FOR A WOMAN PROFESSORSHIP AT ANNARBOR.

MUST NOT TEACH ATHLETICS

MUST HAVE $25000 MORE TO GO WITH IT.

Accept The Donation

At the meeting of the Board of Regents this week a letter was read from a ten thousand dollars to be used when superintendent. $25,000 more has been raised to go with it, for the endowment of a chair in the University to be filled by some woman of acknowledged ability. The only restriction placed upon the gift THAN THE GREEDY STOVE TRUST. was that the said lady professor should not teach athletics. It is reported that the Regents will not be otherwise restricted in their selection of a subject which the lady professor may teach. The Regents have de cided to accept the gift.

Washington, April 24.-In spite of Secretary Alger's peremptory instructions to Gen. Young last Friday, arrangements were not finally made until today for the muster out of the Thirtyfirst Michigan at Savannah. Gen. Young was disposed to insist that the regiment be sent to Augusta and failed to acknowledge the receipt of Secretary Alger's instsuctions to follow the uggestions of Col. Gardener. Today a telegram was received, signed by Maj. Harrah and Capts. Henderson, Baxter and others to this effect:

"It is the unanimous desire of the men of the Thirty-first Micnigan to be mustered out in Savannah. Having come from the warm climate of Cuba, all believe that we should camp as far south as possible before muster out.

After reading this communication Secretary Aiger promptly telegraphed Gen. Young in forcible language to make immediate arrangements for the Atty. Lehman objected to any of the proceedings for two reasons. First, because the petition was sworn to before John P. Kirk, who is one of the attorneys. Second, because the petition was premature. He said, the order allowing the accounts was not final until the 60 days had elapsed in which they could appeal from the allowance. "It is our intention to appeal," said he, and these accounts may be reduced in the circuit court. It is not to be presumed that they are final until the 60 days expires. There fare many items which are not right and we want them reviewed in the circuit court."

Judge Babbitt: "This order stands as a valid judgment and we don't have to wait for 60 days to vallidate it. As for the other objection, I do not believe of somebody else, and, knocking it out that the petition has to be sworn to anyway.'

Mr. Lehman: "There is plenty of time. Suppose in the circuit court the accounts are reduced one-half. After We?'

Judge Newkirk dismissed the petition on the objections and the attorneys for the administrator gave notice that they would file another petition.

THAT SETTLED SUIT AGAINST E. V. HANGSTERFER.

Was Settled After Trial Bad Begun-Hangsterfer Pays $150 and the Suit Was Dropped.

The case of Fred Kuebler vs. E. V. Hangsterfer for $10,000 damages came to a sudden termination last Friday afternoon, while the plaintiff was on the stand and in the midst of his crossexamination

It was settled on the payment of $150. The claim of the plaintiff was that he was working for Mr. Hangsterfer a year ago in helping fill his ice house. His duties were to keep the ice from getting clogged up in the shute. While using his pike pole a large chunk fell on it through the negligence from under his weight, caused him to fall over. He dropped for a distance of 12 feet and sustaindd a broken leg.

The claim of the defendant was that Kuebler was leaning on his pike pole the money is gone what remedy have and was turning around to watch the skaters when the chunk fell on his pike pole. That if he had been paying attention to his business the accident would not have happened. That after the accident Kuebler acknowledged to Dr. Kapp and three others Matthew Roser, whose case came to that there was nobody to blame but

VERDICT FOR $150.

That Was the Verdict in Case of Green vs. Coyle.

A jury, two-thirds of whom were farmers employing farm hands, after nearly four hours of deliberation last Monday night, returned a verdict for $150 dollars in favor of the plaintiff, Joseph Green, and against the defendant, John Coyle.

In the opinion of those who heard the case, Coyle beat himself in the crossexamination. His direct examination brought out the statement that Green, the farm hand, was coming towards him with clenched fists and that in order to keep from being struck he smashed Green over the head with the pitchfork. When attorney Lehman took him in hand on cross-examination, Coyle said that Green always appeared more like a coward than a fighter, and gave an instance how once the latter broke down and cried when scolded about some work. Then, again, he demonstrated with Mr. Lehman that Green stood partly with his back the pitchfork. The jury went out, and on the very irst ballot stood 9 for the plaintiff and M. Brenner..... for the defendant. A doxen more ballots were taken before it was agreed that Green should have some damages. One juror thought he ought to have $500. The lowest man said $100. Finally the compromise verdict of $150 was reached.

