sarah A. Skeels, an estimable lady residing at Lynnville, Jasper Co., Iowa, was for twenty-five years a sufferer from dyspepsia and her complete restoration to health is so remarkable that we present the facts in the case for the benefit of our readers, many of whom have dou tless suffered in the same manner and will, therefor, be interested in learning how all stomach troubles may be avoided and cured. Mrs. Skeels says: I used only one package of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and I received such great and unexpeated benefit that I wish to express my sincere gratitude. In fact it has been six months since I took the medicine and I have not had one particle of distress or difficulty since. And all this in the face of the fact that the best doctors I consulted told me my case was incurable as I had suffered for twenty-five years. I want half a dozen packages to distribute among my friends here who are very anxious to try this remedy. Truly yours,

Mrs. Sarah A. Skeels. The reason why Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are so successful in curing indigestion and stomach trouble and the reason why it never disappoints those who need it and use it because nothing ive on the right of the city to change is claimed for it except what it will actually perform. It is not a cure-all the tracks of the Michigan Central, and and no such claims are made for it. It also to open up State street. indigestion. There is scarcely a patent medicine made but what is claimed to cure dyspepsia as well as a hundred other troubles. When as a matter of fact a remedy to cure Dyspepsia must be prepared especially for that and nothing else; and among all the remedies, patent nostrums, bitters, etc., so extensively advertised you will find that Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the only one advertised as a cure for dyspepsia and nothing else. The remedy is prepared by the Stuart Co. of Marshall, Mich., and for sale by all druggists at 50c per package, and if you suffer from any form of stomach derangement or indigestion a trial will not disappoint you. MISSION METHODS CHANGING Reformed Church Takes a New Step with a Domestic Field Secretary. Changes in missionary methods are now being considered by many churches. One of the active missionary denominations is the Reformed church in America, for, although small in numbers and confined to the Atlantic seaboard, it has long carried on extensive mission work, for the Dutch, both in Holland and America, are liberal givers in church causes. Beginning with the current year Rev. William Walton Clark fills a new office of field secretary to the board of domestic missions. The new secretary is well known in connection with mission labor. He announces that he will spend his first year among the churches in the east, but may reach some of the Pacific coast churches late in the autumn. The purpose of the appointment is to keep the churches informed on the subject of missions. The day of the missionary periodical is gone by, it is said, for people will no longer read it. An eloquent voice and earnest heart are needed to go to the churches and their members and tell them how mission work progresses. In no other way can mission funds be kept up. Others besides the Reformed church are learning the lesson, and a few have acted upon it, notably the Evangelical associasufficiently well to act upon it. There is a crisis in missions. American Securities Abroad.

The sales of American securities have been, according to London advices, very large abroad of late, and there appears to be a tendency toward increase in the sales. If this state of things holds, there will be an increasing in-flux of British gold into this market. This is good news and demonstrates the faith abroad in the stability of our credit. There is another point of faith for which the people not only of this but foreign countries have grounds for credence, and that is countries have good lief in the efficacy of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters for inorganic maladies which affect the stomach, liver, bowels, kidneys and nerves. Dyspepsia, iousness, constipation, rheumatism, and a tendency to insomnia, are counteracted and conquered by it. NEW FRENCH MILITARY RIFLE.

Great European Powers Have Poores Weapons than Holland,

The national small arms factories have received orders to be ready at a moment's notice to begin the manufacturing of rifles of a new model, says the London Morning Post. Two new weapons have been tested by the chief officers of the Normal Firing School and have been found superior to the modified Lebel rifle now in use. Their ballistic qualities are, it appears, The publication of this item of intelligence is probably due to the announcement that the German infantry is to be rearmed with a new rifle of six millimeters caliber, far and away superior to the present weapon of 7.9 millimeters. It is not, however, believed in Paris that this change is likely to be made in the immediate future, as the cost would be enormous, but it is thought to be as well to show that attention is being paid to efficient armament on this side of the Rhine as well as on the other. When Germany begins manufacturing so will

The present French rifle is considered to be slightly superior to the present German one. The Lebel weighs 4 kilogrammes 180 grammes and throws a 15-gramme projectile 3,200 meters with an initial velocity of 638 meters per second. The cartridge contains 2.75 grammes of powder, the smoke from which is invisible at 200 The trajectory is nearly straight for the first 550 yards. The German weapon is of slightly smaller caliber (7.3 millimeters instead of millimeters). The rifling of the bar rel is not deep enough, which diminishes the precision and force of penetration. The useful range is not greater than that of the Lebel and the speed is only 620 meters per second.

