- In the list of members in attendance upon the annual meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, just closed at Portland, Me., we notice the names of Rev. C. B. Brigham, E. C. Seaman, Esq., and Prof. Harrington, of this city.—the last named a new member.
- The freeing of University Hall has been completed and the stagings removed. Mr. Fassett has done a job that will bear inspection and criticism. The work of cleaning out is progressing rapidly, and the carpenters and painters are also driving business. In a few days Stow and Bennett will be in condition to give a reception.
- The "Sun Burner" put up in University Hall, on trial, was lighted a few evenings since. It gives a brilliant light, so that manuscript of the printer can be read at the most inconvenient place in the gallery, and floods the dome and platform. It has 81 burners, arranged in stars or clusters of nine each, with mica reflectors or projectors.
- On Saturday evening last Mr. Berry, living on Miller avenue, saw a snake by the side of the walk in front of the residence of Mrs. Bower. He gave it a blow when it made known its species by the lively and characteristic music of rattles. Berry finished the snake and confiscated the musical appendage to its caudal extremity—six rattles.
- Dr. Bunsten, of Brooklyn, N. Y., where he has been long connected with a hospital for orphans, has engaged to supply the place of Dr. Sager during the coming session of the Medical Department of the University. The place of Dr. Sager, now absent in Colorado, has not yet been filled, though negotiations are pending with Prof. Armer, who formerly filled the same chair with great satisfaction to all then connected with the department.
- The annual school meeting is to be held on Monday next, for the purpose of making the necessary appropriations, electing three Trustees in place of Messrs. Bach, Donovan, and Porter, and for the transaction of other legal business which may come before it. The polls will close at 2 o'clock p. m. at the Court House, and close at 2 p. m. The business meeting will take place immediately thereafter. There ought to be a larger vote polled and a larger turnout than in late years.
- The political editor of the "Sleeping" or suspended Register suggested to us a day or two since that we write and print its eulogium, epigrams, "in memoriam" or what you call it, and also that it might appropriately commence, "Hush my dear, lie still and slumber, Holy angels guard thy bed."
- But he had forgotten the other lines of the stanza and our poetical machine has not been able to match the couplet, we have concluded that the following unique and resurrected specimen of grave-yard literature, having figured on the tomb stone of an infant, deceased aged but a few hours, is equally or more timely and seasonable:
"Since I'm so quickly done for,
I wish that I was kept for ever."
There, Judge, that is the best we can do in the present harrowed state of our feelings. And it may be no better than your own Hibernian quotation: "Not dead but speechless."
- A few days ago Freeman P. Tucker, of Sylvania, borrowed the buggy of Parson Hill, of Chelsea, in which he deposited a hive of bees and proceeded on his way. In due time the top of the hive came off, and the bees improved their freedom—by bees with some people liberty is a synonym for license—by vigorously stinging Tucker and his horse. Consequences: a buggy smashed to kindlings, not an improved consequence for Tucker, and a new buggy bought for the minister. And now we get the story—Parson Hill has gone on to advising his brothers of the cloth having old buggies to lend them to Tucker or some other man in the bee-hiving time. An evidence of "total depravity," that's a fact.
- Our friend of the Dexter Leader is "sarkatic" or nothing. Witness the following paragraph from his last issue:
"The croquet fever is raging to a great extent in this community. Some exciting matches have been played, and there is considerable strife among players as to which shall excel. American ways do love many sports, especially those that are calculated to develop the muscles."

The September Magazines.

The following magazines for September have been on our table and claiming a notice for some days.

The Atlantic Monthly has a Glance of Contemporary Art in Europe—II.—by W. J. Hoppin; Two Weeks' Sport on the Coughlin River, by George W. Pierce; Honest John Vane—III.—by J. W. DeForest, in which "Honest John" finds that an honest Congressman is of no possible account at Washington; President Johnson's Chief Measures, by James Parton; Gunnar, a Norse Romance—III.—by Hjalmar Hjorth Boyesen; My Experience of Community Life, another interesting chapter of the autobiography of Robert Dale Owen; The Summer's Journey of a Naturalist—III.—by N. S. Shaler; The Shore House, by S. O. Jewett; and for poetry: Frost-Work, by T. B. Aldrich; A Poem Served to Order, which the reader need not be told is by Oliver Wendell Holmes; The Best, by Louis Bushnell; and, The Rhyme of Sir Christopher, by H. W. Longfellow, legendary and characteristic. And then the usual pages of notes on Literature, Art, and Music. Jas. B. Osgood & Co., Boston.

