

Imagine a word-search, but you've got to figure out the words, too! Meet the SUPER SEARCH!

In this hexagonal grid, there are 36 hidden words (forwards, backwards, or diagonally) that fall under SIX categories. Circle the answers as you find them -- like with a traditional word-search, letters can be used in multiple words.

When you are finished, there will be SIX letters that aren't used in any words, which, when written in order, will give you your final code.

Your SIX word categories (with SIX words each): Island Nations, Systems of the Human Body, Superheroes with One-Word Names, Gardening Tools, Film Genres, and Instruments in a Symphony Orchestra.

None of the answers are plural. Note that if a superhero has the word "The" as part of their name, it means they do not have a one-word name! However, heroes that have names made up of compound words (i.e. Batman) are valid answers.
