Death of an old Resident of Ypsilanti Town

Years.

About eighty of the near friends and relatives assembled this alternoon at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Owen to witness the ceremony which made their daughter, Metta M., the bride of Elmer Stofflett, one of Ann Arbor's promising young men.

After the ceremony, Mr. Stofflett, father of the groom, rose and, in a few short sentences, thanked the bride's parents for the gift of their pretty daughter whom they already love as their own, and said it would be their endeavor to keep her as pure and sweet as she came to them this day in her robes of white. After congratulations had been showered on the happy couple, refreshments Mr. and Mrs. Stofflet left on the afternoon train for a short trip to Cleveland and other points expecting to begin housekeeping in their new home in Ann Arbor in a couple of weeks.

Presents, beautiful and in profusion, marked the esteem in which they are held. China, silver and table linen, dining table and chairs were but a few of the gifts. Everything that taste and ingenuity could suggest was there and not least by any means a check for $25 from the groom's father. In closing we can only say that we congratulate Ann Arbor in this addition to its social circle even though we mourn our loss from our town.

Among the guests from away were: Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Bovee, of Hudson; Mr. and Mrs. Stofflett, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Stofflett, Mr. and Mrs. Cook, Mr. and Mrs. Rose, Miss Rena Stofflett. Mrs. E. Fogerty, Miss Mary Blades and

JOHN STEEB JR.

Lost Both Arms 20 Years Ago-Was Well Liked by All.

John Steeb, Jr., born in Wurtemburg December 4, 1854, died in Ann Arbor September 21, 1899.

Mr. Steeb came to Ann Arbor with his parents in 1867. He was an expert machinist and always had plenty to do. While working on the machinery in the Cornwell Bros.' woolen mills at Delhi, in 1879, he had the misfortune the wheels. They were literally jerked from their sockets. Strange to say, he survived the accident but was henceforth helpless as far as the use of those members was concerned. His parents, his sister, Christine, and brothers, Michael and George, survive him. The funeral was held Saturday at 2 o'clock from his parents' home; from the Bethlehem Evangelical church at 2:30.

The Horrors of the Wreck of the Scotsman Are Greatly Increased by Fiendish Acts of Crew.

Montreal, Canada, Sept. 29.-The steamer Scotsman of the Dominion line, which sailed from Liverpool on Sept. 14, and was several days overdue, lies a wreck, hard and fast, on the rocks in the Straits of Belle Isle. at the entrance to the Gulf of St. Lawrence.

The steamer carried eighty-eight first-class, 100 second-class, and eighty steerage, passengers, making a total passenger list of 268.

Rimouski, Que., Sept. 30 .- The story of the wreck of the Scotsman, which went on the rocks off Change Island, in the Straits of Belle Island, early in the morning of Sept. 21, as told today by passengers brought here on the steamer Montford, involves the plunder and maltreatment of helpless and panic-stricken women by a drunken crew, and the drowning of thirteen people, if not more, whilst disembarking from the steamer in a boat from which the plug was missing, and and which sank almost immediately on being lowered. Of the surviving passengers of the Scotsman 249 were brought here by the Montfort. Nine more, with fortyfive of the crew, were taken off by the Monterey and delivered to the Grecian, which is bringing them here also. The remaining fifty-six are on the Monterey, on the way to Liverpool. Members of the crew who are now on the Germanica will be arrested as soon as that vessel touches at a British port.

WHY THE PAPER DIED. It Was Too Good to Live in This Bad

Old World.

There is a French story-of Louis Blanc, who, as the world knows, was the most uncompromising man in the world, and the most conscientious. He spent about half his life in prison because he would say what he thought was right, regardless of consequences to himself. In one of the brief intervals when he was out of prison, and when his popularity ran high, a paper, "l'Homme Libre," was started for him. He was made the sole responsible head of it. One day he took the paper up as soon as it came out, and his eye happened to fall on a conspicuous advertisement, which read thus:

"The best pills are X---'s pills."

Blanc called his secretaire de la redaction, who was as near to being a business manager as the paper had, showed him the "ad." and said to him:

"Don't you think we are taking a good deal on ourselves in making that statement?"

