LOCAL KNIGHTS SURPRISED.

Kansas Grand Commandery Did it .- Memorial of Chas. M. Jones' Death.-How They

It will be remembered that at the knights of the Grand Commandery of their kindly services. They didn't say anything they didn't mean, judging from the surprise Saturday night.

Word had been received that Eminent Sir Buster Brown, the grand Sword Bearer of the state, and Eminent Sir Charles Webb would come as the formal bearers of thanks. The local commandery provided a smoker for the occasion. Sir Brown delivered his thanks in a fine speech and at the proper time Sir Webb, who had left the hall on permission, reappeared bearing a beautiful silk beausant which he presented to the Ann Arbor command

The surprise was complete but Emi nent Sir W. G. Doty recovered sufficiently to accept the gift with a neat word of thanks.

The banner is a fine one. On the standard is a silver plate with this inscription: From the Grand Commandery, Knights Templar of Kansas, In Grateful Acknowledgement of the Generous Hospitality and Unbounded Courtesies Extended its Officers by Ann Arbor Commandery, No. 13, Knights Templar, On the Occasion of the Funeral Ceremonies of Very Eminent Sir Charles M. Jones, Deputy Grand Commander of Kansas, At Ann Arbor, Michigan, Oct, 15 1899.

After the ceremonies, all adjouned to the drill room and pleasant smoker was given. Songs and speeches helped pass the time until a late hour.

THREE CAUGHT SATURDAY

Stole 29 Bushels of wheat .- Names are Bird and Birch .- Theft Committed in Superior. Because Charles Kyer is observing and particular to do business on the square, there are three more men within the pale of the law.

Saturday morning three men drove a wagon load of wheat up to the Kyer Milling Company's mill about half-past seven. Mr. Kyer thought the hour was somewhat early for farmers but said nothing. When he began to take in the grain, however, he noticed that the men seemed to be somewhat green at the business and then he observed the team was pretty nearly used up as though they had been driven hard. smell a rat but he went on with the business smilingly, contriving in the meantime to notify Sheriff Gillen. The man told the miller to make out the check to John Jackson and evinced some haste as Mr. Kyer was somewhat the ground and he arrested the three the third said he was called Burch. The grain was found to have been taken from James Moore of Superior. The excuse given by Bird is that his wife is sick and he stole to get her something to eat.

A medical journal advises against the excessive use of salt. It is first of all perversion of taste, the condiment estroying the flavor of delicate dishes if too pronounced. Furthermore, it is asserted that an excessive use of salt seriously overtaxes the kidney to remove it, and that many cases of derangement and disease are due to this excessive use. The salt habit, it is added, is easily acquired, and persons indulging themselves soon reach a point where nothing is palatable that It is not strongly impregnated with salt

STALKING BIG GAME.

How the Four Day Hunting Season is Spent on Long Island.

The Long Island deer season is a peculiar affair. It is but four days long, covering the four Wednesdays in November. Although the country secrets of her boys and girls. At in which the deer are found in the in night as she carefully tucks the bed terior of the island is heavily wooded, clothes around them she chides and it presents no difficulties to the starting of the game from cover with savinng to herself, it is only a habit hounds. As the south shore which but I must break them of it. skirts the so-called wilderness is mother's mistake. The children canthickly settled, a host of sportsmen is not help it, and sweet, clean, dry beds on the hunting ground by dawn of when it is understood that the cause is the first day of hunting. There are not a habit but a weekness that can de a hundred men with guns ready to cared Active life of the little one pour a ball of buckshot in the direction of the fleeing deer. Rifles are not used, because the hunter could not pull a trigger without bringing down some fellow sportsman within range of the bullet. On Tuesday night before the first Wednesday in November, Sayville, Patchogue, Bay Shore. Smithtown and other places on the south shore and to the north of the Ronkonkoma Woods are in a feverish state of preparation for the opening of the deer senson with the first light The sun has just tipped the horizon when the "wilderness," the tracks of the Long Island railroad running through it and the roads bounding it resound with the report of shotguns. The battle is on.

