The Provost Marshal General's Report on the Draft.

PROVOST MARCHAL GENERAL'S OFFICE, WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 19, 1863.

Sir—I have the honor to report for your information certain general facts connected with the draft as shown by the report made up to this time.

The machinery for executing the Enrollment Act is in complete working order. The law, as it stands, cannot be made to develop the entire military strength of the nation, and the execution of it has been rendered exceedingly difficult by the efforts made in various ways to resist or evade it, or to escape from its operation.

Its fruits, therefore, are not so abundant as they will be from a perfect law and more thoroughly established system of executing it. All the advantages, however, which could reasonably have been expected from the law, are accruing.

Its general principles distribute the burdens of military service fairly among those liable to bear them, but there is perhaps more generosity than justice in some of its humane provisions. With certain modifications, which can readily be made by Congress, the military strength of the country may, by the direct and indirect operation of this act, be surely and cheaply brought into the field.

Several of the Western States have not been subjected to the present draft on account of the excess of volunteers heretofore furnished, and from the same cause the quotas in our Western States are rendered quite small; the present draft is therefore but a partial one, and no specific total was established as the quota for it.

Of those drawn in the present draft, including the 50 per cent. additional, over 80 per cent. have reported in accordance with the orders of the boards. Of the 20 per cent. who have not reported, many are not willful deserters, being unavoidably absent at sea and on the lakes. The deserters are being arrested.

Of all examined, about 30 per cent. have been exempted on account of physical disability, and about 30 per cent. have been exempted under the provisions of the second section of the act, or found not liable to military duty on account of alienage, unsuitableness of age, non residents, &c. Those who are not liable to military duty, and form no part of the national forces, and therefore have been erroneously enrolled, appear in the general reports of the boards among those exempted, because their own non-liability to serve could not be established until they came before the boards. The number of the exemptions is thus made to appear much larger than it really is.

About 40 per cent of the men examined have been held to service, and have entered the army in person, furnished substitutes or paid commutation.

About one-half of those held to service have paid commutation; of the remainder, one-third have gone in person, and two-thirds have furnished substitutes, and all except a few in transit and a small proportion of the deserters from among the earlier substitutes accepted are in the ranks of their regiments in front of the enemy. It is fair to suppose that most of those who willfully fail to report and thus become deserters are physically fit for service; if they had been examined the proportion exempted for physical disability would have been reduced to 25 per cent. The proportion of exemptions would be still further reduced by purging the enrollment lists before draft of all cases of manifest unfitness, of aliens and others not liable to military duty, as may be done where this system of raising troops is well established.

The proportions above given are based upon the reports up to this time for the seventy-three Congressional districts where the draft has been completed or has most nearly approached completion.

Since the present rebellion began, about 200,000 soldiers, after entering service, have been discharged on Surgeon's certificate of disability. It is probable that at least one-half of them were unfit for service when received. It may be safely said that forty millions of money was uselessly expended in bringing them into the field, to say nothing of their subsequent expense to the government.

In Great Britain under the system of volunteer enlistment the rejections average over 27 per cent. In France, from 1831 to 1849, the average number of exemptions annually was 94,806; so that, to secure the contingent of 80,000 men, 174,860 conscripts were annually examined.

Of the recruits who presented themselves for enlistment in our regular army in 1852, 70 per cent were rejected for physical infirmities exclusive of age or stature. Between the 1st of January and 1st of July last more than one-half were rejected. These were men who desire to be accepted. These proportions are of interest in connection with the fact that less than one-third of the drafted men who desire not to be accepted have been exempted on account of physical unfitness.

There have been but few cases of incompetency, fraud, neglect or abuse in the examination of drafted men. These men have, however, in many ways been swindled by rogues having no connection with the Boards of Enrollment, as for example, the fact that certain drafted men were physically unfit for service has become known to these sharpers, when it was perhaps not known to the men themselves, and they have so far imposed upon the ignorance or credulity of the drafted men as to get from them sums of money to secure an exemption to which the rogues knew they were entitled and would surely receive, and the drafted men finding themselves exempted as promised, have sometimes thought and given out that they secured exemption by bribery of drafting officers, whereas they were legally entitled to exemption and have themselves been swindled by sharpers.

