

The Michigan Argus.

PUBLISHED EVERY FRIDAY MORNING... In the third story of the brick block corner of Main and Huron streets.

ANN ARBOR, MICHIGAN. Entrance on Huron street, opposite the Gregory House.

JOHN N. BAILEY, EDITOR AND PUBLISHER.

Terms, $5.00 a year, or $1.50 in advance.

RATES OF ADVERTISING.

Table with 4 columns: Space, 1 w., 2 w., 3 w., 4 w., 5 w., 6 w., 1 mo., 3 mo., 6 mo., 1 year. Includes rates for 1 square, 2 squares, 3 squares, 4 squares, 5 squares, 6 squares, 7 squares, 8 squares, 9 squares, 10 squares.

Twelve lines or less considered a square. Cards in Directory, $1.00 line per year. Business or special notice, 10 cents a line for the first insertion, and 5 cents for each subsequent insertion.

Yearly advertisers have the privilege of changing their advertisements quarterly. Additional changes will be charged for.

BUSINESS DIRECTORY.

D. R. TAYLOR, ATTORNEY AT LAW, 111 North Main Street.

DR. J. H. HILL, Physician and Surgeon, Office and residence, 71 Huron Street.

MRS. SOPHIA VOLLAND, M. D., Physician and Surgeon, Office at residence, No. 12 West Washington Street.

W. M. JACKSON, Dentist, Office corner of Main and Washington streets.

C. SCHAEFFEL, Teacher of the Piano, 111 North Main Street.

CRAMER, FRIEBAUF & CORBIN, Attorneys at Law, 111 North Main Street.

HENRY B. HILL, Attorney at Law, 111 North Main Street.

E. C. FREER, Dealer in Real Estate and Insurance, 111 North Main Street.

Fresh, Salt & Smoked Meats, Fresh Fish, Oysters, Poultry, etc.

J. H. NICKELS, Dealer in Fresh and Salt Meats, Hams, Sausages, Lard, etc.

EVERYBODY SAYS THAT S. B. REVENAUGH is the Boss Photographer of Ann Arbor.

THE ANN ARBOR SAVINGS BANK

ANN ARBOR, MICHIGAN. Capital paid in $200,000.00. Capital security 100,000.00.

Transacts a general banking business; buys and sells Exchange on New York, Detroit and Chicago; sells Sight Drafts on all the principal cities of Europe; also sells Passage Tickets to Liverpool, London and Glasgow, via the Anchor Line of Steamships, whose rates are lower than most other first-class lines.

This bank, having a large business, invites merchants and others to deposit with them, with the assurance of most liberal dealing consistent with safe banking.

In the Savings Department interest is paid monthly on the first days of January and July, on all sums that were deposited three months previous to those days, thus affording the people of this city and county a perfectly safe depository for their funds, together with a fair return in interest for the same.

Money to Loan on Approved Securities. Directors—Christian Mack, W. W. Wines, W. D. Hartman, Daniel Hiscok, R. A. Deal, Wm. Deibel, and William B. Smith.

OFFICERS: CHRISTIAN MACK, President; W. W. WINES, Vice President; CHAS. E. HISCOCK, Cashier.

EMANUEL MANN, Druggist and Pharmacist.

6 SOUTH MAIN STREET, ANN ARBOR. Has on hand a well selected stock of PURE DRUGS, MEDICINES, CHEMICALS, CHOICE PERFUMES, Toilet Articles, Shampoos, Brushes, Trusses, &c., which he offers for sale at prices to suit the times.

Physicians' Prescriptions carefully prepared at all hours.

EBERBACH & SON, Druggists and Pharmacists.

12 South Main St., ANN ARBOR, MICHIGAN. Has on hand a large and well selected stock of PURE DRUGS, MEDICINES, CHEMICALS, DYE STUFFS, Artists and Wax Flower Materials, Toilet Articles, Trusses, &c.

Special attention paid to the furnishing of Physicians, Chemists, Schools, etc., with Pharmaceutical Apparatus, Reagents, Chemical Glassware, Porcelain Ware, Pure Acetone, etc.

Physicians' prescriptions carefully prepared at all hours.

To a Milkmaid.

Sprightly as a lightsome fairy, Charming goddess of the dairy; Maiden with the milking pail, Whom thy love has made my prey. While with true love I am burning, You're the happy day of a burning; Oh! it sometimes makes me shudder To suspect you love an other.

Rest.

There is a voice that rings above the clamour, And business of the world, That calleth often through the midnight air. Ere sleep's soft wings are furled, It speaketh unto souls of men so burdened, To hearts with loss oppressed, Bids them to leave their deep woes, your hidden sorrows, And I will give you rest.

TRAPPED BY A HEIBESS.

A cosier place than the big sitting-room at Hillcrest would have been had to find, if one had travelled from Land's End, to John O'Groats; and this evening, when the destinies of two worthy people were about taking definite form—two people who had never seen each other, and who had heard of each other so often that both were curiously eager to meet—in this important evening the sitting-room at Hillcrest had never looked pleasanter or cosier.

A huge fire of logs glowed like molten carbuncles in the open fire-place; on the table in the centre of the floor, whose cover matched the glowing crimson of the carpet, sat a silver tray that held a dozen snowy wax tapers, whose beaming light contrasted exquisitely with the ruddy glow of the fire.

Beside the table, in a big, cushioned chair, with his feet thrust forward on a footstool, sat a man in a gray dressing-gown sitting comfortably on his portly form, his gold-rimmed glasses on his nose, sat the owner and master of Hillcrest, Mr. Abiah Cressington, rich, good-natured, and fond of his general way of life.

Walter writes a curious letter in response to an invitation to come and spend a few weeks at Hillcrest as soon as he gets over his fatigue from his ocean voyage home, after his five years' tour abroad. "I'll read it to you."

He leaned near the softly-glowing lights, and began to read, commencing with "What Walter Austin has written from his chamber in the Temple—'You are very kind, indeed, Uncle Abiah, to ask me down to Hillcrest for as long as I wish to stay, and I can assure you that I have been so long a stranger from the idea of a home is very pleasant to me. But when I take into consideration the peculiar importation you propose attaching to my visit, I am unwilling to accept the invitation. To me, the idea of having my fancies and imaginations put into harness, to feel that I am on a continual duty to win my way into the good graces of my second cousin, Mabel, whom you are good enough to wish me to marry—"

Mrs. Cornelia interrupted sharply—"Abiah, you never surely went and told our grandmother that you had in view my marriage with Mabel?" Her tone was energetic, almost reprehensive.

"Why not? I certainly did. I told him in my letter that it was a chance for him he'd never get again, and that he needn't feel any such terrible obligations to take a fancy to Phil's little Mabel, but to come down and be cousinly, and if anything should happen, it'd be right all around."

Mrs. Cornelia knitted vigorously, her lavender cap-ribbons quivering in the mellow taper glow. "All I have to say is, you're—a fool, Abiah! Walter is right, a young man like you, who has his fancies under the whip and the very fact that we want him to marry, will make him indisposed to do it. You've made a great mistake in the beginning."

"Mr. Cressington looked agnost at his sister's determined face. "Why, I really didn't suppose—" "Of course you didn't. It's only natural stupidity, you dear old fellow! Men are all alike. Don't I know them like a book? And you've ruined your hopes for Mabel and Walter at the very outset."

Mr. Cressington started discomfitedly. "I am sure I meant it all right enough, Cornelia. I certainly wanted Walter to know what a little darling our Mabel is, and what a nice little wife she would make for any man."

She smiled and nodded, and looked altogether so mischievous that Mr. Cressington became quite excited over her little mystery. "Do explain, Cornelia." "And when she explained he leaned back in his chair, with an expression of positive awe and admiration on his face. "What a woman you are, Cornelia! I declare, it's the very thing I've heard in the whole course of my life!"

After dusk, a glorious winter day, with here and there a star twinkling in the pale gray sky, and the lights and fires in the Hillcrest sitting-room making an eloquent welcome to Walter Austin, as he stood in the midst of the home circle, tall, gentlemanly, handsome and self-possessed.

Old Mr. Cressington was in his richest humor as he led forward two young girls. "Come, don't be shy, now, Walter, this is your cousin Mabel Cressington, and this is her good friend and inseparable companion, Irene Vance, come to help entertain you. My nephew, Mr. Walter Austin, girls. And this is Aunt Cornelia, do you remember her well enough, hey?"

And so the presentation was merrily gotten over, and Walter found himself at home in the most pleasant family he had ever known. They were remarkably pretty girls, with blue eyes—although Miss Vance's were decidedly the deeper blue and more bewitching—and lily white, yellow-gold hair. Walter found himself admiring the style of Miss Vance's outfit before he had known her an hour; and when he went up to his room that night he felt as if between the two, roguish Mabel and sweet little Irene, he never would come out heartwhole.

"For Mabel is a good little darling," thought he, "and I will take Greatheart Mabel's advice and fall in love with her, and thereby secure a generous share of the Cressington estates. Egad! that's a happy thought!"

But the handsome young gentleman went to sleep and dreamed, instead of Mabel's laughing eyes, of Irene's gentle, tender ones; and awoke somewhat in the middle of the night, unready to get to sleep again for thinking of her.

And the after days were not much better. Despite the golden value of Mabel's advice, there was something about Irene Vance that made this headstrong fellow very foolishly indifferent to the advice he had sworn to follow.

"Because, by Jove! a fellow would have to be made out of granite to resist the sweet, shy ways of such a little tender one; and awoke some day, when he should be enjoying the walnut staircase. "Give me your burden, Irene," said he. "Why did you not tell me you were going to gather it, and let me go and do it myself, and thereby avoid a burden for your arms to bear."

He managed to get the lovely sprays from her arms, but it required an immense amount of tardy effort on his part, and shy, sweet blushing on hers. "Answer me, Irene. Why didn't you let me go with you? Wouldn't you have liked to see me?"