There is a well known maxim of American politics which has been in-corporated into a party's creed which reads as follows:

"Economy in the Public Expense, that Labor may be lightly burdened. I am sure that your honorable body in which it has been my honor to serve as presiding officer for the past two years will readily concede that I have endeavored heretofore to square my actions in public affairs by this sure test of their merits. The broader re-sponsibilities of the office of Mayor and the incessant pressure for lavish outlay in the public expense will not change my previous convictions nor affect my determination, so far as lies in my power, to administer the affairs tion to enter largely into the consider-of this city in a spirit of just and ation of the departmental work of the prudent economy, to lighten the bur-den of taxation, and to secure a fair equivalant for every dollar of the peotheir civic comfort, convenience and security.

There are nevertheless many items of expense which in the aggregate may appear unnecessarily large but which have become necessary to complete the system of public improvements up-on which the City has entered. Thus for instance the system of paving once having been begun has so demonstrahaving been begun has so demonstra-ted its utility and excellence that there is a just and proper demand for its extension. The paving of Washing-ton street, is now in contemplation, ought to be brought to speeding con-pletion and I respectfully urge upon the proper authorities such prompt and efficient methods as will quickly place this important thoroughfare in place this important thoroughfare in condition for use as one of the paved streets of the City. I would be glad to recommend the extension of the pres-ent system of paving also to Huron, Liberty and State streets but I am in-formed that the house connections with the City sewerage system have not yet been entirely completed up-on these important streats and L sholl on these important streets and I shall therefore defer my recommendation until these connections have been made, as it would be poor economy to disturb the pavement for such purposes as the laying of tile etc., after the paving is done. It is to be hoped that the citizens interested will make the above noted connections at an early date, so that by another year, at least will appear old in these beautiful streets may be added failing remedy is, to the paved districts of our City. Many women suffer untold agony and misery because the nature of their disease is not correctly understood. They have been led to believe that womb trouble or female weakness of some sort is responsible for the many ills that beset womankind.

WOMEN SHOULD KNOW IT.

Neuralgia, nervousness, headache ouffy or dark circles under the eyes, rheumatism, a dragging pain or dull ache in the back, weakness or bearingdown sensation, profuse or scanty supply or urine with strong odor, frequent lesire to pass it with scalding or burning sensation, sediment in it after standing in bottle or common glass for twenty-four hours, are signs of kidney and bladder trouble.

The above symptoms are often at-tributed by the patient herself or by her physician to female weakness or womb trouble. Hence, so many fail to obtain relief, because they are treating, not the disease itself, but a reflection of the primary cause, which is kidney trouble In fact, women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and blad-der trouble and both need the same remedy.

READ! MARK! LEARN! Some pertinent questions that can be answered with one reply. Why is it that Ann Arbor with its suburbs, with a combined population of 12,000 there is only one medicinal preparation which gives statements from residents to back up its repre-sentations. Why is it that Doan's Kidney Pills do this in Ann Arbor, as well as every other city and town of any importance in the Union? Why is it that there are advertised in every newspaper a dozen remedies and only one can supply local proof, local indorsation of its claims? The solution of the problem is simple. Only one remedy has the curing and the staying power. Other remedies make all kinds of gigantic yet futile efforts to get local proof, but the attempt ends in producing a statement or two from places that as far as Ann Arbor is concerned might as well be in the moon. Here is Ann Arbor proof which backs up the merits of Doan's Kidney Pills. Mr. F. Wolter, of 1103 Forest Ave., arpenter, says: "Within the last two weakness of the kidneys and a loss of control over the secretions. At times when my work necessitated my looking up or working over my head, I was taken with spells of dizziness. I tried different remedies but they did not give me any relief. When a friend advised me to use Doan's Kidney Pills, I got a box at Eberbach & Son's drugt store and began to use them. I fel better from the start and they did m^e more good than all the other medicine lever took. Burned at the Stake.

In the presence of nearly 2,000 peo ple who sent aloft yells of defiance and shouts of joy, Sam Hose, a Negro, who committed two of the basest acts known to crime, was burned at the stake in a public road 11/2 miles from Newnan, Ga. Before the torch was applied to the pyre the Negro was deprived of his ears, fingers and other portions of his anatomy. Before the body was cool it was cut to pleces, the bones were crushed into small bits and even the tree upon which the wretch met his fate was torn up and disposed of as souvenirs. The Negro's heart was cut in several pieces, as was also his liver. Those unable to obtain the ghastly relics direct paid their more fortunate possessors extravagant sums for them. Small pieces went for 25 cents and a bit of the liver orisply cooked sold for 10 cents.