"Why, what do you mean, sir?" the man asked, puzzled.

"How do you know that X---'s pills are better than anybody else's pills?" demanded Blanc. "Have you taken all?" "No. sir."

"Then what justification have we in attempting to guarantee the superiority of one kind of pills?"

"But it's an advertisement, and all papers do the same." What all papers do is no guide to us. Let us make no statement that we are not perfectly sure of. Let this statement not appear again." The advertisement did not appear again-not for that matter did any advertisements appear very long in the paper. Conducted on so careful a basis l'Homme Libre proved too bright and good for human nature's daily food. But it died a beautiful death .- Boston Transcript.

Fun With the Boys.

Two juvenile baseball teams have been playing ball for the last two months in a vacant lot near the stock yards and adjoining an inclosure where a milkman keeps his horse when not delivering milk. The horse has watched almost every game of ball this season, keeping close to the fence and noting the fine points of the contest with evident appreciation. In fact, the boys near Vicam, and after a fight fied, had come to regard his with more than friendly interest and one team had even adopted him as a "mascot."

But yesterday all this was changed, when the horse saw his opportunity and attempted to join in the game. The ball was accidentally knocked into the horse's playground and he immediately began to put it into play on his own hook, seizing it with his teeth and tossing it in the air, meanwhile jumping and cavorting around with the most intense enthusiasm.

Two or three boys attempted several times to secure the ball, but the horse charged and chased them over the fence each time. Finally the boys gave it up and stood around watching the animal. At length he stopped prancing and, abandoning the ball,

TWO FIGHTS WITH YAQUIS.

The Indians Lose Eighty-Six to the Mexican's Nineteen.

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 25.-Official reports of battles between Mexicans and Yaquis have just reached here. In one battle on the 18th the forces un der Colonel Hernandez fought the Indians near Lake Zaqueca, killing eighty-seven of the Indians. The Mexicans' loss is given as fourteen killed and thirty-six wounded.

The other fight is reported by Lorenzo Torres, who says that on the 14th the Indians attacked his rear guard, leaving nine dead. The Mexican loss is given as five killed and nine wounded, among the latter being Colonel Navarro on the Mexican side.

El Paso, Tex., Sept. 23 .- The Yaquis are still active in Sonora, and if re ports be true a party of seven New orkers have met death at their hands Peter Burgess and John Rogers of Denver, arrived tonight from the claim of the Qualley brothers, of Chicago, or the northeastern branch of the Yaqul River. They were robbed of every-thing by the Yaquis and were driven from the territory.

WHAT "KALSOMINES" ARE.

"Kalsomines" are cheap temporary preparations manufactured from preparations manufactured from chalks, clays, whiting, etc., and are stuck on the wall with decaying ani-mal glue. They bear no comparison with Alabastine, which is a cement that goes through a process of setting, hardens with age, and can be re-coated and re-decorated from time to time, without having to wash and scrape off its old coats before renew-ing. Alabastine is made up ready for ing. use by simply adding cold water.

Consumers, in buying Alabastine, should see that the goods are in packages and properly labeled. If any dealer tells you that he can sell you the same thing as Alabastine or something just as good, he either is not posted or is trying to deceive you. He is offering something he has bought cheap and is trying to sell on Alabastine's demands. Nothing else is "just as good" as Alabastine. The claims of new imitations are absurd on their face.

second-Class Matter.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 5, 1899.

'ANN ARBOR may well feel p'eased over the great increase in the enrollment in the University this fall. It shows that the U. of M. is steadily gaining in its lead notwithstanding the rap Id growth of other western state institutions. It also means a great increase in the amount of property brought to Ann Arbor each year. Students spend here on an average each year $350.00 each. An increase of 400 students means the expenditure of fully $140,000 in cash in Ann Arbor every year. This makes the increase this year alone as good as a big factory and it is no wonder that Ann Arbor people are pleased at the big increase in the University attendance this fall.