Curiously enough it is not the great European powers which possess the best rifles, but Holland, Denmark and Norway. The two latter use the Krag-Jorgensen, which is a very superior weapon, though some authorities consider the caliber, 6.5 millimeters, too small. The projectile only weighs 10 grammes and is nickel plated. The Dutch weapon is a Mannlicher of great precision and long range. The inittial velocity of its bullet is the highest yet reached, being 740 meters per second.

Twas Ever Thus.

Many readers will feel a very unreasonable degree of sympathy with a bicyclist whose misadventure is thus described in the Washington Post, by a writer who received the story from the oculist mentioned: A man on a bicycle was scorching cheerily along the conduit road on his way to town, when suddenly there loomed up out of the darkness a heavy wagon headed straight for him. There was no time to turn out. The wheel crashed into the wagon pole, and the rider was thrown completely over the horses, falling between them and the wagon. The oculist ran to the rescue, expecting to see a mass of bleeding and unconscious humanity. Instead, he saw a kicking and angry person who was apparently uninjured. The bicycle was a Chinese puzzle of twisted wire.
"Are you hurt?" asked the oculist The angry person picked himself up and stopped swearing. He gazed at what had once been a fair young bicycle. "Hurt?" he said, in a tone of deepest disgust. "Hurt? Me? Of course I ain't hurt. I've got an accident poli-

He Couldn't Plow.

A certain incident connected with the great Napoleon, while he was in exile at Elba, is commemorated in the island, to this hour, by an inscription affixed to the wall of a peasant's house A man named Giaconi was plowing when the famous exile came along one day, and expressed an interest in his work. Napoleon even took the plowshare out of the man's hand, and attempted to guide it himself. But the oxen refused to obey him, overturned the plow and spoiled the furrow. The inscription runs thus: "Napoleon the Great, passing by this place in MDCCCXIV., took in the neighboring field a plow-share from the hands of a peasant and himself tried to plow, but the oxen, rebellious to those hands which yet had guided Europe, headlong fled from the furrow."

NIGHT IN A HAMMOCK.

Cleveland Man Did Not Understand How He Got a Wet Skin.

From the Cleveland Plain Dealer: People who want to irritate a wellknown east end man have only to say 'hammock" to him. He lives out in the extreme east end, where he owas a beautiful home, with handsome grounds. One night during last July, it was in the midst of that hottest spell, he declared he would sleep out of doors in the hammock. His wife tried to dissuade him, but it was impossible. He had determined to make an al fresco night of it. So he slung the hammock between his favorite trees, took his pillow, smoked a cigar or two and finally turned in. He was up early next morning, and a bright, clear morning it was, and reading the paper when his wife came down. There was a slightly malicious twinkle in her eye as she asked him how he slept. "Oh, wretchedly," he answered. "I rolled and tumbled for hours. Actually, it was so infernally hot that I was soaked with perspiration when I awoke this morning." "I don't wonder at that," said his wife, with a subdued chuckle, "for it rained half the night."

A Good Lesson.

An old citizen of Cleveland is quoted by the Plain Dealer as making some sensible observations about the uncleanly habit which too many people have of throwing scraps of paper into the streets. The great trouble on the down-town streets is the distribution of cheap circulars. A man takes one from a persistent hander-out, glances at it, and throws it into the gutter. A hundred of these circulars will make a highway look like the morning after the Fourth of July. I think there is altogether too much latitude in all our street regulations. I was in Paris a year ago, and one day while passing down a certain thoroughfare I happened to put my hand into my pocket, and drew forth some sort of handbill. It was of no use to me, and doubling it over, I tore it in two pieces. Doubling these together I tore them again. Then I dropped the eight bits of paper in the roadway. A moment later a man in uniform came across the street and faced me. I saw he was a policeman. He touched his hat, and then pointed to the litter. "Monsieur," he said, and rattled off a lot of lingo that I couldn't understand. I mustered up a few French words for the purpose of finding out what he meant. It was no use. He pointed at the bits of paper again, and jabbered for dear life. He shrugged his shoulders and patted his hands together, and made a motion as if diving toward the litter. I handed him my card, but he bowed, shook his head, and refused it. Then I endeavored to pass him, but he barred the way. About that time I saw what he meant. He wanted me to pick up the bits of paper. At first I thought would refuse, but I didn't care to get into trouble over a trifle, and the policeman looked decidedly serious. So I stooped over the curb and picked up the eight bits of paper and dropped them into my pocket. Whereupon he bowed and smiled and passed along.