He demanded her answer in the most captivating, lordly way, and she dropped her eyes in great confusion. "Yes—"

"Then why were you so cruel to me?" "I'm not cruel to anybody. I indeed must go now." Walter placed himself squarely in the way, and was looking down at her rose-tinted face. "No, you can't go yet. Irene, you are cruel, or you would never deprive me of the opportunity to enjoy the blessedness of your society."

His voice lowered tenderly, and he dropped his head nearer her golden curls. "You know I think it cruel in you to be so distant, and shy, and reserved with me—don't you?" "She shrank away, her lovely form drooping like a lily, her cheeks hanging out the signals of distress and confusion. "Oh, please don't talk so to me. Indeed I must go! Mabel is waiting for me, and she—she won't like it if—"

But she was a prisoner in his tight clasp. "If what? If they find you and me talking so confidentially together?" "No! I mean if I don't take the whole of my arm around her waist before she knew what he was doing. "Irene, look up. You shall not go until you let me see in your eyes if you love me as well as I love you! Irene, my dear little girl, I do love you very dearly!"

She was silent for one second, and he saw the quiver of her red lips. Then she raised her head slowly, shyly. "You love me?" "Oh, Walter, what will they all say? Don't you know it is Mabel you should say that to? I am nobody, Walter, and Mabel is an heiress!"

Walter had both arms around her by this time, and was looking ardently in her glowing face. "I know Mabel is an heiress, and a nice little girl; and I also know you are a darling—my darling—and the only girl I ever asked to be my wife, or ever shall ask! Say yes, pet."

come; and let them know their Aunt Cornelia isn't a fool if their Uncle Abiah is. Walter looked astonished, and felt indeed a little tremble on his arm. "What is it, dear?" "She smiled through her tears as she looked into his inquiring eyes. "Oh, Walter, I am afraid you will be angry. I am Mabel after all, and—"

"And you have made love to your cousin, the heiress, in spite of yourself, my boy! So Hillcrest is a foregone fate, after all, eh?" "Don't scold, please, Walter!" Mabel pleaded in a low voice, with her blue eyes looking into his. "As if I could scold you, my love! Since I have you what need I care?"

And Mrs. Cornelia turned over the leaves of the receipt-book until she came to "wedding cake," and avers that she made the match herself.

Church singers lead a life of chants. The telescope maker has an eye-tube business. It is wonderful how a rich papa improves a girl's looks. Nature can beat the circus man all to nothing in the back-walk spring act.

In this busy land a man is always liable to be aroused from his sleep; but in Ireland he never wake a person unless he is dead. "Great heavens!" he murmured, as the dealer named the price, "I don't want a whole strawberry; I only want a small slice off the round."

The Philadelphia Chronicle thinks that a single green pea, fastened in the shirt front is now a more costly ornament than a diamond. Things have come to such a pass in Wisconsin that the Fox and Lake Reporter urges the planting of at least one bulldog with every water-melon seed.

Methuselah would have lived longer, but the man on the street car who always says "there's room for one more," wore him out and he died prematurely. "Chicago Times."

"Twenty years ago," said a colored philosopher, "niggers was w a thousand dollars apiece. Now they would be dead at two dollars a dozen. It's astonishing how the race am runnin' down."

A fond mother, hearing that an earthquake was coming, sent her boy to a friend's in the country to escape it. After a few days she received a note from the friend saying, "Take your boys away and send along the earthquake instead."

A short time ago a Danbury man had forty dollars stolen from him. The thief was subsequently struck with remorse, and sent back to him as soon as he received more remorse he sent back the rest.

A pickpocket taken with his hand in some one's pocket endeavored to invent all manner of impossible explanations of the phenomenon. "What's the use of my trying to lie about it when I can't be replaced by a benevolently 'haven't you a lawyer?'"

Chief Moses addressed the President, at a recent reception, in the Indian tongue, and the first word of his speech was "Cugtunnetakkakummewet-taspetikutmettaletumquah. Secretary Everts retired in an agony of grief and mortification.—Boston Post.

An Irishman went to the theater for the first time. Just as the curtain, do opened on the first act a boiler in the basement exploded, and he was blown through the roof, coming down in the next street. After coming to his senses he asked: "An what piece do ye play next?"

Gloves Next Time!—"Do you reside in this city?" asked a laced man of a staid lady at a San Francisco masquerade party. He felt faint when, in the well-known voice of his wife, she said to him, in low tones, "Don't be a fool, John; I know you by that wart on your thumb!"

On a recent trip of a western steamboat bread was served at dinner one day. The waiter, who had just finished the captain asked the baker if he did not know that kerosene had got into the flour. He admitted that he did. "Why didn't you feed the flour to the chickens, then?" "Oh," he replied, "I was afraid it would kill 'em."

THE FARM.

Cultivation of Corn.

As a very large portion of the corn raised in Michigan is fed in the State and raised with special reference to feeding, Prof. Kedzie's analysis of the relative food value of the different varieties are conclusive on that point and will materially aid farmers in selecting the best. It does not follow, however, that the variety furnishing the largest percentage of digestible food is in all cases the most profitable to cultivate. Account must also be taken of its productiveness, its hardiness, its adaptability to the soil and climate, and its other qualities as well as its food value. In this as in all cases the conclusions of science must be accepted in the light of experience and applied with common sense.

My favorite is the Yellow Dent. I have cultivated it for 30 years without change of seed. To raise it successfully requires a good soil well prepared; plant three grains in a hill, or thin to three stalks, with rows four to four and a half feet apart each way, cultivate thoroughly, and with a favorable season I can get very sure of 100 bushels of ears to the acre, which is equivalent to 60 bushels shelled. That I consider a good crop; an extra yield is 100 bushels of shelled, which I have frequently produced; 80 bushels is a fair yield, and 50 bushels is a poor crop.

Next to the Yellow, I prefer the White Dent. Its yield is nearly equal to the Yellow, but its nutritive qualities are inferior. The Pony, or Small Dent, is a valuable variety, early and reliable. The Virginia White and other varieties, consisting Dent, and Tuscarora are valuable for late planting or for the northern sections of the State. I have experimented with the White, Yellow, and Calico Nebraska, Quail Track, Chester County Mammoth, Iowa Hackberry, Virginia White and other varieties. Some of them succeed well and can be advantageously grown in this vicinity. I don't know whether Prof. Kedzie has analyzed the corn yet, but I am satisfied that the Yellow Dent is the most valuable for feeding. Horses, too, it offered both the White Dent and the Yellow Dent will prefer the Yellow, and I believe they are pretty good captives.

Capt. Hendry said: I have had at least ten years more experience in growing grain than Mr. Woodman. My son and I had some dispute about the White Dent and Yellow Dent, and it became so sharp that we finally concluded to weigh the ears. The Yellow weighed seven pounds more to the bushel than the White.

The Hon. J. J. Woodman said: There are several different varieties of White and Yellow Dent, of which one variety is the most valuable. Mr. Woodman's statement, and one would produce from five to seven pounds more to the bushel than the Yellow Dent. I have a kind which I have raised for several years, which would weigh more than the Yellow, and I have seen it weigh 100 bushels to the acre. Benjamin Sheldon, of Bloomington. It weighed from 80 to 90 pounds to the bag, or from 12 to 15 pounds more to the bag than ordinary corn.

Mr. Edwin Welch said: I planted some of the Yellow Dent, and it speaks of, side by side with some I had from Bloomington, and I found that the large Yellow Dent does not do as well on our light soils. It needs a strong, rich soil.

So many as to the varieties. As to the cultivation of corn, it is possible to add the testimony of Mr. William Strong, of Kalamazoo. He says: "To attain the highest success in corn-raising for a term of years, it is necessary to plant on a good clover sod. By the winter sowing, the clover sod is poor, stunted growth of top and root, of only a few inches in length, but by a thrifty growth of top and a corresponding growth of root, filling the top soil with fibrous roots and sending the top roots down through the hard pan, clay and gravel to an unknown depth. With the spade I have followed clover roots down to a depth of six feet; how much farther they went I cannot say, as at that point I broke them off and gave up the chase. This is the way we would have our clover grow, and a sod to start the rotation of corn, oats or barley, wheat and clover again."

The only safe way is to select the seed in the fall and put it where it will not freeze. It is not safe to plant frozen corn. Three-fourths of the night frost can be with the ditcher, but if at planting time the soil is cold and wet, three-fourths will not. In scarcely any other way can the yield of corn in this State be increased as by planting only perfectly sound seed. It is possible to select the seed, to observe that, to obtain the largest yield, it is necessary that we plant those varieties that will get the benefit of the whole growing season and ripen before frost. It is a poor recommendation for a variety that will ripen in 90 days from time of planting. To obtain the best results, it will not do to have our corn ripen before the growing season is two-thirds or three-fourths past.

As to application of manure, I say, without hesitation, apply it as a top dressing to the clover sod intended for the coming season. Just before or immediately after planting, it is advisable to pass a roller over the field, as by so doing the top soil is made very close, so that the soil will lie very close about the seed, in a dry time causing it to germinate and grow much sooner than it otherwise would. Clean cultivation is acknowledged by all as necessary to obtain the best results, yet how often do we see the weeds higher than the corn! Great injury sometimes occurs by running the "two-shovel" and other tools too deep, thereby cutting off large quantities of roots and sometimes nearly overturning the hills themselves. I believe large loss comes each year by too deep cultivation of our corn after it has attained some height. The roller should be deep tillage first and shallow tillage as the corn increases in size. The almost universal practice is to plant in rows four feet apart each way. This is perhaps the best where fields are stumpy and stony and overrun with June grass, and the like; but where thorough culture is given upon smooth farms where clover sod is the rule, drill culture will give the largest return. In my experience, the nearer the approach to drill culture, having the hills nearer together and the number of stalks to the hill less, the larger the yield. Cultivation after harvest is advisable if tools are run very shallow.