The Long Island chase has developed a peculiar kind of deerslayer, the like of whom is not known in other countries. He is called a track hunter, because he takes his stand of the ties of the Long Island railroad where they run through the woods. The bay of hounds at once calls the track-hunters by hundreds to the steel, rails. Often they are to be seen as thick as mosquitoes in Jersey. The deer breaks and dashes for the track to escape the hounds. Then a mighty fusilade wakes the echoes. The nimrods within sight of the animal have filled the air with lead. Of course, the deer falls, and the sportsmen swarm around its dying form like crows about a carcass. The question of who shall have the antlers if it be a buck, who shall have the hide, and among how many the meat shall be divided are rarely settled except after a riot. Any one who can squint along a barrel and press a trigger may be a track-hunt'. The utmost woodcraft is required to locate the Long Island ra'lroad in the "wilder-

All the Long Island deer hunters are not of the grotesque type described, however. Fair sport may be had on any of the preserves of some of the clubs; sport that requires a good eye and a quick hand and some degree of skill. It is not to be compared with deer hunting in the Adirondacks or the Maine wilderness, but it gives the deer a running chance for its life, and men may engage in it without a loss of self-respect.

From Waverly on the south, nearly to Wading River on the north and east, and Smithtown on the west, the deer abound in great numbers. This territory embraces Lake Ronkonkoma. where the Indians used to lie in wait for their game. The country is flat. and covered with scrub oak and un derbrush, through which even the guides sometimes have trouble in pushing their way.

From Oakdale north, and embracing a strip about two miles wide and five miles long, is the preserve of the Southside club, an organization of wealthy gentlemen, who, by observing the law themselves and compelling its enforcement by others, have succeeded in increasing the number of deer to such an extent that the farmers have good cause for complaint. The latter argue the injustice of allowing the deer to destroy their crops while the law protects the deer from being shot.

The change in the game laws distributing the season over four weeks is generally regarded by sportsmen as a wise move. Previously four consecutive days were set aside, and then the woods fairly broke loose into a pandemoniu».

For four days there would be a scene of carnage, not limited alone to the deer. Stray shots found resting places in human targets. The lust for the chase became wild. All else was forgotten. Private preserves were invaded and despoiled.

The game keepers were in open war fare with the less scrupulous hunts men, who respected neither the law nor the proprieties of sport and fall play. But a great change has been wrought. Last year the gunning was followed with equal zest, but the one day of each week set apart and the six days intervening had a tendency to check any attempt af lawlessness

And the game that was killed! On the opening day of the season it was estimated that no less than 150 deer succumbed to the hunters' prowess. Next day the trains on the Long Isl and railroad fairly groaned under their weight of venison. Others of the sportsmen carried their trophies away by wagon, and still others bound for the ducks of Great South Bay, had recourse to boats.

every way. He came before his audience in easy, informal way. His fine physique and strong face attract attention at once, but it is the genial humor in his eyes, and the happy faculty he son. has of laughing with his audience that draw people to him, and make his lecture very enjoyable.

Mr. French pointed out many striking analogies between composition in literature and art. The author and the artist work in the very same way. The author, after choosing his subject, first determines upon the general sweep of thought: he prepares an outline, and it is only after he has fixed in his mind a broad conception of the production, that he proceeds to the details. The artist, also, looks fir t for great masses of light and shade. He "b ocks ia" his figures, half closing his eyes to shut out the little things. This gives him the "artists squint." As he talked the lecturer turned to the chart behind him. A few strokes of the crayon outlined his sketch; a line was added here and a shade there; in a moment the illustration was finished. With such incredible skill and rapidity did the artist work, that many times during the evening, the audience burst into applause.