MENTION was made last week in THE REGISTER of the will of the late her will she made a slight error in specifying the title of a missionary society to which she desired to make a bequest of $5,000. There is no question as to what were her intentions. She clearly meant to give the Home Missionary Society the money but by mistake she specified the Home Missionary Society of Boston, when she should have said New York. This formed a loop hole through which the heirs hope to annul the will and secure the money. No one doubts that it was the purpose of Abbie Vose to have this money go to this society. Equity demands that it should be so used, but the heirs will probably succeed in capturing it.

IF ANYONE doubts the value of THE REGISTER as an advertising medium he should talk with A. F. Smith who lives in Ann Arbor Town just outside of the city limits on Geddes ave. A few weeks ago THE REGISTER gave an account of the new industry of raising Guine pigs in which. Mr. Smith is en gaged. The article was widely copied by the press over the state. The Sunday News-Tribune sent a man here especially to write up the business and last Sunday an illustrated article of year. It was nevertheless somewhat considerable length on the subject o Guine pigs appeared in that paper. The immediate effect, however, was the rush of Ann Arbor citizens both owned by Mr. Smith. Mr. Smith is a busy man and the demands made upon him to look after visitors was more nowned man as Moody could be lost. than he could endure. Even his Sunday rest was entirely destroyed by the see his strange little animals. As a result he has about decided purely as a matter of self protection to demand a fee for showing people through his premises. This will keep away the merely curious and in a measure com pensate Mr. Smith for the time he loses while telling visitors about the peculiar habits of these strange little pigs. The result of all this is that Mr. Smith is firmly convinced that whatever appears in THE REGIRSTER is read by pretty nearly everybody.

Says Everything About It is all Wrong-HDeclares that It is the Most Unsanitary and Most Poorly Arranged in the State-Threatens that Something Must be Done or there Will Be Trouble.

As the editor of THE REGISTER was riding down Main-st. last Friday he was hailed by a gentleman who proved to be Dr. A. L. Worden, commissioner of the state board of corrections and charities. "I want to talk with you about the Ann Arbor jail," he said. "I came here to investigate your jail and I found an awful state of affairs. It is louzy, unsanitary, and very badly arranged. There is nothing right about it and unless the supervisors make some radical changes at once it will be condemned and then the county cannot use it." Such were Dr. Worden's words. "Why," he said, "Sevthe stench from the poor sewer was so rank that it made Mr. Sawyer deathly sick so that he had to be taken home." The doctor said to the writer "You must go down and see the place and then write it up." We hinted that we had BEEN THERE. "How did you escape the lice and vermin?" was the question he then put to us. "That was easy enough," we replied. "We took that THE REGISTER is so analogomisfrom its sight, and, thanks to a million- son.

dollar bond, we soon escaped unpolluted by the public vermin so common in the county jail."

Dr. Worden is determined that some thing be done at once. While There is Life There is Hope.

"Honest Labor Bears THE MYSTERY OF WARTS. THEIR ORIGIN NEVER SATIS-

FACTORILY EXPLAINED. They Can Be Removed Much Easier By Faith Cure Than By Any Medicine Yet Discovered.

I have been interested for some years in the "mystery of warts." Nearly 40 years ago, when a very small boy, I dispelled warts that were upon my own hands by rubbing them with a piece of common school crayon, I am a graduate of a New York city medical college and am legally qualified to practice medicine in New York and New Jersey, and I frankly admit that my usual method of removing warts from my patients has in recent years been by the method of buying them. To explain my modus operandi, I usually give the patient a bright penny or nickel, and assure him positively that they are mine by purchase, and so must leave him. Usually they disappear in from four to ten weeks. Among my wart patients have been the son and daughter of a well-known doctor of divinity, and girls and boys of intelligence, members of our high school, who are preparing for entrance into our best universities and colleges. I mention this class of patients to show that the plan works upon the intelligent and cultured as well as upon the ignorant and the superstitious. By way of illustration I will narrate two instances of cure. A mother consulted me about an enormous seed wart upon the left elbow of her son. The wart was fully as large as a silver half-dollar, and when the boy bent his arm the wart would crack and bleed. I offered the boy a new, bright penny for the wart, and at first he could not grasp the idea that I was serious in my proposal to buy the wart. In a few weeks I was interested to find upon examination that exactly one-half of the wart had been divided through the middle, and one-half of it had been shaved or scraped away. I assured the boy that the remaining portion would soon disappear, and so it did.