To sum up by planting on good clover sod to which the manure was applied during fall and winter; planting good seed, every time, or varieties which will get the benefit of the whole growing season; reducing the damage by worms to a minimum by much clover and frequent plowing; and taking more care in selecting tools and in the manner of using them, the yield of corn may be increased ten bushels per acre, while the additional expense will be small indeed. When we remember that three quarts of meal per day will winter a 1000-pound cow, and that Kalamazoo county raises 25,751 acres of corn exceptively to the Executive, the right existed to destroy the government or put a stop to its wheels. When the Executive said that he could not unite with Congress in their legislation, it was a duty they owed their constituents, not the Executive, to carry on the Government in a constitutional way, notwithstanding Congress disagreed with him, and to make the necessary appropriations for the several departments of the government, and apart from this they had a right to say that the army should not be used at the polls, unless in pursuance of constitutional authority, and should never be employed to prevent free elections.

The South had outlived the indulgence of the Federal government, and was withdrawn in obedience to the sentiment of the North. The unification and consolidation of the South was owing to the use of the army at the elections more than to any other cause.

In further review of the President's veto message Mr. Morgan said the people in their own time will rebuke this pretender. The arrogant and preposterous assertion that Congress could not pass a bill to prohibit military interference at the polls as a separate measure the majority wished to remove the slightest ground of Executive objection. The veto message was in the nature of a stump speech, a mere review of the Democratic party, which was not sufficiently matured to grasp the great constitutional question. It was to be deprecated that the President so far forgot himself as to charge improper motives to the majority in Congress, and this scandal ought to be removed from the record.

where his imputation belonged. Andrew Jackson, John Adams, Thomas Jefferson or George Washington would not have made such an imputation, but this was left for Rutherford B. Hayes. By passing a bill to prohibit military interference at the polls as a separate measure the majority wished to remove the slightest ground of Executive objection. The veto message was in the nature of a stump speech, a mere review of the Democratic party, which was not sufficiently matured to grasp the great constitutional question. It was to be deprecated that the President so far forgot himself as to charge improper motives to the majority in Congress, and this scandal ought to be removed from the record.

where his imputation belonged. Andrew Jackson, John Adams, Thomas Jefferson or George Washington would not have made such an imputation, but this was left for Rutherford B. Hayes. By passing a bill to prohibit military interference at the polls as a separate measure the majority wished to remove the slightest ground of Executive objection. The veto message was in the nature of a stump speech, a mere review of the Democratic party, which was not sufficiently matured to grasp the great constitutional question. It was to be deprecated that the President so far forgot himself as to charge improper motives to the majority in Congress, and this scandal ought to be removed from the record.

where his imputation belonged. Andrew Jackson, John Adams, Thomas Jefferson or George Washington would not have made such an imputation, but this was left for Rutherford B. Hayes. By passing a bill to prohibit military interference at the polls as a separate measure the majority wished to remove the slightest ground of Executive objection. The veto message was in the nature of a stump speech, a mere review of the Democratic party, which was not sufficiently matured to grasp the great constitutional question. It was to be deprecated that the President so far forgot himself as to charge improper motives to the majority in Congress, and this scandal ought to be removed from the record.

where his imputation belonged. Andrew Jackson, John Adams, Thomas Jefferson or George Washington would not have made such an imputation, but this was left for Rutherford B. Hayes. By passing a bill to prohibit military interference at the polls as a separate measure the majority wished to remove the slightest ground of Executive objection. The veto message was in the nature of a stump speech, a mere review of the Democratic party, which was not sufficiently matured to grasp the great constitutional question. It was to be deprecated that the President so far forgot himself as to charge improper motives to the majority in Congress, and this scandal ought to be removed from the record.

where his imputation belonged. Andrew Jackson, John Adams, Thomas Jefferson or George Washington would not have made such an imputation, but this was left for Rutherford B. Hayes. By passing a bill to prohibit military interference at the polls as a separate measure the majority wished to remove the slightest ground of Executive objection. The veto message was in the nature of a stump speech, a mere review of the Democratic party, which was not sufficiently matured to grasp the great constitutional question. It was to be deprecated that the President so far forgot himself as to charge improper motives to the majority in Congress, and this scandal ought to be removed from the record.

where his imputation belonged. Andrew Jackson, John Adams, Thomas Jefferson or George Washington would not have made such an imputation, but this was left for Rutherford B. Hayes. By passing a bill to prohibit military interference at the polls as a separate measure the majority wished to remove the slightest ground of Executive objection. The veto message was in the nature of a stump speech, a mere review of the Democratic party, which was not sufficiently matured to grasp the great constitutional question. It was to be deprecated that the President so far forgot himself as to charge improper motives to the majority in Congress, and this scandal ought to be removed from the record.

where his imputation belonged. Andrew Jackson, John Adams, Thomas Jefferson or George Washington would not have made such an imputation, but this was left for Rutherford B. Hayes. By passing a bill to prohibit military interference at the polls as a separate measure the majority wished to remove the slightest ground of Executive objection. The veto message was in the nature of a stump speech, a mere review of the Democratic party, which was not sufficiently matured to grasp the great constitutional question. It was to be deprecated that the President so far forgot himself as to charge improper motives to the majority in Congress, and this scandal ought to be removed from the record.

where his imputation belonged. Andrew Jackson, John Adams, Thomas Jefferson or George Washington would not have made such an imputation, but this was left for Rutherford B. Hayes. By passing a bill to prohibit military interference at the polls as a separate measure the majority wished to remove the slightest ground of Executive objection. The veto message was in the nature of a stump speech, a mere review of the Democratic party, which was not sufficiently matured to grasp the great constitutional question. It was to be deprecated that the President so far forgot himself as to charge improper motives to the majority in Congress, and this scandal ought to be removed from the record.

where his imputation belonged. Andrew Jackson, John Adams, Thomas Jefferson or George Washington would not have made such an imputation, but this was left for Rutherford B. Hayes. By passing a bill to prohibit military interference at the polls as a separate measure the majority wished to remove the slightest ground of Executive objection. The veto message was in the nature of a stump speech, a mere review of the Democratic party, which was not sufficiently matured to grasp the great constitutional question. It was to be deprecated that the President so far forgot himself as to charge improper motives to the majority in Congress, and this scandal ought to be removed from the record.

where his imputation belonged. Andrew Jackson, John Adams, Thomas Jefferson or George Washington would not have made such an imputation, but this was left for Rutherford B. Hayes. By passing a bill to prohibit military interference at the polls as a separate measure the majority wished to remove the slightest ground of Executive objection. The veto message was in the nature of a stump speech, a mere review of the Democratic party, which was not sufficiently matured to grasp the great constitutional question. It was to be deprecated that the President so far forgot himself as to charge improper motives to the majority in Congress, and this scandal ought to be removed from the record.

where his imputation belonged. Andrew Jackson, John Adams, Thomas Jefferson or George Washington would not have made such an imputation, but this was left for Rutherford B. Hayes. By passing a bill to prohibit military interference at the polls as a separate measure the majority wished to remove the slightest ground of Executive objection. The veto message was in the nature of a stump speech, a mere review of the Democratic party, which was not sufficiently matured to grasp the great constitutional question. It was to be deprecated that the President so far forgot himself as to charge improper motives to the majority in Congress, and this scandal ought to be removed from the record.

Military Interference at Elections.

In the House, May 8th, the House bill prohibiting military interference at elections being under consideration, Mr. Morgan (Dem., Ala.) advocated its passage, arguing that the framers of the Constitution with a view to the preservation of the public liberty drew a broad distinction between the regular army and militia, and that the latter should be employed to enforce the laws.

Mr. Morgan reviewed the veto message and contended that the President was not a part of the legislative power, as had been claimed. It was never intended he should be, but that he had the right only to stay the passage of the law if the judgment of the people, through their representatives, was thus prevented from becoming a law of the land, unless in some express form exceptively to the Executive. No right existed to destroy the government or put a stop to its wheels. When the Executive said that he could not unite with Congress in their legislation, it was a duty they owed their constituents, not the Executive, to carry on the Government in a constitutional way, notwithstanding Congress disagreed with him, and to make the necessary appropriations for the several departments of the government, and apart from this they had a right to say that the army should not be used at the polls, unless in pursuance of constitutional authority, and should never be employed to prevent free elections.

The South had outlived the indulgence of the Federal government, and was withdrawn in obedience to the sentiment of the North. The unification and consolidation of the South was owing to the use of the army at the elections more than to any other cause.

In further review of the President's veto message Mr. Morgan said the people in their own time will rebuke this pretender. The arrogant and preposterous assertion that Congress could not pass a bill to prohibit military interference at the polls as a separate measure the majority wished to remove the slightest ground of Executive objection. The veto message was in the nature of a stump speech, a mere review of the Democratic party, which was not sufficiently matured to grasp the great constitutional question. It was to be deprecated that the President so far forgot himself as to charge improper motives to the majority in Congress, and this scandal ought to be removed from the record.

where his imputation belonged. Andrew Jackson, John Adams, Thomas Jefferson or George Washington would not have made such an imputation, but this was left for Rutherford B. Hayes. By passing a bill to prohibit military interference at the polls as a separate measure the majority wished to remove the slightest ground of Executive objection. The veto message was in the nature of a stump speech, a mere review of the Democratic party, which was not sufficiently matured to grasp the great constitutional question. It was to be deprecated that the President so far forgot himself as to charge improper motives to the majority in Congress, and this scandal ought to be removed from the record.

where his imputation belonged. Andrew Jackson, John Adams, Thomas Jefferson or George Washington would not have made such an imputation, but this was left for Rutherford B. Hayes. By passing a bill to prohibit military interference at the polls as a separate measure the majority wished to remove the slightest ground of Executive objection. The veto message was in the nature of a stump speech, a mere review of the Democratic party, which was not sufficiently matured to grasp the great constitutional question. It was to be deprecated that the President so far forgot himself as to charge improper motives to the majority in Congress, and this scandal ought to be removed from the record.

