Nearly 200 jurors had been called and the judge became weary of the procedure. Mr. Conrad had, of course, heard of the case but the judge Age.-Five Sons Survive Him. refused to allow him to be ruled off on this score declaring that Mr. Conrad was too intelligent a looking man not to be able to render a just verdict, notwithstanding he had heard of the case. The defense then proceeded to examine him further and when the question was asked whether he felt he could render an impartial decision in the case he replied that he could not and surprised the judge and lawyers by the reason he gave why he could not. The answer was that the defendant's physiognomy had already iufluenced his opinion. This was a new objection and the defense sustained its point and Mr. Conrad was excused. This necessarily became significant and from the fact that Mr. Conrad is a man of more than usual ability and one not likely to be influenced or controlled by some mere passing fancy. This naturally raises the question as to whether or not real character does make its impression forceably upon the features. If so, how does it happen that we often meet persons whom we at first look upon with suspicion but soon learn to trust implicitly, and vice versa. Has the me lived down his inherited characterstics and the other failed to live up to them? Does character change the features materially or does a different light shipe through and alter our translation or interpretation of them?

John Trainer died at his home on Summit St. Friday evening aged 61 years. The funeral services were held Sunday at 1:30 p. m. at the house. Mr Trainer was born in Ireland but came to this country and settled in New York when fifteen years old. Some years later he came to Michigan. During the war he served in Co. D, 5th Michigan Cavalry. While a prisoner he was confined in Andersonville and Libby prisons and undoubtedly injured his constitution in this way. His wife has been dead for more than twenty years but five sons, William, Wilford. Walter, Cecil and Cyril survive him.

SKULL LIKE STEEL.

A New York Man Fires Three Bullets in His Head, but All Are Flattened.

A short time ago a man in New York walked out to the end of a pier, drew a revolver from his pocket and began to shoot at his head. At the hospital the doctors dug three bullets out of his scalp, which had been flattened as though shot against steel. It's hard te get anything into the heads of some people-sometimes you can't do it with a 38-caliber revolver. They doubt proof, disbelieve evidence, reject facts, scorn advice. They are widely different from that sensible class of people who take facts on reasonable evidence and profit by them. Frank M. Fillermann, of Watertown, Wis., be-longs to this class. When almost at death's door a friend told him that Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds was a sure cure for all throat, chest and lung troubles, and advised him to use it. Hear what he says: "My heart is overflowing with thankfulness' because Dr. King's New Discovery snatched me from the grave. Suffering from consumption in its last stages, I had tried the best doctors in the state and many patent medicines, spending thousands of dollars, all without the slightest benefit. A friend recommended Dr. King's New Discovery. I procured a bottle, and before taking half of it was greatly relieved. I continued us-ing it until cured. I am now strong and healthy. My joy and gratitude know no bounds. I believe this mar-velous medicine is worth more to mankind than the riches of the Rothschilds." This royal remedy is the su-preme cure for Consumption, Bron-chitis, Pneumonia, Pleurisy, Severe Colds, Stubborn Coughs, Asthma, Hay Fever, Croup, Whooping Cough, and all bronchial troubles. Druggists sell large bottles at 50 cents and $1.00, and refund money if no cure. As it has no equal, never take a substitute. Trial bottles free.

HOUSE AND SENATE. Proceedings of Both Branches of the National Legislature.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 4 .- At the opening of the House today the principal interest centered in the disposition of the case of Mr Roberts, the Mormon Representative from Utah.

The program outlined by the Republican leaders at their conference on Friday night was partly carried out. The objection to the administration of the oath to Mr. Roberts was entered by Mr. Tayler, of Ohio, and, as predicted. Mr. Roberts stepped aside without protest, except to ask if by doing so he waived any of his rights. To this the Speaker responded in the negative.

The only voice raised except that of Mr. Tayler's was that of Mr. McRae, a Democrat of Arkansas, who joined with Mr. Tayler in his protest. Mr. Tayler offered his resolution to refer the case to a special committee. but by mutual arrangement the consid-eration of the resolution was postponed until tomorrow in order that the routine business in connection with the or-ganization might be transacted today.