—Scribner's Monthly has for its leading illustrated paper: A Cruise Among the Azores, by S. G. W. Benjamin, seven illus.; Central Park, twenty-one illus.; and The Birds of the Poets, six illus., by John Burroughs. The contents of the paper are: Arthur Bonville, Holland's powerful story, to be concluded in our next number, and which has already reached its crisis, one illus.; An Episode of Fiddletown, Bret Hart's Bret Hart story, one illus.; and Modern Skeptic—II.—by Augustus Blauevelt. The other papers are: "The Liberty of Protestantism"—a response to an "Orthodox Minister," by W. W. Faxon; Edward Eggleston, by Washington Gladden, with portrait; Bann, the Cornet Player, by Albert Webster, Jr.; The Scholar in Politics, an address by Whitelaw Reid; and, A Fan Study, by Noah Brooks. The poems are: Caro Nomo, by Kate Hillard; Spiritual songs from the German, by Geo. Macdonald; A Holiday, by E. D. Rice; A Heart-Song, by Samuel W. Duffield; and, A Midsummer Night, by D. W. Brownell. "The Topics of the Time," "Old Cellar," and other Departments are well filled. Scribner & Co., New York.

—The Eclectic Magazine has thirteen paper selected with a discriminating judgment from the leading foreign periodicals, together with an editorial sketch of the late Chief-Justice Chase, accompanied by a very fine steel portrait; Literary, Scientific, and Art, Notes, etc. The more notable papers are, perhaps: Lectures on Mr. Darwin's Philosophy of Language, by Prof. Max Muller, III.; Marriage in France, from Blackwood; The Brontes, Cornhill Magazine; The Planet Mars, also from Cornhill; Daniel O'Connell, Macmillan's Magazine; The Weather and Sun, by Richard A. Proctor; and Manzoni, by Macmillan. Too soon—a novel—by the author of "Patty," is concluded. In all respects a readable number. E. R. Peck, New York.

—The Aldine is freighted with good things both in pictures and literature. Mr. A. B. Brunner has three magnificent views in the Rocky Mountains: a full page of Clear Creek Canon, a large picture of the Snowy Range of the Sierra Madre, and an interior view, with peak on peak around "The Blue Bird" is an exquisite picture by a French artist; "Brookside Willows" a beautiful sketch by John Howe; "Sleeping Palace" and "Sleeping Beauty" companion pictures by Dore, showing magical skill and genius, besides others which may be classed as "things of beauty." Mrs. Julia C. Dorr opens the number with a fine poem, "Rena, a Legend of Brussels." The stories and legend articles will be read. James S. Furrow & Co., 58 Maiden Lane, N. Y.

—Godley's Lady's Book has a fine steel plate, "In Trouble," extension, colored, and working fashion plates; the continuation of Marcella Harland's capital story, Carrying Weight; with stories by Ino Churchill, S. Annie Frost and others, household recipes, etc. Godley knows how to make a good magazine for both the boudoir and work-room. L. A. Gony, Philadelphia.

—Our Young Folks has three more chapters of "Kilobridge story" being "Best," in which Jack Hazard goes out of his trouble growing out of his going to the manager; another installment of "A Morning with the Jimmies," by Mrs. Abby Morton Diaz; with a heap of other good things both for the boys and girls. J. R. Osgood & Co., Boston.

—The Nursery though placed at the foot of the list should rank as No. 1 in a family having only one or two—say from three to six years old. Its pictures and print are always beautiful, and its contents instructive as well as amusing. JOHN L. SPOKEY, Boston.

PROPOSED STREET RAILWAY.—A meeting was held Monday evening last, at Smith's Boarding Hall on State street, to consider the project of constructing a street railway. Gov. Felch was called to the chair and E. B. Pond appointed secretary.

Prof. T. Brook stated the object of the meeting, and also presented estimates made by Engineer Fuller for a railway from the depot to Huron street at the Court House square, thence to the northwest corner of the University Campus, and along North University and Washington avenues to the triangle beyond the residence of C. H. Millen, Esq. The estimates, which were thought to be sufficiently high, put the cost and equipment at about $13,500, the design being for a light rail and one-horse car.

Prof. Ten Brook also estimated the probable receipts, based on the travel between the Fifth ward, the railroad, and the business part of the city; also between the same points, the central portion and the University, churches, upper schools, cemetery, fair ground, etc. These estimates made a fair showing for a profitable investment.

After a free canvass of the estimates, a motion was carried declaring it expedient to take measures to procure the construction of the proposed railroad, and a further motion was carried appointing Messrs. Felch, Cooley, W. D. Smith, Ten Brook, H. W. Rogers, and Fuller a committee to prepare the necessary articles of association and proceed in the action from the Council marked out by the statute.