The most general laws of artistic composition were explained and illustrated in this way. First, with many a witty comment, he was building up a sturdy muscular Irishman from a skeleton outline and next he was displaying graceful group of cato, made with a half dozen lines. His reproduction f. onmemory of a picture by Landseer was very fine, as was also his illustration o! the law of "radiation" by a sketch in in perspective. The analogies, which Mr. French pointed out, in the compos ition of Pais "Raven", and "The Lake of Como" by the English painter, Stanfield, formed one of the most interest eg parts of his lecture.

QUEER BOYS OF ZULULAND.

They Chase Monkeys for Work and Hunt Birds for Fun.

At the same time that our boys are started for the school, often feeling very much injured because the day is bright and they would rather play football, the Zulu boy, without any breakfast, is sent out into his father's field, where the crops are growing.

The work assigned to him there does not in the least resemble any chores that a boy might find to do here, for it consists in chasing away the monkeys and baboons which come out of the forest and prowl about with designs on the ripening pumpkins and other fruits. This is lively work, for monkeys are notably quick in their movements and unless the youngsters are on the alert the monkeys pounce upon their booty and carry it away under the boys' noses

At other times of the year it is not the baboons but the birds that must be kept from the ripening grain. After a morning of such lively exercise the boys are ravenous for their noon meal, the first food that is given them during the day, for they only eat twice in twenty-four hours and not so much as an afternoon tea between times.

The whole aim of a Zulu boy's training is to make him a dauntless and victorious warrior. This being the case, the most important of their games is one in which they learn to throw sharpened sticks with skill. It is played as follows: One of their number ascends a small hill while the others, with their sticks in their hands, range themselves in a row down the side. The lad at the top then throws past the boys with all his force the huge, soft bulb of a large African lily. This bulb is a foot in diameter, and as it goes by the first boy he flings his stick at it. If he fails to pierce it the next boy, quick as lightning, throws, too, and if he fails, the next one tries it, and so on until one of them sends his stick into the heart of the bulb, and as a reward he is allowed to go higher in the line, displacing the boy above him.

Though they consider it a great hardship to be obliged to chase the birds from their father's crops, the boys will pursue them from bush to bush and from tree to tree, until they actually tire their game out, when they knock the birds on the head and kill them. If a Zulu boy were told to put salt on a bird's tail he would not find it such a very difficult feat.

When the young Zulu has become tired or heated from other sports he runs to the nearest river, into which he dives. It is not necessary for him to stop to take off his clothes, because he never wears any, and at such a time he must find it very convenient. Zulu boys have been in the water so much from their very infancy that they seem almost as much at home in it as the fish themselves, Many of their strokes in swimming differ greatly from ours, and they are able to make headway against the swiftest and strongest river currents. This is very necessary, because the South African rivers all flow swiftly and there are few opportunities for stillwater bathing.

They are especially proud of the length of time that they are able to remain underneath the water, and they learn to swim with their shoulders. They do not use their arms at all, but simply call into play the -Chicago Inter-Ocean.

THE FIRST BABY.

Its Coming is Looked Forward to With Both Joy and Fear and its Safe Arrival is Hailed With Pride and Delight by All.

The arrival of the first baby in the household is the happiest and most im-portant event of married life. The young wife who is to become a mother delights to think of the happiness in store for her when the little one shall nestle upon her breast and latterly she shall hear it lisp the sweet and holy name, "mother." But her happy anticipation quickly van-ishes when she realizes the tarrible pain and suffering through which she must pass while bringing the little one into the world. An indescribable fear of the danger attendant upon the ordeal soon dissipates her joyfulness.

Thousands of women have learned by experience that there is absolutely no necessity for the sufferings which attend child-birth; they know that by the use of "Mother's Friend"—a scientific liniment—for a few weeks before the trying hour, expectant mothers can so prepare themselves for the final hour that the pain and suffering of the dreaded event are entirely obviated and it is safely passed through with comparatively little discomfort.

