ENGLAND declines to send commissioners to the monetary convention invited by Congress.

THE National-Greenbackers disagree on many points but unite in protesting against the further issue of any interest-bearing bonds for any purpose whatever.

JOHN DAWSON, the National-Greenback candidate for Congress in the Third district, has opened his campaign battery.

ISSUE more greenbacks, pay up the bonds (whether due or not due), and compel the now "bloated bondholder" to invest his money in some kind of business or loan to private individuals.

will take care to get good security. The race of money-lenders never made gain as rapidly as in that age when the poor tried to extort wealth by tortures from the miserable Jews.

Mr. Pendleton further said that the bills so far as it made the notes a legal tender for existing contracts would "shock the mind of the legal profession of the whole country, so thoroughly has it been imbued with the idea of the sanctity of the obligation of contracts by those who have taught it the beneficent maxims of constitutional law."

It is a fact that in 1862 providing for an issue of treasury or legal tender notes was so clearly unconstitutional, would an act of 1879 or 1880 be any less unconstitutional? Or should Michigan Democrats change front and position merely to follow the weather-cock Democracy of Ohio?

THOMAS JEFFERSON was an opponent of the old National Bank, he was an opponent of all banks of issue, and he was equally an opponent of treasury notes such as are now known as greenbacks or legal tenders.

Horatio Seymour, of New York, gives forth no uncertain sound on the money question. A recent interview reports that venerable and honored Democrat as saying:

"The best deal directly with the markets of the world. It sells more than it buys, and to make the most money it needs a currency which is the standard of value in use by the commercial world."

SENATOR McDONALD, of Indiana, is considered a sound Democrat, and as yet his loyalty to Democratic principles has not been questioned, even by those Democrats who hug the "rag baby" to their bosoms and imagine that out of Ohio or Indiana no true Democrat exists.

"A specie basis is the normal financial condition of every commercial country, because specie in some manner forms the standard of value. If we had no trade or commerce it would not matter what medium of exchange was adopted between ourselves, but as we are a commercial nation, it is necessary to have a standard of value approximate the standard of value in other countries."

He says it is a good thing to give all dissatisfied citizens an opportunity to come to the polls. While their votes may be false, still they prove that they are in the main in favor of the Republican party.

Who will be helped? From the New York Tribune. Suppose the government issued all the currency, and the banks issued none, where would the money go? Not to the holder for it? Not to the treasury.

Jail Statistics for 1877. Condensed from the Lansing Republican. The jail statistics for 1877, as compiled in the office of the Secretary of State and recently issued, contains many important and interesting statements in relation to the number of petty crimes committed during the several counties in Michigan, the cost of maintaining jails and prisons, and the influence of education in the mitigation of crime.

The total number of prisoners in the jails at the beginning of 1877 was 270 against 244 in 1876. The number received during the year was 6751, or 289 less than in 1876. The number of males received during the year was 6,233, of which number 347 were under 18 years of age.

The number of males charged with high crimes was 1,696, against 1,619 in 1876. The number of females charged with high crimes was 115, against 63 in 1876. Of the total number charged with high crimes 67 were under 18 years of age.

The total cost of maintaining the jails in the State during 1877 was $2,290,087; and the total expense of arresting and detaining prisoners was $102,406.13. In 1876 the cost of maintaining jails was $1,842,35, and the cost of arresting and detaining prisoners was $104,947.25.

One of the ablest orators on record was pronounced by Stewart L. Woodford before the Maine Republican convention. He said: "When the Republican party shall be false to honesty, it will have outlived its usefulness and will die."

THE ASSIGNMENT.

A Chapter of French Experience with "Absolute Money."

Extracts from President A. D. White's History of the Matter.

On whom did this vast depreciation mainly fall at last? When this question had sunk into my mind, I was reminded of a certain fact.

On April 11, 1793, a law was passed to meet the case of those who bought specie with paper. Nothing could be more natural than such a measure.

While this system was running on, a new Government had been established. In October, 1793, came into power the Directory.

Next a National Bank was proposed; but capital was loath to embark in banking, while the Directory was so much opposed to it.

But every thoughtful student of financial history knows that this cry always comes after such issues, that it must come—because it is a natural law.

There are 47,000 Russians sick in Bulgaria, and constant reinforcements are necessary to keep up the effective army.

There are 350,633 bushels of barley, making a grand total of 1,504,150 bushels of grain.