where his imputation belonged. Andrew Jackson, John Adams, Thomas Jefferson or George Washington would not have made such an imputation, but this was left for Rutherford B. Hayes. By passing a bill to prohibit military interference at the polls as a separate measure the majority wished to remove the slightest ground of Executive objection. The veto message was in the nature of a stump speech, a mere review of the Democratic party, which was not sufficiently matured to grasp the great constitutional question. It was to be deprecated that the President so far forgot himself as to charge improper motives to the majority in Congress, and this scandal ought to be removed from the record.

where his imputation belonged. Andrew Jackson, John Adams, Thomas Jefferson or George Washington would not have made such an imputation, but this was left for Rutherford B. Hayes. By passing a bill to prohibit military interference at the polls as a separate measure the majority wished to remove the slightest ground of Executive objection. The veto message was in the nature of a stump speech, a mere review of the Democratic party, which was not sufficiently matured to grasp the great constitutional question. It was to be deprecated that the President so far forgot himself as to charge improper motives to the majority in Congress, and this scandal ought to be removed from the record.

where his imputation belonged. Andrew Jackson, John Adams, Thomas Jefferson or George Washington would not have made such an imputation, but this was left for Rutherford B. Hayes. By passing a bill to prohibit military interference at the polls as a separate measure the majority wished to remove the slightest ground of Executive objection. The veto message was in the nature of a stump speech, a mere review of the Democratic party, which was not sufficiently matured to grasp the great constitutional question. It was to be deprecated that the President so far forgot himself as to charge improper motives to the majority in Congress, and this scandal ought to be removed from the record.

where his imputation belonged. Andrew Jackson, John Adams, Thomas Jefferson or George Washington would not have made such an imputation, but this was left for Rutherford B. Hayes. By passing a bill to prohibit military interference at the polls as a separate measure the majority wished to remove the slightest ground of Executive objection. The veto message was in the nature of a stump speech, a mere review of the Democratic party, which was not sufficiently matured

FRIDAY, MAY 16, 1879.

Another Vote From Mr. Hayes.

The minority President, counted into office through fraud, again plays the role of obstructer of the will of the majority of the American people as expressed through its Congress.

It is extremely gratifying to us that we were one of the twenty-two men at the Republican National Convention, who turned the tide of the convention toward President Hayes, so that he received the nomination.

The Detroit Post and Tribune establishment was visited by a destructive fire on Sunday forenoon, arising from spontaneous combustion of oiled rags.

If it was possible to apply the principles there might be difficulty in making out a case of libel. But to specify as did the Washington Post that Senator Chandler was intoxicated when he made his last blood-letting speech, opens an opportunity for a case, and if telegraphic reports be true, our doughty representative would be extemporizing to prove it or pay $200.00 damages.

The Emperor of Austria celebrated his silver wedding ten weeks ago. The Emperor of Germany celebrates his golden wedding June 11. On the latter occasion the Emperor's cousin, the Czar of Russia, is to be a guest.

On Thursday last week the House "sat down" upon the eight hour law by killing a bill to enforce it, by a vote of 217 to 87.

JUDGE COOLEY to a HILLSDALE SUPERVISOR.—The great difficulty with assessments springs from the fact that assessors habitually disregard the statute and their official oaths, and assess property at its full value.

The action of Governor Crosswell in neglecting to approve, and, at the same time, failing to veto, the University Museum bill, is a little odd.

Friends of the University reside where they may, do not stand in punctilio over the way in which the bill became law.

Victims.

Pontiac expects to Decorate. Hillsdale is to have a new Universalist church.

Clinton exchange hotel has closed its doors to the public. The Adrian Press favors the running at large of cows in that city.

Sophia Shautier, the Springwells child murderer, was allowed to escape to Windsor. Eastern division of Chicago and Lake Huron railroad is advertised to be sold May 21.

Mr. H. W. Squiers of Lansing has handled 13,000 dozen of eggs within the past six weeks. Alex Childers a colored resident of Howell, suicided on Monday by shooting himself three times in the head.

A cow rampant should be the design on the Adrian city seal, for the cow is now boss of the situation in that place. Marshall Espondier: Wheat has seldom presented a more thrifty and splendid growth than now in this country.

The family of George Rogers of Battle Creek, was poisoned by diseased cattle last week. Rogers came near dying.

Dr. Wm. C. Fisher of Tecumseh, died on the night of the 10th of a disease that baffled the skill of the physicians. Dan Powers who struck another man in Jackson with a billiard cue, nearly causing his death, got off with a $25 fine.

The Central Michigan bee-breeders had a convention at Lansing on the 10th. A good-sized swarm of them were out.

Thomas Sloss of Taylor, Wayne county, died April 20th, from glanders contracted from a horse afflicted with that disease.

Mayor Mabley of Pontiac, a large clothing dealer contemplating moving to St. Louis, Mo., where he can do a more extended trade.

There is one Democrat.

The Louisville Courier-Journal, that Zach Chandler always treats with marked contempt. That is Senator Voorhees. In the dining-room of the Kirkwood House in Washington, a good many years ago, Zachariah ventured to refer to Voorhees as a traitor and copperhead.

When upon Daniel felled him with a pitcher of milk. The Chicago Times predicts that the Palmer movement "will die a bornin'."

ANN ARBOR TOWN.—The supervisor of Ann Arbor Town, makes the following report of crops, &c., for the year 1878:

No. of acres of improved land 14,072. No. of acres of unimproved land 1,072. No. of acres of wheat 1,072.

ANN ARBOR CITY MARKETS. Carefully Revised Weekly by the Publisher. Average price per bushel of wheat 1.15.

Watches, Chains, Jewellery, &c. AT COST! To close out in thirty or forty days if possible.

Prices of Lime Reduced! Kelly Island Lime, 25 cts. per bushel. Monroe Lime, 25 cts. per bushel. Macon Lime, 25 cts. per bushel.

THE LARGEST AND BEST STOCK OF PAINTS, OILS, Varnishes, ALL KINDS OF Painters' Materials, &c.

A NEW GROCERY! AT 16 EAST HURON STREET. CASPAR RINSEY Has opened a new stock of Groceries at the above location, and purchasing everything in the line at bottom prices and selling exclusively for cash.

ANN ARBOR.—There is now every prospect of a successful crop of wheat in this country, although in some localities it is somewhat backward.

DON'T FAIL

To try the Sewing Machine BEFORE YOU BUY. It is Simply Wonderful

IT IS SOLD AT J. F. SCHUB'S Hardware Store. SHIRTS! TO MEASURE.

Watches, Chains, Jewellery, &c. AT COST! To close out in thirty or forty days if possible.

Prices of Lime Reduced! Kelly Island Lime, 25 cts. per bushel. Monroe Lime, 25 cts. per bushel. Macon Lime, 25 cts. per bushel.

THE LARGEST AND BEST STOCK OF PAINTS, OILS, Varnishes, ALL KINDS OF Painters' Materials, &c.

A NEW GROCERY! AT 16 EAST HURON STREET. CASPAR RINSEY Has opened a new stock of Groceries at the above location, and purchasing everything in the line at bottom prices and selling exclusively for cash.

ANN ARBOR.—There is now every prospect of a successful crop of wheat in this country, although in some localities it is somewhat backward.

ANN ARBOR.—There is now every prospect of a successful crop of wheat in this country, although in some localities it is somewhat backward.

ANN ARBOR.—There is now every prospect of a successful crop of wheat in this country, although in some localities it is somewhat backward.

ANN ARBOR.—There is now every prospect of a successful crop of wheat in this country, although in some localities it is somewhat backward.

LEGAL NOTICES.

Estate of Joseph L. Barker. STATE OF MICHIGAN, COUNTY OF WASHTENAW. A session of the Probate Court for the County of Washtenaw, held at the Probate Office, in the City of Ann Arbor, on Thursday, the 14th day of May, 1879.

Estate of Mary E. Palmer. STATE OF MICHIGAN, COUNTY OF WASHTENAW. A session of the Probate Court for the County of Washtenaw, held at the Probate Office, in the City of Ann Arbor, on Thursday, the 14th day of May, 1879.

Estate of Samuel D. Bird. STATE OF MICHIGAN, COUNTY OF WASHTENAW. A session of the Probate Court for the County of Washtenaw, held at the Probate Office, in the City of Ann Arbor, on Thursday, the 14th day of May, 1879.

Estate of Christian Miller. STATE OF MICHIGAN, COUNTY OF WASHTENAW. A session of the Probate Court for the County of Washtenaw, held at the Probate Office, in the City of Ann Arbor, on Thursday, the 14th day of May, 1879.

Estate of William A. Jones. STATE OF MICHIGAN, COUNTY OF WASHTENAW. A session of the Probate Court for the County of Washtenaw, held at the Probate Office, in the City of Ann Arbor, on Thursday, the 14th day of May, 1879.

Estate of Robert Ferguson. STATE OF MICHIGAN, COUNTY OF WASHTENAW. A session of the Probate Court for the County of Washtenaw, held at the Probate Office, in the City of Ann Arbor, on Thursday, the 14th day of May, 1879.

Estate of Erastus Whaley. STATE OF MICHIGAN, COUNTY OF WASHTENAW. A session of the Probate Court for the County of Washtenaw, held at the Probate Office, in the City of Ann Arbor, on Thursday, the 14th day of May, 1879.

Estate of Erastus Whaley. STATE OF MICHIGAN, COUNTY OF WASHTENAW. A session of the Probate Court for the County of Washtenaw, held at the Probate Office, in the City of Ann Arbor, on Thursday, the 14th day of May, 1879.

Estate of Erastus Whaley. STATE OF MICHIGAN, COUNTY OF WASHTENAW. A session of the Probate Court for the County of Washtenaw, held at the Probate Office, in the City of Ann Arbor, on Thursday, the 14th day of May, 1879.