All women are interested, and especially expectant mothers who for the first time have to undergo this trial, in such a remedy; for they know the pain and suffering, to say nothing of the danger, which is in store for them. "Mother's Friend" is woman's greatest blessing, for it takes her safely through the sing, for it takes her safely through the severest ordeal of her life. Every woman should be glad to read the little book "Before Baby is Born," which contains information of great value to all. It will be sent free to any one who sends their address to The Bradfield Regulator Co., Atlanta, Ga.

COME THE RICH, RARE AND BEAU-TIFUL ARTICLES

Displayed for the Holiday Trade at Wright, Kay & Co.'s, Detroit.

In the selection of a holiday present it should be borne in mind that articles of personal adornment and household ornament are the most popular. Gold watches, fancy clocks, diamonds and other gems in rings, brooches and pins, a card case with engraved cards, sliverware for the table and mantel—any of these are eminently suitable for holiday gifts.

Most of us, however, are not the best judges of the quality of such articles, and must depend upon the character of the firms from whom we purchase them. It is also a great help if one can find a skilled salesman to suggest what is newest and most desirable. All these conditions for satisfactory purchasing are found at the establishment of Messrs. Wright, Kay & Co., jewelers and im-porters of gems and art ware, 140 and 142 Woodward avenue, Detroit. This house is situated in the Detroit Opera House Block, on the Campus Martius, opposite the City Hall, one of the most prominent and central locations in that city. It has been there for so long a time that it is a civic landmark. The business is over twenty-seven years old, and the nonmlarity of the house is fully estab lished on the bread foundations of skill, experience and reliability.
The showrooms of Wright, Kay &

Co. are filled with the newest and richest goods that two continents can furnish, while their assortment of inexpensive and medium-priced articles is also complete.

For Holiday gifts our readers will find no assortment so large or so fine in the State as at Wright, Kay & Co.'s. It comprises the finest precious stones. the richest jewelry, watches of every the most brilliant cut glass, leather goods in great variety, ivory and porcelain paintings, bronzes of finest demarble statuary from the most elebrated artists, percelain from the European potteries, decorated s from Vienna, Venice and Carls umbrellas in rich mountings, hall, mantel, desk and traveling clocks, opera glasses, lorgnettes, eye glasses and spectacles, belts, sashes and girdles, etc. Here is a choice for every-

BRITISH IN A BOER TRAP

TWO ARE KILLED AND TWENTY SIX WOUNDED.

In Addition, 605 Men Are Missing--Eftorts of General Gatacre to Dislodge Enemy Proves a Fallure.

Pretoria, Dec. 11.—Six hundred and seventy-two British prisoners were taken at Stormberg.

In the fighting at Modder River yesterday evening General Cronje maintained his position and captured fifty British soldiers.

The Boers captured three British guns in the engagement with General Gatacre's force at Stormberg.

The sortie at Kimberly last Saturday was an attempt to take the Boer position at Kamperdam and to secure he waterworks. All the British shots Details are expected from the Boer outposts in the direction of the Mod-der River. There is a report that the British are advancing on the plain and heavy fighting is anticipated. General Prins Loo and General Cronje command the Boer forces.

London, Dec. 11.—After nearly two weeks of careful preparations General Gatacre opened his campaign on the southern frontier Sunday, and lost nearly 700 men in discovering that the Boers' position at Stormberg was impregnable.

Gatacre officially describes the engagement as a serious British reverse, and lays his defeat to misleading information from his guides. The Boer force was estimated at 3,000 and the British force at from 2,000 to 3,000. The fighting was severe at times, but the British losses are almost entirely wounded and captured.

So far as is known only two are killed, one private and one gunner.

Among the wounded and missing are nineteen officers.

