

The Kids Who Saved The World

Once upon a time there was a village. It was in the middle of the jungle. The village was made of wood only and there were no electricity. One day an earthquake happened which was not expected at all! All of the people died except for two kids. They were the only two kids left alone in the village. One of the boy's name was Rafe, he was 10 years old. The other boy's name was Leo and he was of the same age. They both were best friends even and the only survivors. They both were sad because they had lost their families. They promised to each other to stick together always.

Rafe was tired and said like the millionth time "I'm hungry." "We'll eventually find food", said Leo in a tired voice. They both were very tired and sleepy. "I'm sleepy", complained Rafe. "Fine, lets sleep ", said Leo. Even it was hard to sleep when they were hungry but they slept. They did not know what big adventure was ahead of them.

"Uuuuuugh", yawned Leo.

"I found food!" said Rafe in an excited voice very loudly which surprised Leo. "I found it when you were sleeping and I woke up early". Leo took one of the raspberries and popped it in his mouth. "Hmmm...this is good, what else do you have?" Leo asked. "I have coconuts, bananas, and berries oh and after this let's go for a walk", said Rafe. They ate hungrily for few minutes and then Leo stood up and took a leaf from a tree and wiped his face with it, Rafe did the same thing with another leaf.

Then they started walking for a little while. After few hours, Leo tripped on a rock and then they saw a big tree moved ahead and they gawked at it. They looked down into the hole where the tree was. They saw staircase leading underground to a different world that they had never seen or heard about that in their life. Rafe was the first one to talk and said," Let's go down and see what's in there? ". Leo was scared and curious at the same time too. Finally, they decided to check it out even they were not sure that they should go in the hole.

They went down and saw many kinds of minerals and other creatures that they had never seen before. It was a very amazing sight. That village was built by one kind of creatures. The creatures were 2 feet tall and of different in colors. They were kind of like human being except having four eyes. One of them who were of purple color came to them and asked who are you? Leo and Rafe got scared but Leo stammered his and Rafe's name in a scared voice. A blue creature asked them politely, "What are you doing here?" Leo told him his own story about earthquake. We have no place to live. The blue and purple creatures called all the other colored (red, pink, green, black, white, magenta, scarlet, crimson, gold, silver, copper, robin's egg, and more...) creatures and let them know about Rafe and Leo. Finally they decided to let them live with them because they were very friendly and kind. Rafe and Leo were happy that they got a place to live but were little scared because of their four eyes. Rafe saw so many creatures walking moles as pets. Rafe was very surprised to see that.

But Rafe found that creatures were very worried. So, he asked the reason to the red creature who was showing around the village. The creature replied that our home is going to be burnt down and we are going to die by lava in few days. "How do you know?", Leo asked with question. "We can feel it but can't fix the problem", replied the gold creature in a sad voice.

Both boys were very intelligent and helpful too. Rafe and Leo took few minutes to think how they can help them. They knew that the river is very near to the place where they were expecting lava. The river was huge enough to cool down the lava and save the village. Then they found the way and asked the creatures to make an underground tunnels from river to the lava and that is the only option to save the village.

The creatures were not getting that like how to make a tunnel even. But Rafe said, "No worries, because we will use yours moles to dig one tunnel each".

The crimson creature yelled, "Are you sure about this?" Rafe said, "We think it'll work 100 %". The green creature said, "Let's follow the boy's instructions because we are not doing any efforts to save ourselves anyway, and this is the last hope." All of the creatures agreed and immediately they set their moles to work to make tunnels to put out water from a lake on the lava so the lava will convert into cobblestone. They did not have much time left. They used each mole for digging a hole in the earth. They thought it would be easy for the moles to dig holes from river towards the lava because the river was few yards away from the hot lava.

They were assuming that it would take few days to make the holes because the lava was getting near to the ground and the full earth was getting hotter and hotter. But moles were pretty quick. They did a great job! Most of the moles were nearly done. All the creatures and the boys were hoping that the water will touch the lava and they can save the village from getting burnt.

After the moles were done they escape by getting in the river and jumping onto the flat ground. After the water touched the melted stones it cooled down into cobblestones.

The creatures thanked the boys for helping them and saved their village from getting burned to flames. The creatures made a feast for the boys and entertained them. They offered leadership to both kids. Leo and Rafe were very happy to hear that. They gave a big smile to each other and accepted their offer.

The End