Estate of Erastus Whaley. STATE OF MICHIGAN, COUNTY OF WASHTENAW. A session of the Probate Court for the County of Washtenaw, held at the Probate Office, in the City of Ann Arbor, on Thursday, the 14th day of May, 1879.

LEGAL NOTICES.

Estate of Joseph L. Barker. STATE OF MICHIGAN, COUNTY OF WASHTENAW. A session of the Probate Court for the County of Washtenaw, held at the Probate Office, in the City of Ann Arbor, on Thursday, the 14th day of May, 1879.

Estate of Mary E. Palmer. STATE OF MICHIGAN, COUNTY OF WASHTENAW. A session of the Probate Court for the County of Washtenaw, held at the Probate Office, in the City of Ann Arbor, on Thursday, the 14th day of May, 1879.

Estate of Samuel D. Bird. STATE OF MICHIGAN, COUNTY OF WASHTENAW. A session of the Probate Court for the County of Washtenaw, held at the Probate Office, in the City of Ann Arbor, on Thursday, the 14th day of May, 1879.

Estate of Christian Miller. STATE OF MICHIGAN, COUNTY OF WASHTENAW. A session of the Probate Court for the County of Washtenaw, held at the Probate Office, in the City of Ann Arbor, on Thursday, the 14th day of May, 1879.

Estate of William A. Jones. STATE OF MICHIGAN, COUNTY OF WASHTENAW. A session of the Probate Court for the County of Washtenaw, held at the Probate Office, in the City of Ann Arbor, on Thursday, the 14th day of May, 1879.

Estate of Robert Ferguson. STATE OF MICHIGAN, COUNTY OF WASHTENAW. A session of the Probate Court for the County of Washtenaw, held at the Probate Office, in the City of Ann Arbor, on Thursday, the 14th day of May, 1879.

Estate of Erastus Whaley. STATE OF MICHIGAN, COUNTY OF WASHTENAW. A session of the Probate Court for the County of Washtenaw, held at the Probate Office, in the City of Ann Arbor, on Thursday, the 14th day of May, 1879.

Estate of Erastus Whaley. STATE OF MICHIGAN, COUNTY OF WASHTENAW. A session of the Probate Court for the County of Washtenaw, held at the Probate Office, in the City of Ann Arbor, on Thursday, the 14th day of May, 1879.

Estate of Erastus Whaley. STATE OF MICHIGAN, COUNTY OF WASHTENAW. A session of the Probate Court for the County of Washtenaw, held at the Probate Office, in the City of Ann Arbor, on Thursday, the 14th day of May, 1879.

Estate of Erastus Whaley. STATE OF MICHIGAN, COUNTY OF WASHTENAW. A session of the Probate Court for the County of Washtenaw, held at the Probate Office, in the City of Ann Arbor, on Thursday, the 14th day of May, 1879.

WELLES & WOODS

Invite the public to call and see their goods. Offer goods at low figures. Have an extra large stock of goods.

Solicit the attention of ladies in want of silks. Ask everybody to inspect their goods. Request buyers to examine their stock.

Give rare bargains. Sell goods at astonishingly low prices. Have received a very large supply of carpets.

Wash it understood that no DRY GOODS HOUSE in Washtenaw County undersell them either in DRY GOODS CARPETS, AND OIL CLOTHS.

LEGAL NOTICES. Estate of Russell Briggs—incompetent. STATE OF MICHIGAN, COUNTY OF WASHTENAW. A session of the Probate Court for the County of Washtenaw, held at the Probate Office, in the City of Ann Arbor, on Thursday, the 14th day of May, 1879.

LEGAL NOTICES. Estate of Russell Briggs—incompetent. STATE OF MICHIGAN, COUNTY OF WASHTENAW. A session of the Probate Court for the County of Washtenaw, held at the Probate Office, in the City of Ann Arbor, on Thursday, the 14th day of May, 1879.

LEGAL NOTICES. Estate of Russell Briggs—incompetent. STATE OF MICHIGAN, COUNTY OF WASHTENAW. A session of the Probate Court for the County of Washtenaw, held at the Probate Office, in the City of Ann Arbor, on Thursday, the 14th day of May, 1879.

LEGAL NOTICES. Estate of Russell Briggs—incompetent. STATE OF MICHIGAN, COUNTY OF WASHTENAW. A session of the Probate Court for the County of Washtenaw, held at the Probate Office, in the City of Ann Arbor, on Thursday, the 14th day of May, 1879.

LEGAL NOTICES. Estate of Russell Briggs—incompetent. STATE OF MICHIGAN, COUNTY OF WASHTENAW. A session of the Probate Court for the County of Washtenaw, held at the Probate Office, in the City of Ann Arbor, on Thursday, the 14th day of May, 1879.

LEGAL NOTICES. Estate of Russell Briggs—incompetent. STATE OF MICHIGAN, COUNTY OF WASHTENAW. A session of the Probate Court for the County of Washtenaw, held at the Probate Office, in the City of Ann Arbor, on Thursday, the 14th day of May, 1879.

City.
—Hop at Armory Hall this evening.
—New plank have taken place of rotten boards in the jail floor.
—By all odds the Savings Bank front is the handsomest in the city.
—J. Q. A. Sessions Esq., holds over as city attorney until an election takes place.
—Johnson is amply prepared to hat and cap the world in any or all the latest styles.
—Subscriptions for instruments for the new band are coming in lively. Mr. E. A. Beal of the Courier heads the list with $25.
—Treadwell and Osborne are offering $1 per bushel for wheat. Farmers ought to improve the opportunity by disposing of stock on hand.
—Two serenading parties were out Wednesday evening discoursing music to the delectation of citizens on the borders of dreamland.
—Deputy-Sheriff Guest of Dexter, was in the city on Tuesday in search of a man who took $65 in cash on Friday night from the pocket of John Dolan of Dexter.
—"Rejoice" is the title to the new advertisement of the Star Clothing House. It is an interesting article and will repay a careful perusal, especially if you want anything in the clothing line.
—Chaplain McCabe was the guest of Mr. J. T. Jacobs during his stay in the city. After his lecture Wednesday evening a number of Phi Kappa Psi students called upon and escorted the gentleman to the depot.
—The case of the People vs. Hicks, arraigned before Justice Freness on Monday, charged with procuring in derogation of a note through false pretences, went by default, no one appearing against defendant.
—Under an order adopted by the Board of Supervisors, Judge Harriman is causing a numerical index of the records of the Probate Office beginning with the year 1827, and continuing to the present, to be made of the files.
—William Burke's horse hitched under the sheds of the M. E. church, was taken by some one about 8 P. M. Sunday evening. It was found by policemen Ammen and Porter three hours later hitched in front of Seyler's boot and shoe store.
—While John P. Little a carpenter was at work at the residence of Mrs. Loomis on Catherine Street, on Monday some person lifted his English lever watch from his vest pocket hanging on the post of the porch. Three traps were searched but without avail.
—Hard times is the cry, but will they ever get so hard that a street peddler, with the veriest nostrum, cannot get up and take more dollars from the gaping crowd in an hour than an honest professional man can collect for a month's services.
—Prof. Meek will give an entertainment this evening at the Unitarian church at 8 P. M. Consisting of recitations and readings in costume. Prof. Meek is a fine actor and elocutionist and a rare treat may be expected. Admission 10 cents.
—At the annual convention of the Grand Comendary of Knights Templar held at Detroit on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week, the following named gentlemen were delegates from Ann Arbor Comendary No. 13, K. T.: E. C. H. Richmond; Gen. John N. Gott; Capt. Gen. M. J. Noyes.
—Mechanics of all descriptions are busy this spring. Low wages and cheap material have induced people to put their residences and other buildings in good repair; relay sidewalks, rebuild and paint fences, and otherwise beautify their premises, in the aggregate, adding to the personal appearance of our handsome city.
—The shower of Tuesday fell on the warmest day of the season. It was excessively hot and felt the more because of its suddenness. The rain cooled the sultry atmosphere, laid the dust and advanced vegetation. Although it was not suffering, the earth drank in the refreshing dew from Heaven with alacrity and responded by sending forward the seeds planted for mankind.
—Officers of Haron Fire Company No. 3, for the ensuing year: Foreman, Newton Felch; First Assistant, Albert Williams; Second, J. W. Maroney; Third, David King; Secretary, N. G. Gates; Treasurer, E. S. Manly; Steward, Chas. Burnham; Fire Wardens, Hiram Strick, David S. Gates, Erasmus Mason, Patrick Mulligan; Finance Committee, David King, John W. Maroney, Wm. Cooper.
—The most significant fact bearing upon the extension of the Toledo and Ann Arbor Railroad is the fact that at a meeting of the Toledo committee last week Thursday, Warren Colburn, a director in the Wabash, and intimately associated with its management, has been appointed a member of the committee to suggest ways and means to build the Toledo and Ann Arbor Railroad to a connection with the Grand Trunk at Pontiac.
—Articles are already being sent into the Pioneer's museum in the new Court House. All persons willing to contribute may rest assured it will be a safe place of deposit for any old family relics, where it will be seen without handling as soon as a case of shelves can be secured. Those who may not find Gen. E. Clark's office may leave them in the County Clerk's office until some member of the committee shall take charge of them. W. H. Goodrich, R. Waterman, J. W. Ming, Mary E. Foster, Mrs. N. H. Pierce, Committee.
—The meeting of the Pomological Society was well attended Saturday, the audience including a large number of ladies. There was a very handsome display of flowers and the music furnished by Prof. Sage's quartette added greatly to the interest of the meeting. A. B. Covert read an instructive paper on the Robin, its habits, usefulness, etc. He also asked the members of the Association to assist him in enlarging his collection of relics. He has already a large number of Indian and other antiquities collected hereabouts. The discussion previously begun on the subject of insects injurious to the apple was continued and participated in by those present.