Although Mr. Roberts was not sworn in today he secured a seat. This, how-ever, was by an accident. In the seat drawing no provision had been made for Mr. Roberts, but when the drawing was completed two others as well as himself had not been provided with seats, and the Speaker asked and se-cured from the House general permission for them to make such selections as they could. The election of Speaker Henderson and his induction into office, the appointment of the usual committees to wait upon the President, the seat drawing contest, went off without a hitch. The only other feature out of the ordinary was the adoption of the Reed rules for the present Congress. They were adopted by a strict party

Washington, D. C., Dec. 2 .- There was no hitch in the program mapped out by the Republicans of the House and at the caucus held tonight General David B. Glenn of New York, door-keeper; Joseph C. McElroy of Ohio, postmaster, and Henry N. Cowden of Michigan, Chaplain. The Reed rules were adopted after a friendly discussion. Washington, D. C., Dec. 2.—The Democrats of the House of Representatives at their caucus held in the Hall of Representatives this afternoon selected Representative James D. Richardson of Tennessee as their candidate for Speaker after a spirited contest, which

SECRETARY ROOT'S BOMB.

Shakes Up Dry Bones of War Department in Report.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 2 .- Nothing has shaken up the dry bones of the war department to such an extent for a generation as the report of Secretary Root. He has apparently cut loose entirely from buereaucratic influences, and in the opinion of public men here his report is the most original, farreaching, and independent of any yet presented by a Cabinet officer during this administration. He has attacked red tape methods in the department with a sharp knife, and, in the face of the Adjutant-General's report to the contrary, urges the adoption for the army of the system of rotation in the staff offices, thus preventing the growth of dry rot methods, giving officers generally a knowledge of staff requirements, and preventing the use of red tape methods, which the war commission found to be the real cause for the mistakes of the war 'depart-

Sick Headache

Is the cause of untold suffering to many women; of neglected families and unhappy homes. Pleasure is banished from the life that is subject to these attacks, and yet it is possible to be free forever from such trying 1112 ordeals. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, by enriching the blood, toning up the nerves, and strengthening the stomach, make sick headache impossible, and restore nervous energy to the despondent sufferer. The full name:

is on every package of the genuine.

Is on every package of the genuine. Mrs. Fannie B. Stoffle, of Martinsville, Mo., says: "I used to have terrible sick headaches, which I had as far back as I can remember. In recent years they were getting worse. A few years ago I took treat-ment of a specialist in Kansas City, but it only relieved me for a while. When I came here two years ago my health was miserable. My hus-band, who had great faith in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. Insisted that I commence using them. After taking a few doses I could see an improvement, and my headache spells were not so severe. I used four boxes, and since that time I have not had any of those at-tacks, and I never feit so well in my life." -From the Republican, Bethany, Mo. -Prom the Republican, Bethany, Mo. No discovery of modern times has proved such a blessing to man-kind as Dr.Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. Acting directly on the blood and nerves, invigorating the body, regulating the functions, they restore the strength and health in the exhausted patient when every effort of the physician proves unavailing.

These pills are sold in boxes at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, and may be had of all druggists, or direct by mail from Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N.Y.

newspapers had not even spared "the almost sacred person of the Queen." This, continued the speaker, provoked natural indignation, "which may have serious consequences if our neighbors do not mend their ways." New York, Dec. 1.—Chamberlain's speech on "alliance" of England, Germany and America is topic of Europe. German press does not like it, while most English papers distrust Kaiser and do not want to share his quarrels. Other nations laugh or scold. London Times said Chamberlain represented Salisbury's views, but he was rather unguarded. Humbert's official paper said Italy ought to be in the alliance.

Pipe Trust Is Illegal.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 5.—In the Supreme Court today a decision was handed down by Justice Peckham in the celebrated Addystone pipe case, as a result of which it is believed extensive prosecutions against other trusts will probably be instituted in the United States courts under the direction of the Attorney General. The case was brought under the Sherman anti-trust law against six corporations manufacturing water and gas pipes, which were organized into trust and proceeded to parcel out territory in such a way as to crush all competition. It was charged that such a combination was in violation of the anti-trust law, and that that law was fully justified by the constitutional provision permitting Congress to regulate interstate commerce.

Opposes Seating of Quay.

Pittsburg, Pa., Dec. 2 .- The Demo cratic State Executive Committee to night made public a memorial addressd to the Democratic members of the United States Senate, giving the rea-sous why it is opposed to Matthew S. Quay being permitted to take his seat in that body. The gist of the argu-ment is that Mr. Quay was unable to secure election by the Legislature, and that the comment indexed to have a that the governor violated the law of the state in appointing him instead of calling a special session of the Legislature to fill the vacancy.

Pennsylvania's Republican majority on hand that they could'nt take time to go to the polls.

THE greatest issue before the American people is that of business prosperity. When all the mills are open and working overtime, and when the workingman have good wages, they have no time to fisten to agitators. This is the general condition now.

FOR some unexplained reason. Mr. Bryan dld not discuss the Tariff issue during his last electioneering tour.