Later-Two other Negroes, supposed to be connected with Hose, have since been lynched.

MAYOR LUICK seems to think that several years' service as city official without pay should entitle him to the privilege of appointing his sour city treasurer. So far as it is a mere matter of right there may possibly be no objection to such a move. From the point of view of good politics, there Mayor Luick probably will never want anything further in a political line he can afford to let the politi sians kick.

LAST week the bill to give the University a one fourth of a mill tax instead of one-sixth of a mill, which it now receives, passed she senate by a good majority and with few speeches against it. The ease with which it passed the senate was a surprise even to its friends. Whether it will pass the house remains to be seen. It is sincerely to be hoped that it may. With a one-fourth of a mill tax the University would be in a position to keep abreast of the times and compete with the other great universities in the west which are of late making long forward strides.

THE horrible murder by burning of the miserable negro wretch at Palmetto, Ga., last Sunday and the hanging of another negro Monday is simply another confirmation of the deplorable state of affairs in the south. That the Southern people have no confidence in their own courts is clearly evident. That they have no control over their brutal instincts is also clearly shown. With such horrible crimes as that committed by the victim, Sam. Hose, with ineffectual courts and with a people who seemingly make no effort of Detroit on the taxpayers for the to control the brutal element in their natures, we may expect to have con- city yesterday. tinued repititions of just such savage. day without a particle of evidence that having his share of it.

Fake Spiritualist Convicted of Murder. It took a Detroit jury exactly 10 hours before they reached a verdict 1897, which was the largest previously that convicted Edward Ascher, the fake spiritualist, of the murder of Valmore C. Nichol, a Pittsfield farmer, on Belle Isle, Aug. 10 last. The murderer showed no evidence of fear or nervousness when his fate was announced, which convicted him of murder in the first degree. Even had Asher been acquitted he would still be lodged in a cell, as another warrant was waiting him, charging him with defrauding poor, simple old Kuprion, of Louisville, out of $60 by his fake methods.

Ascher was given a life sentence in Jackson.

A Cowardly Act.

The other evening the citizens south of Millington were aroused from their sleep by the explosion of a dynamite stick, placed under the front part of the residence of Mr. Davison a respected farmer. Mr. Davison and his family had retired for the evening and never knew that they had an enemy who intended their destruction. It is reported that the farm now occupied by Mr. Davison was purchased by him through a mortgage sale and some bitter feeling was aroused at the time of the sale. The front veranda was blown away and the house shattered somewhat from its foundations, the damage amounting to $500.

WAR NOTES,

There have been 20 deaths from tybhoid fever among the members of the Sth U. S. cavalry, stationed at the city of Puerto Principe, and 103 cases all told are reported. The persistence of the disease cannot be explained. The camp is pitched on sloping ground, about three miles from the town and the tent floors are fully 36 inches above the ground. The water is taken from a creek that flows through the camp, but none of it is used until it has been filtered and boiled. All camp refuse is cremated each day. The tent floors are displaced once every 24 hours and the sites exposed to the sun and disinfected with lime. On the other slope of the ridge the 15th U. S. infantry is encamped, and they have not a single case of typhoid.

Mrs. Augell Says They Have a Hard Time.

While Mrs. James B. Angell was in Saginaw last week she was given a reception at the Congregational church. On this occasion Mrs. Angell was called upon to give a talk upon the condi tions and customs of Turkish women. Concerning her talk the Saginaw News avs:

Mrs. Angell disclaimed any pretense of lecturing and said that she came to Saginaw with the expectation of holding a missionary meeting only and had not expected to speak formally. The nformal talk which she gave, however, with its descriptions of life in the Sultan's realm as seen from the vantage ground of diplomatic circles, was delightful. She told incidents of the massacres and spoke of the causes of the terrible bloodshed, giving interesting statements concerning the religious dissensions among the people She did not laud the Armenians but gave them a share of the blame for the massacres, which resulted as much from their unfair dealings and misrepresentations as from the corruptness and ferocity of the Turks. Both parties were to blame. Mrs. Angell's lescription of court scenes brought vividly before her hearers a brilliant spectacle and her tale of the woes of ithe Turkish women was indeed touch of them ambitious, brainy and ener-getic; the other sick, listless, peevish and without force. The weak man weighs the other one down. The despeptic may be able to do pretty good work one day, and the next day because of some little indiscretion in eating, he may be able to do nothing at all. Most cases of dyspepsia start with consti-pation. Constipation is the cause of nine-tenths of all human sickness Some of its symptoms are sick and bilious headache, dizziness, sour stomach, loss of appetite, foul breath, windy belchings, heartburn, pain and distress after eating. All these are indicative of derangements of liver, stomach and bowels, and all are caused by constipation. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the quickest easiest and most certain cure for this condition. They are not violent in action.