—Decoration day will be observed in this city by the ladies of the Fifth ward.
—Mrs. William Connelly, residing on Lawrence street, is recovering from a serious attack of sickness.
—Charles Weissman was taken to the Reform School at Lansing, Wednesday, by deputy sheriff McIntyre.
—According to advertisement elsewhere in these columns, the Relief Park Association offer to rent their park from June 1st.
—The Reform Club came out even with their engagement with the Swedish vocalists' entertainment on Monday evening.
—Heirs of the Botsford estate are putting in a plate glass front to the drug store on corner of Main and Haron streets.
—Tuesday, a box containing seven silver spoons marked E. H. S., was found near the second railroad bridge by a party in bathing.
—Mrs. Louis R. Buehox many years a resident of the city, and an inmate of asylums in the past, was removed to the Pontiac asylum on Tuesday by Deputy Sheriff Warren.
—Compared with corresponding months of 1878, transfers of real estate have fallen off considerably. Last year the force in the office of Registrar of Deeds were kept busy through the most of June, but this year, five employees, at this date, have been discharged for want of something to do.
—The records and papers in the clerk's office are being so arranged and systematized that when the work is completed, a great saving in time will be effected those who may wish to refer to them. Since Washenaw county was organized, over 15,000 cases have been disposed of in the Circuit Court.
—Exchanges published whose snow-drifts linger and cold weather does not depart, may enjoy reading about condition of vegetation in old Washenaw County. The hardier sort, such as peas and lettuce have been above ground many days, while beans, corn and cucumbers are to be observed in many gardens.
—Theobald Seyler, brother of A. D. Seyler, one of our boot and shoe dealers, died yesterday morning of consumption, aged 27 years. Mr. Seyler had been afflicted with this disease about eight months, and died one of his numberless victims. He was salesman for his surviving brother eleven years. He was unmarried. Funeral services will be held on Sunday next at 2:15 P. M., at Zion's Lutheran church.
—Those present pronounce entertainment given in the Hall over Bach & Abel's store on Wednesday evening by the Young Men's Musical Society, composed of amateurs, under the direction of Prof. C. Schaeberle, a fine affair. Those taking part were Messrs. T. Schmidt, violin; Theo. Huss, viola; J. S. E. Sinke, cello; Albert Mann, bass; Geo. Grossman, piccolo; H. Allmendinger, A. G. Schmidt, flute; E. E. Huss, clarinet; F. W. Lutz, cornet. The above members were assisted by Mr. V. E. Widemann.
—Among the records of the Probate office that came under our observation the other day is that of an anti-masonic address issued shortly after the convention held March 9, 1831, at which Samuel Dexter, founder of the village of this name in this county, was nominated as the anti-masonic candidate; Austin E. Wing of Monroe, was the masonic candidate, and Jno. R. Williams of Detroit, independent candidate for territorial delegates to Congress. Although this county, which consisted of the towns of Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti, Panama (now Superior) Dexter, Salsine and Jacksonburg (now county of Jackson) gave its vote as follows: Dexter 410, Wing 233, Williams 5, Wing was elected, despite the warnings that might happen to people and country if he was sent to Congress.
—A. G. McIntire has purchased the steam mill at Mooreville.
—Mooreville's cheese factory that began operations here April 28, is run by the same company as last year.
—A large number of visitors are expected at the Baptist convention to be held at Mooreville, May 21.
—One day last week Henry Paul of Pittsfield raised a barn 63x34, which, when done will be one of the largest buildings of its kind in the county.
—Benjamin T. Allen, of the township of Dexter, was convicted Monday before Justice Beahan, on the charge of assault and battery and fined $10 and the costs.
—Dr. Wallington of Lodi, the veteran veterinary surgeon of this county, brought to Dr. Maclean of the University the other day, the head of an ewe lamb peculiarly formed in that it had a mouth resembling that of a bulldog.
—Readers of the ARGUS should not fail to peruse the novel advertisement of Messrs. Wines and Worden, and when in want of anything in the dry goods or carpet line, call and inspect a stock which we are informed is the largest and most complete ever purchased for the house.
—A barn belonging to C. C. Warner of Lodi, was struck by lightning during a thunder storm, Tuesday, and burned with its valuable contents, consisting of agricultural implements, a quantity of grain, a cow and calf, and 25 sheep.—Loss, $1,800; partially insured in the Washenaw Mutual.
—The following is a list of Superintendents of Schools, with post office address attached: Ann Arbor, Emil Bauer, Ann Arbor; Augusta, John R. Campbell, Stony Creek; Bridgewater, George Calhoun, River Raisin; Dexter, Martin Walsh, Dexter; Freedom, George S. Flynn, Manchester; Lima, Marcus S. Cook, Lodi; E. H. Taylor, Ann Arbor; Lyndon, Jay D. Clark, Chelsea; Manchester, George P. McMahon, Manchester; Northfield, E. U. Still, Whitmore Lake; Pittsfield, W. E. H. Scher, Ypsilanti; Salem, Hiram B. Daily, Salem; Saline, Richard H. Marsh, Saline; Seio, J. M. Calkins, Dexter; Sharon, Chas. M. Fellows, Manchester; Superior, Andrew J. Murray, Ypsilanti; Sylvan, G. A. Robertson, Chelsea; Webster, O. V. Vaughn, Dexter; York, Doris A. Townsend, Saline; Ypsilanti, Edwin C. Warner, Ypsilanti.

—Over $800 worth of fruit trees were delivered at Milan this spring.
—85 mechanics are employed in improving the buildings and streets of Ypsilanti.
—If it is in order—and we so rule—it is safe to say the backbone of spring is broken.
—A special train one day last week bore the remains of Wilber Bush to Ypsilanti for interment.
—Prof. C. A. Cook of Leslie, has been engaged to take charge of Dexter's union school the coming year.
—On Thursday of last week Mrs. Uriah LeBaron was brought home to her friends in Saline, quite ill.
—Failure of voice has compelled Miss Ida Chamberlain to sever connection with the state public school in Ypsilanti.
—In town of Lima during the year 1878, there were 19 births and 7 deaths. In Webster 9 births and only 2 deaths.
—R. Spokes is captain of Saline's base ball club. If any of the fellows tire out they will be properly supported by their leader.
—Joe A. Goodyear left Manchester on Thursday of last week to take charge of a mill for his brother, at Wichita, Kansas.
—Supervisor Sage of Lodi, fell from a load of manure the other day receiving quite severe bruises upon his left shoulder.
—John Flinn of Milan, has the contract for doing the mason work on the new Universalist church, now building at Mooreville.
—Ex-justice Crane of Ypsilanti has removed to Carrollton about fourteen miles south-east of that city and engaged in agricultural pursuits.
—Dexter's Cornet Band intend to give entertainments every Saturday evening until June 1st. Proceeds will go toward paying tournament expenses.
—Salary of Ypsilanti's officials for ensuing year: Mayor $1, Marshal $600, Clerk $300, Treasurer $200, Attorney $100, Superintendent Poor $200. Board of Health each $20.
—Friends of Rev. W. H. Osborne of Augusta gathered at his residence the other day and before leaving left substantial proofs of regard in which he and his family are held by them.
—Ypsilanti's new officials are: Marshal—Alonso H. Smith, Clerk—Frank Joslin, Treasurer—F. P. Bogardus, Attorney—C. R. Whitman, City Supt. of the Poor—O. G. LaRue, Health Physician—E. Batwell.
—Circuit Court Commissioner Fred. A. Hunt of Ypsilanti spent two days in Manchester last week taking testimony in two divorce cases, viz: Antoinette Richards vs. Thomas Richards, and Mary E. Saley vs. Christopher Saley.
—Miss Sarah Owen of Ypsilanti, whose sudden death was chronicled in the last issue of the ARGUS, was elected vice president for Michigan by the national woman suffrage convention at St. Louis, which adjourned on Friday last.
—For the year ending May 5, 1879, there was expended for the poor of Ypsilanti city $1,887.38. The amount was expended upon nationalities thus: Americans $476.88, English $167.23, Irish $353.62, German $198.98, Colored $600.67.
—From the inaugural address of Mayor Lambert A. Barnes of Ypsilanti, we observe the total amount of outstanding "legal bonds" with accrued interest against that city to be $16,115, of which $11,115 falls due Feb. 1, 1880. This statement does not include Hillsdale R. R. bonds of $50,000 and accrued interest $23,320, making an aggregate indebtedness of $88,320.
—The Sheep Shearing Festival at Franklin, on Saturday, the 3rd inst., was a grand success. There were several of the best sheep breeders of Michigan present, with their best stock. Charles Follows of Sharon, with his Julius and Tip, the Woods of Lodi, the Van Giesons of Bridgewater, were among the number. Mr. Fellows refused $100 for Julius—Manchester Enterprise.
—Last week's ARGUS stated the debt of Ypsilanti was $65,000. The Ypsilanti Sentinel, in its issue of this week says it is only $15,000. Yet on another page of the same paper the mayor's official report is printed, in which the indebtedness is placed at $88,320. Coming from some quarters this discrepancy would appear inconsistent, but it may be overlooked by the readers of our contemporary.
—C. H. Wilson of Milan has attached the cable to the pulleys connecting the steam power from the saw mill to the grist mill. The cable was spliced by Mr. Johnson of Blissfield. The entire length of the cable is over 600 feet, is made of wire, and is about one-half inch in diameter; the points of bearing of the cable are nearly 300 feet apart. The steam power is added to the water power by a belt running to pulleys attached to the water wheels of the grist mill.
—Mr. T. McKone of the firm of McKone & Heatley of this village, has felt a sad loss. About two weeks ago, a sister of his (a young woman) came from Jackson, to pay him a visit and stay a few days in Chelsea. She had been here a week, when she became ill, and died in a short space of time. A week or so after the death of the young lady, Mrs. McKone became sick, and after a short but painful illness, she breathed her last on last Sunday evening. The funeral took place Tuesday last, and was largely attended. Mr. McKone has the sympathy of the community at large.—Chelsea Herald.
—The Davis Sewing Machine was on exhibition at the Postoffice, last Thursday, and met with the same general approval it meets with everywhere. Mr. J. F. Schuh, its manager for Washenaw Co., assisted by Mr. G. W. Henderson of Cleveland, Ohio, were busy all day, showing its beautiful work, which was simply wonderful. Any lady wishing a machine should not fail to see this model machine. It will do more different kinds of work than all the other family machines put together; the company guaranteeing that it will do fifteen kinds of work that no other machine can do. All work is done without busting. The machine will be sold at the Drug Store of J. H. Hollis, in Manchester, and by J. F. Schuh, Ann Arbor.—Manchester Enterprise.