The residents and property holders of the Sixth ward, especially that portion of the ward lying east of the University grounds, seem determined to enter immediately upon the work, and if proper encouragement is given by capitalists and others interested in the prosperity of the city, street cars may be running by the time snow flies.

But city fathers show so much territory, and it is no long walk for residents living in the eastern portion, or in the Fifth ward, and especially for ladies, to reach Main street—the business center—for purposes of trade or in the daily and regular pursuit of their callings, that a street railway would be found a great convenience. Besides the residents west of Main street and in the central portion of the city are not without interest in the project. It is as long a distance for a lady to walk from the corner of Main and Huron streets to the new University Hall, where all the lectures will probably be in the future, as for a Sixth ward lady to walk "down town" to her shopping. And either lady may ride both ways for either purpose for 10 cents, in a street railway car, and save the half dollar or more a hack passage will cost. But all these reasons in favor of the proposed railway the reader can work out for himself.

Besides, a street railway may give new life to our city, and so we vote for the experiment.

An adjourned meeting is to be held on Tuesday evening next at the same place as before.

The coming Fair of the Washtenaw County Agricultural and Horticultural Society will be held in this city on Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday, October 24th, 25th, and 26th. The officers are: Messrs. J. W. DeForest, president, and a success, and if the farmers of the county in which term we include horticulturists and stock-growers, look to their interest it will be. Bring in your cattle, horses, sheep, swine, poultry, fruits, grains, vegetables, domestic manufactures. Show what you are doing and can do, and have a good time generally.

—The first fall in Washtenaw and the first Prisoners confined in it.

The county of Washtenaw was organized on the first day of January, in the year of grace 1827, having been up to that time a part of Wayne County for judicial purposes. About the year 1829 the citizens of Ann Arbor and vicinity contributed, each according to his ability, some timber, lumber, work, or other material for the construction of a building that would answer for a county prison. Such an edifice was built on the "old jail square," with rooms for the jailer and one cell. The cell was made of timber "beats." The shoulders of the posts of each beat projected over the ends of the timbers that the floor was made of. Heavy oak planks were spiked on the walls and floor. The door was made of timber. At the next term of the County Court after the jail was built Judge Dexter, the presiding judge, ordered the grand jury to visit the jail and inspect it and report if in their opinion it was suitable for the purposes for which it was constructed.

Quite a number of the jurymen had served as grand jurors before, and being of general disposition, and loving a little fun when there was nothing else to do, framed a set of by-laws, which imposed fines for various offences, such as being absent at roll call, etc., payable in beer. Every member who had never served as a grand jurymen or held office in a grand jury was made to pay his initiation fee. When the order for visiting and inspecting the jail was received by the foreman, the late Col. Orrin White, and the grand jury, it was voted that they should form in a body and march in double file by the foreman and secretary (our fellow-citizen, E. Clark), under the supervision of the officer in charge. This vote was obeyed. On arriving at the jail the cell door was thrown open and the foreman and secretary stepped in, the door was closed upon them and locked. The merry faces of the "old ones" were at the discomfiture of the question asked, "Do you see a gallon of beer each?" Little notice was taken of this at first, but finally the required beer was promised, the door was unlocked, and the balance of the jury came in, but not till after a plan had been agreed upon by the two prisoners. While the two were inspecting, the foreman and secretary quietly moved round the cell towards the door, and before their object was suspected they were outside and the door closed and locked. Once more the question was asked "Do you see a gallon of beer each?" When the fine was promised the door was opened. The report of that jury to the court was, that the jail was worthy of the acceptance of Washtenaw County. I believe no prisoner ever escaped from it only "by due process of law."

After the brick jail was built the old one escaped from the hands of the county jailer, for some who sought its shelter where they could sleep off the effects of too much bad whisky. Finally some one set it on fire and it was consumed. Israel Branch, father of Chauncey Branch, was the first jailer of the county.

On Friday last Mr. D. W. Palmer, of Bridge-water, was runaway with near the county line, his buggy demolished, and himself considerably bruised, though fortunately no bones were broken. His horse took fright at some burned and blackened stumps which had been extracted from a field and deposited in the road. It was taken to the residence of our late fellow-citizen, John F. Robinson, where he was hospitably provided for, and the next day was about his business, though a little sore and lame.

We are indebted to the Messrs. Goodsell, manager of the Graphic, illustrated daily, for an invitation to witness the departure of the Graphic balloon on its Transatlantic voyage, which is expected to take place sometime between the 1st and 10th of September, as the prognostications of the Weather Bureau may determine, and regret being compelled to decline, but with our best wishes for the success of Messrs. Wise and Donaldson.

Grand Mass State Convention.