All has been done that seemed proper under existing laws to check these evils, and to meet properly the few cases of criminality and incompetency which have occurred among the officers of this bureau.

All the expenditures up to this time on account of this bureau, including the enrollment, draft and pay of officers and persons connected with it, are but little over $1,200,000. These expenditures include all made on account of the machinery which has produced the arrest and return of 20,000 deserters.

The amount of money received from the draft up to this date is about ten times as great as all the expenses incurred on account of the enrollment act; those resulting from the New York riots are not, however, included in this statement, as they are more properly attributable to other causes and other persons than to the draft or the officers of this bureau.

I am, very respectfully, your obt. serv't.
JAMES B. FRY, Provost Marshal Gen.
Hon. E. M. STANTON, Secretary of War.

Advice to Young Men.
A lady who signs herself "A Martyr to Late Hours," offers the following sensible suggestions to young men:

Dear gentlemen between the ages of "eighteen and forty-five," listen to a few words of gratuitous wisdom.—When you make a social call on an evening, on a young lady, go away at a reasonable hour. Say you come at eight o'clock, an hour and a half is certainly as long as any of the most fascinating of you in conversation can, or rather ought to, desire to use his charms. Two hours, indeed, can be very pleasantly spent, with music, chess or other games to lend variety; but, kind sirs, by no means stay longer.—Make shorter calls and come oftener.

A girl—that is a sensible, true-hearted girl—who will enjoy it better and value your acquaintance more. Just conceive the agony of a girl who, well-knowing the feelings of father and mother upon the subject, hears the clock strike ten, and yet must be compelled to sit on the edge of her chair, in mortal terror, lest papa should put his oft repeated threat in execution, that of coming down and inviting a gentleman to breakfast.—And we girls understand it all by experience, and know what it is to dread the prognosis of displeasure. In such cases a sigh of relief generally accompanies the closing of the door behind the gallant, and one don't get over the feeling of trouble till safe in the arms of Morpheus. Even then sometimes the dreams are troubled with some phantom of an angry father and distressed (for all parties) mother; and all because a young man will make a longer call than he ought to do. Now, young gentlemen friends, I'll tell you what we girls will do. For an hour and a half we will be most irresistibly charming and fascinating; then beware, monosyllabic responses will be all you need expect. And if, when the limits have been passed, a startling query shall be heard coming down stairs: "Isn't it time to close up?" you may consider it a righteous punishment, and taking your hat meekly depart, a sadder, and it is to be hoped, a wiser man. Do not get angry, but the next time you come be careful to keep within just bounds. We want to rise early these healthy mornings, and improve each "shining hour"; but when forced to be up at such late hours at night, exhausted nature will speak, and as a natural consequence with the utmost speed in dressing, we can barely get down to breakfast in time to escape a reprimand from papa, who don't believe in beaux—just as though he never was young—and a mild, reproving glance from mamma, who understands a little better a poor daughter's feelings, but must still disapprove outwardly, to keep up appearance. And now, young men, think about these things, and don't—for pity's sake don't—throw down your paper with a "pshaw!" but remember the safe side of ten.

SUCCESS IN LIFE.—This I reckon to be success in life—fitness—perfect adaptation. I hold him successful, and him only, who has found or conquered a position in which he can bring himself into full play. Success is perfect or partial, according as it comes up to, or falls below, this standard. Success in business, success in ambition, is not success in life, though it may be comprehended in it. Very few of us are working at the top of our bent. One may give scope to his mechanical invention, but his poetry is cramped.—One has his intellect as high pressure, but the fires are out under his heart. One is the bond servant of love, and Pegasus becomes a drag-horse. Apollo must keep the pot boiling, and Minerva is hurried with the fall-servant. So we go, and above us the sun shines and the stars throb; and beneath us the snows, and the flowers, and the blind, instinctive earth; and over all, and in all, God blessed forever.—Gail Hamilton.