—Sixteen practical shoemakers in Saline.
—Three saloons have applied for license in Saline, and have been granted.
—An Ypsilanti druggist has a white rat on exhibition.
—Plans for Ypsilanti's new Opera House have been received.
—Mrs. M. E. Gill of Saline will make an extended visit in Chicago.
—MORE ABOUT THE BURGLAR.—Delf and Wentworth Recaptured. As the ARGUS went to press last week the examination of Lincoln D. Sells of Mansfield, O., was in progress. It was known at this time that Delf and Wentworth had been captured but the appearance of Delf as a witness, at the instance of Prosecuting Attorney Emerick, surprised the attorneys of Sells.
Delf was at once sworn and readily gave his testimony to the effect that both Sells and himself had committed the burglary in question on the night of January 17 last. He detailed the particulars as to how they had broken into the store and stolen the goods, which consisted of seal-skin caps, gloves, scarfs, neckties, cheap jewelry, etc., and how they had afterwards gone to the room of Harry B. Orr, at Mrs. Clark's on Maynard street, and had there divided the property among the three. Delf also testified that subsequently, while in Sells' room one day, the latter had packed one of the seal-skin caps in a cigar-box and the two had then proceeded to the express office and Sells had sent it to Mansfield, O. The cap was sent to Harry Lockridge of that place, and has since been recovered and was identified by defendant as the one sent by Sells. The defense, without offering any testimony, permitted Sells to be bound over for trial at the Circuit Court, and his bail was fixed at $1,200. This has not yet been furnished, but his father will return at once to Mansfield and raise the money, when he will deposit it here with some person who, being thus secured, will become Sells' surety.
Delf and Wentworth were captured at Amherstburg and by strategy induced to come over to this side of the line. The success in finding their whereabouts, capture, etc., should be credited to Deputy Sheriff Warren and Thompson, who returned to this city on Thursday night with the prisoners.
How these persons got away is thus detailed: The escape was effected about 12 o'clock Sunday night. The men had then taken to the Toledo & Ann Arbor Railroad track, in the rear of the jail, and walked on the track to the old saw-mill on State street. They then took the south Ypsilanti road and after proceeding about five miles stopped for a rest. Emerson going straight on and Delf and Wentworth afterwards branching off to Saline. They slept Monday night in a barn and got something to eat at farm houses, inquiring their way to Trenton all the while, but keeping out of the highways as much as possible. Tuesday they reached Belden, and took the Erie & Pere Marquette Road to Carleton and thence took the Canada Southern to Trenton, which they reached about midnight, and passing the remainder of the night in a saw-mill proceeded early the next morning to Amherstburg, where they spent the day, and passed the night in a spoke factory. They saw wood for their breakfast for a lady, and remarked that it was mighty hard wood to saw, and that the lady gave them a very poor breakfast—some pieces of bread.
The recapture of Delf is regarded with a good deal of satisfaction by Deputy Sheriff Warren, some persons having charged him with carelessness in permitting the escape, after being warned by Merry, and it being supposed that some one outside furnished Delf with tools, which is shown not to have been the case.
Emerson, who it seems planned and effected the escape, was confined in the Charlotte jail at the time of the recent escape there and is believed to have been one of the principal actors in the exploit, although he made no effort to escape himself, being confined on a charge upon which he was sure of acquittal.
All the students arrested are now disposed of until the June term of court when the examinations of Delf, Orr and Sells will take place.
The examination of Harry Merry, the High School student, accused of receiving stolen goods, was concluded on Thursday last week by a vindication of himself, and he was therefore discharged, his father entering a recognition for his appearance at the June term of court as a witness against Delf.
Call and see the beautiful patterns of Wall Paper at Douglas & Co's., National Bank Block. Their arrangements for exhibiting it are unsurpassed, and their prices can not be beaten. 16-2t
Bach & Abel offer for the next thirty days, 3 cases of Bleached Muslin, equal in value to Fruit of the Loom, Wamsutter or New York Mills, at 25c. per yard. Call and see. They have just received at 8 cents per yard, a quantity of heavy muslin which they have offered in this line as are offered this month. 12-1t —Senator Conkling, it is said, has never even seen his new son-in-law, and Utica people think he needn't put on so many airs about it, as Mr. Oakman is a bigger man now financially and socially than Roscoe Conkling was when he married Horatio Seymour's sister.
Estate of Mary A. Thayer.
STATE OF MICHIGAN, COUNTY OF WASHEAW, JUDGE OF PROBATE.
In and for the County of Washenaw, in the Probate Office of the city of Ann Arbor, on this 12th day of May, in the year one thousand eight hundred and seventy-nine.
Present, William C. Conkling, Judge of Probate.
In the matter of the estate of Mary A. Thayer deceased, Charles H. Thayer, Charles S. Hayes and Walter L. Hayes, executors of the last will and testament of said deceased, come into court and report that they are now prepared to render their annual account as such executors.
The account is rendered, that Tuesday, the third day of June next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for examining and allowing such account, and that the debtors, creditors and heirs of said deceased, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, in said county, on the said day, if they there be, why the said account should not be allowed. And it is further ordered that said executors, giving notice to the persons named in said estate, of the pendency of said account and the hearing thereon, by causing the same to be published in the Michigan News, a newspaper printed and published in said county, two successive weeks previous to said day of hearing. [A true copy.] WILLIAM C. CONKLING, Judge of Probate. Wm. G. Dorr, Probate Register.

Saline.
—Died—at the residence of her son John Smith, Mrs. Smith aged 78 years and 6 months.
—C. W. Clough of the Clinton Weekly News and H. L. Cottrell of Clinton were in town on Friday last.
—We now have a base ball club in full running order with R. Spokes as captain and will play the school nine on May 16 and the Mooreville club on the 22d.
—A. P. Wood has sold his interest in the boot, shoe and grocery store to Marcus Wood and Geo. P. Allen, and has purchased the farm owned by E. O. Weinert.
—Hiram S. Hall writing to his friends from Colorado Springs says that he has found the place and is improving finely. He will stay until his health permits of his leaving.
—The Common Council is dead-locked on all matters of any importance. Some of the members have a Small Hatchet to grind and refuse to make the necessary appropriation to keep the streets in a proper condition.
Sylvan.
CHELSEA, May 13.
—Large quantities of wheat are coming to this market now, and the price ranges from 98 cents to $1.02.
—Chas. D. Hildebrand is to give two entertainments here the 23d and 24th, partly for the benefit of the Reform Club.
—Oak grove cemetery is being improved by new fences, ornaments and a new street to avoid crossing the railroad in going to it. A vocal and instrumental concert to-night to aid in the work.
—The cellar walls for the new hotel are now almost completed. The wall is just begun for a new gun shop in town. Israel Vogel has just built and occupied a new blacksmith shop. Improvements are in progress in all parts of the village.
—The streets of Chelsea are now being sprinkled and a large force is now at work under supervision of the marshal improving the streets generally.
—Few towns can show as much enterprise in this direction as Chelsea.
—One Waterman an ex-convict of the penitentiary burglarized the hardware store of Woods & Knapp on Wednesday night last week and took about $150 worth of goods. He has been caught in Detroit since and the goods recovered. He has been taken to Jackson to answer to similar charges there and will doubtless remain in Jackson for some years to come. His wife and a relative of hers have been arrested as accessories.
Ypsilanti.
MILAN, May 13.
—Messrs. T. Willson & Sons have connected their flour mill with the engine at their saw mill, 300 feet distant, by means of a wire cable. I understand from Mr. Willson that it works admirably, and that they will be prepared to do work now at their flouring mill at all times and all seasons of the year.
—Quite an accident occurred at the depot yesterday. A young Whaley was leaving the depot with a large load of furniture, a table upon which Whaley was riding tipped slightly, throwing him between the horses and astride the tongue of the wagon. In this condition he vainly attempted to control his team, falling between the horses the wagon passed over him, injuring him quite severely. Team dashed down depot street scattering the furniture in all directions, demolishing the wagon, and doing a large amount of injury. Whaley is severely but not fatally injured.
—Very many of the farmers in this vicinity are planting corn this week. Wheat is looking fine and well, and the recent warm weather and the rain of yesterday and to-day make us all happy.
UNCLE SAM.
Religious Matters.
—Rev. J. H. Crooker of Laporte, Indiana, will preach at the Unitarian church next Sunday in exchange with Mr. Sunderland.
—At a meeting of the Wardens and Vestry of St. Andrews Episcopal church of this city the following named gentlemen were elected delegates to the convention for the election of Bishop for the Eastern Diocese of Michigan: A. W. Rogers, Chas. H. Millen and Chas. H. Richmond. Alternates—John M. Wheeler, John N. Gott and Prof. M. C. Tyler.
Bach & Abel's is the first house in Ann Arbor to pull down that fatal sign "credit" and hoist in its place that other that wins every time, Cash Down. Big bargains in store for the ladies of Ann Arbor at Bach & Abel's for 1879. 12-1t
ARCHERY!
THE NATIONAL GAME.
Don't fail to call at Douglas & Co's., and examine their large and complete stock of Bows, Arrows, Targets, Bolts, Quivers, etc., which they have just received at their new store in National Bank Block. 17-1t
Bach & Abel have all the new styles in fancy Ribbons. 12-1t
Have you ever examined Bach & Abel's Black Silks? They are 20 per cent cheaper than any other house in the city—reason why? They buy direct from the importer and save a middleman's profit. Their $1.17 and $1.39 Black Silk astonishes every one. 12-1t
The nicest fitting corsets manufactured, and the largest display will be found at Bach & Abel's. 12-1t
For the largest and most complete stock of Wall Paper and Window Shades go to Douglas & Co's., Albino Block.
ARCHERY!
THE NATIONAL GAME.
Don't fail to call at Douglas & Co's., and examine their large and complete stock of Bows, Arrows, Targets, Bolts, Quivers, etc., which they have just received at their new store in National Bank Block. 17-1t
Any books outside of the usual line can be procured on the shortest notice and at reasonable prices at Douglas and Co's., new store in the National Bank Block. 16-2t
The only place in Ann Arbor you can find a full line of Fancy Buttons, is at Bach & Abel's. 12-1t
Towels, napkins, table linens, special bargains in these goods at Bach & Abel's (12-1t)