London, Dec. 10.—The War office has issued the following dispatch from General Buller, dated Frere Camp. Dec. 9, afternoon:

"The following was received from General White today: "Last night sent General Hunter with 500 Natal volunteers under Roynston and 100 of the Imperial Light Horse under Edwards to sur-prise a gun on a hill. The enterprise was admirably carried out and was entirely successful, the hill being captured and a six-inch gun and howitzer being destroyed with gun cotton by Captain Fowke and Lieutenant Tur-ner. A Maxim was captured and brought to Ladysmith. Our loss was one killed and Major Henderson of the First Battalion of the Argyle Highlanders wounded. "'At the same time that Colonel Knox seized the hill one squadron of the Nineteenth Hussars rode around Penworth Hill, burning kraals and cutting telegraph lines.

London, Dec. 6.-A dispatch from Pretoria, dated Dec. 2, says: General Joubert is indisposed and has arrived at Volksrust, across the Transvaal border, for medical treatment.

A dispatch from the head laager, where Gen. Schalkburger is in supreme command during the absence of Gen. Joubert, announces that a council of war was held Dec. 2, with reference to assaulting Ladysmith. The state attorney has arrived at the camp to advise the Boer commanders. Everything is quiet at Ladysmith.

Dispatches from the west report that Mafeking during the morning of Dec.

London, Dec. 6.-A special dispatch from Estcourt censures Rear-Admiral Sir Robert Harris, commander-in-chief of the Cape of Good Hope and West African squadrons, for his delay in sending Capt. Scott and Capt. Lambton with guns to Ladysmith. "It is notorious," says the correspondent. "that only at the last mo-ment, on Oct. 30, while a decisive action was pending, did Capt. Lambton (of the Powerful) arrive at Ladysmith. A week, a day, a few hours might, and I doubt not would, have saved the situation and delayed the investment, if it had not ended the Boer attempt."

Thief Shoots Two.

Racine, Wis., Dec. 7.—The Rev. David B. Cheney, pastor of the largest church in this city, and his wife are dangerously wounded as the result of a murderous attack by a sneak thief, who entered the house in broad day-light yesterday. The intruder fired two bullets at Mrs. Cheney on being discovered by her, and then shot her husband twice when he came to her rescue. It was said late in the even-ing that both would recover. A reward of $500 has been offered for his capture, by the city.

Tolstol Very Ill. Vienna, Dec. 11.—Count Tolstoi, who was reported sick of a billious trouble in Moscow last week, but whose condition then was declared not serious, is growing worse. The reports now are that his new illness is caus ing considerable anxiety, as the aged author is in an extremely weak condi tion and has several times lost con sciousness during the last few days.

French Demands on China-Peking, Dec. 10.—The French gov-ernment has formally demanded the degradation of the Viceroy of Canton because the order to execute the Chinese magistrate who was responsible for the murder of two French officers at Montao has not been carried out. The Tsung-li-Yamen will probably refuse.

TAYLOR WINS OUT.

State Board Decides Against Goebel in the Kentucky Contest.

Frankfort, Ky., Dec. 9.-The state board of election commissioners today decided to give the certificate to Tay lor. That is, the decision was read in the senate chamber at 10 o'clock this morning, though the action of the board was taken last night. Commissioner Poyntz read a dissenting opinion. Goebel declines to say whether he will contest the action in the courts.

The certificates of election will be issued today. Preparations are being made for the inauguration of Gov .-Elect Taylor on Tuesday. Minor state officers go into office Jan. 2.

The opinion attached to the majority decision declares the commissioners have no authority under the law for throwing out the vote of Louisville as asked by the democrats, because the militia was ordered out on election day. The summoning of the militia to the polls by the governor is con-

BURNED NEGRO AT STAKE.

Kentucky Mob Takes Negro Murderer From Sher. a and Torture Him.

Maysville, Ky., Dec. 7.-Richard Coleman, a negro, confessed murderer of Mrs. James Lashbrook, wife of his employer, was burned at the stake vesterday by a mob of citizens, led by the relatives of the dead woman who took him from officers by force.