The receipts at the Internal Revenue Bureau, in October, are 50 per cent. in excess of those for September, and include about $1,000,000 as the tax on deposits and circulation of banks. The entire receipts since the Bureau went into operation are nearly $63,000,000, and nearly $10,000,000 for the last month.

Two men live here, to-day, whose names are honored in America—D'Aubigne and Malan—one, the chronicler of Luther's acts, and of the rolling wave of the Reformation; the other, the exemplar of the principles of the reformers, and a soldier in the vanguard of Protestantism in Europe.

The democrats have carried the State. The majority is less than at the last election. The Legislature is about the same.

Twenty-eight counties in this State give Depew, (Union) for Secretary of State 53,700 majority, and thirteen counties give 29,450 majority for St. John (dem.). The Union majorities in forty-one counties is 24,250, with eighteen counties to hear from.

A dispatch from Springfield, Illinois, gives the following as the results of the county elections in that State yesterday: Springfield, 138 Union majority; Decatur, 281; Jacksonville, 490; Bloomington, 562; Quincy, 91 democratic; Joliet 251. These majorities show large Union gains, which will doubtless obtain throughout the entire State.

Returns from 200 towns give Andrew 32,819 majority. Twelve democrats are elected to the Legislature. The Senate and all State officers are republican.

The latest returns from the city indicate the election of Bosworth (Union) over McCann for Justice of the Supreme Court. The vote is: Bosworth, 11,289; McCann, 80,824, with five districts to hear from.

It is wonderful what extremes have met in Geneva. John Knox has walked its streets, and so has Voltaire; Broughton, who read the sentence of death to Charles I., no less than Necker, the sycophant minister of Louis XIV., have been here...

Fairbanks' Scales.—Weighed in the balance of a just criticism, all are obliged to admit that Fairbanks' Scales are, without exception, the best ever invented. We know whereof we affirm, because we have tested their value, and are fully satisfied of their superior merits. The introduction of these scales has wrought a revolution in the transactions of various business, and their accuracy is such that a uniformity in weights has been established all over the country, thus making them a national legal standard. Nor are they confined to the United States; they have found their way to almost every part of the civilized world, and are adapted to the standards of all countries, so that it may be said, all nations, if not "weighed in these balances," at least weigh by them.—Hunt's Merchant's Magazine.

Look out for counterfeits! not only of bank bills, but of everything truly valuable. We understand that even the indispensable articles known as "Family Dye Colors" are not an exception to this rule. The imitations, like all counterfeits, are utterly worthless. Remember that Howe & Stevens' Family Dye Colors are the original, the only valuable and useful thing of the kind.

Paul the Apostle speaks of Luke as the "beloved physician," and few endeavor themselves to us more than those who like "ministering angels," bring us the healing balm in sickness. So it is with medicines that cure; though we never see the maker, yet we get a feeling of regard for him through our eyes. How many have reason to bless Dr. Ayer for his invaluable remedies, so cheap and yet so effective! What public benefactors better deserve esteem than those who rescue the body from disease and premature decay.—Portsmouth (N. H.) Gazette.

From Burnside's Army. PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 4. The Bulletin has received the following dispatch dated Cincinnati, 4th: "There is nothing new from Gen. Burnside. We have possession of Tusculum, Ala. There has probably been a severe fight in that quarter between Gen. Sherman's forces and a heavy rebel force sent there to dispute his passage."

From Grant's Army. WASHINGTON, Nov. 4. The brief official statements from Major General Thomas, relative to the recent fight at Wauhatchie, have already been published, but the following, from Quartermaster General Meigs, dated Oct. 29th, possesses additional interest: "Last night the Eleventh Corps entered on this central campaign, Gen. Geary, some four miles up the Lookout Valley, being attacked by Gen. Longstreet. The Eleventh Corps about 11 o'clock, passing two steep, wooded hills about 150 feet in height, received a volley from a rebel force which had occupied and entrenched the summit. After dark four regiments assaulted the west hill, and, without firing a shot, steadily advanced by the light of the moon and drove the rebels out of their rifle pits and down the slope of the hill. Thirty-one dead soldiers attest the difficulty of the assault and valor of our troops. When these hills were taken they marched to the assistance of Gen. Geary, who held his position and Longstreet was driven back."