Personalities.
—Judge Morris of Monroe was in town on Monday.
—Alfred B. Sager has gone to New Mexico to engage in sheep raising.
—Mr. and Mrs. Regent Duffield of Lansing, will spend the summer at Saratoga.
—President Angell and Prof. Steere returned from their eastern trip on Tuesday.
—Supervisors Purcell of Northfield and Whitaker of Lima were in the city this week.
—Gov. Ashley, president of the Toledo and Ann Arbor Railroad, left Saturday for New York in the interest of the proposed extension of the road to Pontiac.
—D. Cramer of the firm of Cramer, Freness & Corlin has been attending court in Monroe this week assisting in defense of T. & A. A. Railroad on the charge of expelling a man from the train, one day last winter.
The University.
—The second lecture of the series to "Regular" Medical students will be delivered at the Homeopathic Medical college on Friday at 8 P. M. Subject: "The single Remedy a necessity of science."
—Special treasury agent Spaulding, whose visit to this city was to investigate how the Beal-Stereo collection passed the officials without paying duty, has reported to the government that there was no crookedness whatever in the passage free through the custom house.
—The Seniors are evidently having some trouble to get any of their members to accept the office of sec. Mr. R. T. Chandler, who was elected last week to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Newton Macmillan, refuses to act. At a meeting Tuesday afternoon Frantz H. Coe, of Ann Arbor, was elected to take his place.
Real Estate Transfers.
FOR WEEK ENDING SATURDAY.—QUIT-CLAIM.
Fred. Andrews to Alvah Reynolds.—Lot in Ypsilanti city for $150.
Augustus Law to Cornelias J. Law.—80 acres in Saline for $200.
Eliphale Lewis by widow to Wm. Stanfor. Land in Salem for $1,490.32. Same by heirs to Same. Land in Salem for $632.66.
Merritt Perry to Fred Marken. Land in Lodi for $2,000.
WARRANTY.
Susan M. Jewett to Alvah Reynolds. Ypsilanti city lot for $400.
James Hopkins to James H. Hopkins. 40 acres in Lyndon for $650.
Wm. Schleede to Lorana King. Land in Ann Arbor city for $1,700.
Lorana King to Wm. Schleede. 65 acres in Ann Arbor town for $2,000.
David Braunfren to Orrin Lamkin.—40 acres in Augusta for $1,500.
Large sales indicate the merits of all good articles. Druggists sell more of Dr. Bull's Baby Syrup than of all other remedies for the cure of Baby Disorders.
5 bales of Russia Crash at 10 cents per yard at Bach & Abel's. Sold in other houses at 15 cents, same goods. (12-1t)
The reason why Bach & Abel sell more Ties, Lace, Handkerchiefs, Ruchings, Collars and Cuffs, than any other house in the city, is because a lady can find just what she wants by going there.
All through the year Bach & Abel will be constantly receiving new goods, and large quantities of Jobs, and would be pleased to have you test what would appear to be bold assertions on their part. 12-1t
ARCHERY!
THE NATIONAL GAME.
Don't fail to call at Douglas & Co's., and examine their large and complete stock of Bows, Arrows, Targets, Bolts, Quivers, etc., which they have just received at their new store in National Bank Block. 17-1t
Married.
WILKINS—COBB.—May 4, by Rev. J. M. Richmond, at his residence, Horace Wilkin of Northville, and Clara Cobb of Canton.
ROGERS—CHRISTOPHER.—May 8, by Rev. J. M. Richmond, at the residence of the bride's mother, Oscar L. Rogers of Detroit, and Alice Christopher of Ypsilanti.
LEWIS—LOWENSBURY.—At Jackson, Mr. J. Lewis and Miss Blanche Lowensbury of Mooreville.
Died.
CRAMER.—In Freedom, May 7, of inflammation of the lungs, Flora H., daughter of John and Rosa Cramer, aged 4 months and 18 days.
DEAN.—In Norvell, April 26, of dropsy of the heart, Mr. John Dean, aged 75 years.
LITTLE.—In Chelsea, May 1, Robert Little, in the 80th year of his age.
MILLER.—April 29th, of tumor of the stomach, Lizzie, eldest daughter of Warren and Della Miller, of Mooreville, aged 11 years.
OWEN.—In Ypsilanti, May 4, Miss Sarah C. Owen, aged 72 years.
Bach & Abel have just received 25 dozen more of their magnificent Kid Gloves at 50 cents per pair; same quality as retailed elsewhere at 75 cents and $1. 12-1t
Don't go to Detroit to buy your wall paper before you see the beautiful Dado patterns at Douglas & Co's., which they are selling at prices that will defy competition. 16-2t
Douglas and Co., by having but one store can afford to, and will, sell goods cheaper than any other house in the city. 16-2t
All kinds of cheap and choice Stationery may be found at Douglas and Co's., new store in the National Bank Block. Their assortment of Blank Books is also unsurpassed. 16-2t
Charles Meyer will be pleased to wait on all his German friends at Douglas & Co's., new store in the National Bank Block. 16-2t
SPECIAL BARGAINS: 80 doz Ladies' Fancy Hose at 18c, reduced from 30c. 50 doz Ladies' regular made Ballbriggan Hose at 25c, former price 40c. BACH & ABEL.
60 new all wool Shawls at Bach & Abel's at $1.50—very cheap.
Largest and cheapest line of Parasols in the city at BACH & ABEL'S.
Bach & Abel's heavy Gros Grain Colored Silks at $1.10 beats them all.
Bach & Abel are selling their new Black Cashmeres very cheap, indeed, 20 per cent cheaper than ever before known. They can afford to as they buy for cash and sell for cash. 12-1t

REJOICE! REJOICE!

The long-looked for warm weather is upon us, and A. L. NOBLE has anticipated your wants by filling the

STAR CLOTHING HOUSE!

WITH

NOBBY LIGHT-COLORED SUITS,

Flannel and Alpaca Sacks,

Linen and Mohair Dusters,

Duck and Marseilles Vests,

Cauze Underwear, &c., &c.

REJOICE OVER THE WEATHER BUT KEEP COOL!

USE YOUR MONEY TO THE BEST Advantage!

MACK & SCHMID

REQUEST

AN EARLY EXAMINATION OF THEIR GOODS!

A long experience has enabled us to place before the public the most complete stock of DRY GOODS,

AT PRICES UNEQUALED.

We have consummated several large purchases of the most

POPULAR SILKS!

and at prices which will make it economical for all Ladies to purchase from us. An examination of our BLACK, COLORED, AND FANCY SILKS will prove that we are able to sustain our reputation for keeping

THE LARGEST ASSORTMENT, AND THE BEST AND CHEAPEST SILKS IN THE CITY!

We have positively the BEST VALUE in

BLACK CASHMEREES!

15 pieces fine twill and soft, heavy quality, 48 inches wide, at $1.00 per yard; 25 pieces at 50c, 60c, 65c, 70c, 75c, 80c, 90c per yard. At which prices we will challenge comparison with ANY HOUSE IN THIS COUNTRY. We have an elegant assortment of

New Dress Goods,

In all the NEW SHADES and FANCY NOVELTIES that are new and stylish. In addition to our February and March purchases we have bought largely in bleached and unbleached and all kinds of COTTON GOODS, before the advance, and will continue to sell them at the old prices. We have the FINEST DISPLAY of

MUSLINS, PRINTS, TICKINGS,

PAISLEY, INDIA, CHECKED, AND FANCY SHAWLS,

Black Single and Double Thibet Shawls.

All our goods are sold at

PRICES THAT CANNOT BE BEATEN IN DETROIT

or any other city. Please call and compare our prices with other houses and you will come to the conclusion that the place to get your goods is at

MACK & SCHMID'S.

EXTRA ANNOUNCEMENT!

—AT THE—

Cheap Cash Dry Goods House of John N. Gott.

My assortment of Goods, specially adapted for the Spring and Summer seasons, is now complete in every department. All the latest novelties are received as soon as issued, and my prices are, as usual, the most favorable in city, for goods of similar quality, my invariable rule being never to be undersold. Ladies, therefore, should never fail to visit my store at least three times a week, as special bargains will always be found. I shall commence on Thursday, April 17th, a Special Sale of Silks, Dress Goods, and Ladies' Cotton Underwear, and assure the Ladies generally that their advantage will be consulted by a visit. Ladies, do not purchase a yard of Silk until you have examined my remarkable qualities and Low Prices. You will find that in Silks and Dress Goods, as in everything else we offer, the best value for the least money. I do not advertise to sell goods 20 per cent cheaper than my neighbors, but will give you the best goods and choicest styles at from 5 to 10 per cent cheaper, which I can do, as my expenses are less and I pay cash for all goods, which saves me fully 5 per cent. Everybody invited to call and see the largest, finest, and cheapest stock of Dry Goods ever shown in Ann Arbor.

JOHN N. GOTT,

CHEAP CASH DRY GOODS HOUSE.