This silence is not taken in good part The by some Democratic organs. "World," for example take him to task for his remissness and tries to assure him that,, the abandonment of this cardinal Democratic doctrine, fidelity seven days in jail in the sentences. to which has given to the party the only national success it has won since the war, is unfortunate as a matter of principle and must weaken the party throughout the country." But the reason why Mr. Bryan stopped talking tariff is because he knows prosperity when he runs up against it, and that he has encountered it wherever he has gone is too plain for argument. He is evidently convinced that this time will make no Democratic votes. Free-trade has been weighed in the balance during the past twelve months as it never was before, and the result is before the eyes of every man who is not wholly blind.

THE fal which prevails to a large extent among certain students of stealing signs and decorating their rooms with them is one that should be stopped even though heroic measures were necessary to do it. A gentleman who recently lost a sign for which he paid five dollars declares that the only certain way to put a stop to the nuisance the lengs. The funeral was held Sudday is to proceed against both the students who steals the sign and the owner of the house where the student rooms, on the ground that the latter lays himself liable by knowingly harboring stolen Davis. property. If such is the case this would soon put an end to sign stealing for people who keep roomers would not allow the rooms to be decorated with costly signs which they know have been stolen Some of our citizens who know that students who are occupying rooms in their houses have been steal ing signs might save themselves the expense and odium of having to defend themselves in a case against them for harboring stolen goods by seeihs to it that the signs in their students rooms are returned to their owners at once.

They Have Been Since June Building a Walk .- Public Scaler .- Finances.

The council Monday evening got down to business and decided that a stone sidewalk must be put down in front of the Ford estate and without delay. They say that they have been working at this matter since June and this is absolutely final. The question stirred up some discussion and three voted against the resolution.

The matter of a public scale, weightmaster and measurer of wood was brought up in the shape of a petition from the business men. Speeches were made favoring the project and Alds. Dieterle, Coon and Weeks will report on the practicability of the this year is only about 110,000. This scheme. dreadfnl shrinkage is due to the fact that the voters have so much business different location. They want to stand on the north side of the court relieved and greatly encouraged, continued to take Kid ne-oids until house square. The matter was laid on the table.

> The finance report showed overdraft in city fund $4,918.17; sewer fund $1, 735.82. On hand paving fund $4,705.45; net overdraft, $1,948.54. Among the bills passed by the finance committee was the salary of Street Commissioner Ross. Since the committee met, the board of public works had asked its return, and the bill was sent back to them. The commissioner was absent three weeks and the board want to adjust his salary accordingly. The city marshal's report showed 23 arrests during the month. There were $136 of fines collected. A Splended Dinner.

The idea of a public Thanksgiving dinner was to some at first thought not just the most oppropriate thing. But those who enjoyed the dinner at the Church of Christ last Thursday left there with the firm conviction that the dinner and the way in which it was served were eminently proper. While the price charged was but little above the cost of the actual material used, the large number who took dinner at the church enabled the ladies to net a nice sum to apply on the cost of the new church carpet. The innovation of a Thanksgiving dinner having proven such a success it will doubtless be kept up in the future.

FATHER AND SON. 1 Balay Both are Kings and Have Reigned for Thirty-Five Years. Father and son celebrate ' the thirtyfifth anniversary of their accession to thrones within a month of each other, and strange to say, King George, of Greece, had royal honors even before his aged father, for the former ascended his throne, October 31st, 1863 and King Christian, of Denmark, was crowned on November 15, of the same year.

Prince Christian, a fourth son of the Duke of Schleswig-Holstein, had been brought up in the ordinary military career of princes without expectations. He had a small salary, she a small dot. For ten years they had to practice the most rigid economies. Then came a slight betterment in his condition and an enormous and unexpected change in his prospects. On May 8, 1852, the apparently inextricable confusion into which the question of tae Danish succession had lapsed was straightened out by the protocol of London, and Prince Christian was formally recognized as heir to his wife's cousin, King Frederick VII. of Denmark. The couple received the title of Royal Highnesses, and later Christian became inspector general and commander in chief of the Danish cavalry in a miniature army of forty thousand all told. This turn of Fortune's wheel, however, made little throne as Christian IX of Denmark. Simultaneously with the accession of the Prince of Schleswig-Holstein to the throne rival claimants arose for the duchies of Schleswig-Holstein, which had been part of the possessions of King Frederick VII. of Denmark. The extinction of his dynasty, it was asserted, and the substitution of a new one, had entirely altered the change in the household's style of existence until the year 1863, when Frederick's death brought the prince to the rights of succession in these provinces. It is needless to enter into the merits of this involved and difficult controversy. Lord Palmerston used to say: -"There have been but two men who really comprehended the question about the duchies-Prince Albert, who is dead, and I, who have forgotten.' Suffice it to say that after diplomatic wrangles, which closed in an appeal to arms, Prussia, Austria and Germany all took a hand in the fight, and the first of these great countries, under the wily hand of Bismarck, succeeded in robbing little Denmark of the three duchies of Holstein, Schleswig and Lauenberg and attaching them to her own dominions. France and England looked on growlingly, but both concluded not to interfere.