CELLARS.

One bright spring day I called at a large farm house standing on a beautiful green slope amid surroundings the most peaceful and apparently most beautiful.

But for some strange reason the family were always ill. As the front door was opened to admit me I was greeted with a strange moldy odor which seemed to penetrate the whole house and which I observed during my stay was increased every time the cellar door was opened. At length I decided to visit the subterranean regions and see for myself what were the conditions existing.

I found here an accumulation of old boxes and barrels, bins of sprouting potatoes and decaying vegetables. A pile of moldy boots and shoes filled one corner and mold grew from the walls and under the stairs. The walls were green and slimy and altogether the place was unwholesome and charnellike as a cemetery yault.

On one side was a row of shelves and on these a display of uncovered wellfilled milk pans. In the farther corner stood a churn and on a heap of rags near by lay the large dog whose duty it was to do the churning and who in return was favored with so luxurious a resting place.

The odors that filled the house were fully accounted for and had the family been well it would have been much harder to understand than that they were ill.

This cellar may be an exaggeration of the general conditions of cellars and yet it is only an intensified picture of what exists everywhere. Cellars, unless they can be kept absolutely clean are a menace to health. The foul air generated there passes upward and spreads itself through the whole house and poisons the inmatas,

Now is the time of year when the cellar should have a thorough overhauling. All decaying or moldly substances should be removed and destroyed. Even wet wood or coal is shoes, or other articles of cloth or appartments. eather should never be stored in the cellar. STATE LEGISLATURE, Thesenate held an evening session the other night and passed two very important bills, the one establishing a normal school at Marquette, appropriother the "barbers' bill," for a state without any trouble or opposition and the long cherished ambition of the upper peninsula people will at last be realized as soon as Gov. Pingree signs the measure. The barbers' bill was opposed by Senator Sheldon and others on the general ground that too many state boards are being created. Giddings defended it, and it went through with none but unimportant amendments except one that no barber shall be given a license who is addicted to the use of liquor to excess.

The house in committee of the whole, ground out several important bills. Two of Eikhoff's abor bills were acted on favorably, one providing that buildings in course of construct tion shall be equipped with adequate closet facilities for the workmen, and the other relative to contract labor in prisons. Aldrich's bill prohibiting persons affected with certain private diseases from marrying was agreed to. purifying influence of the sun and air for at least twenty-four hours.

When I was in Germany I learned much to my surprise that the wealthy people often had a washing done but once a year, while the poorer people had so few garments that they were obliged to have washing done as often as every three months.

"Why" said she, "the Americans must be very poor or very dirty that they must have washing done so often.' I did not argue the matter with her. I was quite willing to suffer imputation of both poverty and uncleanliness, knowing that our houses are not filled with soiled clothing accumulating week after week but the weekly "wash" indicates purer air in the dwelling and better health for the inmates.

cian shall tell what he knows. Gov. Pingree has sent to the senate the nominations of G. W. Bement, of Lansing, as a member of the board of control of the school for the blind at Lansing, and Charles Euth, as judge of the court of mediation and arbitration, the former for six years and the latter for three years. Wm. D. Mahon of Detroit, who was recently nominated by the governor for the latter place, declined because of lack of time to give it.

In the police and justice courts of Detroit one day each week is set apart for jury trials, and the pay of the jurors is $1 per day. The result is that it is a hard mather to get good jurors. Rep. Elkhoff secured the passage of two bills in the house raising the pay of the jurors to $2.50 per day, and as the delegation is unanimous for the measures they will undoubtedly become laws.

The coroners of Wayne county ill be happy individuals in the course da few days when Gov. Pingree signs the bill raising their salaries from $1,200 to $2,000. The bill has passed the senate and was given immediate effect by both houses, and will become a law as soon as signed.

Gov. Pingree told "Billy French that if any bill passes to disp sses the St. Clair Flat property owners, he would veto it. He also said that the man who urges the passage of such a bill will find himself a political corpse. If the amendment to the constitution providing for an intermediate court fails of passage, a bill may be passed by the legislature providing for an additional supreme court judge, thus relieving the pressure somewhat.

