Chapter 1: Dinosaurs District

At the Ann Arbor District Library, one of the books about dinosaurs fell off the shelves and left there over the weekend. Saturday night, all the dinosaurs jumped out of the book and started walking around town! When the people woke up to find dinosaurs outside, they were terrified! The whole town was in chaos! Dinosaurs were chasing people, and they were about to smush Afternoon Delight and were on their way to the Hands On Museum! The police and the military came, but they couldn’t stop them! The air force came, but they couldn’t stop them. Even the safety patrol from A2Steam elementary wasn’t able to get the dinosaurs rounded up. No one could stop them!

Until one little girl, whose name was Jojo, asked, “Have we tried asking them to go?” The mayor, Christopher Taylor, brought a giant megaphone and yelled to the dinosaurs. He said “Could you please leave our town alone and go somewhere else? We can help you to move. We’ll even bring Zingerman’s sandwiches to the island.” And then, the dinosaurs agreed to leave and went to an island in the middle of the Pacific.
Chapter 2: Cretaceous Colony

The Air Force helped the land dinosaurs get to the island using a big barge, and the flying dinosaurs just flew there. Once they got to the island, they were just walking around and were minding their own business... until, from a different part of the world, England, sailors arrived on the island. The sailors were amazed and went back to England. There, they told scientists they found dinosaurs, but those scientists didn’t believe them.

Three days later, another ship came, but this one was from Egypt. These sailors started to friend and take pictures of the dinosaurs, when suddenly they looked up in the sky and saw a giant shadow. A giant rock as big as the island was coming crashing down towards the island!
Chapter 3: Meteor Mayhem

The dinosaurs and the people started to panic. If it hit there, it would destroy the whole island. So, they cooperated to use twigs and trees to create a wall of protection. Then, they made a spear with an arrowhead bigger than a person that they sent into space to chip the meteorite. The dinosaurs were able to throw it into space because they are very mighty. The arrowhead hit the meteor and broke it into a bunch of pieces, and the wall was able to stop the little pieces from reaching the earth. Everyone (dinosaur and human) cheered! The island was protected!
Chapter 4: Exciting Escape

One of the chunks of the meteorite had crashed into the scientists’ ship, and it sunk. They couldn’t leave the island with that, so they would have to build something on the island. Luckily, one of them had brought a telephone, but there weren’t any towers to pick up the signal. Their first step would be to build that, or a ship. They thought it would be easier to build a ship than that, so they started building.

They built raft after raft, and then they strung them together to build a big bowl ship with a sail. The sail they weaved together of grass and other plants.

Then the sailors sailed away, and they were happy. Then they were back to land.