Two months ago Richard Coleman an employe of Farmer James Lashbrook, was left in charge of the house. Mrs. Lashbrook had driven to Mays-ville and returned, when Coleman asked her to enter the cabin to look at some work at which he had been engaged. The negro then struck her on the head, knocking her down, but not stopping her cries, cut her throat.

All the leaders of the mob are well known and make no effort to conceal their identity.

County Judge Harbeson will impanel a special jury at once to make an investigation and return indictments against the leaders of the mob.

Millions for Mill Men.

Boston, Mass., Dec. 11.-The advance in wages granted by the Fall River cotton mills has been allowed by other New England cotton mill operators and woolen goods manufacturers until now 300,000 mill employes are to be granted increased pay. The advance amounts in most instances to 10 per cent. The new scale goes in effect in some districts tomorrow. In many districts the advance will become a fact a week from tomorrow, while other operators have set Jan. 1 as the date when the higher scale will become operative.

From advances already announced it is estimated that cotton mill employes will receive $180,000 weekly in excess of their present earnings. The increase to woolen mill operatives thus far amounts to about $20,000 weekly.

His Revenge.

A writer tells the following story of schoolboy coolness and pluck, and states that it is founded on fact. "You're a coward!" A sentence calculated to make any English schoolboy clench his fists and promptly endeavor to make his accuser prove or eat his words. "Yes, of course you are, or you wouldn't told that you were one of the party that upset old Mother Tuck's cart;" and Dan Isaacs, the bully of the school, scowled at the delicate-looking, slim lad, who stood quietly, if nervously, before him in the cricket ground.

"Perhaps I am," was the reply, "but then I did not pocket any of the old woman's apples afterwards," and Dicky Ford grew bolder as he went on: "No, a spree is one thing, but to rob a poor apple woman is very dif-

"I'll knock your young head off, if you say that again," roared Dan, crimson with rage and the knowledge of his meanness, which he thought had not been seen by any of the other boys.

But Dicky, lighter of foot than his persecutor, had scudded off to the other end of the field.

Presently there was a noise of men and women shouting and screaming in the road close by, and every boy ran to the low wall that bounded the cricket field. Down the road at a terrific pace came a mad bull, followed by scores of men and boys at a respectful distance.

The sight of the boys on the wall at tracted its attention, and with a bellow it turned on them, tearing head long at the wall with a mad bound. Of course, the boys scattered in all directions as the animal half fell, half cleared the wall, and then scrambling ti its feet, stood for a second before charging the fleeing crowd.

Nobody in the hurry had noticed that Dan Isaacs had sprained his ankle as he jumped from the wall, and was trying painfully to escape the notice bull by crawling into the shell ter of the little clump of trees in the corner of the cricket ground.

Suddenly, the furious beast caught sight of him, and with a fierce bellow turned on him. Poor Dan, nearly dead with fright and pain, just managed to elude the mad rush by the aid of a friendly tree, but a few minutes of dodging tired him out, and he screamed for help, while the men and boys seemed paralyzed and unable gest any means of diverting the bull's attention.

Then they all held their breath it fright, as little Dickie, with a shout, burst to the front, dribbling before him a football right up to the bull.

"Come back, come back!" they cried, "you'll be killed!" But Dicky was no coward now

With a firm kick he sent the ball slap in the face of the bull as he was the point of tossing the now faggedout Dan. Staggered by the sudden sting of the ball the beast in its blind rage turned to follow the football as it rebounded from its head, seeing in it a new en emy, and, butting at it flercely, was soon at the other end of the field, while the boys helped the badly frightened Dan over the wall and hur ried over themselves as two men with rifles made their appearance.

Stopping for a while to take breath the bad glared around him as if uncertain what to do next. He had not much time for decision, however, as two reports rang out heavily on the air, and the bull fell headlong, rose with a roar of pain and anger, and then, as another shot echoed against the school walls, fell again, with a thud, this time with a bullet through his heart,

"Three cheers for Dicky Ford! shouted the boys, as they gathere round the dead beast. And they gav them, too, with a will, while Dan with tears in his eyes, in broken tones begged Dick's pardon for calling him a coward.