Divorce and Revenge Among Birds.

The Shields (England) Gazette has the following curious story of animal life: In the interior of the Tyne Dock wagon-shops the attention of the workmen was, about a week ago, attracted to the movements of a pair of sparrows engaged in constructing a nest in a hollow where two girders meet for the support of the iron roof. For several days they labored most assiduously in preparing their abode, when by some sudden freak the progress of the tiny fabric was suspended. A few mornings afterwards the ears of the workmen were saluted by loud chirruping and fluttering of wings, and from what transpired subsequently it was evident that the female bird had severed the connubial bond, and enlisted the affections of another, who now vigorously contended with the rejected bird for the possession of the nest. For several hours the conflict continued until the usurper proved the strongest. The rejected bird shortly afterwards returned and hovered about the spot, apparently watching an opportunity for revenge. This speedily occurred, for in the course of a short time the newly joined pair left for a brief period. In their absence the detested sparrow approached the nest, and placing his back beneath the leathery mass, raised it from its resting place, and sent it to the ground. The surprise of the other birds on their return at beholding the demolition of their dwelling, appeared to be great, and was amusing to observe. Notwithstanding this disaster, however, they commenced to build a second nest in the same place, the rejected male watching their proceedings with apparent interest. After two days of incessant labor they again left for a short time, and taking advantage of their absence, the disappointed bird again demolished their feathery residence. The birds on their return commenced again to build their nest, in which they are now engaged.

GRANT'S CAPTURE OF LOOKOUT MOUNTAIN.

The news that General Grant has secured Lookout Mountain and the road to Bridgeport is now fully confirmed, and is of the utmost moment. Chattanooga is now safe, and our army can be supplied abundantly. The importance of Lookout Mountain, which is now certainly ours, is thus described in a recent copy of the Atlanta (Ga.) Appeal: "Lookout Mountain, which is now in our possession, is as essential to the Federal commander, if he has determined to hold Chattanooga as a base of further operations, as Nashville, Murfreesboro, or Bridgeport, for the simple reason that it commands the railroads, contains several important passes, and is a standing threat over Chattanooga. Once possessed by the enemy, it relieves their wagon trains, enables them to provision their army, and gives them the most valuable position for offense or defense in the entire region."

The possession of this mountain and the roads it commands was worth a great battle; but the fact that it was secured by a small one is another proof of the wisdom of Gen. Grant's combinations, and is an omen which gives promise of final victory in that quarter. -New York World.

THE SENSE OF TOUCH.

The extreme delicacy to which the sense of touch may be brought by practice often receives curious illustrations. One of the best known is the ability of the blind to read raised letters; and in one case where the sense of touch by the pulp of the fingers had been much reduced by an injury, the sufferer learned to read by applying her lips to the letters. It is said that in counting rapidly a roll of bank notes, a clerk in the bank of England will be able to detect a counterfeit note by the touch alone, which on examination by an ordinary individual could distinguish from a genuine note even were he aware that was forged.

INCREASE OF CITIES.

The city of London, in ten years, has increased in population 441,753; New York, 290,104 souls, or 55-37 per cent., and Philadelphia 222,454 inhabitants, or 55.43 per cent. The average number of houses during ten years built in London was 5,349; in New York, 1,668; and in Philadelphia, 2,895. London has been settled 2,000 years, New York 249 years, and Philadelphia 178.

BATTLE FIELD NOMENCLATURE.

Chattanooga is the Cherokee for hawk's nest or eagle's nest. The town was originally the headquarters of John Ross, the Cherokee chief. It received its name from its location, being surrounded on all sides by mountains, the poetic vision of the red man seeing in it an exact resemblance to a hawk's roost, to which our army fell back after the second day's fight, was named in honor of John Ross.

A friend inquires whether a man cannot note by telegraph. This is a question for political wire workers to solve. Our own opinion is that it depends entirely upon the regulations of the poles.
