Mrs. EMMA R. CHAPIN, Treasurer. To the officers and members of the Ladies' Christian Union:

LADIES—Another year laden with its work, its opportunities, its triumphs, its lessons, and its joys, has passed away.

As the traveler at each evening, recounts the steps which he has reached the present point of his journey, so we as members of the Ladies' Christian Union, gather up each well-remembered fact and varied statistic and give to our friends and patrons a yearly report.

As we review the work of the past year, we have many encouragements. Although we have not accomplished all our hearts have desired, yet we trust that our labor has not been in vain.

Our work has been to visit the sick and aged, to comfort the sorrowing, to cheer the lonely, to strengthen the weak, to visit the sick and the dying, endeavoring to lead the erring to a better path.

Medical Alumni Association of Michigan.

To the Medical Alumni of the University of Michigan: The Washburn County Medical Society at a late meeting recommended the formation of an Alumni Association of the medical department of the University.

The undersigned graduates of the medical department of the University join in a call to the medical alumni to unite with them in a meeting for the organization of a Medical Alumni Association of the University, to be held at the Gregory House, Ann Arbor, on Tuesday, the 23rd inst. (the night before medical commencement), at 8 o'clock p. m.

The value of such an organization to the student body is self-evident, and we trust that the profession particularly of our own State, great now, will increase with every year.

The medical graduates of the University, numbering over 1,200, are scattering all over our country and continent. Some, alas! are dead. Of those who survive, many fill places of distinction and honor, and all are in positions to materially influence public opinion in behalf of our profession and the interests of the University.

Their united efforts, if directed to the right, will be of great benefit to the profession, and it is hoped that some of our teachers, forming an interesting part of the history of our profession for a quarter of a century, will be present.

One need of such an association is shown in the difficulty of communicating with many of the alumni, whose address is to us unknown, and it is hoped that some of our teachers, forming an interesting part of the history of our profession for a quarter of a century, will be present.

THE NEWS CONDENSED.

THE EAST. A shocking tragedy is reported from Seymour, Connecticut. A Mrs. Evans cut the throats of her two children, aged three and six years, and then cut her own throat.

THE WEST. Chicago elevators contained on the 10th inst. 3,852,500 bushels of wheat, 1,735,848 bushels of corn, 539,096 bushels of oats, 14,314 bushels of rye, and 215,763 bushels of barley, making a total of 6,447,909 bushels, against 7,448,738 bushels at the same period last year.

THE TILTON-BEECHER TRIAL. Forty-fifth day.—Several witnesses were examined for the defense. The most important testimony elicited was that of St. Clair McElwain, a journalist, and Samuel E. Beecher, a deacon of Plymouth Church, which went to show that Tilton's original charge against Beecher was only a fabrication.

WASHINGTON. Returns received at the Internal Revenue Bureau show that the manufacture of whiskey has not diminished since the passage of the law increasing the tax.

THE TILTON-BEECHER TRIAL. Forty-sixth day.—The witnesses examined were Oliver Johnson, assistant editor of the Christian Union, and Miss Oakley, a friend of the family.

THE TILTON-BEECHER TRIAL. Forty-seventh day.—Charles Cowley, a lawyer of Lowell, Mass., was called as the next witness. Tilton swore that he had never seen this witness, yet he (Cowley) testified that he had been present at a number of interviews between Tilton and Maria Woodhull.

THE TILTON-BEECHER TRIAL. Forty-eighth day.—Charles Cowley, a lawyer of Lowell, Mass., was called as the next witness. Tilton swore that he had never seen this witness, yet he (Cowley) testified that he had been present at a number of interviews between Tilton and Maria Woodhull.

his credibility, and at the same time helps to sustain the theory of a conspiracy.

THE TILTON-BEECHER TRIAL. Forty-fourth day.—A very bad day for Tilton. Samuel Wilson, an ex-secretary of the Northern Pacific Railroad Company, and one of the owners of the Christian Union, was called to the stand, and furnished the most valuable testimony the defense has yet produced.

THE TILTON-BEECHER TRIAL. Forty-fifth day.—Several witnesses were examined for the defense. The most important testimony elicited was that of St. Clair McElwain, a journalist, and Samuel E. Beecher, a deacon of Plymouth Church, which went to show that Tilton's original charge against Beecher was only a fabrication.

THE TILTON-BEECHER TRIAL. Forty-sixth day.—The witnesses examined were Oliver Johnson, assistant editor of the Christian Union, and Miss Oakley, a friend of the family.

THE TILTON-BEECHER TRIAL. Forty-seventh day.—Charles Cowley, a lawyer of Lowell, Mass., was called as the next witness. Tilton swore that he had never seen this witness, yet he (Cowley) testified that he had been present at a number of interviews between Tilton and Maria Woodhull.

THE TILTON-BEECHER TRIAL. Forty-eighth day.—Charles Cowley, a lawyer of Lowell, Mass., was called as the next witness. Tilton swore that he had never seen this witness, yet he (Cowley) testified that he had been present at a number of interviews between Tilton and Maria Woodhull.