"Fancy going for a bull with a foot ball!" they all cried; "why, nobody but Dicky would have thought of such a thing."

"I don't know why I did it," sald Dick, blushing at the enthusiastic greetings of the other boys; "but I just thought perhaps a kick at the bull with a football might take his attention away from Dan." "Hurrah for Dicky Ford?" they all

shouted again; and Dicky couldn't help thinking that he had had, after all, his revenge on the boy who called him

GEN. DEL PILAR KILLED.

AGUINALDO'S OFFICER SHOT WHILE RETREATING.

Commander of the Insurgent Leader's Bodyguard Dies in Battle-One of Recognized Leaders in Rebellion.

Manila, Dec. 12.-General Lawtin, with the Thirty-fifth Infantry and four troops of the Fourth Cavalry, has oc-cupled San Miguel without a fight. Manila., Dec. 11.—Gen. Gregario del Pilar, commanding Aguinaldo's bodyguard was killed by Major Peyton March's battalion of the Thirty-third Infantry in a fight eighteen miles northwest of Cervantes on Dec. 3. According to reports which Gen. Young obtained from escaped Spanish prisoners at Vigan several days ago, Major March left the coast, where he was pursuing Aguinaldo, and encountered Gen. del Pilar on a fortified trail. They fought for four hours, during which time seventy Filipinos were killed or wounded. The American loss was one man killed and six wounded. The Spaniards report that Major March is still pursuing the insurgents.

Manila, Dec. 11.—The advance guard of General Grant's command, under Major Spence, arrived at Olangapo, Subig Bay, during the night of Satur-day, Dec. 9, which place was occupied with little resistance, the enemy flee-ing. Major Spence had an arduous march over the mountain trails from Cures the Worst Cases.

Cures the blood diseases where the blood is in any way involved.

Everyone who has had experience with blood diseases knows that there are no allments or troubles so obstinate and difficult to cure. Very few remedies claim to cure such real, deep-seated blood diseases as S. S. S. cures, and none can offer such incontrovertible evidence of merit. S. S. is not merely a tonic—it is a cure! It goes down to the very seat of all blood diseases, and gets at the foundation of the very worst cases, and routs the poison from the system. It does not, like other remedies, dry up the poison and hide it from view temporarily, only to break forth again more violently than ever; S. S. S. forces out every trace of taint, and rids the system of it forever.

Mrs. T. W. Lee, Montgomery, Ala., writes: "Some years ago I was inoculated with poison by a nurse who infected my babe with blood taint. I was covered with sores and alcers from head to foot, and in my great extremity I prayed to die. Several prominent physicians treated me, but all to no purpose. The mercury and potash which they gave me seemed to add fuel to the awful flame which was levouring me. I was advised by friends who had seen wonderful cures made by it, to try Swift's Specific. I improved from the start, as the medicine seemed to go direct to the cause of the trouble and force the poison out. Twenty bottles cured me completely." Swift's Specific—

-is the only remedy that is guaranteed purely vegetable, and contains no mercury, potash, arsenic, or any other mineral or chemical. It never fails to sure Cancer, Eczema, Scrofula, Rheumatism, Contagious Blood Poison, Petter, Boils, Carbuncles, Sores, etc.

If so, there must be some trouble with its food. Well babies are plump; only the sick are thin. Are you sure the food is all right? Children can't help but grow; they must grow if their food nourishes them. Perhaps a mistake was made in the past and as a result the digestion is weakened. If that is so, don't give the baby a lot of medicine; just use your every-day common sense and help nature a little, and the way to do it is to add half a teaspoonful of to the baby's food three or four times a day. The gain will begin the very first day you give it. It seems to correct the digestion and gets the baby started right again. If the baby is nursing but does not thrive, then the mother should take the emulsion. It will have a good effect both upon the mother and child. Twentyfive years proves this fact.