CHELSEA STANDARD.

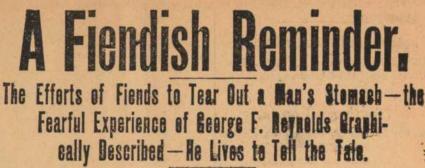

The motion to set aside the decree of divorce in the case of Alice Freer vs. Nelson Freer, which was granted recently, was taken up in the circuit court Mooday. The judge said that he had very decided views about this case, and that if Mr. Freer would listen to him he would he would not want it tried again. But if Freer would pay $10 before next Monday, he would set aside the decree and call for a hearing at the next term of court.

THE CROSS OF LILIES.

"You shall not go-I would rather see you dead at my feet." "I shall go, father-some day." And so she went out of his life.

He was an old Puritan-grim, ascetic, dead to all pleasure and amusement.

There were but three things for him: His Bible, his sword, and his daugh- the terrible voice. "Ye shall have it ter. He had laid aside his sword, for he was growing old; but the book was always by him, and he loved to interpret it in his own harsh fashion. And then his daughter-but she had gone.

She was young and beautiful, panting for all that makes life sweet and grateful-for love, triumph, for the applause of thousands. She had resolved to be an actress and to have them all. She was stifled in that ugly, square house in Scotland. The dull, unend ing moors overwhelmed her. The cold gray stones of her home crushed out all her life. She longed for the glare of some great city. So one day she disappeared, and James Gordon was eft alone with his Bible.

He uttered no reproach, but his grim mouth seemed to close more firmly while the lines grew deeper on his rugged face. The neighbors were dis appointed at his apathy. They mentioned his daughter's name to him in the hope of arousing some emotion or torrent of abuse. But he merely half rose from his chair and looked at them. They were silent and left him. So a year passed away, and he began to row weary of sky and moor. He sat ll day in his oaken chair with his and on the Bible. Ruth Gordon's name was on ever me's lipe in London. Her beatuy had brought her all she ever dreamed, more than she could ever have hoped. It was the last night of the burlesque wherein she made herself famous. The ocuse was crowded and she excelled herself in every song and dance. At the close of the piece the stage was covered with bouquets from admirers -from men she knew and men who wished to be known to her. She stood amid a bank of flowers and bowed to the thunders of applause. She was a queen, for that night, at least:

Then, when the curtain had gone down for the last time she picked up one or two of the offerings and went off the stage to the dressing-room. One she held in her hand had attracted her by its uncommon shape and condition. It was a half-faded cross of white illies. She threw it contemptuously on her table and pressed the other-the gift of a young Earl-to her lips.

"Who dared send me that shabby thing?" she said to her dresser, and then picked it up, from sheer curiosity to see the name of the man who had entured to offer it. She dropped and uttered a cry of surprised pleas ure, then picked it up again and kissed it passionately. The label read:

clutching hold of the girl she tried to drag her from the room. Ruth shook off her feeble hold and turned upon her like a tigress. "Where is he? What have you done to him?" she cried. The old woman monned to herself then crawled to the window. There was a distant view of the kirkyard on the side of the purple hill. The setting sun fell on the white stones and they glittered like stars She pointed ber skinny finger in silence and then crosked: "Yonder, yonder, yonder."

The girl looked out, straining her eyes to see the beloved form. When the white stones flashed on her sight the awful truth began to dawn on her "Yonder," she muttered, almost un consciously. Then she broke into a wild laugh, and flung herself into a chair. She read the marked passage and laughed again, still more wildly.

"So I killed him, Jeannie; I killed him. and he-how much did he pay you, Jeannie, to do this thing? All his wealth? It was not too much for a deed like this."

"Stay, missie, stay,' she whined, put ting her fingers to her ears to shut out a'. I am auld, and the money-l couldna' help it."

"Keep it; it's accursed. I would not touch if if I were starving. But the cross, woman, the cross, the cross of lilles?"

"It was his orders," she whimpered. "It was-O, the puir bairn, the puir bairn.'

"It was what?" the girl said hoarse ly, rising from the chair and gripping the old woman by the arm. "Speak you old hag speak."

"It was from his grave."-Black and White,

How Ve Spend Our Time.

A man with a taste for figures has been apportioning the life of a man who lives seventy years. He finds of that time a man spends nearly 26 years in bed, nearly 12 years each in work and play, nearly six years in eating and drinking, six years in walking about, nearly three years in dressing, one year and five months in illness, the same in reflection, in gossip, and an equal amount of time 18 wasted.