A young woman behind the counter of one of our local stores had her hands dotted all over with warts. I judge she had not less than 30 on each hand. When I inquired why she did not get rid of them, she replied that she had tried many remedies, but they had all failed, and she was discouraged in her efforts. I then offered to buy them of her for a penny. The method being so easy and pleasant, she agreed to sell them to me, and after a number of weeks they all disappeared.

I can offer no thoroughly scientific explanation for these facts beyond the statement that they came under the head of mental influence. I assert with such positiveness my ability to dispel warts by purchase that my patient's 'subconscious self" or "subjective mind" is impressed by my asseveration and, although my claim is met by asmile of incredulity, through their belief in me and the force of my assevthe activities of our physical functions.

WHY HORSES SHY.

Flying Paper.

In Pearson's, W. L. Alden writes musingly of shying horses. He says: served and even bashful, so that, until The mortal terror of newspapers to one knows the race better, one can which even the most intelligent horse is a prey is certainly a mystery. If a horse meets a torn newspaper lying in he middle of the road he is seized with a conviction that it is on the point of tearing him to pieces, and accordingly he falls into a spasm of terror. I presume that the scientific explanation of this fact is that the prehistoric horse was severely abused by the newspapers of the time and that his descendants have thus inherited a horror of newspapers. But, like most scientific explanations of familiar mysteries, this would not be worth noticing. Why should the prehistoric newspapers have insulted the horse? Did the cave men lose their money on horse. races and then write abusive letters to the newspapers, pointing out the untrustworthy character of the horse? It is very doubtful if they did anything of the sort, chiefly for the reason that newspapers did not exist in prehistoric times.

"To come back to the horse and his fear of newspapers. It may be said that the newspaper terrifies him because it moves in the wind and he thinks it is alive. But the leaves of trees move in the wind and the human boy moves with or without wind under the very hoofs of the horse, yet the horse is not afraid of these things. Clearly he is not afraid of a stray newspaper because it may be blown across his path. Moreover, he is as much afraid of a newspaper that does - and as fond of the nil admirari line of not move, as he is of one which is in motion.

"The true exhibition of a horse's fear of a newspaper is that in the code of equine etiquette it is considered good form to appear to be afraid of newspapers. All animals have their ideas as to what is good form and cling tenaciously to them. The dog does not bark at very young children, because it is contrary to canine etiquette to do so. The cat, who is an inflexible stickler for good form, plays with a half-dead mouse merely because playing with half-dead mice is considered among all cats of good breeding to be the correct thing to do: The horse, knowing that if he did not pretend to be frightened nearly out of his life by a newspaper he would be regarded by all other horses as an ignorant and ill-bred beast, shies whenever a newspaper flutters into his path.'

A Disappointed Artist

The trials of an artist are many and sore, but one encountered recently by a young New Yorker, who earns a scanty living with his pencil and brush has its ludicrous side also. Though his heart is true to "art for art's sake," the exigencies of rent, clothes, and food make necessary an occasional resort to trick painting, at which he is Mme. la Conseillere de Cour). Amusing Reason For Their Dislike of They Are Entirely Emotionless and Very Peculiar. The Malay race is impassive, re-scarcely credit his blood-thirsty reputation, says the Cincinnati Enquirer. The Malay is entirely undemonstrative. If he has any feelings of surprise he never shows them. Perhaps he experiences none, no matter how wonderful the sight which meets his gaze. He is slow and deliberate in speech, and cirumlocutory in introducing a subject to be discussed. Even the children and women are timid, and scream at the sight of a European, while in the presence of the men they are silent and taciturn.