After this loss of one-third of the kingdom internal troubles arose in that portion of his dominions which still remained to King Christian. King and parliament could never agree, a characteristic that both have retained almost to the present time. Ministerlal crises in Denmark have been as frequent as revolutions in South America.

But in his home life he found a relief from the strains of ruling, and the story of the splendid marriages of his sons and daughters has become an old-time tale to every household is Christendom.

Youths' Ambition in Mexico.

In Mexico it is the ambition of every youth to become a bull-fighter. In their plays boys there mimic the bull-fighters. They use their shawls as bandoras, stickes as pikes, and a flat piece of wood as a sword. One boy acts as the bull and the others act the parts of the picadores, banderilleros and matadores. When they grow older they participate in amateur bullfights. In the country towns these, are common. Blooded bulls are used. but their horns are sawed off, and the lads, rigged out in all the dinery of a real matadore, enter the ring, tease the bull, and carry out all the performances except the slaughter. The Government forbids that. At these amateur fights often one of the lads is injured. If he recovers he is a hero; if he dies-oh, well, he was brave.-Augusta Chronicle.

Years ago, when he was a young man, he was sent to Turkestan with the Russian advance and for a long time he was engaged in fighting and winning promotion for himself. After having promotion for himself. After having served his ap-prenticeship in the east, he returned to Europe, resumed his studies in 1874, and while in Paris won the Le-gion of Honor, being the first Rus-sian officer to do so. Next year he went to Kokand and fought around the Pamirs, in the country of Khubla Khan. He rode 2,500 miles on horseback, came back, wrote a book, and won the gold medal of the Geograph-ical society. In the Turkish war he distinguished himself and came out of it a colonel. Slowly he rose in the service of the czar, and last year he was appointed minister of war of Russia.

"My friends call me an absentminded man," said the man with the tweed suit, "and I guess they are pretty nearly right. I was in Boston the other week for three days, and when ready to depart I took my grip The Battle at Modder River Proves a and walked out of the hotel without a thought of the bill. Didn't the clerk say anything? Not a word. They don't jump onto a man all of a sudden over there. I had half an hour to wait at smiling stranger timidly walked up to me and wanted to know if I had had a good time in Boston. I was rather nonplussed, but replied that I had. Then he asked me if I had found the hotel all right. I told him it was bang-up. Then he switched off on the weather for a minute, and all of a sudden it struck me that we had met somewhere before. When I put it to him he said that my face also had a familiar look. I placed him after a bit and said: 'Why, you were around the Blank

"'And you are just getting away?' "'Oh, no. I-I belong there, you know, and I came down to ask you a favor.

'A favor?' What is it?'

"'I'd-I'd like to borrow $9 of you to pay your hotel bill!"

"Well, if I wasn't knocked out!" ing to make it dead-easy for me. Just notice how considerate of my feelings! I felt so thankful in one sense and so mean in another that I went right back to the hotel. I walked up to the desk with my mouth full of exat me and said:

"Ah! It is Mr. Johnson! Glad to see you, Mr. Johnson. Will you have a room on the second floor front?

"I paid my bill and took a fresh start," said Mr. Johnson, "and I shall never get over feeling grateful to Tugela. those hotel people. It was all so easy and nice and genteel, you know, and though I tried to make myself believe that I was a hotel beat I couldn't do It."

His Role.

Willie Wishington was standing in pensive silence, observes the Washington Star.

"Stupid world, isn't it?" remarked mood of the listener

"No," answered Willie. "It's too exciting."

"Been playing the races?"

"No; stock market." "Ah, that's interesting. Which were and fought desperately.

you, a bull or a bear?" A far, sad look came into the young speculator's eye and he spoke in the hurried manner of one who would fain change the topic of conversation. "Were you ever cruel to animals when you were a boy?" Willie inquired.

"Why, not that I remember," answered the friend.