There is about one hour a day which is wasted or given over to odds and ends and small duties. The mere act of putting on one's shoes is not considered worth mentioning, yet in his lifetime a man of 70 spends five minutes a day, thirty hours a year, or more than twelve weeks of a lifetime. Who would want seriously to sit down and do nothing every minute for three months but put on and take off his shoes?

Until one analyzes his day he will have no idea of the amount of time spent in locomotion, in getting from one place to another. Two hours a day is a conservative estimate of the time used this way. If a person spends but an hour each day on his toilet in 70 years he will have devoted three years to this duty. And as for women, one hour is entirely too short a time to allow them. Three is nearer right.

Large Noses at a Premium.

The Italians consider a large nose desirable and beautiful. Recently there have been two competitions in which noses have played the leading part. One at Padua was held by the students and prizes of pocket handkerchiefs and snuff boxes were awarded for "noses the most pr respectable." At Milan a more important competition was held, the competitors numbering thirty-six. The first prize, a gold medal, was won by a Venetian, whose nose was found to be "of formidable proportions, long, well pronounced, aggressive, trenchant like a knife blade." The second prize, an enameled medal, went to the man who owned a nose "domineering, assuming, with nostrils wide and cavernous." The third medal went to a man whose nose was "refined and symmetrical," whi : the last two medals were awarded for a nose "without pretension, ingenuous, but solid and well-planted," and another "considerable, regular and worthy of respect."

"To my daughter: Come home. am angry no more." Truly it was the happiest day of her life-a triumph and reconciliation.

She left for Scotland that night. How slowly the train crawled on through the darkness! She could not sleep and she watched the lighted towns go by one by one until the dawn, Then the train dashed through the misty wilds of Cumberland, past streams and heather and moors, and at last she was in her own land, flying through the Scots Lowlands, thundering across the great Forth bridge, and its rival that spans the broad waters of the Tay. She drew near her home and the scenery became more familiar; every spot she passed was bright with memories of childhood. The train slowed down and stopped. She got out, left her luggage at the station, and walked towards her home. In ten minutes she had reached the house. It looked more cold and gray than ever after the brilliancy of London. She hammered at the door, waited for a minute or two, and then struck it again. Presently shuffling footsteps sounded in the hall, the door opened slowly, and Jeannie, the old servant, confronted her. She threw herself on the old woman's neck and kissed her withered cheeks.

"My father," she cried. "Is he well? O, I am so happy, Jeannie." And she tried to pass her, but the old woman stood in the way, the tears rolling down her face.

The girl shivered in her rich sables and stepped back.

"Jeannie, Jeannie, what is it? Let me by," she cried, and, pushing her aside, she rushed into the dark diningroom where her father was wont to Book of Ruth. One passage was marked with a blue pencil. It was the verse beginning: "Entreat me not to leave thee." The blue pencil had dropped to the floor. dropped to the floor.

Jeannie had followed her into the room with tottering steps. "Where is my father, Jeannie?

Does he not expect me?" "Come away; he is not here."

"Not here?" "He is not here, I tell ye," shrieked

the old woman. "Come awa'," and Hawaiian National Dish.

If you go to Hawaii you must eat pol, the national dish. On it the Hawaiians thrive, and as they are a healthy, muscular and plump people, the argument in favor of the dish is unanswerable. From the root of the taro plant, which is much like the beet, poi is made. The roots are baked, pounded, mixed with water to a paste and then allowed to ferment. That is all there is to it.

Most persons would prefer to eat poi with a spoon, but the custom in Hawaii is to eat it with the fingers, and very daintily this is done. The jelly-like stuff adheres to the fingers and a slight shake sends it into the open and upturned mouth of the eater. The Hawaiians think roast dog about as nice as anything, but have been induced in some instances to substitute roast pig.

His Name Baffled the Judge.

A good story is told of Rev. Ottiwell Wood, a celebrated English preacher. Mr. Wood had to appear as a witness in a north country assize court, and sit. The oaken chair was empty, but was asked and gave his name in due the Bible lay on the table-open at the course. "What?" asked the judge Mr. Wood repeated the answer. "Can't hear you; spell it out," snapped the judge. "O double T, I, double U, E, double L, double U, double O, D." The judge threw down his pen in despair. This is even a more remarkable name than that of the late admiral W. W. Wood, which the cadets at the Annapolis naval academy, when he was an instructor in mathematics there, always wrote "W. cube, O, square, D," -Buffalo Commercial.