Even when alone the Malay neither talks nor sings, in this respect differing much from the Papuan, who has all the negro traits of chattering and singing to himself for company, Overpay a Malay for some trifle and his countenance betrays no sign of emotion; a Papuan will be grave for a moment out of perfect astonishment at the mistake made, and then burst into peals of grinning laughter, while be bends in two, and finally rolls on the ground in ecstasies of merriment. The Malays, when in company in a canoe, chant a plantive, monotonous song; at other times they are silent. The Malay is cautious of giving offense to any one, and accordingly will hesitate to quarrel about money matters, and rather abandon a just debt due to him than run the risk of a feud with his equals. In his ordinary life he is as impassive as the typical Scot conduct as the American Indian, though, unlike him, the Malay does not dissemble his feelings or play a part. He has really little, if any, appreciation of humor and does not understand a practical jest. ² To all breaches of etiquette he is very sensitive and equally jealous of any interference with his own or any one else's liberty. To such an extent does he carry this idea that a Malay servant will hesitate to waken another, even his own master, though told to do so. The higher classes are exceedingly polite, possessing all the day. repose and quiet dignity of the bestbred Europeans. There is, however, another side to the character of the Malay. He is reckless, cruel and careless of human life, possesses but a poor intellect and has neither taste for knowledge nor any indigenous civilization.

The artist cudgeled his brains for a time, and then, procuring a small. rough deal box, about 12 inches long and six inches wide, spread his canvas on the inside of the bottom of it and painted thereon about a half pint of broken peanut shells and a handful of whole peanuts. He executed the work so well that when the box, which had no cover, was set on a table or bar and tilted back against the wall the temptation for a man fond of peanuts to reach into the box for one was almost irresistible, and the artist tried the trick upon some of his own friends with success before taking it to the liquor dealer.

He asked $60 for it, and felt that the money was as good as in his pocket. but to his intense disgust the man of spirits would not accept it, and when pressed for his reason would give no satisfactory explanation. A friend of the artist, who had the confidence of the rumseller, undertook to find out. TO BRING ABOUT SLEEP.

ALL FOR DEWEY'S HONOR.

Several Recommended Methods of Wooing Refreshing Rest.

Difficulties in going to sleep are ometimes physical, more often mental. the physical, under ordinary circumstances, are due to the circulation. The following are a few practical hints: Some sleep better half sitting up with three pillows, some better with none; some with little covering, some with much. Hot drinks or a hot bath just before sleep, hot bottles to the feet, are often useful. Tobacco often in-creases sleeplessness. Sometimes, af-drives are of New York have exhaust-ed their elogience is comparing blm some with little covering, some with ter long waking, a small meal will bring sleep. Some, especially invalids, wake after two or three hours; a cup of hot, fresh tea will often send them to sleep again. Sometimes the darkness seems exciting, and one can sleep with a lighted candle. Intermittent noises, as of a rattling window, are always bad, but a contiguous noise is often a lullaby. Moderate fatigue aids, but exhaustion prevents, sleep. Oftenest sleeplessness is mental, and springs from a want of self-control. Either one subject engrosses the mind or a succession of ideas. In either case the sleepless must make the effort to stop thought. Always Stole His Hotel Key.

"I know a New York drummer," said a local traveling man, chatting with a party of friends, "who has decorated one of the walls of his bachelor apartments with a trophy composed entirely of hotel keys. It is the queerest thing I ever saw in my life. The keys are arranged in a huge circle, and each of them is attached to a metal tag, some round, some square, some triangular-in fact, they are of every maginable size and shape, and of all kinds of material, from cast iron to aluminum. In the middle of the decoration is a cluster of enormous specimens, most of them battered and rusty, and looking as if they might have locked the gates of aucient fortresses. New York, Sept. 28.-Today has ed their eloquence in comparing him to Farragut and to Nelson, and the Admiral has been obliged to stand and listen while the fighting jackies of the Olympia cheered the speakers. A speclal messenger from Washington has given him the welcome and congratu-lations of his Commander-in-Chief,

President McKinley. Most affecting of all has been the presentation of the faded and worn old banner which Farragut, the last Admiral of the United States navy before Dewey won the place, flew at his vessel's masthead. Dewey's first fighting was done under Farragut when that great warrior damned the torpedoes and sent his unprotected fleet to force a passage, just as Dewey did at Manila. He rode from the tomb of President Grant to the squaré named in honor of President Madison between as many millions as could crowd the grand stand and the windows of the tall buildings on either side. A little girl tossed him a rose. The Admiral threw her a kiss in return.

