The University School of Music furnishes first-class instruction in all branches of music. The School is conducted by the University Musical Society of the University of Michigan. The musical advantages are unequalled by any city of its size in the country. Opportunities are afforded for hearing the finest Orchestras and Chamber Concerts by the greatest artists. Tuition very moderate. Call for a Catalogue at the Steward's office, University, or at the office of the School of Music, Newberry Hall. Address all communications to ALBERT A. STANLEY, A. M., Director.