"But you remember how the other boys used to behave. You can recall the fiendish glee with which they would take a stray dog who had no friends and coax him to a quiet corner and pat his head and feed him while they tied a tin can to his tall. You can picture in your mind's eye the sweet, trusting look of the animal as he shoved his head up to be patted and the inane expression of satisfaction that came into his eyes as he flattered himself that he was foreordalned for nothing but good luck and affection. And you have witnessed the mad climax when he went down the street, an object of general derision and commiseration, sounding like a load of getting a small party across the rails on a cobble pavement. You can recollect some such occurrence, can't you?" "Certainly."

JAPAN'S CRYSANTHEMUM.

A National Authority Writes Concerning Its Origin.

James Morton, who has spent years In the culture of the chrysanthemum and is the national authority on its culture and history has written the following concerning its oriental sta-

There are good reasons for supposing that the chrysanthemum was cultivated with much devotion by the gardeners of both China and Japan for centuries before its importation into Europe. A well known traveller in those countries tells us in one of his works that "so great a favorite is the chrysanthemum with the Chinese gardeners that no persuasion will deter them from its culture, and they will frequently resign their situations rather than be forbidden by their employers to grow it." In support of this statement he relates the experience of an English resident in that coun try, who, without the slightest inter est in the plant was compelled to allow his native gandener the pleasure of cultivating it solely on that ac-count. The Chinese often train the chrysanthemum into curious and fantastic forms, such as pagodas, horses stags, ships, etc. Another peculiar method of culture practiced at Chea yuen, where it is entensively cultivated, is the grafting of cuttings into stout stems of Artemisia indica as a stock. Among the Japanese the chrysanthemum is no less prized than in China, and they display great skill in its culture, calling it the Queen of play of the national flower is said to be unequaled. Nowhere can they be found in such profusion, so fully de veloped and brilliant in color, while the rich imperial violet silk with which the tents and buildings are draped bear upon them the heraldic kiku in all its pristine loveliness. As the day draws to a close the people return to their homes to complete the slow process of intoxication by drinking saki, into which are thrown the blooms of chrysanthemums, which, they suppose, will preserve them from evil the coming year.

A Nice Distinction.

It was the unusual duty of a Los Angeles clergiman of great physical and intellectual girth to deliver the dedicatory address at the opening of a new cemetery. The burying ground was swept by a high wind which was blowing from the sea at the time. The parson showed himself as wise as witty in his apology for keeping his head covered during his mental performance.

"I do not remove my hat." he remarked, "because, while I am willing to be the first incumbent of this cemetery, I do not want to be its first occupant."-San Francisco News Letter.

At the most popu Japanese festivals the people display effigies of their traditional heroes con structed of massive chrysanthemun blossoms, Benkel, the Jupanese Her sules, appearing gorgeosuly appareled in white, yellow and purple pompons. In many other ways the Chinese and Japanese reveal their love for this plant, but probably in no more appar ent and lasting manner than by apply ing the talent of their most skillful ar tists to portray its fair form and vivid coloring on their pottery and house hold fabrics, as well as in numberless illustrated books and namphlets.

In Japan the Imperial Order of the Chrysanthemum is the most distin guished decoration of the empire. It was founded in 1876, and consists of a star and collar hung around the neck by a riband, the whole work being in gold, silver and enamels. Bestowed, with rare exceptions, only upon royal personages, it is consequently con sidered a very high distinction among European sovereigns who have been wearers of this mark of the Mikado's favor. The chrysanthemum, or "ki ku," as it is called in Japan, is also one of the crest badges of the imperi al family, and is used as an official seal. The hilts of the swords forged by the Empero. Go Toba, who ascended the throne in 1186, had the ki-ku figured upon them. The chrysanthenium season in Ja pan is looked forward to with much pleasure, and the different communi ties manifest the greatest enthusiasu in its culture. A certain day is set apart as a festival, when all turn out to pay due homage to their national emblem, the many-hued chrysanthemum. During their blooming period the gardens of all the prominent florists present an exhibition of great beauty. Each evening for many weeks the notables of rank, as well as the peasants in holiday attire join in the happy festivities. The fetes are always held in the evenings and the grounds are beautifully illuminated presenting a scene brilliant beyond description. His Majesty also opens his gardens at the imperial palace on this grand fete day. All the highest native officials and foreign residents of distinction are present, and invitations are highly prized and much sought after. It is one of the few occasions when the Empress is to be seen in public. She delights in having the most dainty handkerchiefs of gauze embroidered in chrysanthe-mums of all colors. Her ladles of honor also appear in gorgeous dresses with chrysanthemums worked upon them. Upon this occasion the dis-The second se