Then he mounted the bridge of a reviewing stand at the splendid Dewey arch and stood for nearly five hours, with a cold wind blowing on his bare head, before more than 30,000 soldiers and sailors, Governors, and Senators passed, while the host of landsmen, massed in towering thousands about the reviewing stand, cheered the coming of each new favorite.

"From Mafeking come rumors that the Transvaal intends its attack on Tuedsay, but the impression is, however, that the Boer movements are merely a counter demonstration to the massing of British troops in Natal. Nevertheless, if war is declared the Boers will certainly make an immediate dash for Laing's Nek and probably break the railway north of Kimberley. "No anxiety is felt for the safety of that place, as it is probably able to hold its own now."

Apparently reliable reports declare that the Boers are massing on the Natal frontier, not in small squads, but in numbers sufficient to alarm the ome government.

That the Boers will strike the first blow is generally predicted, this, ac-cording to reports, being the plan advocated by Kruger. The exodus from Pretoria and Johannesburg continues, which is taken as a pretty sure sign that the Boers' mind is fully made up for war.

Columbia and Shamrock in First Race of Series, on Tuesday.

New York, Oct. 2.-Beginning Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock and continuing Thursday and Saturday of this week and Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday of next week, if so many trials shall be necessary, a series of races will be sailed between the British sloop yacht Shamrock and the American sloop yacht Columbia for the yachting championship of the world, the emblem of which is the old silver cup, weighing 100 ounces, won, by the famous schooner yacht America in 1851.

That this will be the most notable cup is apparent. In the first place, the two yachts are known to be far and away the best that have ever competed for the trophy. That is to say, Sham-rock is conceded to be the swiftest yacht ever produced by British design-ers, as Columbia is the swiftest yet built from American ideas.

Readers. There never was a better opportunity for persons suffering from diseases of the heart, liver, stomach or dropsy, to test free of expense, a new and complete treatment for these disorders. Dr. Miles is well and favorably known as a leaping specialist in these diseases (Mont.) Leader. and his liberal offer is certainly worth round the judge went up to the polls of serious consideration by every affiicted reader. Thousands of remarkable testimonials from prominent people will be sent upon request which prove the Doctor to be one of the world's most successful physicians.

physicians. Rev. Chas. H. Young, of Ann Arbor, Mich., says: "Dr. Miles not only relieved me of constant hendache, sleeplessness, weak di-gestion, but has enabled me to so husband my nervous energy as to make meatal work a constant joy." Mr. F. J. Held writes: "Eleven of the best physicians of Grand Rap-dis pronounced my case incurnible. Yet thanks to your remarkable skill, I soon be-gan to improve, and instead of sinking and dying, was soon out of danger." Mr. John Spyker, of Zeeland, Mich., was also cured after eight years of suffering. Robert L. Johnson, of Lawrence, Mich., says: "I re-ceived more benefit from him than from all other doctors combined, etc., etc."

This new system of special treatment is thoroughly scientific and immensely superior to the ordinary methods. It consists of several remedies carefully selected to suit each individual case and is the final result of twenty-five years of very extensive research and experience in treating this class of disorders. It consists of a curative elexir, tonic tablets, laxative pills and usually a plaster, selected to meet the occupies a prominent position in the requirements of each case. "I regret very much, madame," said the shopman politely, "but 400 francs for the gown is not excessive, and then there are Peppina's dues."

"Peppina! Who is Peppina?" interrupted the astonished lady. "What has that person to do with her majesty's affairs?"

"Everything; she is the queen's maid, and always insists on having more than 50 per cent on every purchase.'

That night Peppina left the Quirinal a sadder but wiser woman. Her "perks," legitimate and otherwise, while maid to her majesty, were enormous. Not least among them was her royal mistress' wardrobe, which passed to her so little used that to the ordinary eye it was without blemish. Twice a year Peppina had a sale, which was largely attended by Americans, who gave exaggerated prices to possess a gown actually worn by royalty.