A grand mass State Convention of the "Patrons of Husbandry" will be held at National Park, Kalamazoo, Friday, October 3d, 1873, under the direction of the officers of the Michigan State Grange. An address by an eminent speaker will be given at 3 o'clock p. m. on the subject of the "Farmers' Movement." The Patrons throughout the State, and the public generally, are cordially invited to attend.

No one who has visited Europe will fail to appreciate the following: A prominent Boston gentleman, a proprietor of one of the leading Boston Dailies, had just arrived in the steamer from Europe, and met with a New York friend, while regarding his packages and the exchange of the Grand Central Hotel. The New Yorker evidently expects to hear the usual glowing tale of those fresh from the tour, and begins thus: "Hallo, Charley! Glad to see you back! How'd you enjoy yourself, old fellow? Have a good time?" "Good time," grumbled Charley. "I'm so glad to get back, I can't tell! I've had nothing to eat since I've been away. Prunes and sour wine, going and prunes and sour wine coming. Sick as a dog, at that! London—bloody beef and cold mutton, ale and fog. Sour wine—Sour wine and fancy crabs, Germany, etc.—bitter beer, sour wine, and Heaven knows what in the dishes. Taverns—drunk and half service everywhere. Not a first-class eatable hotel here anywhere, but I'm saying nothing of the price. Thank the Lord I'm home again!" "But the steamer! the ocean?" suggested Charley's friend. "Prunes and sour wine I tell you," cried Charley. "Let's go up stairs and get something to eat." And they went to the elevator to the evident amusement, not to say gratification, of other gentlemen who had heard and read of the Grand Central and the Grand Central "brought to the front" in such few words.

DR. RANSOM'S HIVE SYRUP AND TOLU, or HONEY SYRUP, is not a quick medicine. It is prepared by a regular physician of over twenty years' practice, who used it many years with great success in his large practice for the cure of Croup, Coughs and Colds, among the children, and nearly all of his families kept the medicine in the house to be ready for a sudden attack. Only 35 cents.

Moisten a ball of cotton with Dr. Miller's Magnetic Balm, put it into the cavity of the tooth or on the gum by the side of it, and bathe the face with the Balm, and it will trouble you no more. 25 cts. pays for a bottle of the Balm.

See advertisement in another column.

Centaur Liniment.

There is no pain which the Centaur Liniment will not relieve, no swelling it will not subside, and no lameness which it will not cure. This is a strong language, but it is true. Where the parts are not gone, its effects are marvelous. It has produced more cures of rheumatism, neuralgia, lock-jaw, palsy, sprains, swellings, caked breasts, scalds, burns, salt-rheum, ear-ache, etc., upon the human frame, and of strains, sprains, galls, etc., upon animals in one year than have all other pretended remedies since the world began. Cripples throw away their crutches, the lame walk, the palsied are rendered harmless, and the wounded are healed without a scar. It is no humbug. The recipe is published around each bottle. It is selling as no article ever before sold, and it sells because it does just what it pretends to do. Those who suffer from rheumatism, pain or swelling deserve to suffer if they will not use Centaur Liniment. More than 1,000 certificates of remarkable cures, including from limbs, chronic rheumatism, gout, running tumors, &c., have been received. We will send a circular containing certificates, the recipe, &c., gratis, to any one requesting it. One bottle of the yellow paper Centaur Liniment is worth one hundred dollars for sprain or swollen horses and mules, or for screw-worm in sheep. $500 worth of Centaur Liniment is worth your attention. No family should be without Centaur Liniment. Price 50 cts., large bottles $1. J. B. Rose & Co., 53 Broadway, New York.

CASTORIA is more than a substitute for Castor Oil. It is the only safe article in existence which is certain to assimilate the food, regulate the bowels, cure wind-colic and produce natural sleep. It contains neither minerals, morphia nor alcohol, and is pleasant to take. Children need not cry and mothers may rest.—143rd

THE BABOOK ENGINES have done such good service in putting out fires where they are in use in this State, that other towns are negotiating to procure this protection, including Saultaugue which has just given an order for one of the large-sized Babook engines, to be delivered in a few days.

The Household Panacea and Family Emollient

Is the best remedy in the world for the following complaints, viz: Cramps in the Limbs and Stomach, Pain in the Stomach, Bile or Side, Rheumatism in all its forms, Bilious Colic, Neuralgia, Cholera, Dysentery, Colic, Fresh Wounds, Burns, Scorch, Spinal Complaints, Sprains and Bruises, Chills and Fever. For Internal and External use.

Its operation is not only to relieve the patient, but entirely removes the cause of the complaint. It penetrates and pervades the whole system, restoring healthy action to all its parts, and quickening the blood.

The Household Panacea is purely Vegetable and All-Harmless.