The Apple Dumpling.

Apple-dumpling day was a red one in my boy's calendar. When I had such a dainty bit in my bag it seldom stayed there many minutes. Although I had dispatched a hearty breakfast before starting, out would come the dumpling. "Just to have a look at it and see if it is as big as mother generally makes them," I would say to myself. Then I would turn it about and admire its size. From handling the dainty to tasting it was a sure process. "I'll have one little bite, only a nibble," I would say. When I had got my tooth into that dumpling Adam with his apple wasn't in it; it was a case of once bitten soon gone. Then I would hurry on to make up for my dawdling, with only the hunch of barley bread in my wallet, the joys of the and vigor. dumpling behind me, and before me the day's drudgery, with perhaps a thrashing thrown in .- Joseph Arch; the Story of His Life.

A Curlous Forest.
The most extraordinary forest in the world is one discovered by Dr. Welwitsch, which occupies a tableland some six miles broad, at a height of 300 feet or 400 feet above the sea, near the west coast of Africa. The trunks of the trees of this peculiar forest are four feet in diameter, and yet they only attain a height of one foot, giving the tree the appearance of a round table. There are never more than two leaves, which attain a length of six feet and a breadth of two feet, the flowers forming crimson clusters.

Readers of Rubbish.

If the works of high-class writers are upon the shelves of those who make a practice of reading rubbish, those works remain unlooked at, while the low novel is sought with keen anxiety, and time is occupied in its perusal always at the expense of the intellect, and often to the neglect of duties of vast importance. People pay visits to libraries, procure books, and spend hours daily in reading, and often speak of it with apparent pride, but, as a rule, they only read what may be called pastimes. Such readers are consequently never in any way improved by their reading, though well up in the details of imagined murders and acts of immorality, which authors have put before them to amuse and gratify their shallow minds. Demoralizing literature does not find its patrons in any one class of society; on the contrary, such is read by the lady in the drawing room as well as by the domestic servant in the kitchen; by the man of good position down to the office boy, who has often been induced to become a thief or a forger in consequence of examples set before him in works of fiction.-Westminster Review.

How the Brahman Cleans His Teeth. When the Brahman cleans his teeth he must use a small twig cut from one of a number of certain trees, and before he cuts it he must make his act known to the gods of the woods. He must not indulge in this cleanly habit every day. He must abstain on the 6th, the 8th, the 9th, the 14th, the 15th and the last day of the moon, on the days of new and full moon, on the Tuesday in every week, on the day of the constellation under which he was born, on the day of the week and on the day of the month which correspond with those of his birth, at an eclipse, at the conjunction of the planets, and also equinoxes and other unlucky epochs, and also on the anniversary of the death of his father or mother. Any one who cleans his teeth with his bit of stick on any of the above-mentioned days will have hell as his portion.—"Hindu Manners," by Abbe Dubois.

The man who stands idly by and sees the life fading out of his wife's face, sees her health going, sees her becom-ing old and faded and wrinkled when she should still be in the perfect evjoyment of vigorous, useful health, is either less than a man or else does not know of the one remedy which will bring her back to health and strength. The statement that there is a cure for Rheumatism will be read with incredulity by the majority of people. However, it is a fact which we can preve. Rheumatism is a disease of the blood, and until that is thoroughly cleaned no one once affected with the disease can hope for replief. The remedy we effert is not a new discovery, but it has never been placed on the market in medicinal form. We know from personal observation that it has effected a permanent cure whenever tried and this is what suggested the idea of offering it to sufferers from rheumatism. The Sure Cure Rheumati Tablets are a purely vegetable compound. They are warranted to cure the worst cases of rheumatism. Price, 80 cents a box. Schopenhauer's mother, Joana. was a singular woman, with whom he was perpetually at war. She was lively, he was grim. She was a sentimentalist, he detested sentiment. She was deand, with an almost savage moroseness poured scorn on the round of "at homes" and aesthetic tea parties. Both were selfish and quarrelsome. We may judge, therefore, that Schopenhauer took his notions of women partly from his mother. It goes without saying extreme, yet not withous some aspects of truth. The "new woman" would rave at his satire on her pretensions; and yet it would do her good to read what Schopenhauer has to say with as much calmness as she can command.
